PREFACE TO THIS VOLUME.

THIS SECOND VOLUME of THE STATUTES OF THE REALM contains the Statutes from the Commencement of the Reign of Richard II. to the End of the Reign of Henry VII. A.D. 1377 to A.D. 1503-4.

In the Introduction to the First Volume<sup>1</sup> it is stated, generally, that the Statute Rolls in the Tower of London include the Period from 6 Edward I. to 8 Edward IV, with an Interruption after 8 Henry VI. until the 23d Year of that Reign inclusive; and that though the latest Statute Roll now known to exist is that of 8 Edw. IV, there is Evidence that Statute Rolls have existed of subsequent Periods, until 4 Henry VII. inclusive: after which Time the Public Acts were printed from the several Bills passed in Parliament, and not as Part of one General Statute drawn up in the antient Form. In the same Introduction<sup>2</sup> it is mentioned that the Statutes of Richard III. were printed in his Reign in French; and that the Statutes of 1 and 3 Henry VII. in French are found in some Manuscripts.

The General Principles laid down in that Introduction, with respect to the Sources from which the Text of the Statutes is printed in this Collection, have been pursued, without Variation, in the present Volume: But a more detailed and explanatory Statement appears requisite to be here given, with relation to the Statutes of the several Years after 8 Henry VI. to 23 Henry VI. and from 12 Edward IV. to 4 Henry VII. The Acts of 7 Henry VII, and all the subsequent Years are printed from undoubted Authority, the Inrollment of the Acts on the Parliament Roll in Chancery; and, in Instances where that is mutilated or deficient, from the Original Bills or Acts passed in Parliament, and preserved in the Parliament Office from the 12th Year of Henry VII.<sup>3</sup>

The French Text of the Statutes from 9 to 20 Henry VI. both inclusive, is printed in this Volume<sup>4</sup> from Transcripts of the Statutes of those Years preserved in the Tower of London, and apparently made for the Purpose of being exemplified or transmitted by Writ for contemporary Promulgation. Whenever more than One Transcript of the Statute of any Year has been preserved, of which several Instances occur, all the Transcripts have been compared with each other; the most correct Transcript has been printed as the Text, with Notes of Amendment where necessary from the other Transcripts. In the Editions by HAWKINS, CAY, and succeeding Editors, the French Text of the several Statutes of these Years was printed with a general Reference to "Rot. Orig. in Turr. Lond." without adverting to the Nature of the Roll so quoted; which appears on Examination to have been, in each Instance, one of the Transcripts above referred to, but frequently not that which is the most correct. Notes of Amendment of the existing Translation of the Statutes of these Years are inserted, from the Parliament Roll, in all Instances where the Bills or Acts are found entered thereon in English.

<sup>3</sup> In the Introduction to Volume I. Chapter III. Sect. II. page xxvii. it is stated that "some Petitions and Bills previous to 12 Henry VII. are in the Tower of London, but in no regular Series." An Arrangement of these Bills and Petitions has been lately made; the earliest are of the 29th and 33d Years of Edward I. to which latter Year belong the Petitions inserted in the Appendix to the First Volume of the Printed Collection of Rolls of Parliament, &c. page 460; those attributed to uncertain Years in the Reigns of Edward I. and II. There are also several Petitions in the Reigns of Edward I. II. and III. the Dates of which have not been ascertained: of others the Dates are known; among which, in 9 Edward II., is the original Petition of the Clergy on which was framed the Statute of that Year usually cited as "Articuli Cleri." In the Reigns of Richard II. Henry IV. V. and VI. and Edward IV., although the Series is by no means either regular or complete, there are several Bundles of Petitions, private as well as public; the latest being of the 17th Year of Edward IV. Upon many of these Petitions, which are not inserted in the Printed Collection of the Rolls of Parliament, there appear Memoranda and Indorsements affording considerable Information on the Mode of drawing up and passing Acts, and framing the Statute Roll.

The French Text of the Statute 23 Henry VI. is printed from the Cotton Manuscript, Nero C. I., from whence it was first printed by CAY. This Text has been compared with the Entries on the Parliament Roll of such Bills or Acts as are there entered in French, as also with the Entry of the whole Statute in French in Liber XI. in the Exchequer at Westminster, and with the Old Printed Copies; and Notes of Amendment inserted where requisite. From the Entries of such Bills or Acts on the Parliament Roll as are in English, Notes have been made for Amendment of the Translation.<sup>1</sup>

From the Beginning of the 12th, to the End of the 22d of Edward IV. the French Text of the Statutes, as printed in CAY's and subsequent Editions, was stated to be taken from the same Cotton Manuscript. But on Examination of the Text in that Manuscript, it appears to be very incorrect, and by no means to tally with the Copy so professed to be printed therefrom. There is good Reason to conclude that the French Text of the Statutes of these Years was in fact printed by Cay, not from the Manuscript quoted, (which though probably seen was not accurately examined by him), but from the earliest Printed Edition of the Statutes, by Maclinia (about 1482): For it is observable, that almost all the Errors and Omissions which actually exist in the Cotton Manuscript, are corrected and supplied in that early Printed Edition, with which the Printed Copy in Cay agrees, in almost every particular. It is also to be observed, that the Edition of the Statutes printed by Pynson (about 1498), is generally incorrect, in the Statutes of those Years, in the very same Instances as the Cotton MS.; while Maclinia's Edition bears internal Evidence of having been printed from the most authentic Source, viz. a Statute Roll made up and translated into French from the English Bills entered on the Parliament Roll; with which the French Text of that Edition agrees in most Instances to a great Degree of Nicety.

On having recourse to the Entry of the Statutes of these Years, in French, in Liber XI. in the Exchequer at Westminster, the Text there appears in general much more correct than that of the Cotton Manuscript, and to agree more nearly with the earliest Printed Editions. This Text has therefore been now printed,<sup>2</sup> with some Notes of Amendment from the Cotton Manuscript, and with many more from the Petyt Manuscript, No. 8, in the Library of the Inner Temple; which latter is of great Accuracy and Value, although not on the Whole, in this Instance, equal to the Exchequer Book. Where these Manuscripts (and others which have been consulted on the Occasion, but without Advantage, and therefore not necessary to be here quoted) are deficient, the Oldest Printed Copies have, in general, supplied the desired Reading: Yet finally, some Instances occur in the French Text of the Statutes of these Years, in which all the Copies, Manuscript and Printed, are equally deficient.

The English Text of the Statutes of this Period, from 12 to 22 Edw. IV., has always been printed in the several Editions of the Statutes, in the Form of a Translation, made from the French Text, as contained in the Old Printed Copies, sometimes from the earliest and best Copies, sometimes from the later and more incorrect. This English Text therefore has now been printed, in this as in preceding Years, with Notes of Amendment from the Bills or Acts, which during this Period are uniformly entered on the contemporary Parliament Roll in English. The otherwise incurable Deficiencies of the French Text are thus also remedied, by Reference to that Source from whence the Statute must have been originally framed.

The Statute passed in the Reign of Richard III. and the Statutes of 1, 3 and 4 Henry VII. require especial Notice; as the several Printed Editions of these Statutes differ from each other in certain Particulars, and a material Alteration in the Mode of printing them has been introduced in this Collection.

The earliest Printed Editions of the Statute of Richard III. contain the Text of the Statute in French. All Editions in English, previous to that by Pulton in 1618, contain a Translation of the Statute from that French Text. In Pulton's, and subsequent Editions, some, but not all, of the Acts contained in the Statute, are printed from the Inrollment in Chancery: These differ, particularly in their Preambles, from the correspondent Chapters of the Old English Translation of the Statute: And thus there appear conflicting Printed Texts of certain Parts of the Statute of this Reign. In the present Volume,<sup>3</sup> the French Text of this Statute has been printed from Liber XI. in the Exchequer at Westminster, which, in general, is exceedingly correct, and correspondent with the Oldest Printed Editions. Notes of Amendment, where requisite, have been made from the Petyt Manuscript before referred to, and from the Old Printed Copies. For the English Text, all the Bills or Acts, corresponding to the several Chapters of the Statute, are now printed, from the Inrollment in the Parliament Roll of this Year, being the earliest Inrollment of Acts preserved at the Chapel of the Rolls; with such Notes from the Old English Translation of the correspondent Chapters of the Statute, as are requisite to produce a corrected Translation of the French Statute.

The Statutes of 1 and 3 Henry VII. (being the First and Second Parliaments of that King), appear to have always hitherto been printed in the complete Form of Statutes, in English,<sup>1</sup> and are so entered in Liber XI. in the Exchequer at Westminster. In the Editions by HAWKINS, CAY, &c. one Chapter (the 9th) of the 3d Year is printed from the Inrollment in Chancery, which, in a Note to that Chapter in Hawkins, is termed "the Statute Roll in the Rolls Chapel." But in the present Volume<sup>2</sup> a French Text of these Statutes has been for the first Time printed, taken from the Petyt Manuscript in the Inner Temple Library, with Notes of Amendment from the Hatton Manuscript 10. in the Bodleian Library at Oxford; these being the only Manuscripts yet discovered which contain the Statutes of those Years in French.—The general Agreement of this French Text with the printed Editions in English, affords Evidence that the Statutes of those Years were framed in French, in like Manner as in the Reign of Richard III. and preceding Reigns. The Commencement of the French Statute, and a short Chapter, recognizing the King's Title, in conformity with the Act for that Purpose as inrolled on the Parliament Roll, but not contained in the printed English Copies of the Statute, afford further Evidence that this French Text was copied from some Statute Roll framed, at the Time, from the several original Acts so inrolled; and which Evidence is, in some Instances, corroborated by the superior Accuracy of the French Text over the old English Copies. It is observable that the last Act of the 1st Year, (Chapter 10,) respecting the Merchants of Italy, and that of the 3d Year, (Chapter 16,) respecting certain Suits then depending in the Names of Trustees outlawed, are not inserted in the French Text of the Statutes, probably because they were not considered as Public Acts. For the English Text, all the Bills or Acts, correspondent to the several Chapters of the Statutes, are now printed from the Inrollment on the Parliament Roll, (in conformity with the Method pursued in the Statute of Richard III.) with Notes of the Variations in the Exchequer Book and the Old Printed Copies.

The Statute of 4 Henry VII. (the Third Parliament of this King) has always been printed in English in the complete Form of a Statute, and is so entered in Liber XI. in the Exchequer at Westminster, and in the Hatton Manuscript before referred to; in which latter the Statutes of the First and Third Years, as has been noticed, are entered in French.<sup>3</sup> This is the most exact Evidence hitherto obtained of the precise Period at which the Change took place in the Language used in framing the Statutes. From what Source the earliest Copies of this Statute were printed, or the existing Manuscripts transcribed, cannot now be ascertained. They are valuable as affording the latest Evidence of the Statute being made up in the antient Form, and the Printed Copies have been in general Use as Evidence of the Statute of that Year. The Statute is therefore now printed<sup>4</sup> from the Entry in the Exchequer Book, in the Column appropriated, in former Reigns, to the Statute Text; and in the opposite Column, formerly appropriated to the Translation, are printed the Acts inrolled in the Parliament Roll of this Year, which correspond to the several Chapters of the Statute; this Inrollment being the Evidence of those Acts as passed in Parliament, although they have not heretofore been inserted from that Source in any former printed Collection of Statutes. It will be seen that several Clauses or Provisoes in favour of particular Persons are contained in these Acts, which are not inserted in the Statute as entered in the Exchequer Book, nor printed in any Edition of the Statutes; these are therefore printed in a smaller Type.

The completest Copy which existing Records or Manuscripts can now afford, is thus given as well of the STATUTES of Richard III. and 1, 3, and 4 Henry VII. as of the several BILLS or ACTS on which those Statutes were respectively framed; these latter operating, as a Translation, and Amendment where requisite, of the French Text, in the Years when the Statute is in French ; and being also the highest Evidence of the general Authenticity of the Statute, as inserted in the early Printed Editions, or now first printed from the Manuscripts above quoted.

After this Period such of the Acts of each Session as have been considered as Public have always been inserted, either at length or abridged, in the several Printed Collections, in separate Chapters, unconnected by any authentic Statute Form. These were printed, in some Instances, from the Inrollment in Chancery, and in others, in and after 12 Henry VII. from the Original Acts preserved in the Parliament Office at Westminster.

In this Volume the Acts of 7 Henry VII, and every subsequent Year of his Reign, are now uniformly printed from the Inrollment on the Roll of Parliament in Chancery ; compared, after 12 Henry VII, with the Original Acts in the Parliament Office, whenever such are still preserved. From the Beginning of this 7th Year, till the End of the Reign of Henry VII. the Inrollment in Chancery is the only Substitute for the Statute Roll ; but it does not make any marked Distinction between such Acts as are to be considered PUBLIC, and therefore proper to be inserted in the Statute Roll, and such as are PRIVATE, or not to be considered as Part of the General Statute of the Year : Many Acts heretofore printed in the Collections of the Acts of those Years are merely of a private Nature ; and on the contrary, some omitted to be so printed, are manifestly of Public Concern ; it has therefore been judged proper that ALL THE ACTS which appear on the Inrollments of these Years should be printed ; such of them as have never been before inserted in any Collection of the Statutes being distinguished by being printed in a smaller Type.

It happens, in some Instances, that Acts, not included in the Statute of the Year in which they were passed, and therefore not printed in this or any other Collection of Statutes, are nevertheless referred to by subsequent Statutes, or by Acts inrolled in Chancery : In these cases Reference is made to the Entry, of the Act referred to, on the Parliament Roll of the Year in which it was passed. An early Instance of this Nature occurs in 31 Henry VI. Chapter 7. ; and many similar References appear in those Acts of the latter Part of the Reign of Henry VII. which are now for the first time printed.

An ENGRAVING is prefixed to page 1. of this Volume, presenting a Fac-Simile of the STATUTE ROLL, which begins with 1 Richard II, now preserved in the Tower of London : and at page 477 there is inserted an Engraving of the Beginning of the Entry of the Statute 1 Richard III. in French, in the EXCHEQUER-BOOK at Westminster, from whence that Statute, and others, have been printed in this Volume.

RICHARD by the Grace of God King of England and of France, and Lord of Ireland, to [the'] Sheriff of [Northampton,'] Greeting. Know thou, that to the Honour of God and Reverence of Holy Church, for to nourish Peace, Unity, and Concord in all the Parts within our Realm of England, which We do much desire, by the whole Assent of the Prelates, Dukes, Earls, and Barons of this our Realm, at the Instance and especial Request of the Commons of our Realm, assembled at our Parliament holden at Westminster the fifteenth Day of St. [Hilary,'] in the First Year of our Reign, We have (') ordained and established certain Statutes in Amendment and Relief of this our said Realm, in Manner and Form following :

FIRST, It is agreed and established, That Holy Church shall have and enjoy all her Rights, Liberties, and Franchises wholly and without Blemish; and that the Great Charter, which at the Request of the said Commons was read in the said Parliament, and also the Charter of the Forest, and all other good Statutes and Provisions made in the Time of the Progenitors of our Lord the King that now is, and not repealed, shall be observed and firmly kept in all Points.

I.
Confirmation of Charters
and Statutes.

ITEM, Our said Lord the King greatly desiring the Tranquillity and Quietness of his People, willeth and straitly commandeth, That the Peace within his Realm of England be surely observed and kept, so that all his lawful Subjects may from henceforth safely and peaceably go, come, and dwell according to the Law and Usage of the Realm; and that Justice and Right be indifferently ministered to every Person.

II.
The Peace
shall be kept,
and equal Justice
administered.

ITEM, That the Statutes late made in the time of the noble King Edward, Grandfather to our Lord the King that now is, for Purveyors and Buyers, shall be firmly observed and kept in all Points; adding thereunto, because that Prelates and Clerks may not thereof commence their Suits against any by way of Crime,

III.
Action for Prelates against Purveyors.

' our
' Michael,

' Middelzen,
' caused to be

as the said Statutes required, all Prelates and Clerks shall from henceforth have their Actions against all such Purveyors and Buyers, by Actions of Trespass, and recover their Treble Damage.

IV.
Penalties for Maintenance.

ITEM, It is ordained and stablished, and the King our Lord straitly commandeth, That [none of his Counsellors, Officers, or Servants,<sup>1</sup>] nor any other Person within the Realm of England, of whatsoever Estate or Condition they be, shall from henceforth take nor sustain any Quarrel by Maintenance in the Country, nor elsewhere, upon a grievous Pain; that is to say, the said Counsellors and the King's great Officers, upon a Pain which shall be ordained by the King himself, by the Advice of the Lords of his Realm; and other less Officers and Servants of the King, as well in the Exchequer, and all his other Courts and Places, as of his own Meiny, upon Pain to lose their Offices and Services, and to be imprisoned, and then to be ransomed at the King's Will, every of them according to their Degree, Estate, and Desert; and all other Persons through the Realm upon Pain of Imprisonment, and to be ransomed as the other aforesaid.

V.
Statutes for Officers of the Exchequer
confirmed.
Debts once paid not to be demanded; Punishment
offending.

ITEM, It is ordained, That all Statutes and Ordinances made before this Time of Officers of the Exchequer, be holden and firmly kept in all Points; and moreover it is ordained and established, That at what Time any Debts be once paid, and the Tallies thereof made rejoined and allowed in the said Exchequer, that this Debt shall never (<sup>1</sup>) come in Demand; and if it so happen, that after such Allowance made there, any Clerk of the (<sup>1</sup>) Exchequer make any Writ or Process to levy the same Debt of new, and that duly proved, the same Clerk shall lose his Office, and have Imprisonment till he hath made Gree to the Party by so much as he is endamaged, if any will sue, by the Discretion of the Treasurer and the Barons of the (<sup>1</sup>) Exchequer.

VI.
Villaines and Land-tenants withdrawing their Services
under the Pretext of Exemplifica-tions from the Book of Domesday.

ITEM, At the grievous Complaint of the Lords and Commons of the Realm, as well Men of Holy Church as other, made in the Parliament, of that that in many Signories and Parts of the Realm of England, the Villaines and Landtenants in Villenage, who owe Services and Customs to their said Lords, have now late withdrawn, and do daily withdraw their Services and Customs due to their said Lords, by Comfort and Procurement of other their Counsellors, Maintainers, and Abettors in the Country, which hath taken Hire and Profit of the said Villaines and Landtenants, by Colour of certain Exemplifications made out of the Book of Domesday of the Manors and Towns where they have been dwelling, and by virtue of the same Exemplifications, and their evil Interpretations of the same, they affirm them to be quite and utterly discharged of all Manner Servage, due as well of their Body as of their said Tenures, and will not suffer any Distress or other Justice to be made upon them; but do menace the Ministers of their Lords of Life and Member, and, which more is, gather themselves together in great Routs, and agree by such Confederacy, that every one shall aid other to resist their Lords with strong Hand; and much other Harm they do in sundry Manner, to the great Damage of their said Lords, and evil Example to other to begin such Riots; so that if due Remedy be not the rather provided upon the same Rebels, greater Mischief, which God prohibit, may thereof spring through the Realm: It is Ordained and stablished, that the Lords which feel themselves grieved, shall have special Commissions under the Great Seal to the Justices of Peace, or to other sufficient Persons, to enquire of all such Rebels, and of their Offences, and their Counsellors, Procurers, Maintainers and Abettors, and to imprison all those that thereof shall be endited before them, as well for the Time past, as for the Time to come, without delivering them out of Prison by Mainprise, Bail, or otherwise, without Assent of their Lords,

Confederacies
of Villaines;

Commissions
to Justices of the Peace to enquire thereof.

Provided always, That if the said Villaines or Landtenants, Rebels, be thereof attainted at the Suit of the said Lords, they shall in no wise be delivered, till they have made a Fine to the King, and also they to have the Assent of their Lords aforesaid; and as to the said Counsellors, Procurers, Maintainers and Abettors, such Process in like Manner shall be made of them, which thereof shall be attainted, so that they be in no wise delivered from Prison, till they have made a Fine to the King, and gree to the Lords so grieved, according as their Estate, and the Quantity of their Offence doth require, if the same Lords will sue against them by Writ or by Bill; saving always, as to the said Fines, the Franchises and Liberties of Lords, which have Fines and Amerciements of their Tenants: And as to the said Exemplifications made and purchased as afore is said, which were caused to come in the Parliament, [and to be] declared in the said Parliament, that the same may not nor ought to avail or hold place to the said Villaines or Landtenants, as to the Franchise of their Bodies; nor to change the Condition of their Tenure and Customs of old Time due; nor to do Prejudice to the said Lords, to have their Services and Customs as they were wont of old Time; and It is ordained, that upon this Declaration the said Lords shall have Letters Patents under the Great Seal, as many and such as they shall need, if they the same require.

Punishment of such Villaines; and their Abettors.

Declaration as to the said Exemplifications.

ITEM, Because that divers People of small Revenue of Land, Rent, or other Possessions, do make great Retinue of People, as well of Esquires as of other, in many Parts of the Realm, giving to them Hats and other Liveries, of one Suit by Year, taking of them the Value of the same Livery, or percase the Double Value, by such Covenant and Assurance, that every of them shall maintain other in all Quarrels, be they reasonable or unreasonable, to the great Michief and Oppression of the People; It is ordained and assented, That the Statutes and Ordinances made in such Case before this Time, be kept and duly executed; and moreover the King doth straitly defend, that from henceforth no such Livery be given to any Man for Maintenance of Quarrels, nor other Confederacies, upon Pain of Imprisonment and grievous Forfeiture to the King; and the Justices of Assises shall diligently enquire of all them that gather them together in Fraternities by such Livery to do Maintenance; and they which thereof shall be found guilty, shall be duly punished, every Man after the Quantity of his Desert.

Statutes against Maintenance confirmed. Punishment for giving Liveries for Maintenance. Justices of Assise shall enquire of Offences.

ITEM, It is assented, That from henceforth no Protection, with the Clause of Volumus, be allowed before any Judge, for Victuals taken or bought upon the Voyage or Service whereof the Protection maketh mention; nor also in Pleas of Trespass, or of other Contract, made or perpetrate after the Date of the same Protection.

VIII. Protections with the Clause Volumus, in what Case not allowable

ITEM, Because it is complained to the King, that many People of the said Realm, as well great as small, having Right and true Title as well to Lands, Tenements, and Rents, as in other personal Actions, be wrongfully delayed of their Right and Actions, by Means that the Occupiers or Defendants, to be maintained and sustained in their Wrong, do commonly make Gifts and Feoffments of their Lands and Tenements which be in Debate, and of their other Goods and Chattels, to Lords and other Great Men of the Realm, against whom the said Pursuants, for great Menace that is made to them, cannot nor dare not make their Pursuits; and also on the other Part Complaint is made [to the King.] that oftentimes many People do disseise other of their Tenements, and anon after the Disseisin done, they make divers Alienations and Feoffments, sometime to Lords and Great Men of the Realm to have Maintenance, and sometime to many Persons of whose Names the Disseisees

ITEM, The Prelates and Clergy of this Realm do greatly complain them, for that the People of Holy Church, pursuing in the Spiritual Court for their Tithes, and their other Things, which of Right ought, and of old Times were wont to pertain to the same Spiritual Court, and that the Judges of Holy Church, having Cognisance in such Causes, and other Persons thereof meddling according to the Law, be maliciously and unduly for this Cause indicted, imprisoned, and by Secular Power horribly oppressed, and also enforced with Violence by Oaths and grievous Obligations, and many other Means unduly compelled to desist and cease utterly of the Things aforesaid, against the Liberties and Franchises of Holy Church: Wherefore It is assented, That all such Obligations made or to be made by Dures or Violence, shall be of no Value: and as to those that by Malice do procure such Indictments, and to be the same Indictors, after the same Indictees be so acquit, such Procurers (*) shall have and incur the same Pain that is contained in the Statute of Westminster the Second, of those which procure false Appeals to be made. And the Justices of Assises, or other Justices, before whom such Indictees shall be acquit, shall have Power to inquire of such Procurers and Indictors, and duly to punish them according to their Desert.

ITEM, It is accorded, That at what Time that any Person of the Holy Church be drawn in Plea in the Secular Court for his own Tithes taken, by the Name of Goods taken away, and he which is so drawn in Plea maketh an Exception, or alledgeth, that the Substance and [Suit'] of the Business is only upon Tithes due of Right and of Possession to his Church, or to another his Benefice; that in such Case the general Averment shall not be taken without shewing specially how the same was [his'] Lay-chattel.

ITEM, Because that Prelates do complain themselves, that as well beneficed People of Holy Church, as other, be arrested and drawn out as well of Cathedral Churches, as of other Churches and their Churchyards, and sometime whiles they be intending to Divine Services, and also in other Places, although they be bearing the Body of our Lord Jesus Christ to Sick Persons, and so arrested and drawn out, be bound and brought to Prison against the Liberty of Holy Church: It is Ordained, That if any Minister of the King, or other, do arrest any Person of Holy Church by such Manner, and thereof be duly convict, he shall have Imprisonment, and then be ransomed at the King's Will, and make Gree to the Parties so arrested; Provided always, That the said People of Holy Church shall not hold them within the Churches or Sanctuaries by Fraud or Collusion in any Manner.

And therefore We command, That thou cause all the said Statutes to be cried and published, and firmly kept through thy Bailiwick, according to the Form and Tenour thereof, and that do not omit in any wise. Given under the Witness of our Great Seal the First Day of February, in the First Year of our Reign.

STATUTE THE FIRST.

[O]UR Lord the King, at his Parliament<sup>1</sup> holden at Gloucester the Wednesday next after the Feast of St. Luke, [the Second Year of his Reign,<sup>2</sup>] amongst other Things there assented and accorded, [hath made<sup>3</sup>] certain Statutes and Ordinances, as well for the common Profit of the Realm, as for the Maintenance of the Peace [of his<sup>4</sup>] said Realm, in the Form following.

FIRST, Because that before this Time in Time of the noble King Edward, Grandfather to our Lord the King that now is, in his Parliaments holden at York and Westminster, and also in this present Parliament, great Complaint hath been made to our said Lord, for that in many Cities, Boroughs, Ports of the Sea, and other Places within the Realm of England, great Damages and outrageous Grievances have been, and yet be done to the King, and to all his Realm, by the Citizens, Burgesses, and other People of Cities, Boroughs, and other Towns and Places aforesaid, which have not suffered, nor yet will suffer, Merchants Strangers, nor other that do bring, carry, or convey by Sea or by Land Wines, Aver de pois, Sustenance, Victuals, or other Things vendible, profitable, and necessary, as well for the King, the Prelates, and Lords, as for all the Communalty of his Land, to sell or deliver the said Wines, Sustenance, Victuals, nor other Things vendible, to any other than to them of the same Cities, Boroughs, Ports of the Sea, and other Places, to which such Wines, Sustenance, Victuals, or other Things vendible were, and be brought, carried and conveyed; and by so much those Things have been, and yet be sold and set to the King, to his Lords, and to all his People, by the Hands of the Citizens, Burgesses, and other People Denizens, to a great and excessive Dearth, over that they should have been, if the Merchants Strangers, and other which bring such Things into the Realm, might freely have sold them to whom they would; nor also would not, nor yet will suffer the Merchants Strangers that do come, or would come within the Realm to buy Wools, and other Merchandises growing within the Realm, to go [travel, and<sup>5</sup>] merchandise, or abide freely as they were wont to do; to the great Damage of the King, of the Prelates, of the Lords, and of all the Realm, and against the common Profit, and against the Statutes and Ordinances thereof made in Times past in the said Two Parliaments: Our Lord the King, considering clearly the coming of Merchants Strangers within the Realm, to be very profitable from many Causes to all the Realm, by the Assent of the Prelates, Dukes, Earls, Barons, and of the Commons of the Realm, hath ordained and established, That all Merchants Aliens, of what Realms, Countries, or Seignories that they come, which be of the Amity of the King, and of his Realm, may from henceforth safely and surely come within the Realm of England, and in all Cities, Boroughs, Ports of the Sea, Fairs, Markets, or other Places within the Realm, within Franchise and without, [and ' ] abide with their Goods and all Merchandisees under the Safeguard and Protection of the King, as long as shall please them, without Disturbance or denying of any Person. And that as well those Merchants Aliens [and Denizens,] and every of them that will buy and sell Corn, Flesh, Fish, and all Manner other Victuals and Sustenance, and also all Manner of Spiceries, Fruit, Fur, and all Manner of small Wares, as Silk, Gold Wire, or Silver Wire, Coverchiefs, and other such small Ware, may from henceforth freely and without denying or any Manner of Disturbance, as well in the City of London as in all Cities, Boroughs, Ports of the Sea, Fairs, Markets, and other Places within the Realm, sell and buy in Gross and by Parcels, to whom and of whom they please, Denizens or Foreign, except the King's Enemies; and except that all Manner of Wines, as well sweet as other, shall be sold by the said Strangers in Gross, and by whole Vessels, as they be brought into the Realm, and not at Retale by any in the said Cities, Boroughs, and other Towns franchised, but only by the Inhabitants and Freemen in the same. And as to all other great Wares, as Cloth of Gold and Silver, Silk, Sendal, Napery, Linen Cloth, Canvas, and other such great Wares, and also all Manner of other great Merchandisees not above expressed, whatsoever they be, from henceforth as well Aliens as Denizens, as well in the City of London as in other Cities, Boroughs, Ports of the Sea, Towns, Fairs, Markets, and elsewhere through the said Realm, within Franchise and without, may sell the same in Gross (*) to every Person Foreign or Denizen that will buy the same, freely and without denying, except to the King's Enemies and the Realm's, [as well ' ] by the Bale, Cloth, or by whole Pieces at their Pleasure, and not at Retale, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the same Merchandisees, but only the Citizens and Burgesses in their own Cities and Boroughs, and other good Towns franchised, to whom, and to none other strange Merchant of their Franchise, they may, and it shall be lawful to them without Impeachment, to unfold, undo, and cut in the same their proper Cities and Boroughs, the great Merchandisees, and other great Wares aforesaid; and as well the same, as Wines and other Merchandisees whatsoever, there to sell, in Gross and by Retale at their Pleasure, paying all the Customs and Subsidies due; notwithstanding any Statutes, Ordinances, Charters, Judgements, Allowances, Customs, and Usages made or suffered to the contrary; which Charters and Franchisees, if any there be, they shall be utterly repealed and adnull'd, as a Thing made, used, or granted against the common Profit, [or ''] Oppression of the People: Saving always to Prelates and Lords of the Realm wholly their Liberties and Franchises, that they may make their Purveyances and Buyings of Victuals, and of other their Necessaries, as they were wont to do in old Time; and saving that the Ordinances made before this Time of the Staple of Calais be holden in their Force and Virtue. And it is not the King's Mind, that Merchants Strangers or Denizens, that will buy and sell their Wools, Woolfels, Wares, Cloths, Iron, and other Merchandises, at Fairs and Markets in the Country, should be restrained or disturbed by this Statute to sell or buy freely, in Gross or at Retale, as they were wont to do heretofore. And if it so happen, that from henceforth Disturbance be made to any Merchant Alien or Denizen, or other, upon the Sale of such Things in City, Borough, Town, Port of the Sea, or other Place that hath Franchise, against the Form of this Ordinance; and the Mayor, Bailiffs, or other that have the keeping of such Franchise, required by the said Merchants, or other in their Name, thereof to make Remedy, do not the same, and thereof be attainted, the Franchise shall be seized into the King's Hand; and nevertheless they that have done such Disturbance against this Statute, shall be bound to render and restore to the Plaintiff his double Damages that he hath suffered by this Occasion. And if such Disturbance be made to such Merchants or to other in Towns and Places where no Franchise is, and the Lord, if he be present, or his Bailiff, Constable, or other Warden of the Towns and Places, in Absence of the Lords thereof, required to do Right, and do not, and thereof be duly attainted, they shall yield to the Plaintiff his double Damages, as afore is said, and the Disturbers in the one Case and the other, as well within Franchises as without, if they be attainted, shall have one Year's Imprisonment, and be ransomed at the King's Will. And It is ordained and established, That the Chancellor, Treasurer, and Justices assigned to hold Pleas of the King in the Places where they come, shall diligently inquire of such Disturbances and Grievances, and do Punishment according as afore is ordained. And nevertheless the King shall assign by Commission certain People, where and when shall please him, to inquire of such Disturbances and Grievances, and to punish the Offenders in this Party, as before is said.

VI. Sundry Routs and unlawful Confederacies rectified.

Damsels unmarried, and some desiring to make Maintenance in their Marches, do gather them together to a great Number of Men of Arms and Archers, to the Manner of War, and confederate themselves by Oath and other Confederacy, not having Consideration to God, nor to the Laws of Holy Church, nor of the Land, nor to Right, nor Justice, but refusing and setting apart all Process of the Law, do ride in great Routs in divers Parts of England, and take Possession, and [set them in] divers Manors, Lands, and other Possessions of their own Authority, and hold the same long with such Force, doing (*) many Manner Appareilments of War; and in some Places do ravish Women and Damsels, and bring them into strange Countries, where please them; and in some Places lying in wait with such Routs, do beat and maim, murder and slay the People, for to have their Wives and their Goods and the same Women and Goods retain to their own Use; and sometime take the King's Liege People in their Houses, and bring and hold them as Prisoners, and at the last put them to Fine and Ransom, as it were in a Land of War; and sometime come before the Justices in their Sessions in such guise with great Force, whereby the Justices be afraid and not hardy to do the Law; and do many other Riots and horrible Offences, whereby the Realm in divers Parts, is put in great Trouble, to the great Mischief and Grievance of the People, and the Hurt of the King's Majesty, and against the King's Crown: Our Sovereign Lord the King, desiring sovereignly the Peace and Quietness of his Realm, and his good Laws and Customs of the same and the Rights of his Crown to be maintained and kept in all Points, and the Offenders duly to be chastised and punished, as he is sworn at his Coronation, by the Assent of all the Lords and Peers being in this Parliament, hath defended upon the Peril that belongeth, that none be so hardy from henceforth to do any Thing that shall be in Affray of the People (') against the Peace. And moreover It is ordained and established, that the Statute of Northampton, made in such Case in the Time of the said Grandfather, be holden and kept in all Points. And also it is assented, that certain sufficient and valiant Persons, Lords or other, shall be assigned by the King's Commission in every County through the Realm, whereas shall need, which shall have Power by their Commission, that as soon as they know, or that they be credibly certified of any Assemblies, Routs, or Ridings of Offenders, Baratours, and other such Rioters in their Marches, in Affray of the People, and against the Peace, to arrest them incontinent without tarrying for Indictments or other Process of the Law, by their Body, and [to bring their Captains and Heads,'] and send them to the next Gaol, with the Cause of their Arrest clearly and distinctly put in Writing, there to abide in Prison in sure keeping, till the coming of the Justices into the Country, without being delivered in the Meantime by Mainprise, Bail, or in other Manner. And all the Lords being in the Parliament be charged by the King, and they have of their good Gree and free Will lawfully promised to be in Aid, to their Power, to the said Commissioners, if Need be, and (') be required, (") to keep and do to be kept by them and theirs this Ordinance in as much as toucheth them, and without having Regard to any Person for Amity, Alliance, or otherwise. And our Sovereign Lord the King will and commandeth to all his Justices having Power at their making Deliverance, that ready Justice and Punishment be done upon all Persons that shall be attainted of such Riots and Offences, to every Man according as the Case requireth, and in such Manner that the same Punishment be an Example to other.

(a) ITEM, Because our Sovereign Lord the King hath perceived, as well by Letters Patents newly come to certain Cardinals, Rebels against our Holy Father Urban now [Bishop of Rome,'] as otherwise by common Fame, that Division and Discord was betwixt our said Holy Father and the said Cardinals, which afforded them with all their Power to depose our said Holy Father from [the Estate of a Bishop,'] and to excite and move, by their untrue Suggestions, the Kings, Princes, and Christian People against him, to the great Peril of their Souls, and to an evil Example: Our said Sovereign Lord the King caused the said Letters to be shewed to the Prelates, Lords, and other Great Men of the Realm being at the said Parliament, and after the said Letters seen and perceived, by great Deliberation upon the said Matter, it was pronounced and published by the said Prelates, by great and notable reasons there shewed, in the full Parliament, as well by Matters found in the said Letters as otherwise, that the said Urban was duly chosen [Bishop of Rome,'] and that so he is and ought to be true [Bishop,'] and ought to be accepted and obeyed as [Bishop,'] and Chief of Holy Church. And to this to be done all the Prelates, Lords, and Commons in the said Parliament do [record,'] And moreover it is assented, That all the Benefices and Possessions which the said Cardinals Rebels and their Coadjutors, Fautours, Adherents, or any other Enemies of the King and of his Realm, have within the King's Power, shall be seized into the Hands of our said Sovereign Lord the King; and that the King be answered of the Fruits and Profits of the same Benefices and Possessions as long as they abide in his Hands for the Cause aforesaid. Also It is ordained that if any of the King's liege People, or other within his Power, do purchase Provision, Benefice, or other Grace, of any other by the Name of the [Bishop,'] than of the said Our Holy Father Urban, or be obedient to any other [Bishop,'] he shall be out of the King's Protection, and his Goods and Chattels seized as forfeit.

ITEM, Of Labourers (') It is ordained and established, That the Ordinance thereof made in the Time of the said Grandfather, which beginneth, "Because a great Part of the People," be affirmed and holden for a Statute. And that as well this Statute as all other Statutes and Ordinances made of Artificers, Servants, and Labourers before this Time be firmly kept and put in due Execution.

And therefore We command You, that the said Statutes and Ordinances you do cause to be openly and distinctly proclaimed and published in all notable Places within your Bailiwick, where need shall be; and the same there firmly to keep, and cause to be kept and maintained according to the Form and Tenor thereof.

Given under the Witness of our Great Seal, at our Palace of Westminster, the Twenty-eighth Day of November, in the Second Year of our Reign.

By the King himself and Council.

Like Letters are directed to the several Sheriffs throughout England, under the same Date.

(a) The Translation of this Chapter is copied from Myddylton's 'Great Boke of Statutes.' It is not inserted in any other Printed Edition or Translation: The Use of the Words 'Bishop of Rome' and 'Bishop' instead of 'Pope' shew that the Translation was made in the Time of Henry VIII. and after the passing of the Acts against acknowledging the Pope's Supremacy.

OF THE STATUTE MADE AT WESTMINSTER IN THE SECOND YEAR; INROLLED.

STATUTE THE SECOND.

TO the Honour of God and of Holy Church, and for the common Profit of the Realm of England, our Lord the King Richard, at his Parliament holden at Westminster, in the Fifteenth of Easter, the Second Year of his Reign, of the Assent of the Prelates, Dukes, Earls, Barons, and other Great Men, and of the Commons of [this Realm,] summoned to the said Parliament, hath ordained and established in the same Parliament, for the Quietness of his said People, the Statutes and Ordinances following, perpetually to endure in his said Realm.

I.
Liberties of the Church, Charters,
and Laws,
confirmed.

FIRST, That Holy Church have and enjoy her Franchises and Liberties in all Points, in as ample Manner as she them had in the Time of his noble Progenitors Kings of England; and that the Great Charter, and the Charter of the Forest, and the good Laws of the Land, be firmly holden and kept, and put in due Execution.

II.
Stat. 2 Ric II.
stat. 1. cap. 6.
repealed.

ITEM, It is assented, that the Article comprised in the Statute last made at Gloucester, of Assemblies, Ridings, and Routs of Offenders in the Country, which beginneth: "Item, because that our Sovereign Lord the King, &c." which Article seemeth to the said Commons very grievous, at the Prayer of the said Commons be utterly repealed and adnulled; the Statute of Northampton being always in his Force: And it is assented, that they which be taken and imprisoned by virtue of any Words comprised in the said Article, without other Indictment, shall be utterly delivered.

Statute
2 Edw. III.
chapter 3.
confirmed.

III.
Debtors who make feigned Conveyances and flee to Sanctuary, shall, on Proclamation, appear to the Suits of their Creditors; or Judgment and Execution shall be had against their Lands and Goods, &c.

ITEM, In case of Debt, where the Debtors make feigned Gifts and Feoffments of their Goods and Lands to their Friends and other, and after withdraw themselves and flee into Places of Holy Church privileged, and there hold them a long Time, and take the Profit of their said Lands and Goods so given by Fraud and Collusion, whereby their Creditors have been long and yet be delayed of their Debts and Recovery; wrongfully and against good Faith and Reason: It is ordained and established, that after that the said Creditors have thereof brought their Writs of Debt, and thereupon a Capias awarded, and the Sheriff shall make his return, that he hath not taken the said Persons, because of such Places privileged, in which they be or shall be entered, then after such Return made, another Writ shall be granted and made to the Sheriff, in which Writ shall be comprised, that Proclamation be made openly at the Gate of the Place so privileged, where such Persons be entered, by Five Weeks continually, every Week once, that the same Person be at a certain Day comprised in the same Writ, before the King's Justices, there to answer to the Plaintiff of his Demand: And upon this Writ, returned by the said Sheriff, that Proclamation is made in the said Form, if the said Persons called come not in proper Person nor by Attorney, Judgment shall be given against them upon the Principal for their Default: And out of the same Judgement Execution shall be made of their Goods and Lands, bring out of the Place privileged, as well, that is to say, of those Lands and Goods so given by Collusion, as of any other out of the same Franchise, after that such Collusion or Fraud be duly found, in the same Manner as that ought to have been, if no [Devise<sup>1</sup>] had been thereof made, notwithstanding the same [Devise.<sup>1</sup>] But it is not the King's Mind, that by virtue of this Statute any Man be barred of his Suit against such Debtors by the common Course of the Law, before this present Statute used.

[AT the Parliament holden at Westminster, the Monday next after the Feast of St. Hillary, the Third Year of King Richard the Second,<sup>1</sup> of the Assent of the Lords and other in the said Parliament, [our said Lord hath<sup>2</sup>] caused to be made certain Statutes and Ordinances in the Form following.

FIRST, It is ordained and established, That Holy Church have and wholly enjoy her Franchises and Liberties, by the Manner as she hath had and enjoyed them in the Time of the King's noble Progenitors; and that the good Laws and Customs of the Realm, and the Statutes made before this Time, and not repealed, be holden and firmly kept and put in due Execution.

ITEM, Because that the Commons do greatly complain them to be grieved, in that that Whereas in the Time of the [King's noble Grandfather,<sup>3</sup>] it was ordained (<sup>4</sup>) for the common Profit of the Realm, that all the Woollen Cloths from thenceforth to be made in England which should be set to Sale, should contain a certain Measure in Length and Breadth, upon a certain Pain comprised in the said Statute, nevertheless divers People through the Realm, not having regard to the said Statute, make now divers Woollen Cloths vendible, which do not contain the Measure nor the Assise ordained by the same Statute, and which worse is, cause subtily to be tacked and set together with Thread divers Pieces of such Cloths, and after by Covin betwixt them and the King's Aulnegers, to hide and colour the Falsity, do procure the said Aulneger to put the Seal ordained upon the same Cloths, to the Intent that the Buyers might believe that such Cloths so sealed be sufficient Cloths, and whole, containing the same Assise, for otherwise they had not been sealed, as they say; in great Deceit of the People, and Mischief to the said Buyers, as well Denizens as Strangers: It is accorded and assented, That the Statutes made of the said Cloths before this Time, and not repealed, be kept and duly put in Execution. And moreover it is assented, That if any of the said Aulnegers or of the Collectors of the Subsidy of the said Cloths, do from henceforth set his Seal to any such Cloth so sewed in Deceit, the same Cloth shall be forfeit to the King, [in whose Hands soever<sup>5</sup>] it be found, and also the Aulneger or Collector, thereof found guilty, shall forfeit his Office;
and if he have put the same Seal to any other Cloth vendible, that is not of the said Assise, the same Aul-

ITEM, Because that our Lord the King hath perceived, as well by the Complaints of his faithful liege People, [and by their Clamour by<sup>1</sup>] divers Petitions thereof delivered in divers Parliaments before this Time, as otherwise by the perfect Knowledge and Experience of the Deed, how the Churches Cathedral and Collegial, Abbeyes and Priories and other Benefices of his Realm, which were late founden, and richly endowed by his Noble Progenitors, in which divers Dignities, Offices, Parsonages, Chanonries, Prebends, and other Benefices, were solemnly and devoutly ordained and established of the Assent of the foresaid Progenitors of the King, and of other their Noble Founders, which did give to the said Pastors of the same Churches, Abbeyes, Priories, and of other great Places, the Advowsons of the same Benefices, to the Intent that the same Benefices should be given to honest and meet Persons of the Realm, to serve and honour God diligently, and also to keep Hospitality, and to inform and teach the People, and to do other worthy Things pertaining to the Cure of Soules, after the Estate and Quality of the said Benefices: And so was it done in all Times past after the Foundation of the same, till now of late, that by the Informations, Instigations and Procurements of some of the King's liege People, the same Benefices have been given, against the Will of the Founders, to divers People of another Language, and of strange Lands and Nations, and sometime to the utter Enemies of the King and of his Realm, which never made Residence in the same, nor cannot, may not, nor will not in such wise bear and perform the Charges of the same Benefices, as in hearing Confessions, Preaching, nor Teaching the People, keeping Hospitality, nor accomplishing the other Things necessary to the Governance of the same Benefices; but only thereof [have<sup>2</sup>] and take the Emoluments and Temporal Profits, not having Regard to the Spiritual Cure, nor to other Charges to the same Benefices pertaining or belonging; but manifestly suffer the noble Buildings in old Times there made, when the same Benefices were occupied by Englishmen, wholly to fall to Decay, whereby the Divine Service is greatly minished, the Cure of Soules neglected and left, the Clergy enfeebled, the Treasure of the said Realm carried to the Hands of Aliens, and all the Estate of Holy Church brought to less Reverence than before it was wont to be; And though that in the Time of the said Grandfather certain Ordinances, Statutes, and Compositions were made and affirmed, wholly to put out, or at least to restrain the said Mischiefs in this Behalf; nevertheless the said Aliens, not having Regard to the same, do not refrain to take and receive such Benefices within the said Realm; but by the Comfort, Aid, and great Succour which they have had of the King's liege People, that be their Fermors, Procurators, and Attornies in this Behalf [and<sup>3</sup>] in every Part of the said Realm, do enforce themselves from Day to Day more and more [to accept<sup>4</sup>] the greatest Dignities and Benefices within the said Realm, and by divers cautelous Manners, much prejudicial to the same Realm if that were suffered, whereby the said Mischiefs do daily<sup>5</sup> increase, and much more will increase, if due Remedy be not the sooner provided:

Our Lord the King, by the Advice and common Assent of all the Lords Temporal being in this Parliament, hath ordained and established, That none of the King's liege People, nor other Person, of whatsoever Estate or Condition that he be, shall not take nor receive within the same Realm of England, Procuracy, Letter of Attorney, nor Ferm, nor other Administration by Indenture, nor in any other Manner whatsoever, of any Person of the World, of any Benefice within the said Realm, but only of the King's liege People of the same Realm, without the special Grace and express Licence of our Lord the King, by the Advice of his Council; and if any before this Time have accepted of any Aliens such Procuracies, Fermas, or Administration, that they shall utterly leave them within Forty Days after Publication of this Ordinance; and that none of the said liege People, nor other that may be found in the said Realm, shall convey by virtue of such Procuracy, Ferm, or Administration, Gold, Silver, nor other Treasure nor Commodity out of the said Realm, by Letter of Exchange, by Merchandise, nor in other Manner, to the Profit of the said Aliens, without like Licence of the King by the Advice of his said Council; and if any do the contrary, in any Point contained in this Ordinance, he shall incur the Pain and Punishment contained in the Statute of Provisors, made in the Time of the King's Grandfather, the Seven and twentieth Year of his Reign, by the same Process comprised in the said Statute, and by Warning to be made to them in their Benefices, or other their Possessions within the Realm; and if they be out of the said Realm, and [not beneficed, not having Possession¹] within the same Realm where they may be warned, then a Writ shall be made in the Chancery grounded upon this Ordinance to the Sheriff of London, or to the Sheriff of the County in which they were or shall be born, at the King's Suit, returnable in the one Bench or the other; by which Writ it shall be commanded, that Proclamation be made openly, that they appear before the Justices in the Bench where the Writ is returnable at a certain Day comprised in the same Writ, containing the Space of Half a Year, to answer upon the Matters comprised in the same Writ; and after this Writ returned, the Justices shall proceed against them according to the Form above ordained. And it is [assented²] by the King in the same Parliament, by the Assent aforesaid, That no Bishop, nor other Person of Holy Church through the Realm, shall meddle by Way of Sequestration, nor in any other Manner, with the Fruits of such Benefices given or to be given to the said Aliens, to the Profit of the same Aliens, upon the Peril that belongeth. [Dated, &c.]

And therefore We command you, that the said Statutes you do cause to be proclaimed and published in the notable places within your Bailiwick, and the same to be firmly kept and observed according to the form thereof. Given under the Witness of our Great Seal at Westminster the Twelfth Day of March in the Third Year of our Reign.

[RICARD by the Grace of God, &c. to the Sheriff of Nottingham,'] Greeting. The Commons of our Realm of England have prayed Us by their Petition delivered to Us at our present Parliament holden at Northampton, containing how many Wines of divers Manners (') oftentimes brought within the Land, which do often pass without gauging, because that the Statutes thereupon made in the Time of our Grandfather, whom God assoil, do not make express Mention of all Manner Wines, and of other Liquors; to the great Damage of the Lords and Commons of the same Realm, which be oftentimes deceived in their buying, because they cannot without Gauge have rightful Knowledge how much the same Vessel will contain, That it may please Us, for the Profit of Us and our Realm more plainly to declare the same Statutes, in such Manner, that all Manner of Wines, and other Liquors gaugeable brought within this Realm, may be comprised in the same Statutes: We, considering the said Supplication to be profitable for Us, the Lords and Commons of the same Realm, will and grant by the Assent of the Prelates and Lords aforesaid, that the Statutes thereupon made, as is said, be holden, kept and put in due Execution: And moreover We declare, and of the Assent aforesaid, will and grant, that as well all manner Vessels of Sweet Wines of the Rhine, and of other Wines, as other Vessels of Vinegar, Oil, Honey, and all other Liquors gaugeable, which from henceforth shall come within this Realm of England, or within our Lands of Wales and Ireland, shall be well and lawfully gauged by our Gaugers thereto assigned, or their Deputies. And if any set Debate and Disturbance, and will not suffer the Wines or other Liquors aforesaid to be gauged, he shall incur the Pain ordained by the said other Statutes, and in the same Manner the Gaugers shall incur the Pain comprised in the same Statutes, if Default be from henceforth found in them, or in their Deputies in this Behalf.

ITEM, Considering the great Aids which the Clergy and the Commons of the same Realm have done to Us, of their free Will in our great Necessities before this Time, and specially now in this present Parliament; We, willing for so much, and for the great Charges which they have had and suffered by the Wars, and other Manner, to do them Grace and Relief on the other Part, have of our special Grace at their Prayer, released and pardoned to the Clergy and Commons, and to every singular Person of our said Realm, as much as to Us pertained, for all manner Escapes of Felons made and fallen before the Date of these Presents, as well of Clerks convicted out of the Ordinaries' Prisons, as of other Prisoners and Felons whatever, except Escapes adjudged before this Time. Provided always, that if any of the said Escapes were made fraudulently, by Covin or of the Assent of the Keepers of the said Prisoners, that the same Escapes shall not be comprised within this our Grace by any way. And that he that will enjoy this our Grace and Pardon, shall thereof pursue to have his Charter in our Chancery in due Form.

[And therefore We command, &c. Dated'] at Northampton, the iij. Day of November, the iij. Year of our Reign.

Like Writs are directed to the several Sheriffs throughout England, mutatis mutandis, under the same Date.

STATUTE THE FIRST.

RICHARD by the Grace, [<sup>&c.</sup> to the Sheriff of Nottingham,] Greeting. Know thou, That to the Reverence of God and of Holy Church, and for to nourish Peace, Unity, [and Quietness of <sup>1</sup>] good Accord, in all Parts of our Realm of England, and especially for the good Governance of the same Realm, which We do chiefly desire, of the Assent of the Prelates, Lords, and Commons assembled at our Parliament holden at Westminster the Morrow after All Souls last past, We have caused to be made certain Ordinances and Establishments, as well for the Amendment of the said Governance, as for the common Profit of the Realm, in the Form following.

FIRST, It is assented and accorded, That Holy Church have and enjoy all her Liberties and Franchises wholly; and that the Great Charter and the Charter of the Forest, and all other good Statutes and Ordinances made before this Time, and not repealed, and especially the Statutes of Purveyors late made in the Time of the noble King Edward [our Grandfather <sup>1</sup>] be holden, kept, and put in due Execution after the Form and Effect of the same.

ITEM, For the great Mischief which the Realm suffereth, and long hath done, for that Gold and Silver, as well in Money, Vessel, Plate, and Jewels, as otherwise by Exchanges made in divers Manners, is carried out of the Realm, so that in Effect there is [none <sup>1</sup>] thereof left, which Thing if it should longer be suffered would shortly be the Destruction of the same Realm, which God prohibit; It is assented and accorded, and the King enjoineth all Manner of People, Merchants, Clerks, and other, as well Strangers as Denizens, of what Estate or Condition they be, upon Pain of as much as they may forfeit, that none of them upon the said Pain privily nor openly send nor carry, nor cause to be sent or carried out of the said Realm, any Gold or Silver in Money, Bullion, Plate, or Vessel, neither by Exchanges to be made, nor in other Manner; but the Wages of Calais, and of other the King's Fortresses beyond the Sea; and especially excepted the Prelates, Lords, and other of the same Realm, to whom sometimes it behoveth necessarily to make Payments beyond the Sea; that of the same Payments only they make Exchanges in England, by good and sufficient Merchants to pay beyond the Sea, and first special Leave and Licence had of the King, as well for the Exchangers as for the Person which ought to make the Payments, containing expressly the Sum which shall be so exchanged: And it is assented, That the Merchants that so shall make Exchanges, shall be diligently examined and sworn

I.
Liberties of the Church, and Charters and Statutes confirmed.

II.
Exportation of Gold and Silver forbidden;

Except for Payment of the King's Forts beyond Sea, and by the King's Licence, by Exchanges in England to pay beyond Sea.

<sup>1</sup> of God, King of England and of France, and Lord of Ireland, to our Sheriff of Kent, <sup>2</sup> Quietness, and <sup>3</sup> Grandfather of our Lord the King that now is, <sup>4</sup> now scarcely any Penalty on Merchants exporting Gold or Silver under colour of Exchanges.

None shall depart from the Realm without the King's Licence: Exceptions thereto.

Ports for embarking.

The Penalty of the Master of the Ship offending.

The Penalty of Searchers or Wardens of Ports offending.

III. No Subject shall import or export Merchandises but in Ships of the King's Liegance.

IV. Prices of several Sorts of Wines to be sold in Gross or by Retail.

in their proper Persons, as often as they shall have the said Licence, that they shall not send beyond the Sea any Manner of Gold nor Silver under the Colour of the same Exchange; and if after Proclamation of this Ordinance any Person be from henceforth duly attainted, that he hath caused to be sent or carried beyond the Sea any Gold or Silver against this Restraint and Ordinance, he shall forfeit to the King the same Sum so carried or sent. And the King our Lord, of his Royal Majesty, defendeth the Passage utterly of all Manner of People, as well Clerks as other, in every Port and other Town and Place upon the Coast of the Sea, upon Pain of Forfeiture of all their Goods; except only the Lords and other Great Men of the Realm, and true and notable Merchants, and the King's Soldiers; and every Person, other than is before excepted, which after Publication of this Ordinance made, shall pass out of the said Realm without the King's special Licence, (which Licence the King willet and commandeth that it be not from henceforth made, but only in one of the Ports underwritten, that is to say, London, Sandwich, Dover, Southampton, Plymouth, Dertmouth, Bristow, Yarmouth, St. Botolph, Kingston upon Hull, Newcastle upon Tyne, and the other Ports and Passages towards Ireland, and the Isles pertaining to the Realm of England,) shall forfeit to the King as much as he hath in Goods, as above is said; and nevertheless, the Master or Mariner of the Ship, or of other Vessel, in which he shall carry over beyond the Sea any Person, but such only as be before excepted, without the said Licence, and thereof be convict duly, shall forfeit the said Vessel to the King. And the King commandeth all Wardens and Searchers of the Ports and Passages through England, that they shall from henceforth diligently use their Office, and make good and strait Search. And if any Searchers or Wardens of the Ports and Passages through the said Realm, by Negligence or in other Manner do or suffer wittingly to be done in any Point the contrary of the said Two Articles, touching the Money of Gold or Silver, and the said Passages of People, and thereof be duly convict, he shall forfeit to the King his said Office and all his Goods, and his Body shall be committed to Prison, there to abide an whole Year without Redemption. And thereupon whosoever espieth and proveth duly, that any Thing be done against the Intent of the said Two last Articles, whereby the said Forfeiture ought to fall upon any Person, he shall have half of the same Forfeiture for his Labour, of the King's Gift.

ITEM, To increase the Navy of England, which is now greatly diminished: It is assented and accorded, That none of the King's liege People do from henceforth ship any Merchandize in going out or coming within the Realm of England, [in any Port,] but only in Ships of the King's Liegance; and every Person of the said Liegance, which after the Feast of Easter next ensuing, at which Feast this Ordinance shall first begin to hold place, do ship and merchandise in any other Ships or Vessels upon the Sea, than of the said Liegance, shall forfeit to the King all his Merchandises shipped in other Vessels, wheresoever they be found hereafter, or the Value of the same; of which Forfeitures the King will and granteth, that he that duly espieth, and duly proveth that any Person hath any Thing forfeited against this Ordinance, shall have the Third Part for his Labour, of the King's Gift.

ITEM, as to Wines of Gascoine, Rochel, Oacy, and of Spain, and Wines of the Rhine: It is ordained and assented, That no Englishman that will from henceforth pass the Sea for the said Wines, and to bring them [in any Party] within the same Realm, shall not, nor may not sell his Wines within the same Realm, upon

And as to the Retaile of the the said [Tuna of<sup>4</sup>] Wines of Gascoine, of Osey, and of Spain, brought within the Realm by Englishmen, the Gallon of the best Wine shall not be sold within the said Realm, upon Pain to forfeit all the Vessel and Wine to the King, above Sixpence, and within according to the Value; and the Gallon of the best Wine of Rochel at Four-pence, and within according to the Value. And as to the Rinish Wines brought within the same Realm, because the Vessels and the [Gallons<sup>5</sup>] of the same do not contain any certain Measure: It is accorded and assented, That the Gallon of the best Rinish Wine, nor in gross nor at Retaile, be sold in any Part within the said Realm by the said Englishmen, above vi. d. upon the same Pain. Also it is assented, That if any Englishman refuse, and will not sell in gross his Wines set to Sale for the said Prices before limited, but will keep them, only to sell them at Retail, or in other Manner above the same Price before limited, in Fraud, and against the Form of this Ordinance, [and<sup>6</sup>] the Mayor and Bailiffs, and other Governors of the City, Borough, Town, or other Place within whose Power or Jurisdiction the said Wines shall be found, be it within Franchise or without, shall have Power by this same Ordinance, after that the Buyer according to this Ordinance, hath reasonably proffered Money for the same Wines, once or Two Times, to the Seller of the same Wines, to make Deliverance of the same Wines being in Bargain to the said Buyers, and shall deliver to them the same in Deed, as soon as they shall be thereunto required, for the Price afore ordained. And if any of the said Mayor, Bailiffs, or other Governors, after that they shall be thereof duly required, refuse to do the same, and make not the said Deliverance, and that duly proved, he shall forfeit to the King the Value of the said Wines so bought. And the King's Mind is not to restrain the [Taverners,<sup>7</sup>] and other Sellers of Wines, carrying the same into the Country by Carta, or in other Manner by this Ordinance, but that they may enhance the Price of their Wines for the Costs of their Carriage to be made by them reasonably, according as hath been ordained in Times past; which Ordinance shall be duly kept and put in Execution; and especially no more shall be from henceforth enhanced upon the Gallon of Wine for the Carriage of Fifty Miles than One Half-penny only. And likewise where greater or less Carriage is to be made than by Fifty Miles, it shall be (<sup>8</sup>) upon the Gallon of Wine after the Rate and not above, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the same Wines. And this Ordinance of Wines shall begin to hold place as soon as any New Wines shall be brought within the said Realm. (<sup>9</sup>) Also (<sup>10</sup>) the King (<sup>11</sup>) defendeth, that no manner of Sweet Wine, nor Claret, from henceforth after the Nativy of Saint John Baptist next coming, shall be sold at Retaile in any Part within this Realm of England, within Franchise or without, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the same. And the King will that he that shall espie and duly prove, or do to be proved, that any hath sold any manner of Wines, Sweet or Claret, at Retaile, or otherwise [or<sup>12</sup>] offended or forfeited after the Terms

Upon Refusal of the Merchant to sell, Mayors, &c. may deliver to the Buyer the Wines at the Prices set.

The King's Pardon to those that repressed or punished his Rebels.

ITEM, Our Sovereign Lord the King, perceiving that many Lords and Gentlemen of his Realm [of England,] and other with them, in the Rumour and Insurrection of Villaines, and of other Offenders, which now of late did traiterously rise by Assemblies in outrageous Number, in divers Parts of the Realm, against God, good Faith, and Reason, and against the Dignity of our Sovereign Lord the King and his Crown, and the Laws of his Lands, made divers Punishments upon the said Villaines and other Traitors without due Process of the Law, and otherwise than the Laws and Usages of the Realm required, although they did it of no Malice prepened, but only (') to appease and cease the apparent Mischief, (') considering the great Diligence and Loyalty of the Lords and Gentlemen in this Behalf, which were not learned of the said Laws and Usages, and though at that Time they had been learned, a Man might not upon those Punishments have tarried the Process of the Law, (') of their good Discretions, and willing therefore to do them Grace, according as they have the same greatly deserved, of the Assent aforesaid hath pardoned and released to the said Lords and Gentlemen, and all other being in their Aid at the same Deed, and to every of them, as much as to him thereof pertaineth, or to him and to his Heirs may pertain; so that hereafter for whatsoever Thing that is done by them upon the said Punishments in Resistance, they shall never be impeached nor grieved in Body, Goods, nor their Heritages and Possessions, by any Way, by our Sovereign Lord the King, his Heirs or Ministers, nor none other in Time to come, but utterly shall be thereof quit for ever by this Grant and Statute without having thereof other especial Charter or Pardon.

VI.
All Manumissions, Releases, and Bonds, made in the last Tumults by Compulsion, shall be void.

ITEM, It is ordained, That all manner Manumissions, Obligations, Releases, and other Bonds made by Compulsion, Duress, and Menace, in the Time of this last Rumour and Riot against the Laws of the Land, and good Faith, shall be wholly (') adnulled and holden for void; and they that have done to be made, or do yet with-hold such Manumissions, Obligations, Releases, Bonds, and other Deeds, so made by Duress, shall be sent before the King and his Council, thereof to answer there of their Deed, and further shall be constrained to make Delivery and Restitution of the said Deeds to them that made the same against their good Gree, with the Copies of the same, if percase they have thereof made any before, another Time to use or renew the effect of the same if they may. And likewise it is accorded, That all Entries made in Lands or Tenements, and also all Feoffments made in the Time of the same Rumour by Compulsion and Menace, or otherwise with Force of People, against the Law, shall be void, and holden for none. And the King straitly defendeth to all Manner of People, upon Pain of as much as they may forfeit against him in Body and Goods, that none from henceforth make nor [begin any manner'] Riot and Rumour, nor other like. And if any the same do, and that duly proved, it shall be done of him as of a Traitor to the King and to his said Realm.

Treason to begin a Riot
and Rumour.

VII.
Forcible Entries
forbidden.

AND also the King defendeth, That none from henceforth make any Entry into any Lands and Tenements, but in case where Entry is given by the Law; and in such case not with strong Hand, nor with Multitude of People, but only in [peaceable<sup>o</sup>] and easy Manner. And if any Man from henceforth do to the contrary, and thereof be duly conviê, he shall be punished by Imprisonment of his Body, and thereof ransomed at the King's Will.

ITEM, Touching the Charters, Releases, Obligations, and other Deeds and Muniments, burnt, destroyed, or otherwise elained in the same Rumour, It is assented, That they which thereof feel them grieved, shall put their Petitions distinctly made upon their Matters specially before the King and his Council, betwixt this and the Nativity of Saint John Baptist next coming at the furthest, and there make sufficient Proof of the said Muniments so lost, and of the Form and Tenor of the same; and that done, such Remedy shall thereof be provided for them at every Man's Complaint, as best shall seem in the Case, saving the Law.

ITEM, Because that grievous Complaint hath oftentimes been made of the Officers of the Exchequer, for that the Heirs, Executors, Occupiers of Goods, and Land Tenants of divers Persons which have been impeached in the said Exchequer, of Debts, Accompts, and other Demands, and which although they have offered them there to shew or plead for their Discharge of those Impeachments according to the Law, they have not been always thereunto received heretofore, without having express Commandment by Writ, or Letter of the Great or Privy Seal, to the great Disquietness, Mischief, and Delay of the said Persons impeached, and no Advantage to the King; It is ordained and assented, That the Barons of the said Exchequer shall from henceforth have full Power to hear every Answer of every Demand made in the same Exchequer, so that every Person that is impeached or impeachable of any Cause by himself, or by any Person, shall be from henceforth received in the same Exchequer to plead sue and have his reasonable Discharge in this Behalf, without tarrying or suing any Writ, (¹) or other Commandment whatsoever.

ITEM, Because that great Mischiefs have happened in Times past to divers Persons, as well to Lords of the Realm, as other, which were retained or assigned to serve our Lord the King, by Indentures or without Indentures, in his Wars and his Messages, or in other Manner, and for the same Causes receive certain Sums of Money at the Receipt of the said Exchequer, or elsewhere by Assignment, which Sums have been put upon them in the Rolls of the said Exchequer, as Money received by Way of Loan, and for that Cause the same Sums should run in Demand upon them at the Exchequer as a clear Debt, (²) although the said Persons so retained, their Heirs, Executors, Occupiers of their Goods, or Land Tenants, after their Death, have demanded to be admitted to Accompt of the Sums received, [which³] hath not been granted to them, but they have been constrained to pursue their [Grant⁴] by the Great or Privy Seal directed to the Treasurer and Barons there, whereby it was commanded to the Treasurer and Barons to accompt with them in this Behalf; which Warrants oftentimes have been denied, because that the King's Officers newly made percase had no Knowledge of such retaining made before their Time; and sometime have been granted, but not so fully as Reason and the Case required[. And forasmuch as the same Warrant would that Accompt⁵] should not be received, but only of the Sum so received by Loan, whereas a greater Sum percase was due to them of Reason, to the great Mischief and Hinderance of the said Persons; It is ordained and assented, That of all People which from henceforth shall be retained or assigned to serve the King, their Covenants shall be put in Writing, and sent to the Exchequer, there to remain of Record; so that at what Time that any Person so retained, his Heirs or Executors, Occupiers of the Goods, or Land-Tenants, come to accompt thereof at the Exchequer, they shall be thereto received, and have due Allowance in their Accompt, according to the Content of their Covenant. #### STATUTE THE SECOND.

THE KING, to the Sheriff of Cornwall, Greeting. Whereas with the common Assent of Us and the Nobles, Great Men, and Commons of our Realm of England, assisting Us in our last Parliament, for the better Government and Amendment of our said Realm, and the Merchandises of the same, certain Agreements or Ordinances were, among other Things, made in this Form:

For the common Profit of the Realm of England, divers Ordinances and Establishments have been made by our Lord the King, the Prelates, Lords, and Commons of the said Realm, being in this present Parliament holden at Westminster the [Tuesday next after the Feast'] of St. John Portlatine, the Fifth Year of the Reign of our Lord King Richard the Second, in the Form following.

FIRST, It is accorded and assented in the Parliament, That all Manner of Merchants Strangers, of whatsoever Nation or Country they be, being of the Amity of the King and of his Realm, shall be welcome, and freely may come within the Realm of England, and elsewhere within the King's Power, as well within Franchise as without, and there to be conversant, to merchandise and tarry as long as them liketh, as those whom our said Lord the King by the Tenour hereof taketh into his Protection and Safeguard, with their Goods, Merchandises, and all manner Familiars. And for so much the King willeth and commandeth, That they and every of them be well friendly and merchant-like intreated and demeaned in all Parts within his said Realm and Power, with their Merchandises and all manner Goods, and suffered to go and come, and into their proper Country peaceably to return, without Disturbance or Impeachment of any.

II.
Wool, Leather, and Woolfels, may be exported, except to France.

Abatement of Half a Mark to such as will pay beforehand.

No Repeal or Countermand of Immunity shall be made, after such Payment.

The Subsidy to be applied in Defence of the Realm,
&c.

III.
Offer of Mariners to serve at Sea :

ITEM, It is assented and accorded in the Parliament, That the Passage of Wools, Leather, and Woolfels be open to all manner of Merchants and other, as well Foreigners as Denizens, that will buy the same and readily pay in hand for the same the Customs, Subsidies and [Devoirs'] of Calais due from henceforth to the Feast of St. Michael next come twelvemonth, in such manner, that in the meantime they [and none other] may ship and cockpit the same in Ports within the Realm accustomed, and from thence to carry and bring them towards what Parts they will choose beyond the Sea, without Impediment or Impeachment, except to the Realm of France. And moreover, of the Assent aforesaid, our Sovereign Lord the King will and granteth to all those Merchants and other, which betwixt this and the Fifteenth of St. Martin next ensuing, shall pay before in hand the Subsidies, Customs, and [Devoirs'] for the Wools, Leather, and Woolfels, which they will pass and do to be carried beyond the Sea, betwixt the First Day of September next coming, and the said Feast of St. Michael next come Twelvemonth, his Pardon and Release of Half a Mark of every Sack of Wool, Half a Mark of every Two hundred and forty Woolfels, and also of their Leather after the Rate, upon their said Payments so to be made before hand, as it is said. And therewithal they and every of them shall have freely the Passage of the same their Wools, Leather, and Woolfels at large where and when they will, as above is said, before the Feast of St. Michael aforesaid without any manner Impeachment or Impediment; but the King's Mind is, that they which will not pay the Subsidies of their Wools, Leather, and Woolfels before the said Fifteenth, they shall pay wholly the Customs, Subsidies, and [Devoirs'] of their Wools, Leather, and Woolfels to be passed beyond the Sea, without having Remission of the said Half Mark by any way. And the King promiseth, and it is accorded and assented by all the Estates of the Parliament, that against this Grant and Ordinance, nor against those Persons which so shall pay beforehand, and before the said Fifteenth, their Subsidies, Customs, and Devoirs, and shall have therefore the said Passage of their Wools, Leather, and Woolfels, and Release of the said Half Mark, as is said, no Repeal, Revocation, Countermandment, Impediment, nor other Thing shall be made by our Sovereign Lord the King, his Council, his Ministers, nor none other, which may turn or sound in Disturbance of their Covenant or Passage aforesaid by any Way of the World. And the King will and granteth, at the Request of his Commons, that the Money coming of the Subsidy of the said Wools, Leather, and Woolfels granted at the last Parliament, be wholly applied upon the Defence of the Realm of England, and the Keeping and Governance of his Towns and Fortresses beyond the Sea, after the good Advice of the Lords of the Realm, and other wise Men of the King's Council.

ITEM, Upon the Proffer which hath been made in the Parliament by the Mariners of the West, to make an Army upon the Sea, to endure from this Time till the Feast of St. Michael next coming in Two Years, the Lords and Commons being in this Parliament have granted to the King a Subsidy of Two Shillings to take of every Tun of Wine, and of a less Vessel

The Mariners shall divide their Gains.

The Admirals shall save harmless the King's Allies.

ITEM, The King doth will and command, and it is assented in the Parliament by the Prelates, Lords, and Commons, That all and singular Persons and Commonalties which from henceforth shall have the Summons of the Parliament, shall come from henceforth to the Parliaments, in the Manner as they are bound to do, and [have'] been accustomed within the Realm of England of old Times. And if any Person of the same Realm, which from henceforth shall have the said Summons, be he Archbishop, Bishop, Abbot, Prior, Duke, Earl, Baron, Banneret, Knight of the Shire, Citizen of City, Burgess of Borough, or other singular Person or Commonalty, do absent himself, and come not at the said Summons, except he may reasonably and honestly excuse him to our Lord the King, he shall be amerced, and otherwise punished, according as of old Times hath been used to be done within the said Realm in the said Case. And if any Sheriff of the Realm be from henceforth negligent in making his Returns of Writs of the Parliament, or that he leave out of the said Returns any Cities or Boroughs which be bound, and of old Time were wont to come to the Parliament, he shall be [amerced or otherwise'] punished in the Manner as was accustomed to be done in the said Case in Times past.

IV Every one shall obey his Summons to Parliament.

Penalty on Sheriffs omitting Returns of Writs to Parliament.

ITEM, Forasmuch as it is openly known, that there be divers evil Persons within the Realm, going from County to County, and from Town to Town, in certain Habits under Dissimulation of great Holiness, and without the Licence (') of the Ordinaries of the Places or other sufficient Authority, [preaching'] daily, not only in Churches and Churchyards, but also in Markets, Fairs, and other open Places, where a great Congregation of People is, divers Sermons containing Heresies and notorious Errors, to the great emblemishing of the Christian Faith, and Destruction of the Laws, and of the Estate of Holy Church, to the great Peril of the Souls of the People, and of all the Realm of England, as more plainly is found and sufficiently proved before the Reverend Father in God the Archbishop of Canterbury, and the Bishops and other Prelates, (') Masters of Divinity, and Doctors of Canon and of Civil Law, and a great Part of the Clergy of the said Realm specially

ITEM, To the Intent that Writs of Debt and Account, and all other such Actions, be from henceforth taken in their Counties, and directed to the Sheriffs of the Counties where the Contracts of the same Actions did rise; It is ordained and accorded, That if from henceforth in Pleas upon the same Writs it shall be declared, That the Contract thereof was made in another County than is contained in the Original Writ, that then incontinently the same Writ shall be utterly abated.

II. Actions of Debt and Account shall be brought in their proper Counties.

ITEM, It is accorded and ordained, That all Writs of Nusances, commonly called Vicontia, shall be from henceforth made at the Election of the Plaintiff, in the Nature of old Times used, or else in the Nature of Assises determinable before the King's Justices of the one Bench or the other, or before the Justices of Assise to be taken in the County of the Place assigned or to be assigned.

III. How Writs of Nusance called Vicontia, shall be pursued.

ITEM, It is accorded, That all Inrollments of Deeds, and other Muniments in the Rolls of the Chancery, of either Bench, and the Exchequer of our Lord the King, before this Time enrolled, and after by Traitors to the King and his Realm, in the Insurrection [late made within the same Realm seditiously removed, torn, and rent, or otherwise imbezelled,] shall be in a due Form exemplified under the King's Great Seal without Fee of the Seal thereof to be paid, and that the same Exemplifications so had, shall be of the same Effect and Strength in all Things, as the same Deeds and Muniments should have been, if they were had whole and unhurt.

IV. Exemplifications of Inrollments of Deeds destroyed in Tumults shall be of the same Force as the Originals.

ITEM, It is ordained and accorded, That the Justices assigned and to be assigned to take Assises and deliver the Gaols, shall from henceforth hold their Sessions in the Principal and Chief Towns of every of the Counties, (') where the Shire Courts of the same Counties be holden, and hereafter shall be holden.

V. Justices of Assise, &c. shall hold their Sessions in principal Towns.

ITEM, Against the Offenders and Ravishers of Ladies, and the Daughters of Noblemen, and other Women, in every Part of the said Realm, in these Days offending more violently, and much more than they were wont; It is ordained and established, That wheresoever and whensoever such Ladies, Daughters, and other Women aforesaid be ravished, and after such Rape do consent to such Ravishers, that as well the Ravishers, as they that be ravished, and every of them, be from thenceforth disabled, and by the same Deed be unable to have or challenge all Inheritance, Dower, or Joint Feoffment after the Death of their Husbands and Ancestors; and that incontinently in this Case the next of the Blood of those Ravishers, or of them that be ravished, to whom such Inheritance, Dower, or Joint Feoffment ought to (') revert, remain, or fall after the Death of the Ravisher, or of her that is so ravished, shall have Title immediately, that is to say, (') after the Rape, to enter upon the Ravisher, or her that is ravished, and their Assigns, and Land-Tenants in the same Inheritance, Dower, or Joint-Feoffment, and the same to hold in State of Inheritance; and that the Husbands of such Women, if they have Husbands, or if they have no Husbands in Life, that then the Fathers or other next of their Blood, have from henceforth the Suit to pursue, and may sue against the same Offenders and Ravishers in this Behalf, and to have them thereof convicted of Life, and of Member, although the same Women after such Rape do consent to the said Ravishers. And further it is accorded, That the Defendant in this Case shall not be received to wage Battle, but that the Truth of the Matter be thereof tried by Inquisition of the Country. Saving always to our Lord the King, and to other Lords of the said Realm, all their Escheats of the said Ravishers, if peradventure they be thereof convicted.

VI. Where, after Rape, the Woman consents, both Parties shall be disabled to take by Inheritance, Dower, or Jointure.

The Husband or next of Kin may prosecute for the Rape.

Defendants may not wage Battle.

ITEM, It is ordained and enacted, That neither in the City of London, nor in other Cities, Boroughs, Towns, or Ports of the Sea, through the Realm, any Victualler shall <sup>(1)</sup> have, exercise, nor in no wise occupy any judicial Office, but in such Town where none other Person sufficient may be found to have the same Office. In which Case yet the same Judge for the Time that he shall continue in the said Office, shall utterly omit and abstain himself and his from the Exercise of Victualling, upon Pain of Forfeiture of his Victuals so sold.

Aliens in Amity with the King,
may bring in Victuals, and sell them.

ITEM, It is ordained and accorded, That all Manner of Foreigners and Aliens being of the Amity of the King, and of his Realm, and coming within the said City of London, and other Cities, Boroughs, and Towns within the said Realm, as well within Liberties as without, with Fish and all Manner of other Victuals, there tarrying and going again to their own Countries, shall from henceforth be under the Safeguard and the special Protection of our said Lord the King; and there it shall be lawful to them and every of them, and by Force of these Presents they may from henceforth cut their Fishes and Victuals aforesaid, without Impeachment or denying of any Man, in Pieces, and in Part, or in all, at Retaile, or in Gross, as to them best shall seem, to sell and make their Profit; any Charters, Statutes, Ordinances, Privileges, or Customs made or had to the contrary notwithstanding.

OF THE STATUTE MADE AT WESTMINSTER IN THE SIXTH YEAR.

STATUTE THE SECOND.

THE KING to the Sheriffs of London and Middlesex, Greeting. Know ye, that, in our last Parliament holden at Westminster, We caused to be made certain Statutes, Pardons, and Ordinances in these Words:

In the Parliament holden at Westminster on Monday in the Third Week of Lent, in the Sixth Year of the Reign of King Richard, the Second after the Conquest, Our Lord the King, with the Assent of the Prelates, Nobles, and Great Men assisting him in the same Parliament, caused certain Statutes, Remissions, and Ordinances to be made, to the Praise and Honour of Almighty God, and for the quiet of his People, in Form following.

I. Liberties of the Church, and Charters, confirmed.

FIRST, It is ordained and granted, that the Church of England shall fully enjoy and use all her Liberties and free Customs; and that the Great Charter and the Charter of the Forest shall be firmly holden in all their Articles, and put in due Execution according to the Effect of the same.

II. Statutes of Purveyors, confirmed.

ALSO It is ordained and granted, that the Statutes of Purveyors of Victuals and Carriage for the King's Household, be in like Manner kept in all their Articles, and put in due Execution.

III. The Pardon granted in the preceding Parliament extended.

ITEM, Whereas our Sovereign Lord the King, in his Parliament summoned at Westminster, the Monday in the Utas of Saint Michael, the Sixth Year of his Reign, of his especial Grace, did pardon and remit to all and singular his Liege People and Subjects, of whatsoever Estate, Degree, or Condition they were, except certain Citizens of London and other, of whom special mention is made in the said Pardon, the Suit of his Peace, and whatsoever Thing to the said King pertained or might pertain, for all Manner of Treasons and Felonies done or committed in the Time of the Insurrection, then lately within the said Realm of England stirred, whereof they were indicted, arraigned, or appealed, as in the same Parliament is more fully contained; the said our Sovereign Lord the King at the instant Supplication of the Commons of his said Realm, made in this present Parliament, as a benign Lord, having Compassion of his Subjects, clearly perceiving that in how much more graciously he would do by them, so much the more Tranquillity should grow betwixt his said Subjects, of the Assent aforesaid, will and granteth, That the said Grace, Pardon, and Remission in the said Parliament, that is of Treasons and Felonies done and committed in the said Insurrection, as before is said, shall in all Things extend to all and singular his Liege People and Subjects, as well [of London as of other <sup>1</sup>] before excepted from the said Grace; such only except, whose Names specially in the said Parliament holden at Westminster, the Morrow of All Soule, in the Fifth Year of his Reign, were [by the same King delivered to be excepted from the said Grace; <sup>2</sup>] So that all and singular Persons of the said Realm, of what [Estate,] Degree, or Condition they be, none of them except but the Persons whose Names be delivered in the said Parliament the said Fifth Year, shall take full Benefit of the same Grace, Pardon, and Remission, by Force of these Presents, as though every of them had or should obtain upon the same the King's special Charter, and also as they should take if no Exception thereof were made of them in the said first Grace or Pardon. Howbeit, the King's Mind is not, but that the Men of St. Edmundsbury shall be thereof holden to pursue specially for the King's Charters of Pardon, and further to find sufficient Surety of their good bearing, as well against our Sovereign Lord the King and his People as against the Abbey of Bury, according to the Ordinance thereof another Time made in the King's Council.

The Men of St. Edmund's Bury, shall sue their Pardons specially.

ITEM, For Peace and Tranquillity to be nourished and augmented throughout the same Realm, and to cease Stiffe and Contentions ( <sup>1</sup> ), It is ordained and accorded, That if any Person feel himself, by occasion of any Trespass done in the same Insurrection, to be grieved or damnified, and for the same peradventure doth purpose to make his Suit against the said Trespassers, that the same Person begin the same Suit, if he see it expedient for him, before the xv. of Saint John next coming, or else, the said xv. being past, he shall be excluded from the same Suit, and [Occasion <sup>2</sup>] thereof for ever.

IV. Actions for Trespasses, done in the Insurrection, limited.

ITEM, As to the Quarrels or Suits of Trespasses done in the said Insurrection, commenced before any of the King's Justices, or before the said xv. to be commenced; It is likewise ordained and accorded, That if they, against whom such Suits be taken, or before the said xv. shall be taken, come before Judgement, and will thereof purge or acquit themselves, by Three or Four good and convenient Men, and not suspect, thereunto sworn, before the Justices where the Plea shall be thereof hanging, that is to say, that they came not willingly in the Place pretended for the cause of any Evil, nor did no harm, but only by the Compulsion of other, they shall be thereto received by the Justices and Judges aforesaid, and such Purgation made by the said Witnesses, then they shall depart thereof utterly quit: [ &c. ]

V. Defendants in such Actions may purge themselves by Compurgators proving Compulsion.

We command you, that the Statutes, Ordinances, and Pardons aforesaid within your Bailiwick, you do cause to be publicly proclaimed, and firmly observed according to the Effect and Tenor of the same. Witness the King at Westminster, the Eighteenth Day of May in the Sixth Year of our Reign.

Like Commands are directed to the Sheriffs underwritten under the same Date, to wit; The Sheriff of Norfolk and Suffolk, the Sheriff of Essex and Hertford, the Sheriff of Lincoln, the Sheriff of Yorkshire, the Sheriff of Kent, the Sheriff of Surrey and Sussex, the Sheriff of Somerset and Dorset, the Sheriff of Cornwall, the Sheriff of Devonshire, the Sheriff of Cambridge and Huntingdon, the Sheriff of Bedford and Buckingham, the Sheriff of Northampton, the Sheriff of Gloucester, the Sheriff of Southampton, the Sheriff of Wiltshire.

STATUTE MADE AT WESTMINSTER IN THE SEVENTH YEAR.

In Margine
Rotuli.

Ex Rot. Stat. in Turr. Lond. II. m. 19, 18.

[RICHARD by the Grace of God, &c. to the Sheriff of York,'] Greeting. Know thou, that at our Parliament holden at Westminster the Monday next before the Feast of All Saints last past, to the Honour of God and of Holy Church, and for the common Profit of the Realm, of the Assent of the Prelates, Lords, and Commons being at the said Parliament, We have caused to be made certain Statutes and Ordinances in the Form following :

I.
Liberties of
confirmed.

FIRST, It is assented and accorded, That Holy Church have and enjoy all her Liberties and Franchises as wholly as she hath had and enjoyed them in the Time of the [King's noble Progenitors.']

II.
The Charters
and Statutes
confirmed.

ITEM, That the Great Charter and the Charter of the Forest, and all other good Statutes and Ordinances made before this Time, and not repealed, shall be holden and kept, and put in due Execution according to the Effect of the same.

III.
For Trespasses within the Forest, Juries shall give their Verdict where they received their Charge.

ITEM, At the grievous Complaint which is now made of the Officers of the Forest, It is assented and accorded, That no Manner of Jury shall be from henceforth compelled by any Officer of the Forest, or other Person whatsoever, to travel from Place to Place out of the Places where their Charge is given to them, against their Gree; nor by Malice, nor by Menace, or other Dures, constrained to give their Verdict of a Trespass done in the Forest, otherwise than their Conscience will clearly inform them; but they shall give their Verdicts upon their Charge in the Places where their Charge is given them, as above is said :

Penalty
on undue Imprisonment by the Officers of the Forest;
Double
Damages
to the King.

ITEM, It is assented, That no Man be taken nor imprisoned by any Officer of the Forest without due Indictment, or being taken with the Maner, or trespassing in the Forest; nor shall be constrained to make any Obligation or Ransom to any Officer of the Forest in any Sort against their Agreement and the Assise of the Forest; and if any do against this Ordinance in any Point, and thereof be attainted, he shall pay to the Party damnified their double Damages, and Fine and Ransom to the King for his Offence.

V.
Confirmation
of 5 Ed. III.
chapter 14.

Justices, &c. empowered to bind over Vagabonds to their good Behaviour,
&c.

ITEM, It is ordained and assented, That the Statutes made in the Time of King Edward, Grandfather to our Sovereign Lord the King that now is, of Roberdmen and Drawlatches be firmly holden and kept; and moreover it is ordained and assented, to refrain the Malice of divers People, Feitors and wandering from Place to Place, running in the Country more abundantly than they were wont in Times past, that from henceforth the Justices of Assises in their Sessions, the Justices of Peace, and the Sheriffs in every County shall have Power to enquire of all such Vagabonds and Feitors, and of their Offences, and upon them to do that the Law demandeth; and that as well the Justices and Sheriffs, as the Mayors, Bailiffs, Constables, and other Governors of Towns and Places where such Feitors and Vagabonds shall come, shall from henceforth have Interlined on the Roll.

Power to examine them diligently, and to compel them to find Surety of their good bearing, by sufficient Main-pennors, of such as be distrainable, if any Default be found in such Feitors and Vagabonds; and if they cannot find such Surety, they shall be sent to the next Gaol, there to abide till the coming of the Justices assigned for the Deliverance of the Gaols, who in such Case shall have Power to do upon such Feitors and Vagabonds so imprisoned, that that thereof to them best shall seem by the Law.

ITEM, for the grievous Mischiefs and Complaints that do daily happen of Robberies, Thefts, Manslaugh-ters, Burning of Houses, and Ridings in Routs and great Companies in every Part of the Realm; It is ordained and assented, That the Statute of Winchester, the Tenour whereof is sent by our Lord the King this Year last past into every County of England to be proclaimed, (') be holden and kept in all Points, and put in good and hasty Execution, at the Complaint and Pursuit of every Man that feeleth himself grieved against the Tenour of the same; and to the Intent that no Man shall excuse himself by Ignorance of the same Statute, it is also assented, that every Sheriff of England shall be bound from henceforth in proper Person to make Proclamation of the same Statute four Times in a Year in every Hundred of his Bailiwick, and by his Bailiffs in every Market Town, as well within Liberties as without.

ITEM, Against the Michief that happeneth to divers People of the Realm, which be impanelled and returned before the Justices and Barons of the Exchequer; in which Case, because that the Inquest is not pursued to the End by those that be Parties, but put in Delay from Year to Year, the Jurors do greatly lose, and some much more than the Value of their Land is by Year, to their great Impoverishing and Hindrance:
It is accorded, That from henceforth in all Manner of Pleas where a Nisi Prius is grantable of Office, after the great Distress [returned, and three Times served'] before the Justices against the Jurors, and thereupon the Parties demanded, if none of the said Parties will pursue, or if the Parties refuse to have a Writ of Nisi Prius in the Case, then at the Suit of any of the Jurors that be present, a Writ of Nisi Prius shall be made and granted, and that as well in the Exchequer as elsewhere, and thereupon the Quarrel shall be set at an End without Delay, according as the Case requireth, and the Law demandeth.

ITEM, It is accorded and assented, That the Statutes of Purveyors made before this Time be firmly holden and kept, and put in good and due Execution; joining to the same, that if the Servants of other Lords and Ladies which be not comprised in the said Statutes, do from henceforth take, in any Part within the Realm, Victuals or Carriages to the Use of their Lords and Ladies, otherwise than they thereof may agree with the Owners and Sellers of the same by Payment thereof to be made readily in Hand, that the same Servants shall incur the Pain (') comprised in the said Statutes of Purveyors, and nevertheless the Party endamaged by such Servants, if he will, shall have his Suit at the Common Law.

ITEM, For the Mischief which daily happeneth upon the Falsehood and Deceit which is found in Cloths vendible, as well coloured as Ray Cloths, against the Assise thereof ordained before this Time, It is ordained and assented, That all the Statutes thereof made in Times past, with the Statutes made of Aulnegers and Collectors of the Subsidy of the said Cloths, be holden, kept, and put in due and good Execution; Joining to the same, that he which from henceforth shall espy and prove Default in any such Cloth set to Sale, against the Assise thereof ordained of the said Cloths, and against the Form of the said Statutes, shall have the Third Part of every such Cloth defective for his Labour, by the Delivery of the Sheriffs, if they

ITEM, It is ordained and assented, That an Assize of Novel Disseisin shall be from henceforth granted and made of Rent behind, due of Tenements being in divers Counties, to be holden in the Confine of the Counties, within which the Tenements be; and thereupon the Assize taken and tried by People of the said Counties in the same Manner as is done of a Common of Pasture being in one County, and appendant to Tenements in another County; and that as well of Disseisins done in Time past, as of Disseisins yet to be done; and that Writs thereupon at the Suit of the Plaintiffs be made from henceforth in the Chancery without any Manner of Contradiction, in a due Form.

XI.
The Statutes
5 Ric. II.
c. 4, 5, and 6 Ric. II.
c. 7, 11, 12,
concerning Fishmongers, Vintners, and Vintners,
repealed.

ITEM, Whereas in divers Parliaments holden at Westminster, the Fifth and Sixth Years of our said Lord the King, divers Ordinances and Statutes of Fishers of London and other Victuallers were made, and also of Vintners, and of the Sale of Wines, and thereupon the same Ordinances and Statutes, with the Pains in them contained, were published and proclaimed throughout the Realm, as in the said Statutes and Ordinances more plainly may appear: Nevertheless for certain Causes, at the Request of the Commons of England thereupon specially made, It is assented and agreed, That the same Ordinances and Statutes of Fishers, Vintners, and Victuallers, made in the Years aforesaid, shall be wholly annulled and repealed, and shall lose their Effect and Strength: Nevertheless saving to the King all the Forfeitures of Wines for the Time past that to him pertaineth by virtue of the same Ordinances and Statutes: Provided always, that all the [Vintners and] Victuallers, as well Fishers as other coming with their Victuals to the City of London, shall be from henceforth under the Governance and Rule of the Mayor and Aldermen of the said City for the Time being, as in Time past it hath been used.

Victuallers of London shall be under the Rule of the
Aldermen.

Force and Effect in all Points; and moreover it is assented, That if any Alien have purchased, or from henceforth shall purchase any Benefice of Holy Church, Dignity, or other Thing, and in his proper Person take Possession of the same, or occupy it himself within the Realm, whether it be to his own proper Use, or to the Use of another, without especial Licence of the King, he shall be comprised within the same Statute; and moreover shall incur all Pains and Forfeitures in all Points as is before ordained by another Statute made the Five and twentieth Year of the noble King Edward the Third, Grandfather to our Lord the King that now is, against them that purchase Provisions of Abbeyes or Priories; and to the Intent that such Licences shall not be from henceforth made, the King willeth and commandeth to all his Subjects and other, that they shall abstain them from henceforth to pray him for any such Licence to be given; and also the King himself will refrain to give any such Licence during the Wars, except to the Cardinal of Naples, or to some other special Person to whom the King is beholden for a special Cause.

ITEM, It is ordained and assented, and also the King doth prohibit, That from henceforth no Man shall ride in Harness within the Realm, contrary to the Form of the Statute of Northampton thereupon made, neither with Launcegay within the Realm, the which Launcegays be clearly put out within the said Realm, as a Thing prohibited by our Lord the King, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the said Launcegays, Armoura, and other Harness, in whose Hands or Possession they be found that bear them within the Realm, contrary to the Statutes and Ordinances aforesaid, without the King's special Licence.

ITEM, In Writs of Præmunire facias, It is assented and agreed, That they against whom such Writs be sued, and who at this Time be out of the Realm, and be of good Fame, and have made their general Attornies before their departing, that the Chancellor of England for the Time being, by the Advice of the Justices, may grant, that the same Persons may appear to answer, to do, and to receive that Thing which the Law demandeth, by their general Attornies aforesaid, as well as in other Causes and Quarrels; and those Persons which from henceforth shall pass by the King's Licence, and be of good Fame, that at their Request the Chancellor, by the Advice of the Justices, may grant to them to make their general Attornies in the Chancery by the King's Patent, before their Passage, to answer as well in the said Writs of Præmunire facias, as in other Writs and Plaints; in which Case express Mention shall be made at all Times of the Writs and Plaints of Præmunire facias; and this Patent so made, the said Attornies from henceforth, in Absence of their Masters, may answer [for them, and make<sup>1</sup>] other Attornies under them, before any Judge of the Realm, [to<sup>1</sup>] do and receive in the said Case as much as in any other Case or Matter, notwithstanding any Statute made to the contrary heretofore.

ITEM, For the grievous Complaint that is made of Maintainers of Quarrels, and Champertors; It is ordained and assented, That the Statutes thereof made in the First and Fourth Years of King Edward, Grandfather to our Lord the King that now is, and also in the First Year of our Lord the King that now is, shall be holden and kept, and duly executed in all Points.

ITEM, It is assented, and the King straitly defendeth, That from henceforth no Person, Alien nor Denizen, of whatsoever Estate or Condition that he be, shall carry nor send, nor do to be carried nor sent, by Land nor by Sea, out of the Realm of England, to any Parts of Scotland, privily nor apertly, any Manner of Armour, Corn, Malt, or other Victuals, or any other refreshing, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the same Victuals, Armoura, and other Things aforesaid, together with the Ships, Vessels, Carra, and Horses which shall bring or carry the same, or of the very Value of the same, except so it be who shall also be liable to the Penalties of 25 Ed. III. et. 5. c. 22.

The King's Licences to the contrary shall not be asked for.

STATUTE MADE AT WESTMINSTER IN THE EIGHTH YEAR.

Rotuli.

TO the Honour of God, and at the Request of the Commonalty of the Realm of England made to our Lord the King in his Parliament holden at Westminster in the Morrow of St. Martin, the Eighth Year of his Reign; the same our Lord the King of the Assent of the Prelates, Great Men, and Commons aforesaid, hath caused to be made in the same Parliament, a certain Statute for the common Profit of the said Realm, and especially for the good and just Governance, and due Execution of the Common Law, in the Form following.

I.
Liberties of the Church,
confirmed.

FIRST, It is [ordained and enacted,<sup>1</sup>] that Holy Church have all her Liberties; and that the Great Charter, and the Charter of the Forest, the Statutes of Purveyors and Labourers, and all other Statutes and Ordinances heretofore made and not repealed, shall be holden and observed, and put in due Execution according to the Form and Effect of the same.

II.
No Lawyer
shall be a Judge in his own Country.

ITEM, It is [ordained and assented,<sup>2</sup>] That no Man of Law shall be from henceforth Justice of Assises, or of the common Deliverance of Gaols in his own Country; and that the Chief Justice of the Common Bench be assigned amongst other to take such Assises, and deliver Gaols; but as to the Chief Justice of the King's Bench, it shall be as for the most part of an hundred Years last past was wont to be done.

ITEM, Whereas late in the Time of the noble King Edward, Grandfather of our Sovereign Lord the King that now is, it was ordained, That Justices, as long as they should be in the Office of Justices, should not take Fee nor Robe of any except of the King, and that they should not take Gift nor Reward by them nor yet by other, privily nor apertly, of any Man which should have any Thing to do afore them in any wise, except Meat and Drink, of small Value; and that they should not give Counsel to any great or small in Things or Affairs, where the King is Party, or which in any wise touch the King upon a certain Pain contained in the said Ordinance: And in the same Manner it is ordained of the Barons of the Exchequer, as in the said Ordinance is more plainly contained; (<sup>1</sup>) the said Ordinance being rehearsed in the Parliament, it is [ordained and assented,] That no Justice of the King's Bench nor of the Common Bench, nor none of the Barons of the Exchequer, as long as they shall be in the Office of Justice or Barons, shall take from henceforth (<sup>1</sup>) Robe, Fee, Pension, Gift, nor Reward, of any but of the King, [except Reward] of Mear and Drink, which shall be of no great Value. And that from henceforth they shall give no Counsel to any, great or small, in Things or Affairs, wherein the King is Party, or which in anywise touch the King, and that they be not of any Man's Counsel in any Cause, Plea, or Quarrel, hanging the Plea before them or in other of the King's (<sup>1</sup>) Courts or Places, upon Pain of Loss of their Office, and making to the King Fine and Ransom.

ITEM, At the Complaint of the said Commonalty made to our Lord the King in the Parliament, for that great Disharison in Times past was done of the People, and may be done by the false entering of Pleas, raising of Rolls, and changing of Verdicts; It is [accorded and assented,] That if any Judge or Clerk be of such Default, so that by the same Default there ensueth Disharison of any of the Parties, sufficiently convict before the King and his Council, by the Manner and Form which to the same our Lord the King and his Council shall seem reasonable, and within Two Years after such Default made, if the Party grieved be of full Age, and if he be within Age, then within Two Years after that he shall come to his full Age, he shall be punished by Fine and Ransom at the King's Will, and satisfy the Party. And as to the Restitution of the Inheritance desired by the said Commons, the Party grieved shall sue by Writ of Error, or otherwise, according to the Law, if he see it expedient for him.

AND because divers Pleas concerning the Common Law, and which by the Common Law ought to be examined and discussed, are of late drawn before the Constable and Marshal of England, to the great Damage and Disquietness of the People; It is [agreed and ordained,] That all Pleas and Suits touching the Common Law, and which ought to be examined and discussed at the Common Law, shall not hereafter be drawn or holden by any Means before the foresaid Constable and Marshal, but that the Court of the same Constable and Marshal shall have that which belongeth to the same Court, and that the Common Law shall be executed and used, and have that which to it belongeth, and the same shall be executed and used as it was accustomed to be [used in the Time of King Edward.<sup>2</sup>]

The King to the Sheriff of Lincoln greeting. A certain Statute by Us, with the Assent of the Prelates, Nobles, and Commonalty of our Realm of England, in our last Parliament holden at Westminster, for the common Profit of our said Realm made, We send to you, inclosed in these Presents, commanding and firmly enjoining, that immediately on sight of these Presents and the Statute aforesaid, the same Statute in your full County, and in Cities, Boroughs, Market Towns, and other Places in your Bailiwick, where you may see it most expedient, you do cause to be read and proclaimed and as far as in you lieth, to be firmly observed. Witness the King at Westminster the Fourteenth Day of June in the Eighth Year of our Reign.

Like Writs are directed to the several Sheriffs of England.

OF THE STATUTE MADE AT WESTMINSTER IN THE NINTH YEAR.

Es Rat. Stat. in Turr. Lond. II. m. 17.

OUR Lord the King, at his Parliament holden at Westminster, the Friday next after the Feast of St. Luke, the Ninth Year of his Reign, of the Assent of the Prelates, Dukes, Marquesses, Earls, Barons, and Commons at the said Parliament assembled, hath ordained and established the Things underwritten.

I.
Statutes
confirmed :

Except Stat.
8 Ric. II. c. 5.

II.
Villains flying and suing their Lords, shall not bar
thereby.

III.
Attaint or Writ of Error for Reversioner
on false Verdict or erroneous Judgement against particular Tenant.

In case of Covin by the particular Tenant, the Reversioner
shall recover
the Land.

FIRST, It is accorded and assented, That all the Statutes made by the Parliament in the Times of the the King's noble Progenitors, and in his own Time, as well of Sheriffs, Under-Sheriffs, Escheators, and Clerks of Sheriffs, as of Purveyors, and all other good Statutes and Ordinances not repealed by Parliament, shall be firmly holden and kept, and due Execution thereof done, according to the Effect of the same; except the Statute of the Justices and Barons of the Exchequer made at the last Parliament, which, because it is very hard, and needeth Declaration, the King will that it be of no Force till it be declared by Parliament.

ITEM, Whereas divers Villains and Neifs, as well of great Lords as of other People, as well Spiritual as Temporal, do [fly within'] Cities, Towns, and Places enfranchised, as the City of London, and other like, and feign divers Suits against their Lords, to the Intent to make them free by the answer of their Lords: It is accorded and assented, That the Lords nor other, shall not be forebarred of their Villains, because of their Answer in the Law.

ITEM, It is accorded and assented, That if the Tenant for Term of Life, Tenant in Dower, Tenant by the Courtesy of England, or Tenant in Tail after Possibility of Issue extinct, be impleaded, and plead to an Inquest, and lose by the Oath of Twelve, or by Default or in other Manner, that he to whom the Reversion of the Tenements so lost doth appertain at the Time of such Judgement given, his Heirs or Successors, shall have an Action by Writ of Attaint, to attaint the same Oath, if they will assign the same Oath to be false, and also by Writ of Error, if Error be found in the Record of such Judgement, as well in the Life of such Tenants that so do lose, as after their Death. And if such Judgement erroneous be reversed, or such false Oath be found, that the Tenant which did lose by the first Judgement, if he be in Life, shall be restored to his Possession of the Tenements so lost, with the Issues in the mean Time, and the Party pursuing, to the Arrearages of the Rent, if any be due of the same Tenements; and if such Tenant be dead at the Time of the Judgement given upon such Writs of Attaint and of Error, that Restitution of the said Tenements be made to the Party pursuing, with the Issues after the Death of the said Tenant, together with the Arrearages of the Rent, if any to him were due in the Life of the said Tenant. Provided nevertheless, that although the Tenant, which so did lose by the first Judgement, be in Life, and the Party pursuing will alledge that the same Tenant was of Covin and of Assent of the Demandant which recovered, that such Tenements [ought to be'] lost, that Restitution of the same Tenements be made to the same Party pursuing, with the Issues and Arrearages, as afore is said, saving to such Tenant his Action by Writ of

Public Evils required to be redressed.

WHEREAS our Sovereign Lord the King perceiveth, by the grievous Complaint of the Lords and Commons of his Realm, in this present Parliament assembled, That his Profits, Rents, and Revenues of his Realm, by singular and insufficient Counsel and evil Governance, as well of some late his great Officers, as of divers other Persons being about his Person be so much withdrawn, wasted, elained, given, granted, aliened, destroyed, and evil dispended, that he is so much impoverished [and void <sup>1</sup>] of Treasure and Goods, and the Substance of [the <sup>2</sup>] Crown so much diminished and destroyed, that his Estate and the Estate of his House may not honourably be sustained as pertaineth, nor the Wars which daily abound and environ his Realm, maintained nor governed without great and outrageous Oppressions and importable Charges of his said People, and also that the good Laws, Statutes, and Customs of his said Realm, which he is [bounden <sup>3</sup>] to hold and observe, be not, nor have not been duly holden nor executed, nor full Justice nor Right done to his said People: whereby many Dishonours, and [divers <sup>4</sup>] great Mischiefs and Damages be happened, as well to the King as to his said People, and to all his Realm: whereof He to the Honour of God, and for the Weal of him and of his Realm, and for the Quietness and Relief of him and of his People, who have been in divers Manners greatly charged before this Time, willing with the Grace of God against such Mischiefs to provide a good and due Remedy, hath [of his free Will, and] at the Request of the Lords and Commons aforesaid, ordained, made, and assigned, his great Officers, [that is to say, the Chancellor, Treasurer, and Keeper of his Privy Seal,] such as he holdeth good, sufficient, and lawful for the Honour and Profit of him and of his Realm. And moreover of his Authority Royal, certain Knowledge, good Gree, and free Will, and by the Advice and Assent of the Prelates, Lords, and Commons aforesaid, in the full Parliament, in Aid of good Governance of his Realm, and good and due Execution of his said Laws, and in Relief of the Estate of him and his said People in Time to come, upon the full Trust that he hath of good Advisement, Wit, and Discretion of the honourable Fathers in God [William] Archbishop of Canterbury, and [Alexander] Archbishop of York, his dear Uncles [Edmund] Duke of York, and [Thomas] Duke of Gloucester, the Honourable Fathers in God, [William] Bishop of Winchester, [Thomas] Bishop of Exeter, and [Nicholas] Abbot of Waltham, and his well-beloved and faithful [Richard] Earl of Arundel, John Lord of Cobham, [Sir] Richard Lescrop, and John Devereux, hath ordained, assigned, and deputed them by his Letters Patents under his great Seal, to be of his great and continual Council from Saint Edmund's Even the Martyr, by a whole Year next following after the Date of the said Letters Patents, to survey and examine with [the <sup>5</sup>] [said] great Officers, that is to say, the Chancellor, Treasurer, and Keeper of his Privy Seal, as well the Estate and Governance of his House and of all his Courts [and Places, <sup>6</sup>] as ( <sup>7</sup> ) of all his Realm, and of all his Officers and Ministers, of whatsoever Estate, Degree, or Condition they be, as well within the said House as without, and to enquire and take Information by all the Ways which to them best shall seem, of all the Rents, Revenues, and Profits that to him pertaineth and be due, and ought to pertain and be due, as well within the Realm as without, in any manner way or Condition, and of all manner Gifts, Grants, Alienations, and Confirmations, made by him of Lands, Tenements, Rents, Annuities, Profits, Revenues, Wards, Marriages, Escheats, Forfeitures, Franchises, Liberties, Voidances of Archbishopricks, Bishopricks, Abbies, ( <sup>8</sup> ) Pories, Fermes of Houses and Possessions of Aliens, and of all other Possessions, Sums of Money, Goods and Chattels, and of all other Things, and to what Persons, and for what cause, and how, and in what Manner, and namely of those Persons, the which have taken ( <sup>9</sup> ) without desert, and also of

10 Ric. II.

RICHARD, by the Grace of God King of England and of France, and Lord of Ireland, to all them that shall see or hear these Letters, Greeting. We have certainly conceived by the grievous Complaint of the Lords and Commons of our Realm, in this present Parliament assembled, that our Profits, Rents and Revenues of our said Realm, (a) by singular and insufficient Counsel and evil Governance, as well of some late our Great Officers, as of divers other Persons being about our Person be so much withdrawn, wasted, eloynd, given, granted, aliened, destroyed, and evil dispended, that We are so much impoverished, void and nought of Treasure and Goods, and the Substance of our Crown so much diminished and destroyed, that the Estate of Us and of our House may not honourably be sustained as pertaineth, nor the Wars, which daily abound and environ our Realm, maintained nor governed without great and outrageous Oppressions and importable Charges of our said People; and also that the good Laws, Statutes, and Customs of our said Realm, which We are astreyned and bound to hold and observe, be not, nor have not been duly holden nor executed, nor full Justice nor Right done to our said People, whereby many Dishonours and other great Mischiefs and Damages be happened, as well to Us as to our said People and to all our Realm: And We to the Honour of God, and for the Weal of Us and of our Realm, and for the Quietness and Relief of Us and of our said People, who have been in divers Manners greatly charged before this Time, willing, with the Grace of God, against such Mischiefs to provide a good and due Remedy, have of our free Will, and at the Request of the Lords and Commons aforesaid, ordained, made, and assigned our Great Officers, that is to say, our Chancellor, Treasurer, and Keeper of our Privy Seal, such as We hold good, sufficient, and lawful for the Honour and Profit of Us and of our said Realm. And moreover of our Authority Royal, certain Knowledge, good Gree and free Will, and by the Advice and Assent of the Prelates, Lords, and Commons aforesaid, in the full Parliament, in Aid of good Governance of our Realm and due Execution of our said Laws, and in Relief of the Estate of Us and of our People in Time to come, upon the full Trust that we have of good Advisement Wit and Discretion of the Honourable Fathers in God William Archbishop of Canterbury, Alexander Archbishop of York, our dear Uncles Edmund Duke of York, Thomas Duke of Gloucester, the Honourable Fathers in God William Bishop of Winchester, Thomas Bishop of Exeter, and Nicholas Abbot of Waltham, our well beloved and faithful Richard Earl of Arundell, John Lord of Cobham, Richard Lescrop, and John Devereux, them We have ordained assigned and deputed, and do ordain assign and depute, to be of our great and continual Council by a whole Year next following after the Date hereof, to survey and examine with our said Great Officers as well the Estate and Governance of our House and of all our Courts, Places, and Offices, as the Estate and Governail of all our Realm, and all our Officers and Ministers, of whatsoever Estate, Degree, or Condition they be, as well within our House as without, and to inquire and take Information by all the Ways which to them best shall seem, of all the Rents, Revenues and Profits that to Us pertain and be due,

Parson of Ratlesden, Friar Richard Roughton of the Order of Friars Minors, and Thomas his Brother, and all they that be beyond the Sea with the other Traitors, and all other that will go to them hereafter.

ITEM, That none which hath been of the Retinue, Company, Force, Aid, Council, Assent, or Adherence of them that be attained or judged in this present Parliament, or of any of them, except those before excepted, be impeached, molested, nor grieved at the Suit of the King nor other Party, nor in other Manner, because of any Assembly, Riding, [Beating,'] Levying of Penons or of Baners, Discomfiture, Death of a Man, Imprisonment of any Person, taking, leading away, or withholding of Horses or other Beasts, taking or carrying (') of Goods, Harness, Armour, Chattels, or other Moveables, Burnings of Houses or of other Possessions or of any Goods, Assault, Battery, Robberies, Thefts, coming and tarrying with Force and Arms, or armed in the King's Presence at the Parliament, Councils, or elsewhere, raising of People, or exciting of the People to rise forcibly and against the Peace, by Letters, Commissions, or other Deeds against the Intent or Pursuit of the said Duke of Gloucester, Earls of Derby, Arundell, Warwick, and Marshal, which Intent and Pursuit be declared by their Appeal in this present Parliament, or of any other Thing that may be surmised that they or any of them [ought to'] have done or purposed to have done, from the beginning of the World, touching any of the Matters against the Intent and Pursuit aforesaid declared in the said Appeal: Which Petition of the Assent aforesaid We have granted in all Points, and thereof We will and grant full Pardon and Remission to them and every of them, to whom it pertaineth, according to the continue of the same Petition.

ALSO, We have received Two other Petitions delivered to Us in the same Parliament by the same Commons, in the Form following:

ITEM, That the Appeals, Pursuits, Accusements, [Process,'] Judgements, and Executions made and given in this present Parliament be approved, affirmed, and established as a Thing duly made for the Weal and Profit of the King our Sovereign Lord, and of all the Realm, notwithstanding that the Lords Spiritual and their Procurators did absent them out of the Parliament at the Time of the said Judgements given, for Honesty and Salvation of their Estate, as is contained in a Protestation by the same Lords Spiritual and Procurators delivered in this present Parliament; and that by Imagination, Interpretation, or any other Motion, none of the same be reversed, broken, or adnullled in any Manner: And whosoever that make pursuit to break, adnull, or reverse any of the said Points, which Pursuit is of Record, he shall be judged and have Execution as a Traitor, and Enemy of the King and his Realm; Provided always, That this Acceptance, Approbation, Affirmance, and Establishment touching the Assemblies, Appeals, Pursuits, Accusements, [Process,'] Judgements, and Executions aforesaid, have and hold Force and Virtue in these Cases so fallen and happened or declared only, and that they be not drawn in Example nor in Consequence in Time to come; nor that the said Commission made at the last Parliament, be drawn in Example nor Consequence hereafter, but as much as is done touching the said Matters shall stand firmly, for the Time that is past, seeing they were so profitable to the King, and Sustenance and Maintenance of his Crown, and Salvation of all the Realm, and made of so great Necessity: And though that divers Points be declared for Treason in this present Parliament, other than were declared by Statute before, that no Justice have Power to give Judgement of other Case of Treason, nor in any other Manner, than they had before the beginning of this Parliament.

ITEM, Whereas by a Statute made at York, the Ninth Year of King Edward III. Grandfather of the King that now is, it was ordained and established, that all Merchants, Strangers and Denizens, and all other and every of them, of what Estate or Condition soever they be, that will buy or sell Corn, Wine, Avoir de pois, Flesh, Fish, and all other Livings and Viduals, Wools, Cloths, Wares, Merchandises, and all other Things vendible, from whence soever they come, by Foreigners or Denizens, at what Place soever it be, City, Borough, Town, Port of the Sea, Fair, Market, or elsewhere within the Realm, within Franchise or without, may freely without Interruption sell them to what Persons it shall please them, as well to Foreigners as Denizens, except always the Enemies of our Lord the King and of his Realm. And if haply any Disturbance be done to any Merchant, Stranger or Denizen, or any other, for the Sale of such Things in any City, Borough, Town, Port of the Sea or other Place which hath Franchise, and the Mayors and Bailiffs, or other which hath the Rule of such Franchise, being required by the said Merchants or other thereof to provide Remedy, and do not, and be thereof attained, the Franchise shall be seized into the King's Hands; and nevertheless he and the other which hath done this Disturbance against this Statute, shall be bound to yield and restore to the said Merchant his double Damages, which he hath thereby sustained. And if such Disturbance or Interruption be done to such Merchants, or to other, in such Towns or Places where no Franchise is, and the Lord, if he be present, or his Bailiff, Constable, or other Ruler of the said Towns and Places, in Absence of the Lords, being therein required to do Right, and do not, and thereof be attained, they shall yield to the Party Plaintiff his double Damages, as afore is said; and the Disturbers in the one Case and the other, as well within Franchises as without, if they be attained, shall have One Year's Imprisonment, and nevertheless be ransomed at the King's Will. And that no Alien or Denizen, upon the same Pain, shall be troubled, but that he may freely buy such Things aforesaid in the said Places, and carry them where it pleaseth him, to his own Use, or to the Profit of the King, or of the Great Men or the Commons of the Realm; saving that such Merchants Aliens shall carry no Wine out of the same Realm, as is contained in their Charter; and that the Things aforesaid shall be observed, performed, and kept in every City, Borough, Town, Port of the Sea, and other Places within the Realm, notwithstanding Charters of Franchise granted to them to the contrary, nor Usage, nor Custom, nor Judgement given upon their Charters, Usages, or Customs, that they can alledge; which Charters, Usages, and Customs, if any were, the said King the Grandfather, the Prelates, Earls, Barons, Great Men and the Commons aforesaid, held them of no Force, as Things granted, used, or accustomed to the Damage of the King and his Prelates, Earls, Barons, and Great Men of his Realm, and to the Oppression of the Commons; Saved alway to the King and to other the Customs due of the said Merchandises. And also that the Chancellor, Treasurer, and the Justices assigned to hold the King's Pleas in Places where they come, shall inquire of such Disturbances and Grievances, and the same shall punish according as is before ordained; and nevertheless the King shall assign, by Commission of his Great Seal, certain Persons where and when it shall please him, to inquire of such Disturbances and Grievances, and the same to punish as before is said. And after by a Statute made at a Parliament holden at Westminster the Twenty-fifth Year of King Edward the Third, It was accorded by the same King Edward the Grandfather, the Prelates, Earls, Barons, and other Great Men and the Commons, that the said Statute made the said Ninth Year, in all Points and Articles contained in the same, be holden, kept, and maintained; and if that any Statute, Charter, Letters Patents, Proclamation, or Commandment, Usage, Allowance, or Judgement were made to the contrary, the same should be openly repealed, void, and holden for none; and moreover, that every Merchant or other, of what Condition he be, as well Alien as Denizen, that bring Wines, Flesh, Fish, or other Victuals, Cloths, Woolfels, Avoir de pois, or any other Manner of Merchandises or Chaffer to the City of London, or other Cities, Boroughs, and good Towns of England, or Ports of the Sea, may freely and without Challenge or Impeachment of any, sell in Gross or at Retail, or by Parcels, at his Will, to all manner of People that will buy the same, notwithstanding any Franchises, Grants, or Custom used, or any other Thing done to the contrary, sithence that such Usages and Franchises be to the common Prejudice of the King and his People. And that no Mayor, Bailiff, Catchpole, Minister, nor other, shall meddle with the Sale of any manner of Victual vendible brought or carried to Cities, Boroughs, or other Towns, nor Fair, nor Market, but only he to whom the Victuals be; and also that Proclamation be thereof made of new in all Counties of England, and in the City of London, and in all other Cities, Boroughs, good Towns, Ports of the Sea, and other Places within the Realm of England, where need shall be; and that the said King the Grandfather thereupon cause to be assigned his Justices at all Times that shall please him, [and shall be necessary,] and if need be, to enquire of all those that shall offend against this Ordinance or do anything against the same, and to punish them according to the Pain contained in the same Statute made in the said Ninth Year; and that every Person that will sue against any such shall have a Writ in the Chancery to attach him by his Body, as a Disturber of the common Profit, to cause him to come thereof to make Answer in the King's Court: as by the same Statutes plainly doth appear. Our Lord the King seeing clearly that the said Statutes if they were holden and fully executed, should much extend to the Profit and [Wealth<sup>1</sup>] of all the Realm, hath ordained and established, by the Assent of the Prelates, Dukes, Earls, Barons, Great Men, Nobles, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, That the said Statutes shall from henceforth be firmly holden, kept, maintained, and fully executed in all the Points and Articles of the same; notwithstanding any Ordinance, Statute, Charter, Letters Patents, Franchise, Proclamation, Commandment, Usage, Allowance, or Judgement made or used to the contrary: And that if any<sup>(1)</sup> Statute, Ordinance, Charter, Letters Patents, Franchise, Proclamation, Commandment, Usage, Allowance, or Judgement be made or used to the contrary, it shall be utterly repealed, avoided, and holden for none.

The recited Statutes shall be executed in all Points, notwithstanding any Charter, &c.

VIII.
Certain Annuities granted by the Crown made void.

ITEM, It is ordained and established, That all the Annuities and other Things given or granted by our Lord the King, or by his Father or Grandfather, to any manner of Persons, with the Clause, 'Quousque pro statu suo aliter duxerimus ordinandum,' shall be wholly void and of no Force, if the same Persons have accepted afterward any other Things of the King [and<sup>1</sup>] of his said Father or Grandfather.

IX.
New Charges on Wools, &c. annulled.

ITEM, That no Imposition or Charge be put upon Wools, Leather, or Woolfels, other than the Custom and Subsidy granted to the King in this present Parliament; and if any be, the same shall be repealed and annulled, as it was another Time ordained by Statute; Saving always unto the King his ancient Right.

ITEM, Because that Servants and Labourers will not, nor by a long Season would, serve and labour without outrageous and excessive Hire, and much more than hath been given to such Servants and Labourers in any Time past, so that for Scarcity of the said Servants and Labourers, the Husbands and Landtenants may not pay their Rents, nor [unnethes<sup>1</sup>] live upon their Lands, to the great Damage and Loss as well of the Lords as all the Commons; Also because that the Hires of the said Servants and Labourers have not been put in certainty before this Time: It is accorded and assented that the Bailiff for Husbandry shall take by Year xij s. iij d. and his Clothing once by Year at the most. The Master Hine x s. the Carter x s. the Shepherd x s. the Oxherd vj s. viij d. the Cowherd vj s. viij d. the Swineherd vj s. a Woman Labourer vj s. a [Deye<sup>2</sup>] vj s. a Driver of the Plough vj s. at the most; and every other Labourer and Servant according to his Degree, and less in the Country where less was wont to be given without Clothing, Courtesie, or other Reward by Covenant. And that no Servant of Artificer nor Victualler within City, Borough, nor other Town, shall take more than the Servants and Labourers above named after their Estate, without Vesture, Courtesie, or other Reward by Covenant as is aforesaid. And if any give or take by Covenant more than is above specified, at the first Time that they shall be thereof attained, as well the Givers as the Takers, shall pay the Value of the Excess so given or taken, and at the Second Time of their Attainder, the Double Value of such Excess, and at the Third Time the Treble Value of such Excess, and if the Taker so attained have nothing whereof to pay the said Excess, he shall have Forty Days Imprisonment.

ITEM, It is ordained and assented, That he or she, which use to labour at the Plough and Cart, or other Labour or Service of Husbandry, till they be of the Age of Twelve Years, that from thenceforth they shall abide at the same Labour, without being put to any Mystery or Handicraft; and if any Covenant or Bond of Apprentic be from henceforth made to the contrary, the same shall be holden for none.

ITEM, It is accorded and assented, That no Servant of Husbandry, or Labourer, nor Servant [or<sup>3</sup>] Artificer, nor of Victualler, shall from henceforth bear any [Buckler,<sup>4</sup>] Sword, nor Dagger, upon Forfeiture of the same, but in the Time of War for Defence of the Realm of England, and that by the surveying of the Arreyers for the Time being, or travelling by the Country with their Master, or in their Master's Message; but such Servants and Labourers shall have Bows and Arrows, and use the same the Sundays and Holydays, and leave [all playing at Tennis or Football, and other Games called Coits, Dice, Casting of the Stone, [Kailen,<sup>5</sup>] and other such importune Games;<sup>6</sup>] and that the Sheriffs, Mayors, Bailiffs, and Constables, shall have Power to arrest, and shall arrest all Doers against this Statute, (<sup>7</sup>) and seize the said [Bucklers,<sup>8</sup>] Swords, and Daggers, and keep them till the Sessions of the Justices of Peace, and the same present before the same Justices in their Sessions, together with the Names of them that did bear the same. ITEM, It is accorded and assented, That of every Person that goeth begging, and is able to serve or labour, it shall be done of him as of him that departeth out of the Hundred and other Places aforesaid without Letter Testimonial as afore is said, except People of Religion, and Hermits (') having Letters testimonial of their Ordinaries. And that the Beggars impotent to serve, shall abide in the Cities and Towns where they be dwelling at the Time of the Proclamation of this Statute; and if the People of Cities or other Towns will not or may not suffice to find them, that then the said Beggars shall draw them to other Towns within the Hundreds, Rape, or Wapentake, or to the Towns where they were born, within Forty Days after the Proclamation made, and there shall continually abide during their Lives. And that of all them that go in Pilgrimage as Beggars, and be able to travail, it shall be done as of the said Servants and Labourers, if they have no Letters testimonial of their Pilgrimage under the said Seals. And that the Scholars of the Universities that go so begging, have Letters testimonial of their Chancellor upon the same Pain.

ITEM, It is ordained and assented, That they that feign themselves Men travelled out of the Realm, and there to be imprisoned, shall bring Letters testimonial of the Captains where they were abiding, or of the Mayors or Bailiffs where they arrived; and the same Mayors and Bailiffs shall enquire of such People where and with whom they have dwelled, and in what Place their Dwelling is in England; and that the same Mayors and Bailiffs make them Letters Patents under the Seal of their Office, testifying the Day of their Arrival, and [also witnessing] where they have been, as they have said; and that the said Mayors and Bailiffs cause them to swear, that they shall hold their right Way towards their Country, except they have Letters Patents under the King's Great Seal to do otherwise. And if any such travelled Man be found without such Letter [as afore is said,] it shall be done of him as of the said Servants and Labourers; and also this Ordinance shall be intended of Men travelled, that go begging through the Country after their Arrival.

ITEM, It is ordained and assented, That the Ordinances aforesaid of Servants and Labourers, Beggars and Vagabonds, shall hold place and be executed as well in Cities and Boroughs, as in other Towns and Places within the Realm, as well within the Franchises as without. And that the Sheriffs, Mayors, Bailiffs, and Keepers of the Gaols shall be holden and charged to receive the said Servants, Labourers, Beggars, and Vagabonds, and to keep them in the Prison in the Form aforesaid, without letting to Mainprise or in Bail, and without Fee or any other Thing taking of them by themselves or by any other, as long as they be so imprisoned, or at their Entry, or at their [going forth,'] upon Pain to pay an C. s. to our Sovereign Lord the King.

ITEM, It is ordained and agreed, That in every Commission of the Justices of Peace, there shall be assigned but Six Justices with the Justices of Assises, and that the said Six Justices shall keep their Sessions in every Quarter of the Year at the least, and by Three Days, if need be, upon Pain to be punished according to the Discretion of the King's Council, at the Suit of every Man that will complain; and they shall inquire diligently, amongst other Things touching their Offices, if the said Mayors, Bailiffs, Stewards, Constables, and Gaolers have duly done Execution of the said Ordinances (') of Servants and Labourers, Beggars and Vagabonds, and shall punish them that be punishable by the said Pain of an Hundred Shillings, by the same Pain; and [they ''] that be found in Default, and which be not punishable by the same Pain, [shall be punished ']

STATUTE THE FIRST.

IN [the] Parliament holden at Westminster the Monday next after the Feast of Saint Hillary, the Thirteenth Year of the Reign of King Richard the Second after the Conquest, our Lord the King, to the Honour of God and Holy Church, and for the common Profit of his liege People of his Realm, of the Assent of the Prelates and Lords Temporal, and Commons, being in the same Parliament, hath ordained and established the Things under-written.

FIRST, Whereas it is ordained by a Statute made the Twenty-fifth Year of the Reign of King Edward the Grandfather of our Lord the King that now is, that at what Time that the King shall make Collation or Presentment to any Benefice in another's Right, that the Title upon which he groundeth himself shall be well examined that it be true; and at what Time before Judgement given, the Title be found by good Information untrue, and not just, the Collation or Presentment thereupon made shall be repealed; And notwithstanding the same Statute, some of the King's Presentees, by Favour of the Ordinaries be instituted and inducted in Benefices of Holy Church without due Process, the Parties not warned nor called, and sometime [taken by false Inquests favourably,] and the Incumbents in such Manner put out; It is ordained and assented, That the said Statute be firmly holden and kept; And moreover our Lord the King, for the Reverence of God and Holy Church, doth will and grant, That if he present to any Benefice that is full of any Incumbent, that the Presentee of the King shall not be received by the Ordinary to the Benefice, till the King hath recovered his Presentment by Process of the Law in his own Court:
And if any Presentee of the King be otherwise received, and the Incumbent put out without due Process, as afore is said, the said Incumbent shall begin his Suit within a Year after the Induction of the King's Presentee [at the least.]

ITEM, Because that the Commons do make a grievous Complaint, that the Court of the Constable and the Marshal hath incroached to him, and daily doth incroach Contracts, Covenants, Trespasses, Debts, and Detinues, and many other Actions pleadable at the Common Law, in great Prejudice of the King and of his Courts, and to the great Grievance and Oppression of the People; our Lord the King, willing to ordain a Remedy against the Prejudices and Grievances aforesaid, hath declared in this Parliament, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, the Power and Jurisdiction of the said Constable, in the Form that followeth: To the Constable it pertaineth to have Cognizance of Contracts touching Deeds of Arms and of War out of the Realm, and also of Things that touch (⁊)
War within the Realm, which cannot be determined nor discussed by the Common Law, with other Usages and Customs so the same Matters pertaining, which

Declarations thereof.	other Constables heretofore have duly and reasonably used in their Time; joining to the same, that every Plaintiff shall declare plainly his Matter in his Petition, before that any Man be sent for to answer thereunto. And if any will complain, that any Plea be commenced before the Constable and Marshal, that might be tried by the Common Law of the Land, the same Plaintiff shall have a (') Privy Seal of the King without Difficulty, directed to the said Constable and Marshal, to surcease in that Plea, until it be discussed by the King's Council, if that Matter ought of Right to pertain to that Court, or otherwise to be tried by the Common Law of the Realm of England, and also that they surcease in the mean Time.
Prohibition to the Constable and Marshal.
III. Limits of Steward and Marshal's Jurisdiction.	ITEM, It is accorded and assented, That the Court of the Steward and Marshal of the King's House, nor also the Jurisdiction thereof, shall not pass the Space of Twelve Miles, to be counted [from the Lodging'] of [our said Lord] the King.
IV. Duty of the Clerk of the Market of the King's House; as to Weights, &c.	ITEM, At the Request of the said Commons It is ordained and assented, That the Clerk of the Market of the King's House shall do his Office well and duely; and that all false Measures and Weights shall be burned after the Form of the Statute; and that the said Clerk take no common Fine, but that every Person which is found in Default touching the same Office, be punished according to his Desert; and that he shall not ride but with Six Horses at the most, and that he shall not tarry in any Town nor other Place longer than the Necessity of his Business shall require; and if he do any Thing contrary to this Statute, and be thereof duely convicted, he shall pay to the King at the first Time that he shall be convicted, an C. s. and at the Second Time x. l. and at the Third Time xx. l.
Penalty for Misconduct.
V. Jurisdiction of the Admiral and his Deputy.	ITEM, Forasmuch as a great and common Clamour and Complaint hath been oftentimes made before this Time, and yet is, for that the Admirals and their Deputies hold their Sessions within divers Places of this Realm as well within Franchise as without, accroaching to them greater Authority than belongeth to their Office, in Prejudice of our Lord the King, and the common Law of the Realm, and in diminishing of divers Franchises, and in Destruction and impoverishing of the common People: It is accorded and assented, That the Admirals and their Deputies shall not meddle from henceforth of any Thing done within the Realm, but only of a Thing done upon the Sea, as it hath been used in the Time of the noble Prince King Edward, Grandfather of our Lord the King that now is.
VI.	ITEM, At the grievous Complaint made by the Commons to our Lord the King in this Parliament, of the excessive and superfluous Number of Serjeants at Arms, and of many great Extortions and Oppressions done by them to the People, the King therefore doth will, that they shall all be discharged; and that of them and other there shall be taken of good and sufficient Persons to the Number of Thirty, and no more from henceforth; and moreover the King prohibiteth them to meddle with any Thing that toucheth not their Office; and that they do no Extortion nor Oppression to the People, upon Pain to lose their Office, and to make a Fine and Ransom at the King's Pleasure, and full Satisfaction to the Party.
Number of Serjeants at Arms, thirty.
Penalty on them for Extortion, Fine and Ransom.
VII. Statute 12 Ric. II. c. 10 recited. Who shall be Justices of the Peace:	ITEM, Whereas it is contained in the last Statute made at [Canterbury,'] that no Steward of any Lord shall be assigned in the Commission of the Justice of Peace; nevertheless for certain Causes shewed in this Parliament, It is accorded and assented, That Justices of Peace shall be made of new in all the Counties of England, their Oath.

ITEM, It is ordained and assented, That the Statutes and Ordinances made in the last Parliament holden at [Canterbury,'] as well of Servants, Labourers, Artificers, and Victuallers, as of all other Things, saving the Exception of the next Article before, touching Justices of Peace, and also all other Statutes and Ordinances made before this Time and not repealed, shall be firmly kept and duly executed. But forasmuch as a Man cannot put the Price of Corn and other Victuals in certain, It is accorded and assented, that the Justices of Peace in every County, in [Two of'] their Sessions to be holden betwixt the Feast of Easter and St. Michael, shall make Proclamation by their Discretion according to the Dearth of Victuals, how much every Mason, Carpenter, Tiler, and other Craftsmen, Workmen, and other Labourers by the Day, as well in Harvest as in other Times of the Year, after their Degree, shall take by the Day with Meat and Drink, or without Meat and Drink, between the Two [Sessions'] before said, notwithstanding the Statutes thereof heretofore made, and that every Man obey to such Proclamations from Time to Time as a Thing done by Statute. And in the Right of Victuallers, It is accorded, that they shall have reasonable Gains, according to the Discretion and Limitation of the said Justices, and no more, upon Pain to be grievously punished according to the Discretion of the said Justices, where no Pain is limited in certain before this Time (''): And that Sheriffs, Stewards of Lords of Franchises, Mayors, and Bailiffs, and all other that have Assise of Bread and Ale to keep, and the Correction of the same, shall take no Amerciament or Fine for any Default touching the Assise, for the which a Man or Woman by the Law ought to have bodily Punishment, according as it is another Time ordained by Statute; but they shall judge them to the same bodily Punishment as the Offence requireth, and shall do Execution thereof; and that Mayors, Bailiffs, and Stewards of Franchise, and all other that have the Order and Survey of Victuals in Cities, Boroughs, [Merchant Towns,'] and elsewhere where Victuals be sold in the Realm, shall put the Statute made the Twenty-third Year of the Reign of King Edward, Grandfather to the King that now is, which beginneth "Because a great Part of the People," touching the Estate of Victuallers and Hostellers, and other Sellers of Victuals, in due Execution; and that no Hosteller make Horse Bread in his Hootry nor without, but Bakers shall make it; and the Assise thereof shall be [kept, and that'] the Weight be reasonable after the Price of the Corn in the Market; and that the same Hostellers shall sell Hay and Oats after a reasonable Price, so that they take not for the Bushel but One Halfpenny over the common Price in the Market.

VIII. Statute of 12 Ric. II. confirmed, except as to Justices of Peace:

And that none shall make Wools to be cocketed, but in the Name of him to whom the Wools be, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the same, as it hath been another Time ordained by Statute.

ITEM, Although it be ordained by divers Statutes, that all Manner of Cloths of Ray and of Colour shall be of a certain Length and Breadth comprised in the same Statutes, Nevertheless, for as much as it hath been a common Custom to make certain Cloths in divers Counties of England, called Cogware and Kendal Cloth, of the Breadth of Three Quarters (¹) of a Yard, whereof some be of the Price of xl. d. and some of v. s. and sold to Cogmen out of the Realm, and also to poor and mean People within the Realm, of the which Cloths a great Part is made of the worst Wool within the Realm, that cannot well serve for any other Cloths : It is accorded and assented, That from henceforth it shall be lawful to every Man to make such Manner of Cloths of the Length and Breadth as it hath been used before this Time, notwithstanding any Statute made to the contrary : Provided always, that the Makers and Workers of such Cloths shall not make them of any better Wool than they were wont to do. And also It is assented, That all such Cloths as be arrested by Force or Colour of the said Statutes or any of them, shall be discharged and redelivered.

ITEM, Forasmuch as divers plain Cloths that be wrought in the Counties of Somerset, Dorset, Bristol, and Gloucester, be tacked and folded together, and set to Sale, of the which Cloths a great Part be broken, broused, and not agreeing in the Colour, neither be according in Breadth, nor in no Manner to the Part of the same Cloths shewed outwards, but be falsely wrought with divers Wools, to the great Deceit, Loss, and Damage of the People, in so much that the Merchants that buy the same Cloths, and carry them out of the Realm to sell to Strangers, be many Times in Danger to be slain, and sometime imprisoned, and put to Fine and Ransom by the same Estrangers, and their said Cloths burnt or forfeit, because of the great Deceit and Falsehood that is found in the same Cloths when they be untacked and opened, to the great Slander of the Realm [of England ;] It is ordained and assented, That no plain Cloth tacked nor folded shall be set to Sale within the said Counties, but that they be opened, upon Pain to forfeit them, so that the Buyers may see them, and know them, as it is used in the County of Essex ; and that the Workers, Weavers, and Fullers shall put their Seals to every Cloth that they shall work, upon a certain Pain to be limited by the Justices of the Peace ; and that this Ordinance begin to hold Place at the Feast of Saint John Baptist next following : Provided always, That after the Merchants have bought the same Cloths to carry, and do carry them out of the Realm, they may tack them and fold them at their Pleasure, for the more easy Carriage of them.

ITEM, For as much as divers Shoemakers and Cordwainers use to tan their Leather, and sell the same falsely tanned, also make Shoes and Boots of such Leather not well tanned, and sell them as dear as they will, to the great Deceit of the poor Commons: It is accorded and assented, That no Shoemaker nor Cordwainer shall use the Craft of tanning, nor Tanner the Craft of shoemaking; and he that doth contrary to this Act, shall forfeit to the King all his Leather so tanned, and all his Boots and Shoes so wrought, and shall be ransomed at the King's Pleasure, notwithstanding any Charter or Patent made to the contrary, which if there be any, the King will that they be utterly adnullled and holden for none.

ITEM, Forasmuch as divers Artificers, Labourers, and Servants, and Grooms, keep Greyhounds and other Dogs, and on the Holydays, when good Christian People be at Church, hearing Divine Service, they go Hunting in Parks, Warrens, and Connigries of Lords and others, to the very great Destruction of the same, and sometime under such Colour they make their Assemblies, Conferences, and Conspiracies for to rise and disobey their Allegiance; It is ordained and assented, That no Manner of Artificer, Labourer, nor any other Layman, which hath not Lands or Tenements to the Value of xl. s. by Year, nor any Priest nor other Clerk, if he be not advanced to the Value of x. l. by Year, shall have or keep from henceforth any Greyhound, [Hound, nor other Dog'] to hunt; nor shall they use [Fyrets,'] Heys, Nets, Harepipes, nor Cords, nor other Engines for to take or destroy [Deer, Hares, nor Conies, nor other Gentlemen's Game,'] upon Pain of One Year's Imprisonment; and that the Justices of Peace have Power to enquire, and shall enquire of the Offenders in this Behalf, and punish them by the Pain aforesaid.

ITEM, Forasmuch as divers Recognizances and other Bonds be now of late begun and made in the Exchequer of double, for the Surety of Debts and Fermes of our Lord the King, otherwise than it was wont to be done heretofore, to the great [Hindrance'] of many of the People; It is accorded and assented by our Lord the King, and all the Lords of the Parliament, at the Request of the Commons, That no such Recognizance nor other Bond of the Double be made nor taken in the Exchequer from this Time forth; and that all such Recognizances, and other Bonds which be made at this present, be utterly cancelled and annulled: Provided always, That the King have sufficient Surety of his Duty in the Manner accustomed.

ITEM, It is ordained and assented, That the King's Castles and Gaols which were wont to be joined to the Bodies of the Counties, and be now severed, shall be rejoined to the same Counties.

ITEM, Because that many Persons be delayed, as well in Actions real as in Actions personal, by Protection with the Clause of Volumus, for that many People, as well such as be not able to be retained in War, as other, by the Testimonial of the Governors of the Marches, Captains of Garrisons, Admirals, and other, do purchase divers Protections with Clause of Volumus, and with Clause Quia profecturus, &c. after that a Plea is commenced against them, rather to delay the same Plea, than for the King's Service, whereas Plenty of other sufficient that be not impleaded, may be found to do the King's Service in such Case, and often do remain in the Country without going to [the'] said Service, to the great Damage of the Pursuants and Disturbance of common Right; It is therefore ordained and assented, That no Protection with Clause of Profection be allowed in any Plea, whereof the Suit is commenced before the Date of the Protection, if it be not in a Voyage that the King himself goeth, or other Voyages Royal, or in the King's Messages for Business of the Realm, but they that be impleaded shall make their Attornies to answer for them in such Pleas, or else they shall tarry themselves if they will; Howbeit, it is not the Intent of [the making of] this Statute, but that the Protection with Clause Quia moraturus be allowed in all Cases, as it hath been before this Time; And if any tarry in the Country, without going to their Service for the which he is retained, over a convenient Time after that he hath any Protection, or return from the same Service, if the Chancellor be thereof duly informed, he shall repeal such Protection, as it hath been used before this Time.

ITEM, Because that when Tenants for Term of Life, Tenants in Dower, or by the Law of England, or in Tail after Possibility of Issue extinct, be impleaded, they be often of the Covin of the Demandants, that the Tenements demanded against them shall be recovered, and they will not pray in Aid, nor vouch to Warranty them in the Reversion, but plead in chief such a Plea whereby they know well the Tenements shall be lost, in Dishonour of them in the Reversion; It is accorded and assented, That if any such Tenant be impleaded, and he in the Reversion come into the Court, and prayeth to be received to defend his Right at the Day that the Tenant pleadeth to the Action, or before, he shall be received to plead in chief to the Action, without taking any Delay by Voucher, Aid Prayer, Nonage, or any other Delay whatsoever, so that after such Receipt he shall have no manner Delay by Protection, Escoin of the King's Service, common Escoin, nor any other Delay whatsoever, but that the Business shall be hastened in as much as it may be by the Law; and that Days of Grace be given by the Discretion of the Judges between the Demandant and him that is received in such Case, without giving the common Day in Plea of Land, if the Demandant will not assent; to the Intent that the Demandants be not too much delayed, because they must plead with two Adversaries. And in the Right of Pleas that be now depending in such Case, they in the Reversion shall be received in the Manner aforesaid, at the next Day that the Parties have in Court, although the same Parties have pleaded in chief before this Time: Provided always, that they in the Reversion which pray to be received, as before is said, shall find Surety of the Issues of the Tenements demanded, for the Time that the same Demandants be delayed, after the said Plea determined between the Demandants and Tenants, if the Judgement pass for the Demandant against [them in the Reversion aforesaid,] as well where the Receipt is counterpleaded, as where it is granted.

ITEM, Because that upon the grievous Complaint of the Reverend Father in God the Bishop of Lincoln and the Dean and Chapter of the Church of our Lady in Lincoln, made by their Petition to our Lord the King, and the Lords in this present Parliament; the Mayor and the Bailiffs of the City of Lincoln, by the Commandment of the King, and the Assent of the Lords, were enjoined and charged by Writ to be before the King and his Council in the same Parliament at a certain Day, with sufficient Instruction and Information of all the Matter comprised in the same Petition, with full Power and Authority, under the common Seal of the said City, to answer for them, and the Commonalty of the said City, upon all Things contained in the same Petition, and further to do and receive that which [shall] be ordained by the King and his Council in that Behalf, upon a certain Pain limited in the same Writ; the Tenor of which Petition, containing the Grievances done to the said Bishop (¹) and Chapter by the People of the City of Lincoln, by Colour of their Franchise, was sent to the said Mayor and Bailiffs closed within the said Writ; and though the said Mayor and Bailiffs, at the Day contained in the same Writ, came before the King and his Council in the Parliament aforesaid, yet they did not bring any sufficient Warrant from the Commonalty of the said City, as they had in Commandment by the said Writ: And upon that our said Lord the King, by the Assent of the Prelates and other Lords in the same Parliament being, by Default of the Mayor, Bailiffs, and Commons aforesaid in that Behalf, hath proceeded and examined the said Petition, and the Grievances therein contained: And also because that a common Clamour hath been, that many of the King's Lieges often have suffered divers Injuries in the said City, because in respect of Freeholds within the same City, Trespasses, Contracts, and other Things rising within the same City, triable by Assise, Jury, or Inquest, (²) have been tried by People of the same City, which be so favourable one to another, that they doubt not to make false Oaths, and that because they be encouraged, forasmuch as they have not been before this Time convict by Foreigners, by Colour of their Franchise: Our Lord the King willing, for the Causes aforesaid, to provide for the Quietness of the said Church, and full Right to be done as well to the said Bishop Dean and Chapter, and their Successors, as to all other in Time coming, hath ordained and established in that Behalf, that in Assises, Juries, and all other Inquests that shall be taken between Party and Party, before the Mayor and Bailiffs of the same City for the Time being, if any of the Parties feel himself grieved of a false Oath made by such Assise, Jury, or Inquest, the Attaint shall be granted to him, and the Record sent by Writ into the King's Bench, or into the Common Pleas; and that the Sheriff impanel the Jury of such Attaint of Foreigners of the County, without sending to the Franchise of the said City, and that the Justices shall take the same Jury of the same Foreigners, notwithstanding any Franchise granted to the same City, or other Usage to the contrary.

ITEM, Whereas it is contained in the Statute of Westminster the Second, that young Salmons shall not be taken nor destroyed by Nets, nor by other Engines, at Mill Dams, from the midst of April till the Nativity of Saint John Baptist, upon a certain Pain limited in the same Statute; It is accorded and assented, That the said Statute be firmly holden and kept, joining to the same, that young Salmons shall not be taken, during the said Time, at Mill Dams, nor in other Places, upon the same Pain; and that no Fisher or Garth Man, nor any other, of what Estate or Condition that he be, shall from henceforth put in the Waters of Thamise, Humber, Ouse, Trent, nor any other Waters of the Realm by the said Time, nor in other Time of the Year, any Nets called Stalkers, nor other Nets nor Engines whatsoever they be, by the which the Fry or the Breed of the Salmons, Lampreys, or any other Fish, may in any wise be taken or destroyed, upon the Pain aforesaid. And also where it is contained in the same Statute, that all the Waters in the which Salmons be taken within the Realm, shall be put in Defence as to the Taking of Salmons, from the Day of the Nativity of our Lady, until St. Martin's Day; It is ordained and assented, that the Waters

STATUTE THE SECOND.

OUR Lord the King, at his Parliament holden at Westminster the Monday next after the Feast of Saint Hillary, the Thirteenth Year of his Reign, hearing the grievous Complaint of his said Commons in the same Parliament, of the outrageous Mischiefs and Damages which have happened to his said Realm, for that Treasons, Murders, and Rapes of Women be commonly done and committed, and the more because Charters of Pardon have been easily granted in such Cases; the said Commons requested our Lord the King, That such Charters might not be granted; [to whom] the King answered, That he will save his Liberty and Regality, as his Progenitors have done heretofore; but to nourish the more Quietness and Peace within his Realm, by the Assent of the Great Men and Nobles, being in the same Parliament, he hath granted, That no Charter of Pardon from henceforth shall be allowed before any Justice for Murder, or for the Death of a Man slain by Await, Assault, or Malice prepensed, Treason, or Rape of a Woman, unless the same Murder, Death of the Man slain by Await Assault or Malice prepensed, Treason, or Rape of a Woman, be specified in the same Charter; and if a Charter of the Death of a Man be alledged before

No Pardon
for Murder, Treason,
Rape, &c. shall be allowed,
unless the Offence shall be specified.

“ WHEREAS late in the Parliament of good Memory of Edward King of England, Grandfather to our Lord the King that now is, the Five and thirtieth Year of his Reign, holden at Carlisle, the Petition heard, put before the said Grandfather and his Council in his said Parliament by the Commonalty of the said Realm, containing, That whereas the Holy Church of England was founded in the Estate of Prelacy, within the Realm of England, by the said Grandfather and his Progenitors, and the Earls, Barons, and other Nobles of his said Realm, and their Ancestors, to inform them and the People of the Law of God, and to make Hospitalities, Alms, and other Works of Charity, in the Places where the Churches were founded, for the Souls of the Founders, their Heirs, and all Christians; and certain Possessions, as well in Fees, Lands, Rents, as in Advowsons, which do extend to a great Value, were assigned by the said Founders to the Prelates and other People of the Holy Church of the said Realm, to sustain the same Charge, and especially of the Possessions which were assigned to Archbishops, Bishops, Abbots, Priors, Religious, and all other People of Holy Church, by the Kings of the said Realm, Earls, Barons, and other great Men of his Realm; the same Kings, Earls, Barons, and other Nobles, as Lords and Advowees, have had and ought to have the Custody of such Voidances, and the Presentments and the Collations of the Benefices being of such Prelacies; And the said Kings in Times past were wont to have the greatest Part of their Council, for the Safeguard of the Realm, when they had need, of such Prelates and Clerks so advanced; the Pope of Rome, accroching to him the Seignories of such Possessions and Benefices doth give and grant the same Benefices to Aliens, which did never dwell in England, and to Cardinals, which might not dwell here, and to other as well Aliens as Denizens, as if he had been Patron or Advowee of the said Dignities and Benefices, as he was not of Right by the Law of England; whereby if they should be suffered, there should scarcely be any Benefice within a short Time in the said Realm, but that it should be in the Hands of Aliens and Denizens by virtue of such Provisions, against the good Will and Disposition of the Founders of the same Benefices; and so the Elections of Archbishops, Bishops, and other Religious should fail, and the Alms, Hospitalities, and other Works of Charity, which should be done in the said Places, should be withdrawn, the said Grandfather, and other Lay-Patrons, in the Time of such Voidances, should lose their Presentments, the said Council should perish, and Goods without Number should be carried out of the Realm, in Adnullation of the Estate of the Holy Church of England, and disherison of the said Grandfather, and the Earls, Barons, and other Nobles [of the said Realm,] and in Offence and Destruction of the Laws and Rights of his Realm, and to the great Damage of his People, and in Subversion of all the Estate of his said Realm, and against the good Disposition and Will of the first Founders: By the Assent of the Earls, Barons, and other Nobles, and of all the said Commonalty, at their Instances and Requests, the Damage and Grievances afore considered, in the said full Parliament It was provided, ordained, and established, That the said Oppressions, Grievances, and Damages in the same Realm from henceforth should not be suffered in any Manner. And now it is shewed to our Lord the King in this present Parliament holden at Westminster, at the Utas of the Purification of our Lady, the Five and Twentieth Year of his Reign of England, and of France the Twelfth, by the grievous Complaints of all the Commons of his Realm, that the Grievances and Mischiefs aforesaid do daily abound, to the greater Damage and Destruction of all this Realm more than ever were before, viz. that now of late our Holy Father the Pope, by Procurement of Clerks and otherwise, hath reserved, and doth daily reserve to his Collation generally and especially, as well Archbishop-ricks, Bishopricks, Abbeya, and Priories, as all other Dignities and other Benefices of England, which be of the Advowry of People of Holy Church, and doth give the same as well to Aliens as to Denizens, and taketh of all such Benefices the First Fruits, and many other Profits, and a great Part of the Treasure of the said Realm is carried away and dispended out of the Realm, by the Purchasers of such Graces; and also by such privy Reservations many Clerks advanced in this Realm by their true Patrons, which have peaceably holden their Advancements by long Time, be suddenly put out:

Whereupon the said Commons have prayed our said Lord the King, that with the Right of the Crown of England, and the Law of the said Realm is such, that upon the Mischiefs and Damages which happen to his Realm, he ought, and is bound by his Oath, with the accord of his People in his Parliament, thereof to make Remedy and Law for the voiding of the Mischiefs and Damages which thereof ensue, that it may please him thereupon to ordain Remedy: Our Lord the King seeing the Mischiefs and Damage before mentioned, and having Regard to the said Statute made in the Time of his said Grandfather, and to the Causes contained in the same;
which Statute holdeth always his Force, and was never defeated nor adnulled in any Point, and by so much as he is bounden by his Oath to cause the same to be kept as the Law of his Realm, though that by Sufferance and Negligence it hath been sithence attempted to the contrary; also having regard to the grievous Complaints made to him by his People in divers his Parliaments holden heretofore, willing to ordain Remedy for the great Damages and Mischiefs which have happened, and daily do happen to the Church of England by the said Cause; by the Assent of all the Great Men and the Commonalty of the said Realm, to the Honour of God, and Profit of the said Church of England, and of all his Realm, hath ordained and established, That the Free Elections of Archbishops, Bishops, and all other Digi-nities and Benefices elective in England, shall hold from henceforth in the Manner as they were granted by the King's Progenitors, and the Ancestors of other Lords,
Founders of the said Dignities and other Benefices.
And that all Prelates and other People of Holy Church, which have Advowsons of any Benefices of the King's Gift, or of any of his Progenitors, or of other Lords and Donors, to do Divine Services, and other Charges thereof ordained, shall have their Collations and Presentments freely to the same, in the Manner as they were enfeoffed

OF THE STATUTE MADE AT WESTMINSTER; IN THE FOURTEENTH YEAR.

FOR the Relief and Increase of the common Profit of the Realm of England, and of the Lands of Wales and Ireland, which have been in divers Manners greatly hindered in Times past; Our Lord the King, at his Parliament holden at Westminster the Morrow of St. Martin, the Fourteenth Year of his Reign, hath ordained and established, by the Assent of the said Parliament, the Things underwritten.

The Staple
removed from Calais into England, as under
stat. 2. c. 1.

FIRST, That the Staple be removed from Calice into England, so that it be in England the Monday next after the Feast of the Epiphany at the furthest: And that it be holden in the Places contained in the [Statutes<sup>1</sup>] of the Staple, made in the Seven and twentieth Year of the King's Grandfather that now is, and in none other Place; and that the said Statute be [firmly and surely holden,<sup>2</sup>] and duly executed in all Points, with the Additions under-written, notwithstanding any Declaration or Statute made since to the contrary; that is to say; That every Person Alien, of what Degree or Condition that he be, that bringeth any Merchandize into England, shall find sufficient Sureties before the Customers, in the Port where the Merchandize shall be brought, to buy other Merchandize, to the Value of Half the said Merchandises so brought, at the least, as Wools, Leather, Woolfels, Lead, Tin, Butter, Cheese, Cloths, or other Commodities of the Land.

Aliens shall buy English Goods to the Value of Half their Imports.

II.
On all Exchanges
by Aliens, English Goods shall be bought.

ITEM, That for every Exchange that shall be made by Merchants to the Court of Rome, or elsewhere, that the said Merchants be firmly and surely bound in the Chancery, to buy within Three Months after the said Exchange made, Merchandises of the Staple, as Wools, Leather, Woolfels, Lead, or Tin, Butter or Cheese, Cloths, or other Commodities of the Land, to the Value of the Sum so exchanged, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the same.

III.
Officers of the Staple shall be sworn.

ITEM, That in every Port and Place where the Staple shall be, the Mayors, Constables, Brokers, and all other Officers and Ministers of the Staple shall be sworn first to the King, and after to the Staple.

IV.
Of whom Denizens shall buy Wools:
which shall not be regrated.

ITEM, to keep the (<sup>1</sup>) Price of Wool the better, That no Denizen of England shall buy no Wools but of the [Owners<sup>2</sup>] of the Sheep and of [the Tithes,<sup>3</sup>] except in the Staple: And that no Denizen regrate Wools nor other Merchandises of the Staple privily nor apertly, upon Pain to forfeit the Value of the Thing regrated: And that the Justices of Peace in the Country have Power to enquire, and shall enquire from Time to Time of such English [Gratours<sup>4</sup>] and of the Weights of the Staple, and punish them by the Pain aforesaid. And that no Englishman buy any Wool of any Person, but for himself or for his own Use, as to sell at the Staple and [for to make Cloth.<sup>5</sup>]

ITEM, That no Denizen carry Wools, Leather, Woolfels, nor Lead out of the Realm of England to the Parties beyond the Sea, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the same, but only Strangers.

ITEM, That all Merchants of the Realm of England shall freight in the said Realm the Ships of the said Realm, and not strange Ships; so that the Owners of the said Ships take reasonable Gains for the Freight of the same.

ITEM, That the Passage of Tin out of the Realm shall be at the Port of Dartmouth, and in no Place else.

ITEM, That none of the King's liege People be from henceforth distrained, impeached, molested, nor grieved in the Exchequer, nor elsewhere, for not gauging of Wines of Rhine, nor for any Forfeiture of the same for that Cause, otherwise than hath been of old Times.

ITEM, [The'] Merchants Strangers repairing into the Realm of England shall be well and courteously and rightfully used and governed in the said Realm, to the Intent that they shall have the greater Courage to repair into the same.

ITEM, That no Customer nor Comptroller have any Ships of their own, nor meddle with the Freight of Ships; and that to eschew as well the Damage of our Lord the King of his Customs, as the Loss of the Merchants repairing to the Port, as well Aliens as Denizens; and that no Customer, Comptroller, Searcher, Weigher, or [Finder,'] have any such Office for Term of Life, but only as long as shall please the King, notwithstanding any Patent or Grant made to any to the contrary; and if any such Patent or Grant for Term of Life be made to any of such Office in Time past, the King will that it be utterly repealed and void, and of no Force nor Value (1).

ITEM, That in every County be assigned Eight Justices of Peace, as is contained in the Statute of [Canterbury,'] besides the Lords assigned in this Parliament: And that the Estreats of the said Justices be doubled, and the one Part delivered by the said Justices to the Sheriff, to levy the Money thereof rising, and thereof to pay to the Justices (2) their Wages by the Hand of the said Sheriff by Indenture betwixt them thereof to be made; and that the Sheriffs have Allowance in their Accompt in the Exchequer by the same Indenture: And that no Duke, Earl, Baron, or Banneret, albeit they be assigned Justices of the Peace, and hold their Sessions with the other Eight Justices, shall take any Wages for the said Office: And that the Justices (3) put their Names (4) in the same Estreats, together with the Number of the Days of their Sessions, to the Intent that the Sheriffs may know to whom to pay the Wages, and to whom not; and the Barons of the Exchequer, to whom to allow, and to whom not: And that the Seals be made for the Servants, and delivered to the keeping of some good Man of the Country, after the Purport of the said Statute of [Canterbury,'] which Statute, with the Modification of the same made at the last Parliament, and the Statute of Weights and Measures, and all other good Statutes and Ordinances made heretofore, and not repealed, (5) shall be holden and kept, and put in due Execution.

ITEM, That the Groat of the Money of Scotland run in the Value only of Two-pence English; and the Half-groat of Scotland of a Penny English; and the Penny of Scotland of an Halfpenny English; and the Halfpenny of Scotland of a Farthing English: And if the Money of Scotland be impaired, that the Value thereof be abridged after the Rate; and that Commissions be made through the Realm to inquire of them that have brought or sent the Money of England into Scotland, to make Bullion [or"] Money of Scotland, in Prejudice and Damage of the King, and his Realm.

OF THE STATUTE OF THE FIFTEENTH YEAR.

En Rot. Stat. in Turr. Lond. II. m. 7.

IN the Parliament holden at Westminster the Morrow after All Souls, the Fifteenth Year of the Reign of King Richard the Second after the Conquest, our said Lord the King by the Assent of the said Parliament hath ordained and established certain Things in the Form following :

I.
Former Statutes
confirmed.

FIRST, That all good Statutes and Ordinances made before this Time, and not repealed, be firmly holden and kept.

forcible Entries and Riots
confirmed.

ITEM, It is accorded and assented, That the Ordinances and Statutes, made and not repealed, of them that make Entries with strong Hand into Lands and Tenements, or other Possessions whatsoever, and them hold with Force, and also of those that make Insurrections, or great Ridings, Riots, Routs, or Assemblies, in Disturbance of the Peace, or of the Common Law, or in Affray of the People, shall be holden and kept, and fully executed ; joined to the same, that at all Times that such forcible Entry shall be made, and Complaint thereof cometh to the Justices of Peace, or to any of them, that the same Justices or Justice take sufficient Power of the County, and go to the Place where such Force is made ; and if they find any that hold such Place forcibly after such Entry made, they shall be taken and put in the next Gaol, there to abide convict by the Record of the same Justices or Justice, until they have made Fine and Ransom to the King : And that all the People of the County, as well the Sheriffs as other, shall be attendant upon the same Justices to go and assist the same Justices to arrest such Offenders, upon Pain of Imprisonment, and to make Fine to the King. And in the same Manner it shall be done of them that make such forcible Entries in Benefices or Offices of Holy Church.

III.
Jurisdiction of the Admiral.

ITEM, At the great and grievous Complaint of all the Commons made to our Lord the King in this present Parliament, for that the Admirals and their Deputies do incroach to them divers Jurisdictions, Franchises, and many other Profits pertaining to our Lord the King, and to other Lords, Cities, and Boroughs, other than they were wont or ought to have of Right, to the great Oppression and Impoverishment of all the Commons of the Land, and Hindrance and Loss of the King's Profits, and of many other Lords, Cities, and Boroughs through the Realm : It is declared, ordained, and established, That of all Manner of Contracts, Pleas, and Quarrels, and all other Things (*) rising within the Bodies of the Counties, as well by Land as by Water, and also of Wreck of the Sea, the Admiral's Court shall have no Manner of Cognizance, Power, nor Jurisdiction ; but all such Manner of Contracts, Pleas, and Quarrels, and all other Things rising within the Bodies of Counties, as well by Land as by Water, as afore, and also Wreck of the Sea, shall be tried, determined, discussed, and remedied by the Laws of the Land, and not before nor by the Admiral, nor his Lieutenant in any wise. Nevertheless, of the Death of a Man, and of a Maihem done in great Ships, being and hovering in the main Stream of great Rivers, only beneath the [Bridges'] of the same Rivers [nigh'] to the Sea, and in none other Places of the same Rivers, the Admiral shall have Cognizance; and also to arrest Ships in the great Flotes for the great Voyages of the King and of the Realm; saving always to the King all Manner of Forfeitures and Profits thereof coming; And he shall have also Jurisdiction upon the said Flotes, during the said Voyages only: Saving always to the Lords, Cities, and Boroughs their Liberties and Franchises.

ITEM, Whereas it is ordained by divers Statutes, that one Measure of Corn, Wine, and Ale should be throughout the Realm, and that Eight Bushels striked make the Quarter of Corn; Nevertheless, because that no Pain is thereupon ordained in the said Statutes, divers People of divers Cities, Boroughs, Towns, and Markets, will not take, neither buy in the said Cities, Boroughs, Towns, Markets, ne in none other Place, but Nine Bushels for the Quarter; and if they cannot buy in that Manner, they arrest it as forfeit, to the great Damage and Oppression of all the People, and manifestly against the Statutes aforesaid; It is ordained and assented, That the said Statutes shall be firmly kept and holden, as well in the City of London, as in every other Place throughout the Realm, and that as well by Water as by Land, notwithstanding any Usage in Times past to the contrary; and that none from henceforth do buy in the City of London, nor in other Place, any Manner of Corn or Malt, but after Eight Bushels for the Quarter, according to the Purport of the said Statutes, upon Pain of Forfeiture of all the Corn or Malt so bought; saving to the King the said Forfeiture, except Franchises Royal, to whom the King at this Time of his special Grace hath granted the same Forfeiture; and that as well the Mayor and Sheriffs of London, as the Mayors and Bailiffs of other Cities, Boroughs, Towns, and Markets, if they do not thereof full and due Execution, shall incur like Pain, as well at the Suit of the King as of the Party, or of any other Person that will sue for the King.

ITEM, Whereas it is contained in the Statute De religiosis, That no Religious, nor other whatsoever he be, do buy or sell, or under Colour of Gift, or Term or any other Manner of Title whatsoever, receive of any Man, or in any Manner by [Gift'] or Engine cause to be appropriated unto him any Lands or Tenements, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the same, whereby the said Lands and Tenements in any Manner might come to Mortmain; And (*) if any Religious, or any other, do against the said Statute by Art or Engine in any Manner, that it be lawful to the King, and to other Lords, upon the said Lands and Tenements to enter; as in the said Statute doth more fully appear: And now of late by subtle Imagination, and by Art, and Engine, some religious Persons, Parsons, Vicars, and other spiritual Persons, have entered in divers Lands and Tenements, which be adjoining to the Churches, and of the same, by Sufferance and Assent of the Tenants, have made Church-yards, and by Bulls of the Bishop of Rome have [dedicated and hallowed the same,'] and in them do make continually Parochial Burying without Licence of the King and of the chief Lords; therefore it is declared in this Parliament, That [it] is manifestly within the Compass of the said Statute. And moreover it is agreed and assented, That all they that be possessed by Feoffment, or by other Manner, to the Use of Religious People, or other spiritual Persons, of Lands and Tenements, Fees, Advowsons, or any Manner other Possessions whatsoever, to amortise them, and whereof the said religious and spiritual Persons take the Profits, that betwixt this and the Feast of St. Michael next coming, they shall cause them to be amortised by the Licence of the King and of the Lords, or else that they shall sell and aliene them to some other Use between this and the said Feast, upon Pain to be forfeited to the King, and to the Lords, according to the Form of the said Statute of Religious, as Lands purchased by religious People: And that from henceforth no such Purchase be made, so that such religious or other spiritual Persons take thereof the Profits, as afore is said, upon Pain aforesaid; and that the same (*) Statute extend and be observed of all Lands, Tenements, Fees, Advowsons, and other Possessions, purchased or to be purchased to the Use of Gilda or Fraternities. And moreover it is assented, because Mayors, Bailiffs, and Commons of Cities, Boroughs, and other Towns which have a perpetual Commonalty, and others which have Offices perpetual, be as perpetual as People of Religion, that from henceforth they shall not purchase to them, and to their Commons or Office, upon (†) Pain contained in the said Statute de religiosis; and [whereas others be possessed †] or hereafter shall purchase to their Use, and they thereof take the Profits, it shall be done in like Manner as is afore said of People of Religion.

ITEM, Because divers Damages and [Hindrances] oftentimes have happened, and daily do happen to the Parishioners of divers Places, by the Appropriation of Benefices of the same Places; It is agreed and assented, That in every Licence from henceforth to be made in the Chancery, of the Appropriation of any Parish Church, it shall be expressly contained and comprised, that the Diocesan of the Place, upon the Appropriation of such Churches, shall ordain, according to the Value of such Churches, a convenient Sum of Money to be paid and distributed yearly of the Fruits and Profits of the same Churches, by those that shall have the said Churches in proper Use, and by their Successors, to the poor Parishioners of the said Churches, in Aid of their Living and Sustenance for ever; and also that the Vicar be well and sufficiently endowed.

ITEM, Whereas it is ordained by the Statute made the Seventh Year of our Lord the King, that from henceforth no Person Alien or Denizen, of what Estate or Condition that he be, shall take or carry, or cause to be taken or carried by Land, or Sea, out of the Realm of England, to any Parts of Scotland, privily or openly, any Manner of Armour, Corn, Malt, or other Victual, or any other Refreshment whatsoever, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the same Victual, or Armour, and other Things aforesaid, together with the Ships, Vessels, Carts, or Horses that bear or carry them, or else the very Value of them: whereupon our Lord the King at the Request of the Commons, and by the Advice and Assent of the Lords, hath declared in this Parliament the said Statute in such Manner, that it was not his Intent at (‡) the making of the said Statute, ne yet is, that they that have carried or taken, or from henceforth shall take or carry Victuals or Merchandises to the Town of Berwick upon Tweed, which is the King's Town, and of his Liegance, shall incur the Pain of the said Statute, ne shall not be bound to pay Customs and Subsidies granted to our Lord the King of Merchandises that be or shall be carried out of the Realm. Provided alway that they which carry any Cloth, Victuals, or other Merchandises out of the said Town of Berwick, to any Places being in Amity with the King, shall pay the Subsidies, Customs, and other Duties thereof due [to our Lord the King,] and if they do carry (¹) to any Parts of the King's Enemies, they shall incur the Pain of the said Statute.

ITEM, Whereas it was ordained at the last Parliament, that the Passage of Tin out of the Realm should be at the Port of Dartmouth, and no Place else: It is agreed, that the said Ordinance be adnulled, and that between this and the Feast of Saint John Baptist next coming, all Merchants Denizens and Aliens shall be at large, to lade Tin in Ships and other Vessels, to carry out of the Realm in what Haven they will choose within the Realm, and to what Part it please them. And after the said Feast they shall repair to Calais for the Time that the Resort of Wool shall be there, paying always the Customs, Subsidies, and [Devoirs] thereof due before the Passage of the said Tin.

ITEM, Whereas it is contained in the Statute of the Staple, to the Intent that the Contracts made within the Staple should be the better performed, and the Payments readily made, that every Mayor of the Staple shall have Power to take Recognisances of Debts that any Man will make before him in the Presence of the Constables of the Staple, or one of them; and that in every of the said Staples be one Seal ordained to remain in the Custody of the said Mayor, under the Seals of the said Constables: It is agreed and assented, That the said Statute be firmly kept and holden; and that no Mayor of the Staple take or receive any Recognisance of Debt contrary to the Form of the said Statute, upon Pain to pay to the King the Moiety of the Sum recognized before him.

ITEM, At the Complaint of the Commons made in the Parliament, because that of old Times divers Cloths were made in the Town of Gilford, and other Places within the Counties of Surrey, Sussex, and [South,²] called Cloths of Gilford, which were of good making and of good Value, and did bear a great Name: And now because that Fullers and other of the same Country, do use to buy the Cloths of the said Countries before that they be fulled and performed, and in (³) making, for Covetousness to have the said Cloths of greater Measure over the common Assise that late was used, do draw the Cloths more longer and more large than they were wont or ought to be, to the great (¹) impairing of the said Cloths, and great Deceit of the People: For to eschew such Damages and Deceits in Time to come, It is agreed and assented, That from henceforth no Fuller nor other Person, whatsoever he be, shall buy within the said Towns and Counties any Cloth before the same Cloth be fulled and fully performed in his nature, and also sealed under the Seal thereto ordained, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the same.

ITEM, It is agreed and assented, That all the Girdlers of the Realm that work Girdles garnished with white Metal, may work use and continue their said Craft, that is to say, to garnish the Girdles with white Metal as of old Times it hath been used, notwithstanding any Charters or Patents made or granted (⁴) to the contrary: And if any Charters or Patents be made to the contrary, that they shall be void and of no force.

STATUTE OF THE SIXTEENTH YEAR.

Rotuli.

OUR Lord the King, Richard the Second, after the Conquest, at his Parliament holden at Winchester in the Utas of St. Hillary, the Sixteenth Year of his Reign, hath ordained and stablished, by the Assent of his Parliament, certain Things in the Form following.

FIRST, Whereas by the Statute made at York the Ninth Year of the Reign of King Edward, Grandfather of our Lord the King that now is, it was ordained and stablished, That all Merchants, Aliens, and Denizens, and all other, and every of them, of what Estate or Condition that they be, which will buy or sell Corn, Wines, Avoir de pois, Flesh, Fish, and all other Livings and Victuals, Cloths, Wools, Wares, Merchandises, and all other Things vendible, from whence-soever they come, by Foreigns, or by Denizens, to what Place that it be, be it in City, Borough, Town, Port of the Sea, Fair, Market, or other Place within the same Realm, within Franchise and without, may freely and without Disturbance sell the same to whom they please, as well to Foreigns as to Denizens, except the Enemies of the King and of his Realm: And after by another Statute made the five and twentieth Year of the said Grandfather, it was ordained and accorded, That the said Statute made the (') Ninth Year should be holden, kept, and maintained in all Points; and moreover, that every Merchant and other,

Pris'ment come p estatut fait a Eᵛwyk lan du Regne del Aiel n're f' le Roi noefisme, ordeine fuist & establi q̄ tous marchants aliens & denzeins & toutz aut's & checun de eux de quel estat ou condicion qils soient q̄ acheter ou vendre voillont bledz vinz avoir de pois char pesson & toutz aut's vivres & vitails draps leines m̄ces m̄chandises & toutz aut's choses vendables de quelle pt qils vieignent p foreins ou p denzeins a quel lieu q̄ ce soit, soit il en Cite Burgh Ville port du meer, feire, marche ou autre lieu deinz mesme le Roialme, deinz franchise & dehors, les puis-sent franchement & sanz desto'ber vendre a qi q̄ lour plect sibien as foreins come a denzeins forpris les enemys n're f' le Roi & de son Roialme: Et puis p un autre estatut fait lan du dit Aiel vint & quint ordeine fuist & accorde q̄ le dit estatut fait le dit an noefisme vroit tenuz gardez & maintenuz en touz pointz; Et outre ceo q̄ checun marchand & autre de quelle condicioñ q'il droït auxibien alien come denzein q' ameneroit vins charres peisons ou autre manie des vitailles draps peaux ou avoir de pois ou q'conq's autres mices ou mchandisees a la Cite de Londres ou se aut's Citees Burghs & bones Villes Dengleterre, ou Port du mer, les p'roit franchement & sanz chalange ou empeschement de nully vendre en gros ou a retaille ou p' pcelles a sa volonte as queconq's gentz q' les voudrent acheter, nient contrestantz aucuns franchises g'ntes ou custume use, ou q'conq' autre manie chose fait a contraire, & ce sanz destourbance ou impediment dascun s' d'ceines peines contenues en lestautz susditz : Et ap's lan du regne n're f' le Roi unanime estoit auxint ordeine & establee p' estatut fait meisme lan q' les deux estatutz susditz droient tenus gardez & maintenus & pleinement executez en toutz pointz & articles dicelles, Nient contrestant aucun estatut, ordinance, ch're, l're patente, franchises p'clamacioñ mandement usages allowance ou juggement fait ou usez a con'tre ; Sicome en les ditz estatutz est contenues plus au plein : Nientmeyns p'coo q'il semble a n're f' le Roy q' lestautz susditz sils soient pleinement tenus & executez, sentendent en g'nt arrierisement & damage sibien de la dite Cite de Londres, come des aut's Citees Burghs & Villes du roialme, ordeinez est & assentuz q' nully est'nge marchand alien ne vende ne achate ne marchande deinz le Roialme ovesq' aut' estrange marchand alien p' revendre, ne q' nully estrange marchand alien vende a retaille deinz le roialme ne ne trechoe a vendre nulles manie mices ne mchandisees forpris vivres & vitailles : Et q' toutz aliens vendent auxint vins p' vesselz entiers & espicie p' vesselz & bales entiers & nemye en autre manie, et q' nully manie espicie ap's q'il soit porte en le roialme soit amene hors de meisme le roialme p' alien ne p' denzein s' peine de forfait'e dicelle. Et enoutre le Roi voet q' lestautz susditz soient en toutz lo' aut's articles & pointz fermement tenus & gardez.

Item come el darrein plement accordez estoit & assentuz q' nully lige du Roi delors en avant droït arrez compelles ne constreint p' nully voie de venir ne d'ap'paroir dev'nt le conseil d'ascun f' ou dame p' y respondre de soñ franc tenement ne de chose q' touche frank tenementz, ne de nulle autre chose reale ou peonele q'apptient a la ley de la l're en aucun manie ; sicome p' lestatur est fait plus pleinement appiert, accordez est & assentuz q' le dit estatut soit fermement tenus & gardez, et q' si aucun f' ou dame ou autre lige du Roi face alencontre, encourage la peine de vint livres dev's n're f' le Roy.

Item ordeinez est & assentuz q' toutz les poys & mesures p'my le Roialme soient accordantz a lestandard de leschequer solonc la fo'me de lestautz ent faitz ; et enoutre le Roi voet q' le Clerc del Marche ait toutz ses mesures & poises d'arsme accordantz a lestandard de leschequer & signes & mices del signe de leschequer a ce ordeine, & meisme les poises & mesures inint signes & mices, carie & aneime ovesq' luy a toutz les foitz q'il ferra l'assay de poises & mesures aucune pt deinz le Roialme, & q'il ne nully au' lige du Roi use nully autre mesure ne pois s' les peines contenues en lestautz ent faitz devant ces heures.

of what Condition that he be, as well Alien as Denizen, that bringeth Wines, Flesh, Fish or other Manner of Victuals, Cloth, Fells, or Avoir de pois, or other Wares or Merchandise, to the City of London, or other Cities, Boroughs, and good Towns of England or Ports of the Sea, may freely and without Challenge or Impeschment of any, sell them in Gross or at Retail, or by Parcels at his Pleasure, to any People that will buy them, notwithstanding any Franchise, Grant or Custom used, or any other Manner of Thing made to the contrary, and that without Disturbance or Impediment of any, upon certain Pains contained in the aforesaid Statutes : And after in the Eleventh Year of the Reign of our said Lord the King, it was also ordained and established by the Statute made in the same Year, That those Two Statutes aforesaid should be holden, kept, maintained, and fully executed in all Points and Articles of the same, notwithstanding any Statute, Ordinance, Charter, Letters Patent, Franchise, Proclamation, Commandment, Usage, Allowance, or Judgment made or used to the contrary, as in the said [Statute '] more fully is contained : Nevertheless, Forasmuch as it seemeth to our Lord the King, that the said Statutes, if they shall be fully holden and executed, shall extend to the great Hindrance and Damage, as well of the City of London, as of other Cities, Boroughs, and Towns of the Realm ; It is ordained and assented, That no Merchant Stranger Alien shall sell, nor buy, nor merchandise within the Realm with another strange Merchant Alien, to sell again ; nor that no strange Merchant Alien shall sell to retail within the same Realm, nor shall [put to sale'] any Manner of Wares or Merchandise, except Livings and Victuals, and also that (4) Aliens shall sell Wines by whole Vessels, and Spicery by whole Vessels and Bales, and in no other Manner ; and that no Manner of Spicery, after that it be brought [in'] the Realm, shall be carried out of the same Realm by Alien or Denizen, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the same. And moreover the King will that the said Statutes in all Articles and Points shall be firmly holden and kept.

ITEM, Whereas at the last Parliament it was accorded and assented, That none of the King's liege People from henceforth should be bound, compelled, nor constrained by any Means, to come nor to appear before any Lord's or Lady's Council, there to answer of his Freehold, nor of Things which touch Freeholds, nor of any other Thing real nor personal, which belongeth to the Law of the Land in anywise, as by the Statute thereof made more fully appeareth ; It is accorded and assented, That the said Statute shall be firmly holden and kept ; and if any Lord or Lady, or other of the King's liege People do to the contrary, they shall incur the Pain of xx l. to the King.

ITEM, It is ordained and assented, That all the Weights and Measures through the Realm shall be according to the Standard of the Exchequer, after the Purport of the Statutes thereof made ; and (5) the King willeth, That the Clerk of the Market shall have all his Measures and Weights [ready'] according to the Standard of the Exchequer, and signed and marked of the Sign of the Exchequer thereunto ordained ; and the same Weights and Measures so signed and marked, to carry and bring with him at all Times, when he shall make the Assay of Weights and Measures in any Part within the Realm ; and that he, nor [any'] other of the King's liege People, shall use [any'] other Measure nor Weight, upon the Pains contained in the Statutes thereof made before this Time.

of his Crown.

ITEM, It is accorded and assented, That no Yeoman nor other of lower Estate than an Esquire, from henceforth shall not use nor bear no Livery, called Livery of Company, of any Lord within the Realm, if he be not menial and familiar, continually dwelling in the House of his said Lord, and that the Justices of Peace shall have Power to enquire of them which do to the contrary, and them to punish according to their Discretion.

ITEM, Whereas the Commons of the Realm in this present Parliament have shewed to our redoubted Lord the King, grievously complaining, That Whereas the said our Lord the King, and all his liege People, ought of Right, and of old Time were wont to sue in the King's Court, to recover their Presentments to Churches, Prebends, and other Benefices of holy Church, to the which they had Right to present, the Cognisance of Plea of which [Presentment<sup>1</sup>] belongeth only to the King's Court of the old Right of his Crown, used and approved in the Time of all his Progenitors Kings of England; and when Judgement shall be given in the same Court upon such a Plea and [Presentment,<sup>2</sup>] the Archbishops, Bishops, and other Spiritual Persons which have Institution of such Benefices within their Jurisdiction, be bound, and have made Execution of such Judgements by the King's Commandments of all the Time aforesaid without Interruption, for another, Lay-person, [cannot<sup>3</sup>] make such Execution, and also be bound of Right to make Execution of many other of the King's Commandments, of which Right the Crown of England hath been peaceably seized, as well in the Time of our said Lord the King that now is, as in the Time of all his Progenitors till this Day: But now of late divers Processes be made by the [Bishop of Rome<sup>4</sup>] and Censures of Excommunication upon certain Bishops of England, because they have made Execution of such Commandments, to the open Dishonour of the said Crown, and Destruction of (*) our said Lord the King, his Law, and all his Realm, if Remedy be not provided: And also it is said, and a common Clamour is made, that the said [Bishop of Rome<sup>4</sup>] hath ordained and purposed to translate some Prelates of the same Realm, some out of the Realm, and some from one Bishoprick into another within the same Realm, without the King's Assent and Knowledge, and without the Assent of the Prelates, which so shall be translated, which Prelates be much profitable and necessary to our said Lord the King, and to all his Realm; by which Translations, if they should be suffered, the Statutes of the Realm should be defeated and made void; and his said Liege Sages of his Council, without his Assent, and against his Will, carried away and gotten out of his Realm, and the Substance and Treasure of the Realm shall be carried away, and so the Realm destitute as well of Council as of Substance, to the final Destruction of the same Realm; and so the Crown of England, which hath been so free at all Times, that it [hath been in no Earthly Subjection,<sup>5</sup>] but immediately subject to God in all Things touching the Regality of the same Crown, and to none other, should be submitted to the Pope, and the Laws and Statutes of the Realm by him defeated and avoided at his Will, in perpetual Destruction of the Sovereignty of the King our Lord, his Crown, his Regality, and of all his Realm, which God defend: And moreover, the Commons aforesaid say, That the said Things so attempted be clearly against the King's Crown and his Regality, used and approved of the Time of all his Progenitors; wherefore they and all the Liege Commons of the same Realm will stand with our said Lord the King, and his

ITEM, Whereas in an Article of a Statute made in the Parliament holden at Westminster, the Monday next after the Feast of St. Hillary, the Thirteenth Year of the [Reign] that now is, it was ordained and granted, That no Charter of Pardon from thence should be allowed before any Justices, for Murder, Death of a Man slain by Await, Assault, or Malice prepensed, Treason, or Rape of a Woman, if [it] were not specified in the same Charter. And if any Charter of the Death of Man were alledged before any Justices, in which Charter was not specified, that he of whose Death any such was arraigned, was murdered, or slain by Await, Assault, or Malice prepensed, the Justices should inquire, by a good Inquest of the Visne where the dead Person was slain, if he were murdered or slain by Await, Assault, or Malice prepensed, and if they should find that he was murdered or slain by Await, Assault, or Malice prepensed, the Charter should be disallowed, and moreover done as the Law should require; which Things our Lord the King doth will and grant, that they shall be firmly holden and kept: And moreover, by the Assent of the Lords in this present Parliament, and at the Prayer of the Commons, he hath ordained and granted, That the Residue of the said Article shall be wholly out, repealed, and adnulled; that is to say; "If any be a Suiter to the King for a Charter of Pardon for Murder, Death of a Man slain by Await, Assault, or Malice prepensed, Treason, or Rape of a Woman, if the Chamberlain indorse, or cause to be indorsed such Bill, he shall set the Name of him that maketh Suit for such Charter upon the same Bill, upon Pain of One thousand Marks, and if the Under-Chamberlain indorse such Bill, he shall do likewise, upon Pain of Five hundred Marks; and that none other than the Chamberlain or Under-Chamberlain indorse nor cause to be indorsed any such Bill, upon Pain of One thousand Marks: And that such Bill be sent and directed to the Keeper of the Privy Seal; and that no Warrant of the Privy Seal be made to have such Charter, unless the Keeper of the Privy Seal have such Bill indorsed or signed by the Chamberlain or Under-Chamberlain, as afore is said: And that no Charter of Pardon, of Treason nor of other Felony, pass the Chancery without Warrant of the Privy Seal, but in Case where the Chancellor may grant it of his Office, without speaking thereof to the King: And if he, at whose Suit any Charter of Pardon for Murder, Death of a Man slain by Await, Assault, or Malice prepensed, Treason, or Rape of a Woman, be granted, be an Archbishop or Duke, he shall pay to the King One thousand Pounds: And if he be a Bishop or Earl, he shall pay to the King One thousand Marks; and if he be an Abbot or Prior, Baron or Banneret, he shall pay Five hundred Marks; and if he be a Clerk, Bachelor, or other of less Estate, of whatsoever Condition that he be, he shall pay to the King Two hundred Marks, and have One Year's Imprisonment:" Because that the said Commons of the Realm since have perceived great Grievance of this Ordinance aforesaid, for that many People for Malice have indicted divers

Persons of Murder, Death of a Man slain by Await, Assault and Malice prepensed, and Treason, where in Truth there was no such Cause, to the Intent that no Man should be bold to sue to the King our Lord for such Charter.

The King to the Sheriff of Kent, Greeting. A certain Statute in our Parliament, assembled at Winchester in the Octave of Saint Hilary last past, with the Assent of the Prelates Lords and Commons of our Realm of England there being, for the common Profit of the same People, made, We do send to you, sealed with our Seal, Commanding that the Statute aforesaid, and all and singular the Articles in the same contained, within your Bailiwick, in Places where you may see most fit, you do cause to be read and publicly proclaimed, and as far as in you lieth to be inviolably observed. Witness the King, at Westminster, the First Day of May.

By the King Himself.

Like Writs were directed to the several Sheriffs throughout England; and to John Duke of Aquitaine and Lancaster, and to his Chancellor in the said Duchy of Lancaster; under the same Date.

THESE be the Things ordained and established by our Lord the King at his Parliament holden at Westminster the Fifteenth Day of Saint Hillary, the Seventeenth Year of his Reign, by the Assent of the said Parliament, which he doth will and command, that they shall be firmly holden and kept after the Purport of the same.

FIRST, Where it was ordained by the noble King Edward, Grandfather to our Lord the King, [the Ninth Year<sup>1</sup>] of his Reign, that no Sterling Halfpenny nor Farthing, shall be molten for Vessel, nor other Thing thereof to be made by the Goldsmith, nor others, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the Money so molten, and Imprisonment of the Founder, till he have yielded to the King the Half of that which he hath so molten, notwithstanding any Charter or Franchise granted or used to the contrary; It is accorded and assented, That the said Ordinance shall be firmly holden and kept. And moreover it is ordained and assented, that no Groat nor Half-groat shall be molten by any Man to make Vessel, or other Thing thereof, upon the same Pain. And that no Gold nor Silver of Scotland, nor of other Lands beyond the Sea, shall run in any Manner of Payment within the Realm of England, but shall be brought to the Bullion, there to be molten [in<sup>2</sup>] the Coin of England, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the same, and of Imprisonment, Fine, and Ransom of him which doth contrary; and that no Man shall send any English Money into Scotland, to change the same [in Money, or for Scottish Money,<sup>3</sup>] upon the Pain next aforesaid.

extended to Groats and Half-groats.

No foreign Coin shall be current in England;

nor Exchange made of English Money for Scottish.

that Salmons be <sup>(1)</sup> seasonable in the said Waters by the Time aforesaid; and that in the Parts where such Rivers be, good and sufficient Conservators of the said Statute made the said Thirteenth Year should be assigned and sworn, as it was ordained in the Statute of Westminster, and that they should punish the Offenders upon the Pain contained in the same Statute of Westminster, without shewing any Favour thereof: which Statutes have not been hitherto duly executed for Default of good Conservators, as our said Lord the King hath perceived by Complaint to him made in this present Parliament: Wherefore It is accorded and assented, That the Justices of the Peace of all the Counties of England shall be Conservators of the said Statutes in the Counties where they be Justices; and that they and every of them, at all Times when they may attend, shall survey the Offences and Defaults attempted against the Statutes aforesaid; and also shall survey and search all the Weirs in such Rivers, that they shall not be [very <sup>2</sup>] strait for the Destruction of such Fry and Brood, but of reasonable Wideness after the old Assise [used or accustomed]; and that the same Justices, or any of them, which shall find Default or Abuse against the Statutes aforesaid, shall make due Punishment of them which be found in Default after the Content of the same [Statute; <sup>3</sup>] and that the same Justices shall put good and sufficient Under-Conservators of the same Statutes under them, which shall be sworn to make like Surveying, Search, and Punishment, without any Favour thereof to be shewed; and moreover, that the same Justices, in their Sessions, shall inquire as well by their Office, as at the Information of the Under-Conservators aforesaid, of all Trespasses, Misprisions, and Defaults made against any of the Points aforesaid, and shall cause them which be thereof indicted to come before them, and if they be thereof convict, they shall have Imprisonment, and make Fine after the Discretion of the same Justices; and if the same be at the Information of any of the Under-Conservators aforesaid, the same Under-Conservator shall have the half of the same Fine. And Forasmuch as it is granted to the Citizens of London, by the King's Progeniture, that they may remove and take away all the Weirs in the Waters of Thames and Medeway, and that they shall have the Punishments thereof pertaining to the King; our said Lord the King, in this present Parliament, by the Assent aforesaid hath granted, That the Mayor or Warden of London for the Time being shall have the Conservation of the Statutes aforesaid, and shall make thereof due Execution, and like Punishment, as afore is ordained of the Justices of the Peace, in the said Water of Thames, from the Bridge of Stanes to London, and from thence [over <sup>4</sup>] in the same Water, and in the said Water of Medeway, as far as it is granted to the said Citizens, as afore is said.

ITEM, Forasmuch as Thieves notoriously defamed, and others taken with the Maner, by their long abiding in Prison, after that they be arrested, be delivered by Charters, and favourable Inquests procured, to the great Hindrance of the People: It is accorded and assented, That in every Commission of the Peace through the Realm, where Need shall be, Two Men of Law of the same County where such Commission shall be made, shall be assigned to go and proceed to the Deliverance of such Thieves and Felons, as often as they shall think it expedient.

ALTHOUGH that it were ordained and granted by King Edward Great Grandfather and also by King Edward Grandfather of our Lord the King that now is, that the Aldermen of the City of London should cease and should be removed from their said Office every Year at the Feast of Saint Gregory, and that they should not be re-elected the Year next ensuing; but that other sufficient Persons of the said City should be every Year newly elected and put in the Offices aforesaid: Nevertheless our said Lord the King, for certain Causes him especially moving, and at the same Time for the better Governance of his said City in Time to come, willesh and hath ordained by the Advice and Assent of his Council in this present Parliament, That henceforth the Aldermen of the said City be not ousted nor removed from the said Office of Aldermanship at the said Feast of Saint Gregory, nor at any other Time of the Year, without good and reasonable Cause, nor any other elected nor put in their Places; but shall remain on from Year to Year in their said Office, until they be removed for just and reasonable Cause as above; Notwithstanding the Ordinances aforesaid.

WHEREAS by a Statute made in the Time of King Edward, Grandfather to our Lord the King that now is, in the Twenty-eighth Year of his Reign, it is ordained and established, that the Mayor, Sheriffs, and Aldermen of the City of London which have the Governance of the same City, shall cause to be redressed and corrected the Errors, Defaults, and Misprisions which be notoriously used in the said City for Default of good Governance of the said Mayor, Sheriffs, and Aldermen, and the same duely punish from Time to Time, upon a certain Pain; that is to say, at the First Default a Thousand Mark, to the King, and at the Second Default Two thousand Marks, and at the Third Default that the Franchise of the said City be taken into the King's Hand; and that every of the said Mayor, Sheriffs, and Aldermen which shall appear before the King's Justices in Manner and Form as is ordained by the said Statute, shall answer particularly for himself as well at the Peril of other which be absent as of himself; and that this Ordinance shall be holden firm and stable, notwithstanding any Manner of Franchises, Privileges, or Customs; as in the said Statute is more fully contained: And now our Lord the King, considering the Generality of the said Words, that is to say, "Errors, Defaults, and Misprisions," and the several Intendments which may thereof be conceived, hath, at the Supplication of the Mayor, Sheriffs, and Aldermen of the said City, declared and granted, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal in this present Parliament, that it is not his Will nor his Intent, nor the Intent of the said Statute, that the Mayor, Sheriffs, and Aldermen of the said City who now are, or have heretofore been, or hereafter shall be, should incur nor suffer the Pain of the said Statute for any erroneous Judgement given or to be given within the said City.

ALSO, Whereas the Ward of Farringdon Within and Without of the City of London is so increased in Possessions and Inhabitants therein within these few Years past, that the Governance thereof is too laborious and grievous for one Person to occupy and duly govern the same; Our Lord the King by the Assent of his Council in this present Parliament, at the Prayer of the Mayor, Aldermen, and Commonalty of the said City, hath ordained and granted, That between this and the Feast of Saint Gregory next coming, the People of the said

The first of these is quoted as an Act in 4 Inst. 253; and that and the second are abridged as Acts of this Year in Pulton's Statutes 1618, &c.

Ward of Farringdon-Within may elect an Alderman, wise, sufficient, and able to govern the said Ward Within, and to be named the Aldermen of the Ward of Farringdon-Within; and that between this and the said Feast of Saint Gregory the People of the Ward of Farringdon-Without may elect another Alderman, wise, sufficient, and able to govern the said Ward Without; and to be named the Alderman of the Ward of Farringdon-Without: And that the said Two Aldermen so elected may be established and not removed, except for Cause reasonable, as is ordained and granted by our said Lord the King in this Parliament, of the other Aldermen of the said City.

proclaiming
the Statute.

THE King to the Sheriff of Kent, Greeting. A certain Statute, in our last Parliament holden at Westminster, by Us with the Assent of the Great Men and Commons of our Realm of England there assisting Us, made, We do send to you in Form Patent, Commanding that the same Statute and all and singular the Articles in the same contained, in the Cities, Boroughs, Market Towns, and other Places within your Bailiwick, where you shall see it to be most expedient, you do cause to be publicly proclaimed, and as far as in you lieth, to be firmly and inviolably observed. Witness the King at Westminster, the first Day of June.

By the King Himself and Council.

Like Writs are directed to the several Sheriffs throughout England; and to John Duke of Aquitaine and Lancaster, or to his Chancellor in the same Duchy of Lancaster, under the same Date.

Statutū de Anno vicesimo.

STATUTE OF THE TWENTIETH YEAR.

Rotuli.

THE KING at his Parliament holden at Westminster in the Feast of Saint Vincent, the Twentieth Year of his Reign, by the Assent of the Prelates, Lords, and Commons of his Realm [of England,] assembled in the same present Parliament, for the Quietness and Tranquillity of his People, hath made certain Statutes and Ordinances in the Form which followeth:

Recital of St.
7 R. II. c. 13;

FIRST, Whereas in a Statute made the Seventh Year of the Reign of the King that now is, it is ordained and assented, That no Man shall ride armed within the Realm, against the Form of the Statute of Northampton thereupon made, nor with Launcegays within the same Realm; and that the said Launcegays shall be utterly put out within the said Realm, as a Thing prohibited by the King, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the same Launcegays, Armour, or any other Harness, in the Hands and Possession of them that bear them, from henceforth within the same Realm against the same Statutes and Ordinances, without the King's special Licence:

Ex Rot. Stat. in Turr. Lond. II. m. 4.

LE ROY en son parlement tenuz a Westm̄ en la feste de Seint Vincent lan de son roialme vintisme, del assent des Prelatz & Cōmunes de son roialme en mesme le parlement, pur quiete & t'nquillite de son poeple ad fait deins estatutz & ordenances qensuient.

Prumement, come en un estatut fait lan septisme du regne nre Seignur le Roy soit ordeigne & assentuz q' null hōme chivache deins le Roialme armez contre la fourme de lestatut de Norhampton sur ce fait, ne ovesq lancegaye deins mesme le roialme, et q' les ditz lancegayes soient de tout oustez deins le dit Roialme, come chose defendue par le Roy sur peyne de forfaiture dicelles lancegayes armures & auts hernoys quelconques, es mayns & possession dycelz qui les porta delors deinz mesme le Roialme encontre ycelles estatutz & ordenances sanz espale congie du Roy:

Nre Seignur le Roy considerant le gnt clamour a luy fait en cest present plement de ce q le dit estatut n'est mie tenuz, Si ad ordeigne & establi en meisme le plement q les ditz estatutz soient pleinement tenuz & gardez & duement executz; et q les ditz lancegays soient tout outement oustes sur la peine contenue en le dit estatut de Northampton & outre de fair fyn & ranceon au Roy. Et outre ce q null f, Chivaler nautre petit ne gnt sile ne chivache p noct ne jour armez ne porte Palet ne chapel de ferre nautre armure sur la peine suadce; Sauvez & exceptz les officz & Ministres du Roy enfaisantz leur offices. Et outre ce le Roy voet & ad ordeigne q lestatut fait lan de son regne prinse de livree des Chaperons soit tenuz & gardez sur la peine contenue en meisme lestatut & sur peine destre emprisonnez & de fair fyn & ranceon au Roy.

Item q Vadlets appelez Yomen ne null aut de meindre estat quenquier ne use ne porte null signe ne livree appellee livree de compaignie dascun f de deins le roialme, sil ne soit menial & familier ou officer continual de son dit f et q les Justices de la paix aient poeir denquer de ceuz q font a lencontre & de les punir selonc leur discrecion.

Item le Roy voet & defende q null f nautre du pais petit ne gnt ne soit seant en Bank ovenq les Justices as assises pndre en leur sessions es Countees Dengleterre sur grief forfaiture vo le Roy; Et ad chargez ces ditz Justices qils ne soeffrent le contraire estre fait.

Item q come il soit contenuz en un estatut de f Edward nadgairs Roy Dengleterre Aiel a nre f le Roy qorent lan de son regne vynt & octisme, q nulle male de nief q soit frette de vs Engleterre ou ailleurs soit artez de venir a nul port Dengleterre ne y dem'er contre le gree des Mestres & Marins dicelle, ou des Marchantz as queux les biens sont, et si tielx niefs veignent de gree ou soient chaces p tempeste ou aut infortune ou meschief a aucun port Dengleterre & les Meistres & marins ou Marchantz de mesmes les niefs voillent vendre & deliv'er pte de leur richandises p loure bone voluntee, bien lise a chescun tielx richandises achatre franchement sanz empeschement en le port ou tielx niefs viendront, tout ne soient les richandises mises a la pre pur vendre; Et q les Meistres Marins & Marchantz, aps ce qils avont issint vendus ce q leur pierra de leur ditz biens & paie ent la custume, puissent funchement depter & aler ove leur niefs & tout le remenant de leur bis pla ou leur pierra sanz custume ent paier: Nre Seignur le Roy p la quiete & ease de son poeple voet q le dit estatut soit tenuz & gardez en toutz pointz & duement executz nient contrestant aucune ordeignance ou usage a contr'rie.

Item pur ce q les Cōmunes ont fait complaint q plusieurs gntz meschiefs extorsions & discaie sont faitz p div'ses gentz de mauveis condicion q de leurs auctoritee demene pignont & font pndre roialment chivalx & aut's choses & bestes hors de leur charues charettes & mesons, disantz & imaginantz qils sont a chivaucher en hastifs messages ou besoignes, la ou en vite ils ne sont aucunement privez de nulle besoigne ou message, mes soulement en deceite & subtilite p pndre chivalx

Our Lord the King, considering the great Clamour made to him in this present Parliament, because that the said Statute is not holden, hath ordained and established in the said Parliament, That the said Statutes shall be fully holden and kept, and duly executed; and that the said Launcegays shall be clear put out upon the Pain contained in the said Statute of Northampton, and also to make Fine and Ransom to the King. And moreover, that no Lord, Knight, nor other, little nor great, shall go nor ride by Night nor by Day armed, nor bear [Sallet'] nor Skull of Iron, nor [of'] other Armour, upon the Pain aforesaid; save and except the King's Officers and Ministers in doing their Office. And Moreover, the King will and hath ordained, that the Statute made the First Year of his Reign, of Liveries of Hats, shall be holden and kept upon the Pain contained in the same Statute, and upon Pain to be imprisoned, and make Fine and Ransom to the King.

ITEM, That no Varlets called Yeomen, nor none other of less Estate than Esquire, shall use nor bear no [Sign of Livery'] called Livery of Company of any Lord within the Realm, unless he be menial and familiar or continual Officer of his said Lord. And that the Justices of the Peace shall have Power to enquire of them, which do to the contrary, and them to punish according to their Discretion.

ITEM, The King doth will and forbid, That no Lord, nor other of the Country, little nor great, shall sit upon the Bench with the Justices to take Assises, in their Sessions in the Counties of England, upon great Forfeiture to the King; and hath charged his said Justices, that they shall not suffer the contrary to be done.

ITEM, Whereas it is contained in a Statute of the late King Edward, Grandfather to the King that now is, the xxviiij Year of his Reign, That no Manner of Ship, which is freighted toward England, or elsewhere, shall be compelled to come to any Port of England, nor there to tarry against the [Agreement'] of the Masters and Mariners of the same, or of the Merchants to whom the Goods be; and if such Ships come of their own Good-will, or be driven by Tempest, [Casualty, or other Misfortune,'] to any Port of England, and the Masters or Mariners, or Merchants of the same Ships, will sell or deliver Part of their Merchandizes with their Good-will, it shall be lawful to every Person to buy such Merchandizes freely without Impeachment in the Port where such Ships shall come, albeit the Merchandizes be not [put to Sale to the Land;'] And the Masters, Mariners, and Merchants, after that they have so sold so much as pleaseth them of their said Goods, and the Custom thereof paid, may freely depart and go with their Ships, and all the Remnant of their Goods, where it shall please them, without paying thereof Custom: Our said Lord the King, for the Quietness and Ease of his People, willeth, That the said Statute shall be holden and kept in all Points, and duly executed, notwithstanding any Ordinance or Usage to the contrary.

ITEM, Forasmuch as the Commons have made Complaint, that many great Mischiefs, Extorsions, and Oppressions be done by divers People of evil Condition, which of their own Authority take and cause to be taken royally Horses and other Things, and Beasts out of their Wains, Cartz, and Houses, saying and devising that they be to ride on hasty Messages and Business, where of Truth they be in no wise privy of any Business or Message, but only in Deceit and Subtilty by such Colour

"RICHARD, by the Grace of God King of England and of France, and Lord of Ireland, to all them that shall see or hear these Letters, Greeting. We have certainly conceived by the grievous Complaint of the Lords and Commons (a) of our Realm, in this present Parliament assembled, that our Profits, Rents and Revenues of our said Realm, by singular and insufficient Counsel and evil Governance, as well of some late our Great Officers, as of divers other Persons being about our Person be so much withdrawn, wasted, eloynd, given, granted, aliened, destroyed, and evil dispended, that We are so much impoverished, void, and nought of Treasure and Goods, and the Substance of our Crown so much diminished and destroyed, that the Estate of Us and of our House may not honourably be sustained as pertaineth, nor the Wars, which daily abound and environ our Realm, maintained nor governed without great and outrageous Oppressions and importable Charges of our said People; and also that the good Laws, Statutes, and Customs of our said Realm, which We are astreyned and bound to hold and observe, be not, nor have not been duly holden nor executed, nor full Justice nor Right done to our said People, whereby many Dishonours and other great Mischiefs and Damages be happened, as well to Us as to our said People and to all our Realm: And We to the Honour of God, and for the Weal of Us and of our Realm, and for the Quietness and Relief of Us and of our said People who have been in divers Manners greatly charged before this Time, willing, with the Grace of God, against such Mischiefs to provide a good and due Remedy, have of our free Will, and at the Request of the Lords and Commons aforesaid, ordained, made, and assigned our Great Officers, that is to say, our Chancellor, Treasurer, and Keeper of our Privy Seal, such as We hold good, sufficient, and lawful for the Honour and Profit of Us and of our said Realm. And Moreover of our Authority Royal, certain Knowledge, good Gree and free Will, and by the Advice and Assent of the Prelates, Lords, and Commons aforesaid, in the full Parliament, in Aid of good Governance of our Realm and due Execution of our said Laws, and in Relief of the Estate of Us and of our People in Time to come, upon the full Trust that we have of good Advisement Wit and Discretion of the Honourable Fathers in God William Archbishop of Canterbury, Alexander Archbishop of York, our dear Uncles Edmund Duke of Opinion of the greater Party have Force and hold place : Commanding and charging all Prelates, Dukes, Earls, Barons, Steward, Treasurer, and Comptroller, and all other Officers of our House, Justices of the one Bench and of the other, and all our other Justices, Barons, and Chamberlains of the Exchequer, Sheriffs, Escheators, Mayors, Bailiffs, and all our other Officers, Ministers, and Liege People, that they be attending, obedient, counselling, and aiding, as often and by the Manner as our said Counsellors and Officers shall do them to wit, on our Behalf. In Witness whereof We have done to be made these our Letters Patents. Dated under our Great Seal, at Westminster, the Nineteenth Day of November, the Tenth Year of our Reign."

[So that the said Commission and the said Statute<sup>1</sup>] touching the same Commission, seemeth to the said Commons to be prejudicial to the King and to his Crown, and Usurpation of [the regal<sup>2</sup>] and royal Power; and that the said Duke of Gloucester and Earl of Arundel, did send a great Man and Peer of the Realm in Message to our Lord the King, who of their part said<sup>3</sup> (1) That if he would not grant and assent to the said Commission and Statute, he should be in great Peril of his Life; and so as well the said Commission as the said Statute touching the said Commission, were made by constraint and compulsion, and against the Agreement of the King and his Will; Wherefore the said Commons pray our said Sovereign Lord the King, that the said Commission, and Statute touching the same Commission, with all their Dependants, be repealed and utterly adnulled, as a Thing done traitorously and against his [regal<sup>4</sup>] Crown and Dignity: Whereupon our Sovereign Lord the King, of the Assent of all the Lords Spiritual and the Proctors of the Clergy, at the Request of the said Commons, here hath repealed the said Statute in this Article, and the said Commission and all the Pains and Dependants of the same, [utterly to be adnulled<sup>5</sup>] for ever, for the Causes aforesaid. And moreover, [that<sup>6</sup>] the King, of the Assent of all the said Lords and Commons hath ordained and stablished, That no such Commission neither such like, be from henceforth purchased, pursued, nor made; and he that purchaseth, pursueth, or procureth to be made<sup>7</sup> (2) any such Commission, or any like in Time coming, privily or apertly or use Jurisdiction or Power by virtue of any such Commission, and of the same be duly convicted in the Parliament, he shall be adjudged for a Traitor, and that of high Treason done against the King and his Crown; and (3) the King shall have the Forfeiture of his Lands, Tenements, Possessions, and all other Hereditaments, to him and to his Heirs as well holden of himself as of other.

ITEM, It is ordained and stablished, That every Man, which compasseth or purposeth the Death of the King, or to depose him, or to render up his [Homage or Liege,<sup>8</sup>] or he that raiseth People and rideth against the King to make War within his Realm, and of that be duly attainted and judged in the Parliament, shall be judged as a Traitor of high Treason against the Crown; and he for him and his Heirs shall forfeit all the Lands, Tenements and Possessions, Liberties and all other Hereditaments, which he hath or any other hath to his Use, or had the Day of the Treason done, as well in Fee Tail as in Fee Simple, to the King and his Heirs, as well such Lands holden of other as of himself for ever; and also such Possession as other have to his Use.

 of the County of Chester changed into the Name of the Principality of Chester, and the Annexion and Union of the said Castles, Seignories, and Towns to the same notwithstanding.

ITEM, At the Request of the Commons, and by the Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal aforesaid,
 It is ordained and established, That the Castle and Sherriffwick of [Winchester,'] which Thomas late Earl of Warwick did hold in Fee, and which by force of the Judgment given against the said Earl in the said Parliament be seized into the King's Hands as forfeit, with [Towns'] and Hundreds, Rents and [Salt-houses,'] as well in Worcester and in the Wich, as elsewhere, and all other Profits and Things to the said Castle and Sherriffwick pertaining and belonging in anywise or Colour, as fully and wholly as the said Earl, before the said Forfeiture, had, shall be abiding and remaining to our Sovereign Lord the King, and to his Heirs for ever, without being given or granted to any, or to be severed from his Crown at any Time hereafter.

ITEM, In the same Manner, That all the Hundreds, Tournes, Courts, Liberties, and Franchises, which Thomas late Duke of Gloucester did hold in the County of Essex of the Gift and Grant of the King, and of King Edward his Grandfather, which were of old Time an-nexed and joynd to the Sheriffwick of Essex, as Parcel of the same, and which now by Forfeiture of the said Duke, be in the King's Hands as forfeit, shall be abiding and remaining to the King and to his Heirs, joined, annexed, and united to the Sheriffwick of Essex, as parcel of the same for ever, without being given or granted to any, or to be severed or departed from the same Sheriffwick at any Time hereafter.

ITEM, The Lords, which were Appellants in the said
 Parliament, that is to say, Edward Duke of Aumarle, Thomas Duke of Surry, John Duke of Exeter, John Marquis of Dorset, John Earl of Salisbury, Thomas Earl of Gloucester, and William Earl of Wiltshire, prayed to the King, reciting and shewing, how certain Lords, which be convicted and attainted, that is to say, the Duke of Gloucester and the Earls of Arundel and Warwick, assembled at Heringey, forcibly and in great Number, [in the Manner of'] War, made Barriers betwixt the King and them, that the King's liege People might not approach to the King to succour him, and so came in such forcible Manner to his Palace of Westminster, arrayed in Manner of War, that the King might not then resist them without great Peril of his Body and Destruction of his People; so that by Coercion and Compulsion the said Duke and Earls made the King to summon a Parliament at Westminster the Morrow after the Purification of our Lady, the xi. Year of his Reign, which Parliament so begun, the said Duke and Earls in such forcible Manner continued to the End, and in the same did give many divers Judgments, as well of Death of Man as otherwise, upon divers of the King's liege People, and did give Judgment of Forfeitures of Lands, Tenements, Goods, and Chattels, whereof they be convict of High Treason, and also for certain Questions, which were demanded by the King touching his Estate and Regalty, of certain of his Justices then at Nottingham, the same Year, and for their Answers of the same given to the King upon the same Questions, the same Justices were forejudged of their Lives, and Judgment given against them of Forfeiture of their Lands, Tenements, Goode, and Chattels; (<sup>1</sup>) the said Duke and Earls made divers Statutes and Ordinances in the said Parliament at their Will: Whereupon the said Appellants, considering the Summons of the said Parliament to be made expressly against the Right of the King's Crown, and contrary to the Liberty and Franchise of his Person and Royal Estate, willing to acquit them to the King as his faithful liege People, prayed him that the said Parliament be adnulled and clearly holden for none; and that all the Judgments, Ordinances, and Statutes, made and given in the said Parliament, and all Things depending upon the same, shall be adnulled [and revoked,<sup>2</sup>] and holden for none, as a Thing done without Authority, and against the Will and Liberty of the King, and the Right of his Crown; and that the Lands, Tenements, Fees, and Advowsons, and all other Possessions seized by Colour of the said Judgments, shall be restored and delivered to them which were so judged, to them and to their Heirs. And also the said Commons prayed to the King, as the said Appellants prayed and said, that their Intent was to have prayed likewise: And thereupon the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the [Procurers<sup>3</sup>] of the Clergy severally examined, assented expressly, that the said Parliament, and all the Statutes, Judgments, Ordinances, and all other Things thereof made and followed, shall be void and adnulled and of no Force nor Value, and Restitution made as afore is said. And also as well the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the [Procurers<sup>4</sup>] of the Clergy, as the said Commons were severally examined of the said Questions, and of the Answers of the Justices aforesaid, the Tenor whereof followeth in this Manner.

" Memorandum, That the xxv. day of the Month of August, the xi. Year of the Reign of King Richard the Second, at the Castle of Nottingham, before our said Sovereign Lord the King, Robert Tresilian, Chief Justice, Robert Belknap, Chief Justice of the Common Bench (<sup>5</sup>), John Holte, Roger Fulthorpe, and William Burghie, Knights, Fellows of the said Robert Belknap, and John Lokton, one of the King's Serjeants at the Law, being personally required, in Presence of the Lords and other Witnesses under written, by our said Sovereign Lord the King, [in<sup>6</sup>] the Faith and Liegeance by which they be firmly bounden to the said King, that they shall truly answer to certain Questions under written, and before them recited, and upon the same by their Discretions to say the Law:

If derogatory to the King's Prerogative?

First, It was inquired of them, Whether [the same<sup>7</sup>] new Statute and Ordinance, and the Commission made (<sup>8</sup>) in the last Parliament holden at Westminster, be hurtful to the King's Royal Prerogative? [Whereunto all of one Mind answered,<sup>9</sup>] That they be hurtful, and specially because they were against the King's Will.

How the Procurers, &c. were punishable?

Item, It was inquired of them, How they ought to be punished, which procured the said Statute, Ordinance, and Commission to be made? [Whereunto, with one Assent, they answered,<sup>10</sup>] That they deserve to be punished by Capital Pain, that is to say, of Death, unless the King, in this Part, of his Grace, will pardon them.

Item, It was inquired, How they ought to be punished, which excited the said King to consent to the making of the said Statute, Ordinance, and Commission? [Whereunto, of one Mind, they said,<sup>11</sup>] That unless the King would give them his Pardon, they ought to be punished by Capital Pain.

Item, It was inquired of them, What Pain they deserved, that compelled <sup>(1)</sup> the King to consent to the making of the said Statute, Ordinance, and Commission? [Whereunto, by one Assent, they gave Answer,<sup>2</sup>] That as Traitors they ought to be punished.

Item, How they <sup>(1)</sup> ought to be punished, that did interrupt the King, so that he might not exercise those Things that [pertaineth <sup>(1)</sup>] to his Regality and Prerogative? [Whereunto, of one Assent, it was answered,<sup>3</sup>] That they <sup>(1)</sup> ought to be punished as Traitors.

Item, It was inquired of them, Whether that after that the Business of the Realm, and the Cause of the Assembly of the Parliament were by the King's Commandment disclosed and declared in the Parliament <sup>(1)</sup>, and [other <sup>(1)</sup>] Articles limited by the King, upon which the Lords and Commons of the Realm ought to proceed in the same Parliament, if the Lords and Commons would in anywise proceed upon other Articles, and in no wise upon the Articles limited by the King, till the King had answered to the Articles expressed by them, notwithstanding that they were by the King enjoined to the contrary; Whether the King in this Case ought to have the Rule of the Parliament, and indeed to rule, to the Intent that upon the Articles limited by the King, they ought first to proceed [or not,<sup>4</sup>] before they proceeded any further? [To which Question, of one Mind, they answered,<sup>5</sup>] That the King in this Party shall have the Rule, and so in order one after another in all other Articles touching the Parliament, till the End of the <sup>(1)</sup> Parliament. And if any do contrary to this Rule of the King, he ought to be punished as a Traitor.

Item, It was inquired of them, Whether the King, whensoever it pleaseth him, might dissolve the Parliament, and command his Lords and Commons to depart from thence or not? [Whereunto it was, of one Mind, answered,<sup>6</sup>] That he may; and if any [would proceed in the Parliament against the King's Will,<sup>7</sup>] he is to be punished as a Traitor.

Item, It was inquired, Since that the King, whensoever him pleased [might <sup>(1)</sup>] remove his Officers or Justices, and to justify and punish them for their Offences, Whether the Lords and Commons might, without the King's Will, impeach the same Officers and Justices upon their Offences in the Parliament, or not? [To which Question it was by one Mind answered,<sup>8</sup>] That they might not; and he that doth contrary is to be punished as a Traitor.

Item, It was inquired, How he is to be punished that moved in the Parliament, That the Statute should be sent for, whereby Edward the Son of King Edward, great Grandfather to the King that now is, was another Time [indicted <sup>(1)</sup>] in the Parliament, by the Inspection of which Statute, the said new Statute [or Ordinances <sup>(1)</sup>] and Commission were conceived in the Parliament? [To which Question of one Accord they answered,<sup>9</sup>] That as well he that so moved, as the other which by force of the same Motion brought the said Statute into the Parliament House, be as criminous and Traitors worthy to be punished.

Item, It was inquired of them, Whether the Judgment given in [our <sup>(1)</sup>] Parliament holden at Westminster, against the Earl of Suffolk, were erroneous and revocable or not? [To which Question of one Assent, they said,<sup>10</sup>]

Whether the Parliament can proceed on other Business than that limited by the King?

Which Questions and the Answers of the same, as well before the King and the Lords, as before the Commons, were read and perceived, and it was demanded of all the States of the Parliament, how they thought of the Answers aforesaid, and they said, That they thought, that the said Justices made and gave their Answers duly and lawfully, as good and lawful liege People of the King ought to do; and in the same Manner Sir Thomas of Skelton learned in the Law, and William Hankeford, and William Brenchley, the King's Serjeants, demanded by the King of their Advice in this Behalf, said that the Answers were good and lawful; and that they would have given the same Answers, if the said Questions had been demanded of them. And my Lord William Thirning Chief Justice of the Common Bench, said that the Declaration of Treason not declared, belongeth to the Parliament; but if he were a Lord, or a Peer of the Parliament, if he had been demanded, he would have said in the same Manner; and (<sup>1</sup>) in like Manner said my Lord William Rikehyll, Justice of the Common Place, and after the coming of my Lord Walter Clopton, Chief Justice, he said in like wise: Wherefore the said Answers be judged and affirmed for good and sufficient in the said Parliament. Whereupon (<sup>2</sup>) the King by the Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Procurators of the Clergy, and the said Commons, and by Advice of the Justices and Serjeants aforesaid, there being, It was awarded and judged, ordained and established, that the said Parliament holden the said xi. Year, shall be clearly adnulled and holden for none, as a Thing made without Authority, and against the Will and Liberty of the King and the Right of his Crown; and that all the Judgments, Statutes, and Ordinances made in the same, with all Things depending upon the same, shall be revoked and adnulled, reversed, and clearly repealed and holden for none: And that all Lands, Tenements, Fees, Advowsons, and all other Possessions seized as forfeit by colour of the said Judgments, shall be restored and delivered to them which were judged or put out, to their Heirs, and to them that have in other Manner Cause of Action or Title of Right in this Behalf, with all Manner of Liberties and Franchises and Privileges, as far forth and wholly as they had at any Time, [with<sup>3</sup>] Restitution of Goods and Chattels. But our Sovereign Lord the King, by Advice of the said Lords and Commons, considering how the King, for Recovery and Relief of his liege People, which were so judged or put out, and to make them to have Restitution of their Estates and Lands, Tenements, Fees, Advowsons, and other Possessions aforesaid, hath had and supported great and excessive Costs and Expences;

It seemeth to the King and to all the Lords, that touching the said Restitution it shall be a competent Satisfaction to the said Persons forejudged and put out, and to their Heirs, to have Restitution (<sup>1</sup>) of their Goods and Chattels, or of the Issues and Profits of the said Lands and Tenements taken in the mean Time. And Moreover, as to them which have bought and purchased of the King much of the Lands and Tenements aforesaid, (<sup>2</sup>) some in Demean, and some in Reversion, for certain Sums to be paid to the King, he hath charged his Council to inquire by their Advice of the Value of the said Lands and Tenements so sold, and how much the Buyers thereof have taken in the mean Time; and thereupon treat and make with them such End as good Faith and Conscience requireth: And thereupon It is ordained and stablished, That all they which will pursue for the Restitution aforesaid, or for their Recovery in this Behalf, shall have a Writ of Scire facias, returnable in the Chancery, as often and such as they shall think needful, or take any other Action at the Common Law if they will, and that they may sue against them which be Tenants of the Freehold, the Monday next after the said [xv. Year] of Saint Hillary, and that their Recovery be good and effectual against them, notwithstanding any Alienations or Demises made since the said Monday, or against other Tenants at their Election; and that no Protection be allowed in this Case, nor no Delay by Non-age, nor [restraint<sup>3</sup>] nor Aidprayer, but by Aidprayer of the King; and that the said Keeper of the Privy Seal shall make thereof Letters of Procedendo, without pursuing or speaking to the King, or other Delay, without doing Waste or Destruction in the mean Time.

ITEM, Our Sovereign Lord the King, at the Instance of the said Lords Appellants, and by Assent of (<sup>4</sup>) other Lords of the Parliament, considering how it was judged by all the Estates of the Parliament, that the Answer made by Robert Tresilian and other his said Companions the King's Justices at Nottingham, the said xi. Year, upon a certain Question of them demanded, as it appeareth above, touching Michael de la Pole, late Earl of Suffolk, was just, good, and lawful; and that the said Judgment given against the said Earl in the said Parliament, the said x. Year of our said Sovereign Lord the King, was erroneous and revocable, as before it appeareth; hath, by the Assent of the Parliament awarded, judged, and also stablished, that the said Judgment given against the said Earl in the said Parliament, the said x. Year, shall be repealed, reversed, and clearly adnullied, in like Manner and Form as the Judgments given against the said Earl and other judged in the said Parliament, holden the said xi. Year, were reversed and adnullied in [the<sup>5</sup>] same Parliament determined at Shrewsbury; and that all the Lands and Tenements, Rents, Fees, and Advowsons, and all other Possessions, which were to the said Earl, and seized as forfeit by colour of the said Judgment in the said Parliament the said x. Year, with all Manner of Liberties [of<sup>6</sup>] Franchises and Privileges, as far forth, and as wholly as the said Earl had them at any Time before, should be restored to the Heirs of the said Earl, without having any Issues or Profits of the same in the mean Time; and that the said Heirs have their Suit and Recovery in the same Manner as before.

ITEM, Whereas (<sup>4</sup>) many Works being about the Town of Calais, which in Salvation and Defence of the same Town, and the Marches there, need daily to be maintained and repaired, there be Two great Works, most necessary of all to be sustained and supported, that is to say, the Beacons before the Port there, and the Place called Paradise, which is nigh to the Ditches of the same Town, which [Ditches,<sup>5</sup>] by the (<sup>6</sup>) Concourses and Rages of the Sea, be always feebled and impaired, as well of Stones cast out of the stuffing of the same, as also of Timber, so that if they be not hastily amended, made, and repaired, the said Port is likely to be destroyed and undone for ever; and the said Place of Paradise is now so ruinous and feeble, that if it be not newly made, and sufficiently maintained and kept, it is likely that in that Default the Walls of the same Town [in this Behalf,<sup>7</sup>] in short Time, by the great abundant Concourses of the Sea, shall be clearly [decayed,<sup>8</sup>] in Destruction and undoing of the said Town, to the great Damage of the King, and of his Realm of England, which God defend; against which Perils always to set sufficient Remedy, [it is all only at the King's Costs and Expences,<sup>9</sup>] and shall be very great and grievous Charge, if a convenient Ordinance thereof be not provided: Wherefore our Sovereign Lord the King, by the Assent aforesaid, hath ordained and stablished, That all manner of Ships accustomed to come to the said Port out of [the Country of] England, Fisher-boats all only except, shall bring with them all their Lastage of good Stones, convenient for the stuffing of the said Beacons, [in making their<sup>10</sup>] reasonable Deliverance from Time to Time at their coming thither to the Treasurer, which for the Time shall be there, or to other Ministers thereto by him ordained, upon the Pain of ii d. for the Weight of every Ton, [and as much<sup>11</sup>] as the said Ships be of Portage. And that all Manner of Ships entering at the said Place of Paradise, there to rest, shall pay at every their Entry there, xiiij d. Sterling, and thereupon it shall be lawful to them, if they will, there (<sup>12</sup>) tarry for xiiij Days, with as many Nights then next ensuing, without paying thereof more for their said Entry:

ITEM, Whereas the Monday next after the Feast of the Exaltation of the Holy Cross, the xxj. Year of the Reign of the said late King Richard, a Parliament was summoned and holden at Westminster, and from thence adjourned to Salop, at which Town a certain Power was committed by Authority of the Parliament, to certain Persons to proceed upon certain Articles and Matters comprised in the Roll of the Parliament thereof made, as by the same Roll may appear, in which Parliament, and also by Authority aforesaid, divers Statutes, Judgments, Ordinances, and Stablishments were made, ordained, and given erroneously and [dolefully;'] in great Dishonour and final Destruction and undoing of many honourable Lords and other liege People of the Realm, and of their Heirs for ever: Our Sovereign Lord the King, considering the great Mischiefs aforesaid, by the Advice and Assent of all the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and of all the Commonalty, hath judged the said Parliament, holden the said xxi. Year, and the Authority thereof given, as afore is said, with all the Circumstances and Dependents thereupon to be of no Force nor Value: And that the same Parliament, with the Authority aforesaid, and all the Circumstances and Dependents thereupon, be wholly reversed, revoked, voided, undone, repealed, and adnulled for ever.

Parliament
confirmed.

ITEM, It is accorded, assented, and established, That the Parliament holden at Westminster, the Eleventh Year of the said late King Richard, be firmly holden and kept according to the Purport (¹) of the same, as a Thing [made²] for the great Honour and common Profit of this Realm.

ITEM, To the Intent that our ſaid Lord the King in Time to come ſhall not be deceived in his Grants or Gifts, annual or in Fee, or in any Offices by him to be given, made, or granted, He will, by the Aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal aforeſaid, and at the Request of the ſaid Commons, be counſelled by the wiſe Men of his Council in Things touching the Eſtate of him and of his Realm, ſaving always his Liberty; alſo he hath ordained and eſtabliſhed by the Aſſent aforeſaid, That all they which from henceforth do demand of the King, Lands Tenements Rents Offices Annuities, or any other Profits, ſhall make expreſſe Mention in their Petitions of the Value of the Thing ſo to be demanded, and alſo of that which they have had of the King's Gift, or of other his Progenitors or Predeceſſors before. And in caſe they make not ſuch Mention in their ſaid Petitions, and that duely proved, the King's Letters Patents thereof made ſhall not be available, nor of any Force nor Effect, but wholly revoked, repealed, and annulled for ever; to the Punishment of them which ſo have done Deceit to the King, as they that be not worthy to enjoy the Effect and Benefit of the Letters Patents to them granted in this Behalf.

ITEM, To eſchew Maintenance, and to nourish Love, Peace, and Quietneſſe, of all Parts through the Realm: It is ordained and eſtabliſhed, by the King and his Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons aforeſaid in the full Parliament, That no Lord, of what Eſtate or Condition ſoever he be, ſhall uſe nor [ordain<sup>1</sup>] any Livery of Sign of Company, to no Knight, Eſquire, nor Yeoman, within the Realm aforeſaid: Saving always that our Sovereign Lord the King ſhall give only his Honourable Livery to his Lords Temporal, whom ſhall pleaſe him; ſaving alſo that our (*) Sovereign Lord ſhall give his Honourable Livery to his Knights, and Eſquires menial; and alſo to his Knights and Eſquires, which be of his Retinue, and do take of him their yearly Fee for Term of Life. Moreover it is accorded and aſſented by the King, [his<sup>2</sup>] Lords and Commons aforeſaid, That the Knights and Eſquires ſhall not in any wiſe wear their ſaid Liveries in their Countries or Counties where they be reſident or dwelling, nor in none other Place within the Realm out of the King's Preſence; and if any Lord do the contrary, and that duely proved, he ſhall make Fine and Ransom at the King's Will; and if any Knight or Eſquire do the contrary, and be thereof duely attainted, he ſhall loſe his ſaid Livery, and forfeit his Fee for ever: And that no (*) Yeoman take nor wear any Livery of the King, nor of none other Lord upon Pain of Imprisonment, and to make Fine and Ransom at the King's Will: Provided alway, That the Conſtable and Maſſhall of England for the Time being, [in<sup>3</sup>] their retinue of Knights and Eſquires, may wear the ſaid Livery of the King, upon the Borders and Marches of the Realm in Time of War: Provided alſo, That all they that will travel, and paſſ over (*) into the Parts beyond the Sea to ſeek Honour, may wear the ſame Livery in thoſe Parts, without being thereof any wiſe grieved or impeached. Moreover it is accorded and aſſented, That no Archbiſhop, Biſhop, Abbot, nor Prior, nor none other Man of Holy Church, or Temporal, of what Eſtate or Condition he be within the ſaid Realm, ſhall give any Livery of Cloth to any Man, but only to his menial Servants and Officers, [or to<sup>4</sup>] them that be of his Council, as well Spiritual as Temporal, learned in the one Law or the other,

Ferm of the same Counties, whereas a great Parcel of the Profits of the same is given severally to Lords and other the King's liege People, so that the same Sheriffs cannot pay their Ferm without doing Extortion in the said Counties, in great Oppression and Hindrance, as well of the said Sheriffs, as of the Inhabitants of the said Counties: Our Lord the King considering the Mischiefs aforesaid, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords and Commons aforesaid, hath ordained and established, That from henceforth the Sheriffs of the [County] of Essex and Hertford in special, and the Sheriffs of other Counties aforesaid, for the Time being, shall accompt in the Exchequer, and have Allowance by their Oath of the Issues of the said Counties, as well after the Date of their Patents made to them by the said late King Richard, as for all Times to come; and if any Sheriff from henceforth do any Extortion to the People, and be thereof attained, he shall be duly punished for the same Extortion at the King's Will.

ITEM, Whereas by (1) Edward, late King of England, Grandfather of our Lord the King that now is, the Five-and-twentieth Year of his Reign, because that the common Passage of Ships and Boats in the great Rivers of England were oftentimes disturbed by the [levying<sup>2</sup>] of Wears Mills Stanks Stakes and Kidels, in great Damage of the People, It was accorded (3), that all such Wears Mills Stanks Stakes and Kidels, which weré levied and set up in the Time of King Edward, Son to King Henry, and after in such Rivers, whereby the Ships and Boats be disturbed, so that they cannot pass as they were wont, shall be wholly pulled down, [and not be levied again; 4] and that Writs be thereupon sent to the Sheriffs of Places where Need shall be, to survey and inquire, and to make thereof Execution; and also that Justices be thereupon assigned at all Times when Need shall require: And after at the grievous Complaint of the Great Men and the Commons, made in the Parliament of the said King Edward the Grandfather, the Five-and-fortieth Year of his Reign, complaining by their Petition, that the said Statute was not duly executed nor kept after the Effect of the same, it was accorded and stablished, that the said Statute in this Point be holden and kept after the Effect of the same; added to the same, that if any such Nuisance be pulled down by due Process contained in the said Statute, he that [will cause the said Nuisance to be repaired, 5] and thereof be duly attained, shall incur the Pain of an Hundred Marks to the King, to be levied by the Estreats of the Exchequer; and like Law to be holden of a Nuisance made by the inhansing of such Wears Mills Stanks Stakes and Kidels, as by new levying, as in the same Statutes more fully doth appear. And now, at the Request of the said Commons, shewing by their Petition, that the common Passages of Ships and Boats in the great Rivers of England, and also Meadows and Pastures, and [Lands sowed 6] adjoining to the said Rivers, be greatly disturbed, drowned, wasted, and destroyed by outrageous inhansing and straiting of Wears Mills Stanks Stakes and Kidels, in old Time made and levied before the Time of the said King Edward, Son of King Henry, whereof great Damage and Loss hath come to the People of the Realm, and daily will come, if Remedy be not thereof provided; It is accorded and established by the Assent aforesaid, That the said Statutes be in all their Articles holden, and firmly kept, and duly executed, with the Pains,

They shall have Allowance in the Exchequer.

Their Punishment for Extortion.

and after the Effect of the same; Joined thereto, that Commissions be made in due Form to sufficient Persons to be Justices in every County of England, where Need shall be, to survey and keep the Waters and great Rivers there; and to correct and amend the Defaults, and to make due Execution of the said Statutes, after the Effect of the same, as well by their Survey, Advice, and Discretion, as by Enquests thereof to be taken, as well within Franchise as without, so often and when Need shall be, and to hear and determine the Things aforesaid; and moreover to survey the Wears Mills Stanks Stakes and Kidels in old Times made and levied before the said Time of King Edward, Son of King Henry; and them that they find too much inhanced or straited, to correct, pull down, and amend in the Manner and Form aforesaid, saving always a reasonable Substance of Wears Mills Stanks Stakes and Kidels aforesaid, so in old Times made and levied: And if any such Noisances of Wears Mills Stanks Stakes and Kidels, of Passages and Straitings in old Time made and levied, be judged and awarded by the said Justices to be pulled down and amended, he that hath the Freehold of the same shall make thereof Execution at his own Costs, within Half a Year after Notice to him thereof to be made, upon Pain of an Hundred Marks to be paid to the King by Estreats of the Exchequer; and he that causeth them to be [repaired] or inhanced, or straitened, against the said Judgement, and thereof be duly convicted, shall incur the Pain of an Hundred Marks, to be paid to the King by Estreats in the Exchequer aforesaid; and in case that any feelth himself grieved by Execution or other way in this Behalf, against Right and Reason, he may pursue, and shall have Right and Remedy.

ITEM, Whereas in the Statute made at Westminster (*) the Seventeenth Year of the said late King Richard, it was amongst other Things ordained and established, That no Searcher, Gauger of Wines, Aulneger, [Finder,] or Weigher of Wools, or any other Merchandise, Collector of Customs and Subsidies, or Controller, have Estate in his Office for Term of Life or of Years; but that the same Offices remain in the King's Hands under the Governance of the Treasurer for the Time being, with the Assent of the Council, when Need shall be; and if any Charters or Letters Patents be made (*) contrary, they shall be voided and of none Effect: It is accorded and assented, That the said Statute be firmly holden and kept, and put in due Execution; Joined to the same, that Customers and Controllers in every Port of England shall be resident upon their Offices in their proper Persons, without making any Deputy or Lieutenant in their Names.

ITEM, For many great Inconveniences and Mischiefs that often have happened by many Appeals made within the Realm of England before this Time; It is ordained and established from henceforth, That all the Appeals to be made of Things done within the Realm, shall be tried and determined by the good Laws of the Realm, made and used in the Time of the King's noble Progenitors; and that all the Appeals to be made of Things done out the Realm, shall be tried and determined before the Constable and Marshall of England for the Time being. And Moreover it is accorded and assented, That no Appeals be from henceforth made or any wise pursued in Parliament in any Time to come.

STATUTE OF THE SECOND YEAR.

Rotuli.

AT the Parliament holden at Westminster in the Utas of St. Hillary, the Second Year of the Reign of King Henry the Fourth, the same our Lord
the King, by the Assent of the Prelates, Dukes, Earls, and Barons, and at the special Instance and Request of the Commons assembled at this present Parliament, hath caused to be ordained and stablished certain Statutes and Ordinances in Form following.

I.
Confirmation
of Liberties, Charters,
Statutes, &c.

FIRST, That Holy Church have her Rights and Liberties; and that all the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and all the Cities, Boroughs, and Towns enfranchised, have and enjoy all their Liberties and Franchises, which they have lawfully used, and which they have of the Grant of his Noble Progenitors and Predecessors Kings of England; and that the Great Charter, and the Charter of the Forest, and all other good Ordinances and Statutes made in his Time, and in the Time of his Noble Progenitors, not repealed, be firmly holden and kept in all Points: And that all his liege People and Subjects may freely and peaceably in his sure and quiet Protection go and come to his Courts, to pursue the Laws, or defend the same, without Disturbance or Impediment of any; and that full Justice and Right be done, as well to the Poor as to the Rich, in his Courts aforesaid.

II.
Recital of
the Statute
1 Hen. IV.
chapter 6.
respecting Grants of the King.

ITEM, Whereas in the last Parliament of our Sovereign Lord the King that now is, amongst other Things it was ordained and stablished, that all they which from henceforth shall demand of the King, Lands, Tenements, Rents, [or Fees,'] Annuities, or any other Profits, should make express mention in their Petitions of the Value of the Thing so to be demanded, and also of that that they have had of the Gift of the King, or of other his Progenitors or Predecessors before; and in case they did not make such Mention in their said Petitions, and that duly proved, the King's Letters Patents should not be available to them, nor of no Force nor Effect, but wholly revoked, repealed, and adnulled for ever, to the Punishment of them which had done such Deceit to the King, as they that be not worthy to enjoy the Effect and Benefit of the Letters Patents to them granted in this Behalf: Our said Sovereign Lord
the King considering, That a great Part of the said Statute is very hard for his liege People, and for so much willing thereof to provide Remedy, of his own Will and certain Knowledge hath granted to do Grace and Pardon to those that will pursue, of as much as they have mistaken themselves in their Suit against the Form of the said Statute. And moreover the same our Sovereign Lord the King, to exclude all Ambiguities in Offices,

touching the exporting of
Silver.

Gold and Silver found in a course of Exportation shall be forfeit ;

saving reasonable expences.

Merchants Strangers may export half their Money.

14 R. II. c. 1.

VI.
Money of Gold and Silver of Flanders and Scotland, shall be exported, or re-coined ;

the Importation thereof
forbidden.

Bulls of New, or by Colour of the same Bulls purchased, or to be purchased do take Advantage in any Manner, that Process shall be made against them and every of them by Garnishment of Two Months by Writ of Premunire facias ; and if they make Default, or be attainted, then they shall incur the Pains and Forfeitures contained in the Statute of Provisors, made the Thirteenth Year of the said King Richard.

ITEM, Whereas in the Statute made at Westminster in the Fifth Year of the said King Richard, amongst other Things it is contained, how it was assented, accorded, and enjoined by the said late King to all manner of People, Merchants, Clerks, and others, as well Strangers as Denizens, of whatsoever Estate or Condition they should be, upon Pain of as much as they might forfeit, that none of them, upon the said Pain, privily nor openly should send or carry, nor cause to be sent or carried, out of the said Realm of England, any Gold or Silver in Money, Bullion, Plate, Vessel, nor by Exchange to be made, except the Wages of Calais, and other the King's Fortresses beyond the Sea, [saving certain<sup>1</sup>] Prelates, Lords, and others comprized in the same Statute, [without special Leave, and Licence<sup>2</sup>] thereupon first had, as by the same Statute may more fully appear : Our Lord the King, for to prevent the Subtily of them that will do Fraud or Deceit to him in this Behalf, hath ordained and stablished, That if from henceforth any Searcher of the King may find Gold or Silver in Coin, or in Mass, in the keeping of any that is passing, or upon his Passage, in any Ship or Vessel to go out of any Port, Haven, or Creek of the Realm, without the King's special Licence, all that Gold or Silver shall be forfeit to the King, saving his reasonable Expences, which he shall be bound to confess and discover presently after that he is warned and charged so to do by the same Searcher, or else all the said Money so concealed shall be forfeit to the King. Provided always, That the Merchants Strangers that do sell their Merchandise within the Realm of England, and the One-half of the Money of England received for the same Merchandises do employ upon other Merchandises of the Realm, may freely carry out from the same the other Half of the said Money by the King's Licence, according to the Statute thereof made.

ITEM, For the great Deceit that is in the Money of Gold and Silver of Flanders and Scotland, that doth commonly run in Payments made in divers Parts of the Realm, to the great Damage of the King and of his People : It is ordained and stablished, That all the Money of Gold and Silver of the Coin of Flanders, and of all other Lands and Countries beyond the Sea, and also of the Land of Scotland, shall be voided out of the Realm of England, or put to coin to the Bullion within the same Realm, betwixt this and the Feast of Christmas next ensuing, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the same. And that all the Merchants and other at Calais, which do receive any such Gold or Silver of the Coin of Flanders, or of other Lands and Countries beyond the Sea, or of the Land of Scotland, shall put the same to Bullion at Calais, without bringing it in Coin within the Realm of England, and if the Merchants, or any other from henceforth bring any such Money within the Realm of England, they shall forfeit the same Money to the King. And Moreover it is accorded, That a good and convenient Search be made as well at Calais as on this side the Sea in every Port and other Places upon the bringing of the Money aforesaid.

Item porce q' s' Vedit treuve dev'nt quelconque Justice en assise de novel disseisin mort dauncestre ou autre accion quelconque, les ptes dev'nt ces heures ont este adjournez sur difficulte en loye sur la matire issint trevez, ordeignez est & establiz q' si le dit Vedit passe encontre le pleintif, q' mesme le pleintif ne soit nounsuy.

Item s' la grevous complainte faite a n're f' le Roy p' les Cōes en cest plement coment loffice de Cirogrofer en le cōe bank du Roi est lesses a ferme, a quel office apptient p' les fesance & escripture de chun fyn leve en le dit Bank quatre souldz & nient plus, et nounobstant cel fee les Fermers de mesme loffice ne veullent deliv'er nul fyn a nully sanz leur doner aut's quatre souldz ou plus p' extorcion, a g'nt damage & enpo'vessement de tout le poeple : N're f' le Roy veullant celle pte p'voir de remede, de ladvis & assent des f's espirituels & temporels, & a la supplication des ditz Cōes, ad ordeinez & establiz, q' le Cirogrofer ne son Fermer Lieutenant ou Deputee p' le temps esteant desorenavant, ne pigne plus q' quatre souldz p' nul fyn leve en la Court. Et si le dit Fermer lieutenant ou depute pigne plus q' quatre souldz p' un fyn come dessus est dit, q'il pde son office, & soit forjuggiez la Courte, & eit emprisonement p' un an & paie a la pte greve ses trebles damages, et ait la pte grevee sa suite devant les Justices du dit Bank.

Item come nadgairs en temps du dit Roit Richard divers pones furent assignez as divers foitz p' cōmissions du dit Roy denquere & fair solonc le p'port de leur cōmissions deinz le Roialme Dengleire, et ore pces est fait sūn en la Chancellerie come en leschequer Vs les ditz cōmissioners de tūfier les inquisitions & autres choses devant eux prises p' v'tue des d'ces cōmissions, p' la ou ascuns des ditz Cōmissioners en la p'suite du dit Roy Richard furent riflez & pilez des d'ces inquisitions & aut's choses devant eux prises p' force de leur ditz Cōmissions, & auxint de leur biens p'pres, & aucunes des ditz Cōmissioners p' mandement & compulsion de Mon' William Lescrop alors Tresorer Dengleire deliv'èrent toutes leur inquisitions & autres choses devant eux ensi prises au dit Tresorer, issint q' les ditz Cōmissioners nont riens en leur garde de tūfier es d'ces Courtes : Sur quoy n're f' le Roy considerant les meschiefs suisd'ces & p' tant veullant fair g'ce as tielx Cōmissioners, de ladvis & assent des ditz f's espirituels & temporels, & al prier des ditz Cōes ad ordeignez & establiz, q' nul des ditz Cōmissioners issint riflez ou pilez, ne nuls q' deliv'èrent lur inquisitions ou autres choses dev'nt eux prises au dit nadgairs Tresorer, ne soient en nul man'e chargez dent faire aucune tūficaciō en aucune Courte du Roy, mais ent soient p' leur v'ment outrement deschargez.

Item porce q' plainte est faite a n're dit f' le Roy p' les ditz Cōes coment le Clerc del Corone du Bank du Roy, la ou vint quarant ou Cent homes sont enditez dune felonie ou dune trespas, & toutz ceux p'ledent a issue come de rien coupable, le dit Clerc ne deust pndre p' le venire fac' ne p' l'entree du p'lec

ITEM, Whereas upon Verdict found before any Justice in Assise of Novel disseisin, Mortdauncester, or any other Action whatsoever, the Parties before this Time have been adjourned upon Difficulty in Law upon the Matter so found; It is ordained and established, That if the Verdict pass against the Plaintiff, that the same Plaintiff shall not be nonsuited.

ITEM, Upon the grievous Complaint made to our Lord the King by the Commons in this present Parliament, how that the Office of the Cirographer in the Common Bench of the King is let to farm, to which Office appertaineth, for making and writing of every Fine levied in the said Bench, Four Shillings and no more; and notwithstanding the same Fee, the Farmers of the same Office will deliver no Fine to any without giving to them other Four Shillings, or more by Extortion, to the great Damage and Impoverishment of all the King's liege People; Our Lord the King willing in this Behalf to provide Remedy, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the Supplication of the said Commons, hath ordained and established, That the Cirographer, nor his Farmer, Deputy, or Lieutenant for the Time being, shall from henceforth take any more than Four Shillings for any Fine levied in the Court. And if the said Farmer, Lieutenant, or Deputy, take any more than Four Shillings for a Fine, as before is said, he shall lose his Office, and be forejudged the Court, and have One Year's Imprisonment, and pay to the Party grieved his Treble Damages; and the Party grieved shall have his Suit before the Justices of the said Bench.

ITEM, Whereas late in the Time of King Richard divers Persons were assigned at divers Times by Commissions of the said King Richard, to inquire, and to do after the Purport of their Commission within the Realm of England, and now Process is made as well in the Chancery as in the Exchequer against the said Commissioners, to certify the Inquisitions and other Things before them taken by virtue of the said Commissions, Whereas some of the said Commissioners in the Pursuit of the said King Richard were rifled and pill'd of the said Inquisitions and other Things before them taken by force of their said Commissions, and also of their proper Goods, and some of the said Commissioners by the Commandment of Sir William le Scrope, sometime Treasurer of England, did deliver all their Inquisitions and other Things so taken before them to the said Treasurer, so that the Commissioners have nothing in their Custody to certify to the said Courts: Whereupon our Sovereign Lord the King, considering the Mischiefs aforesaid, and by so much willing to do grace to such Commissioners, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the Prayer of the said Commons, hath ordained and established, That none of the said Commissioners so rifled or pill'd, nor none that delivered their Inquisitions and other Things taken before them to the said late Treasurer, shall in no wise be charged to make thereof any Certification in any Court of the King, but shall be thereof by their Oath clearly discharged.

ITEM, Because that Complaint is made to our said Lord the King by the said Commons, how the Clerk of the Crown of the King's Bench, whereas Fourscore or an Hundred Men be indicted of One Felony, or of One Trespass, and all they plead to an Issue as Not guilty, the said Clerk ought not to take for the Venire facias,

ITEM, Whereas in the Statute made at Westminster the Thirteenth Year of the said King Richard, amongst other Things it is contained, that the Admirals and their Deputies shall not intermeddle from thenceforth of any Thing done within the Realm, but only of a Thing done upon the Sea, according as it hath been duly used in the Time of the noble King Edward, Grandfather to the said King Richard; Our said Lord the King will and granteth, That the said Statute be firmly holden and kept, and put in due Execution. And Moreover, the same our Lord the King, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the Prayer of the said Commons, hath ordained and established, that as touching a Pain to be set upon the Admiral, or his Lieutenant, that the Statute and the Common Law be holden against them; and that he that feeleth himself grieved against the Form of the said Statute, shall have his Action by Writ grounded upon the Case against him that doth so pursue in the Admiral's Court, and recover his double Damages against the Pursuant; and the same Pursuant shall incur the Pain of Ten Pounds to the King for the Pursuit so made, if he be attainted.

ITEM, It is ordained and established, That from henceforth no Welshman whole born in Wales, and having Father and Mother born in Wales, shall purchase Lands and Tenements within the [Town] of Chester, Salop, Bridgenorth, Ludlow, Leominster, Hereford, Gloucester, Worcester, nor other Merchant Towns joining to the Marches of Wales, nor in the Suburbs of the same, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the same Lands and Tenements, to the Lords of whom such Lands or Tenements be holden in chief. And also that no such Welshman be from henceforth chosen or received to be Citizen or Burgess in any City, Borough or Merchant Town; and that such Welshmen which now be in any such City, Borough or franchised Town, being Citizens or Burgesses, shall find sufficient Surety, and put a good Caution of their good bearing, as well towards our Sovereign Lord the King and his Heirs [of] his Realm of England, as for to hold their Loyalty to the Governors of such Cities, Boroughs or Towns for the Time being, in Salvation of the same Cities, Boroughs, or Towns, if the same Welshmen will dwell therein: So that none of them from henceforth be received nor accepted to no Office of Mayor, Bailiff, Chamberlain, Constable, or Warden of the Ports (*) of the Gaol, nor to the Common Council of such Cities, Boroughs or Towns, nor that he be in no wise made other Occupier or Officer in the same; nor that none of the said Welshmen from henceforth bear any manner Armour within such City, Borough, or Merchant Town, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the same Armour, and Imprisonment till they have made Fine in this Behalf.

ITEM, Whereas the said Richard late King of England, at his Parliament holden at Westminster, and adjourned towards Salop, the xxj. Year of his Reign, by a Statute did pardon and release to all his liege
People of England, of whatsoever Estate or Condition they were, and to every of them all manner Escapes of Felons, Chattels of Fugitives and of Felons, Trespassers, Negligences, Misprisions, Ignorances, and all other Articles of the Eyre, and all other Things fallen or chanced within the Realm of England, the Punishment whereof should lie in Fine or in Ransom, or in other pecuniar Pains, or otherwise, Imprisonment, or Amerciaments of the Commons of Towns or of singular Persons, or in Charge of their Freehold that never offended as Heirs or Landtenants of Escheators, Sheriffs, or Coroners, or other such Officers; And also [hath pardoned and released'] to them all Manner of Gifts, Alienations or Purchases made by them, or by any of them, of Lands, Tenements, or other Possessions holden of him in Chief without the King's Licence, and all manner of Entries made into their Inheritances, Purchases, or otherwise in Part or in all, after the Death of their Ancestors, or of any other, without Suit or due Process thereof made, till the Thursday the last Day of the said Parliament, except those Lands, Tenements, and Possessions, which be aliened into Mortmain without the Licence Royal; And also [hath wholly pardoned and released'] to them all manner of Fines, Amercia-ments, Issues Forfeits not adjudged nor determined, made fallen or chanced within the same Realm before the said Thursday: Our said Sovereign Lord the King, by the Advice and Assent of all the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the special Request and Prayer of the said Commons, will and granteth, That all his liege People, and every of them, may have, use, and enjoy the Privilege and Benefit of the said Pardon and Statute, notwithstanding that the said Parliament, made the said xxj. Year, and all the Statutes made in the same, and all the Circumstances and Dependences of the same Parliament be utterly adnulled, revoked, and repealed in the Parliament of our Sovereign Lord the King that now is, holden at Westminster the First Year of his Reign.

ITEM, It is ordained and stablished, That the Statutes of Purveyors, made before this Time, be holden and kept, and put in due Execution; joined to the same, that from henceforth no Purveyor nor Buyer make any Purveyance or buying for the King's House of any Thing to the Value of xl. s. or under, unless he make ready Payment in Hand, upon Pain to lose his Office, and to pay as much to the Party grieved.

ITEM, Whereas it is shewed to our Sovereign Lord the King on the Behalf of the Prelates and Clergy of his Realm of England in this present Parliament, That although the Catholic Faith builded upon Christ, and by his Apostles and the Holy Church sufficiently determined, declared, and approved, hath been hitherto by good and holy and most Noble Progenitors (<sup>1</sup>) of our Sovereign Lord the King in the said Realm amongst all the Realms of the World, most devoutly observed, and the Church of England by his said most Noble Progenitors and Ancestors, to the Honour of God and of the whole Realm aforesaid, laudably endowed, and in her Rights and Liberties sustained, without that that the same Faith or the said Church was hurt or grievously oppressed, or else perturbed by any perverse

Statuta de Anno quarto.

STATUTES OF THE FOURTH YEAR.

Rotuli.

TO the Honour of God and Holy Church, and for the common Wealth and Profit of all the Realm of England, Our Lord the King, by the Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the Special Instance and Request of the Commons, assembled at the Parliament holden at Westminster the Morrow after the Feast of St. Michael, the Fourth Year of his Reign, hath ordained and established certain Statutes and Ordinances by the Manner as followeth.

I.
Confirmation
of Liberties, Charters,
and Statutes.

FIRST, That Holy Church have all her Liberties and Franchises; and that the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and all the Cities, Boroughs, and Towns franchised, have and enjoy all their Liberties and Franchises, which they have had of the Grant of the Progenitors of our said Lord the King, Kings of England, and of the Confirmation of the same our Lord the King; and that the Great Charter, and the Charter of the Forest, and all the good Ordinances and Statutes made in the Time of our said Lord the King, and in the Time of his Progenitors, not repealed, be firmly holden and kept.

II.
The Statutes
of Edw. III.
for the Clergy,
confirmed.

ITEM, Our said Lord the King having in Remembrance the faithful Hearts and the inward Affection that the Clergy of England hath borne to him, and also the great Charges which the same Clergy hath had and sustained for his Honour and Profit after the Time of his Coronation, and therefore willing to be a gracious Lord to them in their Affairs, by the Assent of the said Lords at the special Suit and Request of the said Commons, will and granteth, That the Statutes made the Five-and-twentieth Year of King Edward, Grandfather to our Lord the King that now is, touching the Clergy of England be entirely holden and kept and put in due Execution. And Moreover the same our Lord the King, considering that the Words and Terms, that is to say, ["Insidiatores viarum, & depopulatores agrorum,"'] comprised in the Petition delivered to him in this Parliament by the Clergy of England, have not been commonly used in Indictments, Arraignments, [Appeals,] nor in other Impeachments in the Time of his said Grandfather, nor in the Time of his other Progenitors; and willing therefore to avoid such Novelties, for the great Quiet and Surety of his People, by the Assent of the Lords and Commons of the same Parliament, will and granteth, and hath ordained and established, That the said Words and Terms shall not be from henceforth used, nor put in Indictments, Arraignments, Appeals, or any other Impeachments; nor that by force of any such Word or Term, any Clerk religious or secular, nor any other of the King's liege People, shall be from henceforth

The Words
Insidiatores
viarum & de- populatores agrorum,
shall not be put in Indictments or Appeals.

Item de mesme lassent voet & g'nte n're dit le Roy & ad ordeigne & estable, q' tous les estatutz ordonnances & g'ntes, p' ses nobles pgenito's ou p'decesso's Roys Dengleterre faitz ou g'ntes al Clergie Dengleterre, p' la conservacion de leurs libtees & privileges & p' la conservacion de les libtees & immunitees de Sainte Eglise, nient revokez, soient fermement tenus observez & gardez & mys en execution selonc leur forme & effect: Et sur ceo le Ercevesq. de Cant'brs p' luy mesmes & p' toutz au's Evesques de sa g'vince ad g'mys a n're dit le Roy, q' si desore enav'nt aucun clerk secular ou religieux q' soit convict de treson q' ne touche le Roy mesmes ne sa roiale mageste, ou q' soit cōe laron & p' tiel notoirement tenus & reputes, & p' celle cause come clerc convict v'ra desore enav'nt delivrez a aucun Ordinaire, q' icel Ordinaire luy gardera sauvement & seurement & selonc leffect d'une constitution p'vinciale affaire p' les suieditz Ercevesq. & au's Evesques, sur la contenue forme & effect de les tres de Simon jadis Ercevesq. de Cant'brs portantz la date de xij. kl de Marco lan de grace Mil' trois Centz cynq'nte & pr'm, enordinantz & metantz en ycelle constitution cētaines peines p' eux alimint' selonc leur discrecion: et q' nul tiel clerc convict de tiel treson ou q' soit cōe laron come dessus, ap's q'il v'ra l'ives al Ordinaire unques ne ferra p'gacion contre le p'port de la suiedite constitution; la quelle constitution v'ra demonstre a n're dit le Roy dev'nt son pechein plement, au fyn q' il semble a sa haute discrecion q' la suiedite constitution ne v'ra remede covenable en ce cas, q' lors il poet estre trettez & purvez dautre remede p' manie come apptient.

Item come dev'nt ses heures pleuseurs douns & g'ntes aient este faitz as d'v's peones, s'm des revenues du droit de la corone Dengleterre come des gardes mariages l'ras & testis & au's d'v's cōmoditees, sanz bone delibacion ent eue, si come les ditz cōes ont monstres a n're dit le Roy en plement; mesme n're le Roy ent veillant p'voir de remede ad declarrez q' son entent est de soy abstenir de faire aucuns tiels douns ou g'ntes, sinon a ceux peones qe le deservont & come mieultz y semblera au Roy & son conseil. Et depuis q'il est le desire de tous les Estats du roialme q' riens soit ensy demande de mesme n're le Roy, il voet q' toutz ceux q' facent aucuns tiels demandes de luy a cont're de cest estatut soient puniz p' advis de luy & de son conseil, et q' celui q'ens'i face tiele demande j'ama' nait la chose ens'i demandee.

arraigned, appealed, impeached, or grieved before any secular Judge; but our Lord the King doth will, That the Justices may take and receive before them Indictments, Arraignments, and Appeals of Felonies, containing in them the Effect of the said Words and Terms, if any Person of such Felonies shall hereafter be indicted, arraigned, or appealed: And if percase [it chance] in Time to come any Clerks, religious or secular, shall be indicted, arraigned, or appealed, and their Indictments, Arraignments, or Appeals do comprehend the Effect of the said Words, Insidiatores viarum, and depopulatores agrorum, or other Words purporting the like Effect; yet nevertheless such Clerks shall have and enjoy the Privilege of Holy Church, and shall be delivered to the Ordinaries them demanding, or their Deputies, without any Impeachment, or any Delay.

ITEM, By the same Assent our Lord the King doth will and grant, and hath ordained and established, That all the Statutes, Ordinances, and Grants, made or granted by his Noble Progenitors or Predecessors Kings of England, to the Clergy of England, for the Conservation of their Liberties and Privileges, and for the Conservation of the Liberties and Immunities of Holy Church, not revoked, be firmly holden observed and kept, and put in due Execution according to their Form and Effect: And thereupon the Archbishop of Canterbury for himself, and for all other Bishops of his Province, hath promised to our said Lord the King, That if from henceforth any Clerk secular or religious, that is convict of Treason that toucheth not the King himself, nor his Royal Majesty, or that he be a common Thief, and for such notoriously holden and reputed, and for the same Cause as Clerk convict shall be from henceforth delivered to any Ordinary, that the same Ordinary shall keep him safely and surely, and according to the Effect of a Constitution Provincial to be made by the said Archbishop and other Bishops, according to the Content, Form, and Effect of the Letters of Simon late Archbishop of Canterbury, bearing Date the Twelfth Kalends of March, the Year of Grace, One thousand three hundred and fifty-one, ordaining and inserting in the same Constitution certain Pains by them to be limited by their Discretion: And that no such Clerk convict of such Treason, or that he be a Common Thief, as afore is said, after he be delivered (¹) shall make any Purgation contrary to the Purport of the said Constitution; which Constitution shall be shewed to our said Lord the King before [this] next Parliament, to the Intent that if it seemeth to his high Discretion, that the said Constitution shall not be a convenient Remedy in this Case, that then it may be treated and provided of other Remedy in such Sort as appertaineth.

ITEM, Whereas before this Time many Gifts and Grants have been made to divers Persons, as well of the Revenues of the Right of the Crown of England, as of Wards, Marriages, Lands and Tenements, and other divers Commodities, without good Deliberation thereof had, as the said Commons have shewed to our Sovereign Lord the King, in the Parliament; the same our Sovereign Lord the King, willing thereof to provide Remedy, hath declared, That his Intent is to refrain to make any such Gifts or Grants, saving only to such Persons which the same deserve, and as best shall seem to the King and his Council. And sith it is the Desire of all the Estates of the Realm, that nothing should be so demanded of the same our Sovereign Lord the King, he will, that all those that make any such Demands of him, contrary to this Statute, shall be punished by the Advice of him, and of his Council, and that he that maketh such Demand, shall never have the Thing so demanded.

VIII.
Mischiefs
accruing from forcible
Entries;

ITEM, It is ordained and assented, That every Sheriff of England shall abide in proper Person within his Bailiwick, for the Time that he shall be such Officer; and that he shall not let the said Bailiwick to farm to any Man, for the Time that he occupieth such Office; and that the said Sheriff be sworn from time to time to do the same in special, amongst other Articles comprised in the Oath of the Sheriff.

ITEM, Whereas before this Time, to avoid the Deceit which hath been used in Cloths sold in London, under the Name and Colour of Cloths made in London and the Suburbs of the same, there was ordained a Seal of Lead for to seal such Cloths made in the said City and Suburbs; till now of late, that for the singular Profit of certain Persons, the Seal of Lead hath been excluded, to the great Damage of the People, and great Slander to the City and Suburbs: Our said Sovereign Lord the King, by the [Advice and'] Assent aforesaid, to [obvent'] such Subtlety and Deceit hath ordained and established, That one sufficient Man shall be assigned by the same our Sovereign Lord the King to seal the said Cloths, which shall be wrought, woven, and fulled, in the said City, and the Suburbs of the same, with a Seal of Lead, as in old Times was used in the same City and Suburbs; and that no such Cloth so wrought, woven, and fulled within the same City and Suburbs, be in any wise sold or bargained, nor set to Sale, unless it be sealed with a Seal of Lead, as before is said. And the same our Sovereign Lord the King shall have the Forfeiture of the Cloths sold contrary to this Statute, if any be.

ITEM, Whereas in the Statute made the First Year of King Richard the Second, it was ordained, That where several Persons did disseise other of their Freehold, and made Feoffment to divers People, as well to have Maintenance, as also to make the Disseisees to be ignorant against whom they ought to take their Writ, that the Disseisees in such Case might take their Writ against them which thereof shall take the Profits so that the Disseisees commence their Suit within the Year next after the Disseisin; and (*) the same Ordinance should hold Place in every other Action or Plea where such Feoffments be made by Fraud or Collusion, to have their Recovery against such Feoffors, if they thereof take the Profits: Our said Lord the King thinking the said Statute to be very mischievous and prejudicial to his People, because of the Shortness of the Time, by the Assent of the said Lords, and at the Request of the Commons aforesaid, hath ordained and established, That such Disseisees shall have their Action against the first Disseisor, during the Life of the same Disseisor, so that such Disseisor thereof take the Profits at the Time of the Suit commenced. And as to other Writs in Plea of Land, the Demandant shall commence his Suit within the Year against him which is Tenant of the Freehold at the Time of the Action accrued to him, so that such Tenant thereof take the Profits at the Time of such Suit commenced; notwithstanding the said Statute.

ITEM, Because daily the great Persons of the Realm, do make forcible Entries into other Men's Lands, and put out the Possessors of the same, claiming sometime in their own Right, where their Entry is not lawful, and sometime in another's Right, where they have nothing in Reversion, in Right, nor in Demean, nor is there any Affinity or Cousinage betwixt them and those in whose Right they have entered, and also take their Goods and Chattels in Manner of Robbery; so that oftentimes they be in such Manner put out, and of their Goods and Chattels spoiled, that they have nothing [to pursue for] their Right, and so by such forcible Entries and Maintenance, the Land-Tenants and Possessors be utterly disherited and undone: Our Lord the King, willing to do equal Right to all his liege People, as well the small as the great, and that his Laws be duly executed, at the grievous Complaint of the said Commons, and by the Advice and Assent of all the Lords aforesaid, for to punish and chastise such Riots and forcible Entries so made, and hereafter to be made, against the Laws of the Land, hath ordained and established, That if any Man, great or small, of what Estate or Condition that he be, make any such forcible Entry in his own Right, or to his own Use, or in another's Right (¹) to another's Use by way of Maintenance, or take or carry away any Goods after such forcible Entry from the Possessor of the Freehold, that if the Party grieved, or other lawful Man, will make Affiance in his Name, that the Entry was made in such forcible Manner, that the Chancellor of England for the Time being shall have Power, by his Discretion, to grant a special Assise in this Case to the Party grieved, of whatsoever Value the Tenements be, without suing to the King. And if such Disseisor be attainted of such Disseisin made in such forcible Manner, he shall have One Year's Imprisonment, and yield to the Party grieved, his double Damages: And if he be convict by the same Assise, that he hath taken or carried away any Goods or Chattels of such Disseisees, the Justices of Assise shall have Power to hear and determine, as well for our Lord the King, as for the Party, of the Goods and Chattels so carried away, and to award to the Party grieved his Damages: And that in every such special Assise be named one of the Justices of the one Bench or of the other, or the Chief Baron of the Exchequer, if he be a Man of the Law. And that hereafter no Writ of Supersedeas be granted to the contrary of such special [Assises.²]

ITEM, Because that many Commissions be made in the Chancery, directed to divers Persons of the Realm, sometime to inquire and certify, sometime to inquire, hear, and determine, and sometime to seize Lands and Tenements, Goods and Chattels, which Commissions never came to the Hands of the said Commissioners, whereupon Writs issued out of the Exchequer of our Lord the King to distrain such Commissioners, their Executors, Heirs, and Land-Tenants, sometime to yield the Estreats of the Fines Issues and Amerciaments, which pertain to our Lord the King because of the said Commissions, sometime to certify that which is found before them by Inquest, and sometime to account of certain Things contained in the said Commissions, to the great Damage and Disquietness of many of the King's liege People: The same our Lord the King, for the Ease and Quietness of his People, willing in this Case to provide Remedy, by the Assent aforesaid doth will, and hath ordained and established, That the Chancellor of England for the Time being shall use his Power, as he hath done before this Time in this Case: And in other Cases, the same Chancellor shall have Power by Authority of Parliament, calling to him such Justices as shall please him, or the Chief Baron of the Exchequer, if need be, to provide Remedy from Time to Time by their Discretion.

ITEM, Whereas in divers Ordinances and Statutes made before this Time, it was ordained and established, That no Man, of what Estate or Condition he be, shall bring (¹) no Money, nor do to be brought (¹) Gold nor Silver in Money, Plate, nor (¹) Vessel, out of the Realm of England, without special Licence of our Sovereign Lord the King; And because the same Statutes and Ordinances be very profitable and available for him, and for all his Realm, if they were put in due Execution; the same our Sovereign Lord the King, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords aforesaid, and at the especial Prayer of the said Commons, hath ordained and established, That the said Ordinances and Statutes be holden and kept, and put in due Execution. And if any Person of what Estate or Condition that he be, bring or send, or do to be brought or sent, Gold or Silver in Money, Vessel, or Plate, out of the said Realm, without the King's especial Licence, except for his reasonable Expences as aforesaid, [And (¹)] he that can espy the same, upon a full and lawful Certification thereof to be made to the Barons of the Exchequer of our Sovereign Lord the King, shall have the Third Part of such Thing so espied for his Travail; to endure to the next Parliament.

ITEM, It is ordained and established, That the Searchers in every Port of England shall be charged and sworn, That they shall not let to ferm their Offices of searching, nor occupy the same by a Deputy; and that from henceforth they take of no Masters of Ships for their Office of searching, any Silver or Money for their Welcome and Farewel, nor any other Thing for the same, as it hath been taken and received before this Time, otherwise than shall be ordained to them for their Office by our Lord the King: And that no Searcher be Host to any Merchant or Mariner. And in case that any Searcher do contrary to this Statute, and that duly proved, the same Searcher shall be put out of his Office for ever, and make Fine and Ransom at the King's Will.

ITEM, Where as well in Plea [real²] as in Plea personal, after Judgment given in the Courts of our Lord the King, the Parties be made to come upon grievous Pain, sometime before the King himself, sometime before the King's Council, and sometimes to the Parliament, to answer [there³] of new, to the great impoverishing of the Parties aforesaid, and in the Subversion of the common Law of the Land; It is ordained and established, That after Judgment given in the Courts of our Lord the King, the Parties and their Heirs shall be thereof in Peace, until the Judgment be undone by Attaint or by Error, if there be Error, as hath been used by the [Laws⁴] in the Times of the King's Progenitors.

ITEM, Whereas in the Statute made the Thirteenth Year of King Richard the Second, amongst other Things it was ordained, That no Shoemaker nor Cordwainer, should use the Mystery of Tanner, and that he which did contrary, should forfeit all the Leather so tanned, and all the Boots so wrought, and moreover to be ransomed at the King's Will: And because that our (¹) Sovereign Lord the King hath perceived, that there is great Damage and Deceit diversly by Colour of the said Statute, as by the Petition of the Commons delivered to him in the same Parliament it may appear; the same our Sovereign Lord the King, by the Advice and Assent of the said Lords, and at the Prayer of the same Commons, will and hath ordained, That

II.
The Mischief of Pardons granted to Approvers.

Procureurs of such Pardons shall be named therein.

Penalty on them if the Approver
again commit Felony.

III.
Watch shall be made upon the Coasts, as under Statute of Winton, 13 Edw. I.

Justices of Peace shall enquire hereof.

Felony
to multiply gold or silver.

V.
Felony to cut the Tongue, or pull out
the Eyes of Persons.

VI.
Penalty for assaulting a Servant of a Knight of Parliament.

Double Damages;
and Fine
to the King.

ITEM, Because that divers common and notorious Felons be indicted of divers Felonies, Murders, and Rapes in divers Countries, and upon the same, as well before the King's Justices, as before the King himself, (*) arraigned of the same Felonies, and for Safeguard of their Lives they become Provers, to such Intent, that in the mean Time by Brokage, [Grants, and Gifts to be made *] to divers Persons, to pursue and have their Charters, and then after their Deliverance, they become more notorious Felons than they were before; It is ordained and established, That if any Person, of what Estate or Condition that he be, Man or Woman, pray or pursue, or cause to be prayed or pursued from henceforth, for any such Felon so attainted by his own Confession, to have any Charter of Pardon, that the Name of him or her that pursueth such Charter, be put in the same Charter, making Mention that the same Charter is granted at his or her Instance; and if he to whom such Charter is granted, after his Deliverance cometh a Felon again, that the same Person which did so pursue for his Charter, shall incur the Pain of an C.L. to be levied to the King's Use.

ITEM, It is ordained and established, That the Watch to be made upon the Sea Coast through the Realm shall be made by the Number of the People, in the Places, and in Manner and Form, as they were wont to be made in Times past, and that in the same Case the Statute of Winchester be observed and kept; and that in the Commissions of the Peace hereafter to be made this Article be put in; (*) that Justices of Peace have Power thereof to make Inquiry in their Sessions from Time to Time, and to punish them which be found in Default after the Tenor of the said Statute.

ITEM, It is ordained and established, That none from henceforth shall use to multiply Gold or Silver, nor use the Craft of Multiplication: And if any the same do, and be thereof attaint, that he incur the Pain of Felony in this Case.

ITEM, Because that many Offenders do daily beat, wound, imprison, and maim divers of the King's liege People, and after purposely cut their Tongues, or put out their Eyes; It is ordained and established, That in such Case the Offenders that so cut (*) Tongues, or put out the Eyes of any the King's liege People, and that duly proved and found that such Deed was done of Malice prepensed, they shall incur the Pain of Felony.

ITEM, Because that Richard Chedder, Esquire, which was come to this Parliament with Thomas Broke, Knight, one of the Knights chosen to the same Parliament for the County of Somerset, and [menial Servant<sup>1</sup>] with the said Thomas, was horribly beaten, wounded, blemished, and maimed by one John Salage, otherwise called John Savage; It is ordained and established, That seeing the same horrible Deed was done within the Time of the said Parliament, that Proclamation be made where the same horrible Deed was done, that the said John appear and yield him in the King's Bench within a Quarter of a Year after the Proclamation made: and if he do not, the same John shall be attainted of the said Deed, and pay to the Party grieved his double Damages, to be taxed by the Discretion of the Judges of the said Bench for the Time being, or by Inquest, if Need be, and also he shall make Fine and Ransom at the King's Will. Moreover it is accorded in the same Parliament, that likewise it be done in Time to come in like Case.

STATUTE OF THE SEVENTH YEAR.

OUR Lord the King, at his Parliament holden at Westminster the First Day of March, the Seventh Year of his Reign, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the Request of the Commons in the same Parliament, hath ordained and established divers Ordinances and Statutes in the Form as followeth.

I.
Liberties, Charters, and
confirmed.

FIRST, That Holy Church have all her Liberties and Franchises; and that all the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and all the Cities, Boroughs, and Towns franchised, have and enjoy all their Liberties and Franchises, which they have of the Grant of the King's Progenitors, and of the Confirmation and Grant of our Lord the King that now is. And that the Great Charter, and the Charter of the Forest, and all the Ordinances and Statutes made in the Time of our Lord the King, and in the Time of his Progenitors, not repealed, be firmly holden and kept, and duly executed in all Points: And that the Peace within the Realm be holden and kept, so that all the King's liege People and Subjects may from henceforth safely and peaceably go, come, and abide, according to the Laws and Usages of the same Realm: And that good Justice and [even'] Right be done to every Person; saving to the same our Lord the King his Regalty and Prerogative.

Peace shall be kept, and

other Prisons in divers Cities, Boroughs, and Towns within the Realm, the Wardens of the Gaols and Prisons aforesaid, of their own Authority, do let the said Debtors to go at large at their Will; And Whereas by a Statute it was ordained, That if any Gaoler do let such Prisoner to go by Mainprise, or in Bail, that then the Person to whom the Prisoner is condemned, shall have his Action and Recovery against the said Gaoler; the same Wardens do purchase to them the King's Protection, whereby the said Creditors by the same Protection be delayed and deferred from their [Duty] and rightful Recovery, as well against the said Wardens of the said Gaols, as against the said Prisoners, to the great Damage and Prejudice of the common People, and Derogation of the Common Law: It is ordained and established, That no Protection be available, nor by any Means allowed in such Case.

ITEM, It is ordained and established, That none of the Castles, Manors, Lands, Tenements, Fees, Advowsons, nor no Parcel of the same, whereof Henry Percie, late Earl of Northumberland, and Thomas late Lord of Bardolf, were seized or any of them was seized jointly with other, or only by themselves, or [of any] of them only by himself, of the Feoffment of other to another's Use, or for the great Trust that their Feoffours had to them to do or perform their Wills, and whereof they were not infeoffed to be inherit to their own Use, but to perform the Wills of their Feoffours, or the Wills of the Feoffours of their Feoffours, [howsoever] such Feoffments be made by Fine or otherwise, without shewing any Deed proving the Condition, shall be in any wise seized into the Hands of our (¹) Sovereign Lord the King nor forfeit to him: And if any Gifts or Grants be made by our said Sovereign Lord the King, of the said Castles, Manors, Lands, Tenements, Fees, and Advowsons, or of any Parcel thereof, to farm or otherwise, such Gifts or Grants shall be wholly void and of none Effect for ever. Provided always, That our (¹) Sovereign Lord the King have the Forfeiture of the Castles, Manors, Lands, Tenements, Fees, and Advowsons, of which the said late Earl of Northumberland, or [of the] said Lord of Bardolf, or any of them, were or was by themselves or severally inheritable by Descent, or by rightful Purchase, or of which any other were infeoffed jointly with them or other only to their Use, by Fine or in any other Manner.

ITEM, It is ordained and established, That no Person religious nor secular, of what Estate or Condition that he be, by Colour of any Bulls containing such Privilege to be discharged of Dismes pertaining to Parish Churches, Prebends, Hospitals, or Vicarages, purchased before the First Year of King Richard the Second after the Conquest or sithence, not executed, shall put in Execution any such Bulls so purchased, or any such Bulls to be purchased in Time to come. And (¹) if any such religious or secular Person, of what Estate or Condition he be, from henceforth by Colour of such Bulls do trouble any Person of Holy Church, Prebendaries, Wardens of Hospitals, or Vicars, so that they cannot take or enjoy the Dismes due or pertaining to them of their said Benefices, that then such Disturber shall incur like Process and Pain as is ordained by the Statute made against them of the Order of Cisterciens, in the Second Year of the Reign of our said Lord the King that now is.

Length and Breadth of Cloths;

ITEM, Whereas in divers Parliaments of King Edward the Third, Grandfather of our Sovereign Lord the King that now is, it was ordained, That the Cloth of Ray should be in Length xxviij. Yards, and in Breadth vj. Quarters, and the whole coloured Cloth in Length xxvj. Yards measured by the [Creast,'] and in Breadth vj. Quarters and a Half, to the Intent that the One whole Cloth and the other watered and rowed should be in Length xxiiij. Yards; and now the Makers of the said Cloths do make them subtilly, so that the Cloth unneth containeth xxj. or xxij. Yards, and of less Breadth by much than it should be, in Deceit and great Damage of the common People of the Realm: It is ordained and established, That the whole coloured Cloth shall contain in Length xxviij. Yards, and the Cloth of Ray as much measured without [defoiling,'] the Cloths, and in Breadth as before is ordained by the Statute. And if the Clothmakers from henceforth make their Cloths of less Length or Breadth, that then the same Makers shall forfeit the Cloths, which by the Aulneger shall be found of less Length or Breadth; and that the Aulneger take the same, and deliver them to the Wardrobe, to the Use of our Sovereign Lord the King.

enfeoffed to be enherited, but to perform the Will of their Feoffours, nor no Part of the same Manors, Lands, or Tenements, [howsoever] such Feoffments be made by Fine or otherwise, without shewing a Deed proving the Condition, shall be in any wise forfeit to our said Sovereign Lord the King: And if any Gifts or Grants be made by our said Sovereign Lord the King of the said Manors, Lands, or Tenements, or of any Parcel thereof, to ferm or otherwise, such Gifts or Grants shall be utterly void for ever, and of none Effect. Provided always, That our (¹) Sovereign Lord the King have the Forfeiture of the Manors, Lands, and Tenements, whereof the said late Earl of Salisbury, or the said Sir Thomas, and the other aforesaid, or any of them, were or was by themselves or severally inheritable by Descent or by rightful Purchase, or whereof other were enfeoffed jointly with them or other only to their Use by Fine or in other Manner.

ITEM, Whereas many of the King's liege People be outlawed, and many waved, by erroneous Process in Law, and be so impotent in their Bodies, by diverse Maladies and Infirmities, that they cannot come in their proper Persons before the King in his Bench, there to make their Suit to reverse such erroneous Process; It is ordained and established, That every Justice of the one Bench and of the other, and also the Chief Baron of the Exchequer shall have Power to examine the same Persons, having such Malady and Diseases openly known, and thereupon may the same Justices and Baron, and every of them, by their Discretion, record their Attorney in this Case. Provided always, That in the Writ of Capias ad satisfaciendum, the common Law shall hold Place.

ITEM, Whereas it is ordained by the Statute made the First Year of the Reign of our Sovereign Lord the King that now is, That no Archbishop, Bishop, Abbot, nor Prior, nor none other Man of Holy Church, nor Temporal Person, of what Estate or Condition that he be, within the Realm of England, give no Liveries of Cloth to any, but only to [his¹] Menials and Officers, and to those that be of their Council, as well Spiritual as Temporal, learned of the one Law or the other, upon Pain to make Fine and Ransom at the King's Will: It is ordained and established, That as well that Statute, as the Statute of Livery of Hats, made in the Time of King Richard the Second, be holden and firmly kept, and put in due Execution; joined to the same, that if any Knight, or any other Person of less Estate, do give any such Livery of Cloth, or of Hats, against the Form of the said Statutes, that he shall incur the Pain of a C. s. for every such Livery of Cloth or of Hats, to be paid to the King as often as he shall do contrary to this Statute or Ordinance: And that he, which receiveth any such Livery of Cloth or of Hats, shall likewise incur the Pain of xl s. to be paid to the King as afore is said; and he that will sue in this Case, shall have the One-half of such [Pains²] for his Labour; and that the same [Pains³] be in no wise pardoned. Moreover it is ordained, That no Congregation nor Company be made of such Livery of Cloth nor of Hats at the proper Costs of the Congregation or Company, upon Pain of every Man of the same Congregation or Company, that doth contrary to this Ordinance or Statute, to pay

ITEM, It is ordained and stablished, That the good Statutes made in the Time of King Edward, Grandfather of our Sovereign Lord the King that now is, the xxv. Year of his Reign, and the Statutes made at [Canterbury'] in the Time of King Richard late King of England, the xii. Year of his Reign, touching Labourers, Artificers, and other Servants of Husbandry, shall be holden and kept in all points, and put in due Execution. And Whereas in the Statutes made at [Canterbury,'] among other Articles it is contained, That he or she that useth to labour at the Plough or Cart, or other Labour or Service of Husbandry, till he be of the Age of Twelve Years, that from the same Time forth he shall abide at the same Labour, without being put to any Mystery or Handicraft; and if any Covenant or Bond be made from that Time forth to the contrary, it shall be holden for none: Notwithstanding which Article, and the good Statutes afore made through all Parts of the Realm, the [Infants'] born within the Towns and Seignories of Upland, whose Fathers and Mothers have no Land nor Rent, nor other Living, but only their Service or Mystery, be put by their said Fathers and Mothers and other their Friends to serve and bound Apprentices to divers Crafts within the Cities and Boroughs of the said Realm, sometime at the Age of Twelve Years, sometime within the said Age, and that for the Pride of Clothing and other evil Customs that Servants do use in the same; so that there is so great Scarcity of Labourers and other Servants of Husbandry that the Gentlemen and other People of the Realm be greatly impoverished for the Cause aforesaid: Our Sovereign Lord the King considering the said Mischief, and willing thereupon to provide Remedy, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the Request of the said Commons, hath ordained and stablished, That no Man nor Woman, of what Estate or Condition they be, shall put their Son or Daughter, of whatsoever Age he or she be, to serve as Apprentice, to no Craft nor other Labour within any City or Borough in the Realm, except he have Land or Rent to the Value of Twenty Shillings by the Year at

THE KING to the Sheriff of Kent, Greeting. Certain Statutes and Ordinances made in our last Parliament, We send to you, in Form Patent, under the Tenor which followeth.

BECAUSE that divers Complaints have been made to our Lord the King by the Commons of [this'] Realm, in the Parliament holden at Gloucester, the Twentieth Day of October, in the Ninth Year of the Reign of our said Lord King [Henry the Fourth after the Conquest]; the same our Lord the King, willing to remedy the said Complaints, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the Instance and Request of the said Commons, hath caused to be ordained and established divers Statutes and Ordinances, in Form as followeth.

FIRST, That Holy Church have all her Liberties and Franchises; and that all the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and other the King's liege People, having Liberties and Franchises, and all Cities and Boroughs of the Realm, have and enjoy their Liberties and Franchises, which they have of the Grants of the Progenitors of our Lord the King, and of his own Grant or Confirmation; except the Franchise now late granted to the Scholars of the University of Oxenford; and that the Great Charter, and the Charter of the Forest, and all other good Statutes made before this Time, and not repealed, stand in their Force.

ITEM, It is ordained and established, That no Cloth called Kendall, whereof the Dozen passeth not Six Shillings and Eight-pence shall be (*) sealed with any of the King's Seals [nor Aulnage great nor little'] be paid for the same. And that the Owners of such Cloths may freely sell the same Cloths not sealed without forfeiting any Thing to the King for the same, notwithstanding any Statute or Ordinance made to the contrary.

ITEM, Touching Felonies and Robberies done within any Seignory of South Wales: It is ordained and established, That the People of the Country where such Felons be born, received, or dwelling, shall take the same Felons, and bring them to the Gaol of the same Country where they shall be taken; or else they shall be charged and make Satisfaction of the Felonies and Robberies aforesaid to the Parties, and that by the Ordinance and Award of the Lord of the same Seignory.

ITEM, It is ordained and established, That no Thief nor Felon in Wales, openly known, be suffered to disclaim out of the Seignory where the Felony was done, and that such Manner of disclaiming be utterly put out; and that as well the said Thieves openly known, as other unduly returned shall lose their Wages.

II.
No common Hostler shall be Customer, Comptroller,
&c.

III.
Justices of Assize shall deliver into the Treasury
the Records of Assize, &c.
every second Year.

FIRST, Whereas in the Parliament holden at Westminster, the Seventh Year of the Reign of our said Lord the King, there was ordained and established, by a Statute for the Preservation of the Liberties and Franchises of the Election of the Knights of the Shire used through the Realm, a certain Form and Manner of the Election of such Knights, as in the said Statute more fully is contained: And Forasmuch as in the same Statute no Penalty was ordained or limited in special upon the Sheriffs of the Counties, if they make any Returns to the contrary of the same Statute; It is ordained and established, That the Justices assigned to take Assises, shall have Power to inquire in their Sessions of Assises of such Returns made; and if it be found by Inquest, and due Examination before the same Justices, that any such Sheriff hath made, or hereafter make, any Return contrary to the Tenor of the said Statute, that then the same Sheriff shall incur the Penalty of One Hundred Pounds to be paid to our <sup>(2)</sup> Lord the King; and moreover, that the Knights of the Counties so unduly returned, shall lose their Wages of the Parliament, of old Time accustomed.

ITEM, It is ordained and established, That no Man which holdeth a common Hostry in any City or Borough of England, shall be a Customer, Comptroller, [Finder,] nor Searcher of [the<sup>(3)</sup>] said Lord the King; and that to eschew the Damage and Loss which thereof may happen, by the Favour that such common Hostlers may or will do to Merchants and other their Guests in their said Offices.

ITEM, It is ordained and established, That the Justices assigned, and to be assigned, to take Assises by Commission of our Lord the King in the Counties of the Realm, from henceforth shall cause to be delivered fully in the King's Treasury, all the Records of Assises of Novel disseisin, of Mortdancer, and of Certifications, with all the Appurtenances and Appendances before them determined, every second Year <sup>(4)</sup> that the Plea thereof be determined, and Judgement given without more Delay. ITEM, Whereas in the Statute made at [Cant.<sup>2</sup>] the xii Year of the Reign of King Richard, amongst other Things it was accorded and assented, That the Servants and Labourers of Husbandry, and Labourers and Servants of Artificers, and of Victuallers, should have Bows and Arrows, and use the same the Sundays and other festival Days, and utterly leave playing at the Balla, as well Hand-ball as Foot-ball, and other Games called Coits, Dice, [Bowling,<sup>3</sup>] and Kails, and other such unthrifty Games, and that the Sheriffs, Mayors, Bailiffs, and Constables, shall have Power to arrest all that do contrary; as in the said Statute is more fully contained: Our Sovereign Lord the King will, That the said Statute be firmly holden and kept; joined to the same, that every such Labourer or Servant that doth contrary to the same Statute, shall have Imprisonment by Six Days. And the Mayors and Sheriffs, or the Mayors and Bailiffs of Cities and Boroughs, and the Constables in other Towns, shall have Power to put this Statute in execution from Time to Time; and if they do not thereof Execution, the same Mayors and Sheriffs, or Mayors and Bailiffs aforesaid, shall pay to the King for every Default xx s; and the Constables or Constable of every Town that doth not like Execution of this Statute, shall pay (4) for every their or his Default vi s. [iii d: 5] And that the Justices of Assises shall have Power to enquire in this Case in their Sessions from Time to Time, of them that do contrary to this Statute, and thereof to certify in the Chancery.

ITEM, Because that Gally Half-pence do commonly run in the Realm for Payment, in Derogation of the King's Crown, and in great Deceit of the common People: It is ordained and established, That the said Gally Half-pence shall never be current in Payment nor in other Manner within the Realm of England, upon Pain of Forfeiture thereof. And moreover that the Gally Half-pence, in whose Hands soever they be found within the Realm, shall be forfeit to our Sovereign Lord the King, after the Two Months next ensuing the Proclamation of this Statute. And also the same our Lord the King will, that all the Statutes and Ordinances made before this Time by him, or by his noble Progenitors, not repealed, as well of (6) Money of Scotland, as of the Money of other Realms and Parts beyond the Sea, be holden and kept, and put in due Execution.

ITEM, Whereas by the Statute made the Seventh Year of the Reign of our said Lord the King that now is, it was ordained, That every [whole coloured<sup>7</sup>] Cloth made within the Realm should contain by Assise the Length of Eight and twenty Yards by the Crest, and every Dozen of Cloth [of the Length<sup>8</sup>] of Fourteen Yards by the Crest, and the Rays measured by the List should contain the same Length, that is to say, the whole Cloth Eight and twenty Yards, and the Dozen Fourteen Yards; And certain Aulnegers thereto assigned through the Realm, should take their Charge in the Exchequer, well

ITEM, Whereas our Sovereign Lord the King hath [had'] the Custom and Subsidy in the Form contained in the Grant of his Commons, and amongst other of every Cloth of Scarlet, and of other Cloth of whole Grain a certain Custom; Now so it is, that certain Merchants Aliens, dwelling in the City of London and other Towns, have taken and do hold great Houses, in which they be sole Inhabitants, and do buy sometimes as in a Year 1000 or 2000 Cloths of fine White, or more, and do dye the same of their own Grain in Scarlet, or in Sanguine, or in other Colours of whole Grain or half Grain, and afterward do the same Cloths to be cut to small Pieces of v. or vi. Yards, or more, or less, and thereof make divers Garments, and pack the same in their said Houses, and in the same Packs subtilly do pack fine Wool, Gold and Silver in Plate, or sometime they put such Wool, Gold, and Silver in Barrels and other Vessels, and [bring'] the same out of the Realm without paying any Custom or Subsidy for the same, under the Colour of such Garments so made, because that such Garments be not custumable; and so our said Sovereign Lord the King, by such Merchants Aliens, so dwelling alone in their Houses, is daily defrauded and greatly deceived of his Custom and Subsidy, to his great Damage and Prejudice in this Behalf: It is therefore ordained and established, That all Merchants Aliens from henceforth shall pay the Customs and Subsidies as well for such Garments after the Rate, that is to say, if iii. v. or vi. such Garments do contain One Cloth of whole Grain, that then they shall pay the Custom and Subsidy as for a whole Cloth of Scarlet, if less, less, or if more, more; as also of grained Cloths and all other Cloths of Wool: And moreover, it is accorded and assented in the said Parliament, that Commissions shall be made to certain Persons, to enquire if the said Aliens have any Thing done or attempted to the contrary of the said Statutes made before this Time in this Case, and thereof to certify in the King's Chancery.

ITEM, Whereas in the Statute made at Westminster, the xiiij Year of King Richard the Second, it was ordained and established, that for every Exchange, which from that Time forth should be made by Merchants to the Court of Rome, or elsewhere, that the said Merchants should be firmly and surely bound in the Chancery, to buy within Three Months next after the said Exchange made, Merchandises of the Staple, as Wool, Leather, Woolfels, Lead, Tin, Butter, Cheese, Cloth, or other Commodities of the Land, to the Value of the Sum so exchanged, upon Forfeiture of the same; It is ordained and established, That the said Statute be firmly holden and kept, and put in due Execution: Added thereto, that the Chancellor of England for the Time being, shall from Fifteen Days to Fifteen Days send the Estreats of the Writs of Exchanges into the Exchequer of our Sovereign Lord the King, and that the Treasurer and Barons of the said Exchequer have Power by Authority of Parliament to examine the [Customer'] in this Case, and to punish them that shall be found guilty against the Form of the said Statute, according to the [continue'] of the same.

OF THE STATUTES IN THE THIRTEENTH YEAR OF K. HENRY IV.

THE Tuesday being on the Morrow of All Souls, the Thirteenth Year of the Reign of our Lord [King Henry the Fourth,] the same our Lord the King, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the Request of the Commons being in the said Parliament holden at Westminster, hath caused to be ordained and stablished divers Statutes and Ordinances in Form as followeth.

Liberties
confirmed.

Exception,
Oxford.
Charters and Statutes
confirmed.

II.
The Statute
R. II. c. 2,
as to Justices
of Assize, &c.
confirmed;

FIRST, That Holy Church have all her Liberties and Franchises; (<sup>1</sup>) and all the Cities and Boroughs of the Realm have and enjoy all their Liberties and Franchises, which they have of the Grant of our Lord the King's Progenitors, or of his own Grant or Confirmation; except the Franchise now late granted to the Scholars of the University of Oxenford; and that the Great Charter, and the Charter of the Forest, and all other good Statutes made before this Time, and not repealed, stand in their Force.

ITEM, It is ordained and established, That the Statute made in the Eighth Year of King Richard the Second, wherein be contained these Words which follow; "Item, it is agreed and ordained, That no Man of the Law shall be from henceforth Justice of Assizes or of the common Deliverance of Gaols in his own Country; and that

And that this Statute hold place and be in force as long as shall please the King for Salvation of his Prerogative.

ITEM, Whereas in the Statute made the First Year of the Reign of our Sovereign Lord the King that now is, it was ordained, That no Archbishop, Bishop, Abbot, nor Prior, nor none other Man of Holy Church nor Temporal, of what Estate or Condition that he were, should give any Livery of Cloth to any Person, but only to his Menials and Officers, and to those which be of his Council, as well Spiritual as Temporal, learned in the one Law and the other, upon Pain to make Fine and Ransom at the King's Will; And after in the Statute made the vii. Year of the same our said Sovereign Lord the King, it was ordained and established, That as well the said Statute as the Statute of Livery of Hata, made in the Time of King Richard the Second, should be firmly holden and kept, and put in due Execution; joined to the same, That if any Knight, or any other Person of less Estate, do give any such Livery of Cloth or of Hata, against the Form of the said Statutes, that he shall incur the Pain of an Hundred Shillings for every such Livery of Cloth or of Hats, to be paid to the King as often as he doth the contrary to the same Statute or Ordinance; And that he that receiveth any such Livery of Cloth or of Hata, shall likewise incur the Pain of Forty Shillings, to be paid to our Sovereign Lord the King, as afore is said; And he that will sue shall have the One Half of such [Pains'] for his Labour and Travail, and that such [Pains'] be in no wise pardoned; And moreover that no Congregation nor Company [in any wise make'] any such Livery of Cloth or of Hats at their own Cost, upon Pain that every Man of the same Congregation or Company, that doth in any wise the contrary of the said Ordinances [and Statutes,'] shall pay to our Sovereign Lord the King xls. except only the Guilds and Fraternities, and also People of Crafts within Cities and Boroughs in the Realm of England, which be founded and ordained to a good Intent and Purpose; and the Justices of Assises shall have Power to enquire from Time to Time in their Sessions of the Matters afore-said, and the same to certify in the King's Bench; Provided always that in Time of War it shall be lawful to the Lords, Knights, and Esquires, [and all other Gentlemen,] which travail [for our said Sovereign Lord the King] in such War, to give their Livery of Clothing or of Hats, such and in such Guise as to them best shall seem for the Time in such War, without being any wise molested, grieved, or inquieted in this Behalf by force of the said [Ordinance or] Statute: Our Sovereign Lord (1) King [Henry the Fourth that now is,] considering the said Ordinances and Statutes very profitable for the Ease and Quietness of him and all his Realm, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the Special Request of the said Commons will and granteth, that the said Statutes be holden and kept, and put in due Execution after the Form and Effect of the same.

OUR Lord the King, at his Parliament holden at Westminster in [the Third Week of] Easter, the First Year of his Reign, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the special Instance and Request of the Commons of [this] Realm, hath ordained and established divers Statutes and Ordinances in the Form following.

FIRST, That the Statutes [of] the Election of the Knights of the Shires to come to the Parliament, be holden and kept in all Points; adjoining to the same, That the Knights of the Shires which from henceforth shall be chosen in every Shire, be not chosen unless they be resident within the [Shire] where they shall be chosen, the Day of the Date of the Writ of the Summons of the Parliament; and that the Knights and Esquires, and others which shall be Choosers of those Knights of the Shires, be also resident within the same Shires, in Manner and Form as is aforesaid. And moreover It is ordained and established, That the Citizens and Burgesses of the Cities and Boroughs be chosen Men, Citizens and Burgesses resident, dwelling and free in the same Cities and Boroughs, and no other in any wise.

ITEM, Because that great Complaint hath been made to our said Lord the King in [this present] Parliament, for that the Statutes made in the Time of his noble Progenitors [Kings of England,] of the [levying] and straiting of Weirs, Mills, Stanks, Stakes, and Kidels, be not kept according to the Form and Effect of the same Statutes, to the great Damage of the People (') of the Realm [of England]; our said Lord the King [that now is,] by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the Request of the said Commons, will and grant, That the said Statutes [and Ordinances] be surely holden and kept, and put in due Execution.

ITEM, Whereas many of the King's liege People which have Manors, Lands, or Tenements, by Purchase or by Descent of Inheritance or in any other Manner, intending to be in Peace and Rest in their said Tenures as they were wont to be, divers evil disposed Persons, some of their own Head, and some by false Conspiracy and Covin, subtilly imagine and forge of new divers false Deeds and Miniments, and them [do] openly to be

ITEM, Forasmuch as the King's liege People dare not pursue or complain of the Extorsions and of the Oppressions to them done by the Officers of Sheriffs, that is to say, by Under-Sheriffs, Clerks of Sheriffs, Receivers and Bailiffs of Sheriffs, because that the said Under-Sheriffs, Clerks, Receivers, and Bailiffs (2) be (3) continually from Year to Year abiding with the Sheriffs interchangeably [out of one Office into another'] ; Our Lord the King, by the Advice and Assent aforesaid, and at the Request of the said Commons, hath ordained and established, That they which be Bailiffs of Sheriffs by one Year, shall be in no such Office by (4) Three Years next following, except Bailiffs of Sheriffs which be inheritable in their Sheriffwicks : And that no Under-Sheriff, Sheriff's Clerk, Receiver, nor Sheriff's Bailiff, be Attorney in (5) the King's Courts during the Time that he is in Office with any such Sheriff.

ITEM, It is ordained and established, That in every original Writ of Actions Personals, (6) Appeals, and Indictments, [and (7)] in which the Exigent shall be awarded, [in (8)] the Names of the Defendants in such Writs Original, Appeals and Indictments, Additions shall be made of their Estate or Degree, or Mystery, and of the Towns or Hamlets, or Places and Counties, of the which they were, or be, or in which they be or were conversant : And if by Process upon the said Original Writs, Appeals, or Indictments, in the which the said Additions be omitted, any Utlagaries be pronounced, that they be void, frustrate, and holden for none ; and that before the Utlagaries pronounced, the said Writs and Indictments shall be abated by the Exception of the Party, [where (9)] in the same the said Additions be omitted : Provided always, That though the said Writs of [Additions (10)] Personals be not according to [the Records and Deeds, (11)] by the Surplusage of the Additions aforesaid, that for that Cause they be not abated ; and that the Clerks of the Chancery, under whose Names such Writs shall go forth written, shall not leave out or make Omission of the said Additions as is afore said, upon Pain to be punished, [and to make (12)] a Fine to the King, by the Discretion of the Chancellor. And this Ordinance shall begin to hold Place at the Suit of the Party, from the Feast of St. Michael next ensuing forward.

ITEM, Whereas in the Time of this Rebellion of Wales, many of the King's lawful liege People, as well Englishmen as Welshmen have been in divers Parts of Wales upon the Correction of Rebels there, by the Commandment of the same our Sovereign Lord the King and his Council, at the which Time some of the said Rebels, as well on Horseback as on Foot, found armed in making of War against their Faith and Ligeance were slain, and some maimed, beaten, Party grieved may sue.

Party guilty shall be fined.

IV. Bailiffs of Sheriffs shall not be in Office more than One Year.

Officers of Sheriffs shall not be Attornies.

V. In Original Writs, &c. Additions of Defendant's Degree, &c. shall be put.

Surplusage of Additions shall not prejudice.

VI. No Actions shall be brought by Welshmen in respect of Injuries sustained in the late Rebellion.

STATUTE THE FIRST.

O<sup>UR</sup> Lord the King, at his Parliament holden at Leicester the last Day of April the Second Year of his Reigu, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the special Instance and Request of the Commons of his Realm in the same Parliament [assembled,] hath ordained and established divers Ordinances, Declarations, and Statutes [made] in the Form as followeth.

FIRST, Forasmuch as many Hospitals within the Realm of England, founded as well by the noble Kings of this Realm, and Lords and Ladies both Spiritual and Temporal, as by [divers other Estates,] to the Honour of God and of his glorious Mother, in Aid and Merit of the Souls of the said Founders, to the which Hospitals the same Founders have given a great Part of their moveable Goods for the Buildings of the same, and a great Part of their Lands and Tenements, therewith to sustain [impotent] Men and Women, Lazars, Men [?] out of their Wits [?] and poor Women with Child, and to nourish, relieve, and refresh other poor People in the same, be now for the most Part decayed, and the Goods and Profits of the same, by divers Persons, as well Spiritual as Temporal, withdrawn and spent in other Use, whereby many Men and Women have died in great Misery for Default of Aid, Living and Succour, to the Displeasure of God, and Peril of the Souls of such Manner of Spenders; The King our Sovereign Lord, considering the meritorious and devout Intents of the Founders aforesaid, and the [?] [unaccustomed] Government [?] in the same, hath by the Advice and Assent aforesaid, ordained and established, That as to the Hospitals which be of the Patronage and Foundation of the King, the Ordinaries, by virtue of the King's Commissions to them [?] directed, shall inquire of the Manner [and] Foundation of the said Hospitals, and of the Governance and Estate of the same, and of all other Matters necessary and requisite in this Behalf, and the Inquisitions thereof taken shall certify in the King's Chancery. And as to other Hospitals which be of [another] Foundation and Patronage than of the King, the Ordinaries shall inquire of the Manner of the Foundation, Estate, and Governance of the same, and of all other Matters and Things necessary in this Behalf, and upon that make thereof Correccion and Reformation according to the Laws of Holy Church, asto them belongeth.

ITEM, Forasmuch as many Men have been condemned in the Courts of our <sup>(1)</sup> Lord the King, and in the Courts of his <sup>(2)</sup> Progenitors, as well within the City of London as in other Cities and Boroughs within the Realm of England, and [by the virtue<sup>3</sup>] of such Condemnations have been committed to the Prison of our Lord the King, there to remain until they have made [Agreement<sup>4</sup>] to the Plaintiffs to whom they were condemned; <sup>(5)</sup> after by their Suggestions made in the Chancery of our Lord the King, they have had divers Writs called Certiorari, [and<sup>6</sup>] Corpus cum causa, out of the Chancery of our said Lord the King, directed to the [Sheriff,<sup>7</sup>] or Keepers of the Prisons where such Persons condemned be holden, to have their Bodies, with the Cause of Imprisonment of the condemned aforesaid, in the Chancery, at the Days contained in the said Writs; after which Writs, together with the Body, and the Cause of the Condemnation, returned in the Chancery aforesaid, the said Persons so condemned have been delivered in the Chancery aforesaid by Bail or by Mainprise, or enlarged without Bail or Mainprise, against the Assent and Will of the said Plaintiffs, and without any [Agreement<sup>4</sup>] made to the said Plaintiffs of the Sums in the which they be condemned, against the Law of the Land; and so remain the said Plaintiffs without Remedy, in Hinderance of the State of such Plaintiffs, and in defeating of the Judgements given in the Courts aforesaid: Our <sup>(1)</sup> Lord the King, willing herein to provide Remedy, by the Advice and Assent aforesaid, and at the Request of the foresaid Commons, hath ordained and established, That if any such Writ of Certiorari, [or<sup>8</sup>] Corpus cum causa, be granted, or shall be granted at any Time hereafter, and upon the said Writ [if] it be returned, that the Prisoner which is so holden in Prison is condemned by Judgement [given against him,] that presently he shall be remanded, [where he shall remain continually<sup>9</sup>] in Prison according to the Law [and Custom] of the Land, without being let to go by Bail or by Mainprise against the Will of the said Plaintiffs, until [Agreement<sup>4</sup>] be made to them of the Sums so adjudged.

Judgments returned against such Prisoners, they shall be remanded.

ITEM, Forasmuch as divers of the King's liege People be daily cited to appear in the Spiritual Court before Spiritual Judges, there to answer to divers Persons, as well of Things which touch Freehold, Debt, Trespasses, Covenants, and other Things whereof the Cognisance pertaineth to the Court of our Lord the King, as of Matrimony and Testament; and when such Persons so cited appear and demand a Libel of that which against them is surmised, to be informed to give their Answer thereunto, or otherwise to purchase a Writ of our Lord the King, of Prohibition, according to their Case, which Libel to them is denied by the said Spiritual Judges, to the Intent that such Persons should not be aided by any such Writ; against the Law, and to the great Damage of such Persons so impleaded: Our said Lord the King, by the Advice and Assent [of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal,<sup>10</sup>] and at the Request [and Instance] of the said Commons, hath ordained and established, That at what Time <sup>(11)</sup> the Libel is grantable by the Law, that it may be granted and delivered to the Party without any Difficulty.

Copies of the Libels in the Spiritual Courts shall be duly delivered.

to whom they should serve, because that the said Ordinances and Statutes [for'] them ordained be not executed in every Shire; Our Lord the King willing in this Case to provide a Remedy, by the Advice and Assent aforesaid, and at the Request of the said Commons, hath ordained and established, That the Statute of Labourers made at [Canterbury,'] and all other good Statutes of Labourers made, and not repealed, be firmly holden and kept, and put in due Execution. And moreover, That the Justices of Peace have Power to send their Writs for such fugitive Labourers, to every Sheriff [of the Realm] of England, and to make such Process as the Statute (') requireth, to bring them before them to answer to our Sovereign Lord the King, and to the Parties, of the Contempts and Trespases made or done against the Ordinances and Statutes aforesaid, in like Manner as the Justices have Power to send to every Sheriff for the [Felons'] before them indicted. And also that all the Statutes and Ordinances of Labourers, Servants, and Artificers, before this Time made, and not repealed, be exemplified under the Great Seal, and sent to every Sheriff [of the Realm] of England, thereof to make Proclamation in full County, and after this Proclamation [so] made, that every Sheriff shall cause the said Exemplification to him directed, to be delivered to the Justices of the Peace in his County named of the Quorum, or to One of them, to remain with such Justices which be or shall be, for the better putting of the foresaid Statutes and Ordinances in due Execution; and in Shires where divers Commissions of the Peace be made, there shall be so many Exemplifications of the Statutes and Ordinances aforesaid made, as be Commissions of the Peace in the same Shires, and sent to the Sheriff to make Proclamation, and to deliver the same, as is aforesaid: And that the Justices of the Peace in every Shire named of the Quorum, [be'] resident within the same Shire, except Lords named in the Commission of the Peace, and also except Justices of the one Bench, and of the other, the Chief Baron of the Exchequer, Serjeants at the Law, and [the King's Attorney,'] for the Time that the same Justices, Chief Baron, Serjeants [at the Law,] and [the King's Attorney,'] be intending and occupied in the King's Courts, or otherwise, in some other Place, occupied in the King's Service, [and'] make their Sessions four Times by the Year; that is to say, In the First Week after the Feast of Saint Michael, and in the First Week after the Epiphany, and in the First Week after the Clause of Easter, and in the First Week after the Translation of Saint Thomas the Martyr, and more often, if Need be. And that the same Justices hold their Sessions throughout (') [the Realm] of England in the same Weeks every Year from henceforth. And also that the Justices of Peace from henceforth have Power to examine as well all Manner of Labourers, Servants, and their Masters, as Artificers, by their Oaths, of all Things by them done contrary to [their'] said Ordinances and Statutes, and upon that to punish them upon their [Confession,'] after the Effect of the Statutes and Ordinances aforesaid, as though they were convicted by Inquest: And that the Sheriff in every Shire [of the Realm] of England shall do well and duly his Office in this Behalf, upon Pain to lose and to forfeit to our Lord the King Twenty Pounds.

And that the said Two Men to the said Conservator so associate, be assisting and attending to the said Conservator to make the Deliverances and Determination in the Manner and Form aforesaid, when they be by the said Conservator reasonably required. And that the said Conservator, and the said Two Men of Law, be sworn, that they nor none of them shall take Fee, Gift, Hire, Wages, Reward or Brocage of any other than of the King in any wise in this Behalf, in Hindrance of due [Execution<sup>1</sup>] and Punishment of such Traitors and Offenders aforesaid. And that the said Conservator shall be resiant in the Port and [Places<sup>2</sup>] where he shall be Conservator assigned as aforesaid; and every Conservator shall take yearly for the said Office Forty Pounds of the King at the least; and that they be sworn, that if any Person, of what Estate or Condition soever he be, procure, excite, or abet them, or any of them, to do any Thing contrary to this Ordinance and (¹) Oath aforesaid, that every of them shall make due Relation to our Sovereign Lord the King, or to the Chancellor of England for the Time being, as speedily as he well may, without Concealment in any Point, upon Pain of Imprisonment, and to make Fine and Ransom at the King's Pleasure. And that the said Conservator have a Seal of our Lord the King ordained for the said Office. And that the Master of the Ship, Barge, or Balinger, or other Vessel in the said Port, be sworn, and the [Possessor<sup>3</sup>] also, if he be present, before the said Conservator, before that he pass out of the said Port, that he shall not attempt to do any Thing against the said [Truce and the King's Safe Conducts.<sup>4</sup>] And also that the said Conservator shall cause to be inrolled of Record before him, as well the Names of such Owners and Masters, as the Names of their Ship, Barge, Balinger, or other Vessel, together with the Number of the Mariners in the same being. And if they take any Thing of the King's Enemies, or of any others, they shall cause to be brought such [Things taken<sup>5</sup>] into the (¹) Port, and thereof make full Information to the said Conservator, before that they thereof make Discharge or Sale; if it be not that by Force of Wind, Tempest, or of Enemies, or some other reasonable Cause, such Ship, Barge, Balinger, or other Vessel, must enter into another Port for the Preservation of the same Vessel, or other Cause reasonable; And that then they shall make full Information to the said Conservator, or to the Conservator of the Port in which the said Vessels arrive or enter, of the (¹) Prize, and of the Quantity of the Thing, receiving a Letter testimonial under the said Seal of the aforesaid Conservator, by the which the Conservator of the said Port, whereof the Vessel or Vessels [shall go out,<sup>6</sup>] may have Notice of the Quantity and also of the Value of the Goods [and Chattels] so taken. And if any [Possessor<sup>3</sup>] or Master of any Ship or other Vessel, go out of any Port of the Realm [of England,] or discharge his Ship or Vessel against the Form of this Ordinance, that such Ship or Vessel, together with the Prize [taken in<sup>7</sup>] the same duly made, shall be forfeit to the King, and the Body of the [Possessor<sup>3</sup>] or Master of such Ship or Vessel committed to Prison, there to remain until he hath made a Fine and Ransom to the King: Provided always, That no [Possessors<sup>8</sup>] of Ships going out of any Port shall make any Fine nor Ransom, or have Imprisonment of Body, if the same [Possessors<sup>8</sup>] be not in the same Ships at the Time of the Offence committed against this Ordinance.

And the said Admiral shall have the Forfeitures in all Cases out of the same Franchise of Five Ports aforesaid, as he hath had, and hath been accustomed of Right to the Office of the Admiral of England, before the making of this Ordinance. And that all such Conservators to be made within the said Five Ports have the same Authority and Power by the King's Letters Patents, and Commission of the Warden of the same Ports for the Time being, to inquire of such Offences to be done upon the [main'] Sea within the Franchises of the (') Five Ports out of the Body of the Counties, and to punish all them which shall be before the said Conservator of the same Offences indicted or accused, by like Process, Examination, Proofs, Determination, Judgement, and Execution, as the said Admirals reasonably, according to the old Custom and Law upon the Sea used, have done and used out of the said Franchise of the Five Ports; saving that the Determination of the Death of [a Man'] in this Behalf, and the Execution of the same, shall be within the same Franchise of the Five Ports reserved to the said Warden, or to his general Lieutenant there: And that the same Warden shall have all the Forfeitures there, in all such Cases as he hath had, and [have'] been accustomed of Right to the Office of the Warden of the Five Ports aforesaid before this Time: And that the said Conservators, and every of them, have Power to make full Execution of this Ordinance in the Form aforesaid. And (') this Ordinance shall hold Place and Force, for any Thing to be done or attempted against this same Ordinance, after the Proclamation of this Ordinance and Declaration made.

ITEM, Forasmuch as great Rumours, Congregacions, and Insurreccions, here in the Realm of England, by divers of the King's liege People, as well by them which were of the Sect of Heresy commonly called Lollardry, as by other of their Confederacy, Excitation, and Abetment, now of late were made, to the Intent to adnull, [destroy,] and subvert the Christian Faith, and the Law of God [and Holy Church] within this same Realm [of England,] and also to destroy [the same our Sovereign Lord the King'] and all other Manner of Estates of the same Realm [of England,] as well Spiritual as Temporal, and also all Manner of Policy, and finally the Laws of the Land; The same our Sovereign Lord the King, to the Honour of God, and in Conservation and Fortification of the Christian Faith, and also in Salvation of his Royal Estate, and of the Estate of all his Realm, willing against the Malice of such Hereticks and Lollards to provide a more open Remedy and (') Punishment than hath been had and used in the Case heretofore, so that for fear of the same Laws and Punishment, such Heresies and Lollardries may the rather cease in Time to come; by the Advice and Assent aforesaid, and at the Prayer of the said Commons, hath ordained and established, That first the Chancellor, Treasurer, Justices of the one Bench, and of the other, (') Justices of Peace, Sheriffs, Mayors, and Bailiffs of Cities and Towns, and all other Officers, having Governance of People, which now be or hereafter for the Time shall be, shall make an Oath in taking of their Charges and Occupations, to put their whole Power and Diligence to put out and [do to be put out cease and destroy'] all Manner of Heresies and Errors, commonly called Lollardries, within the Places where they exercise their Offices and Occupations from Time to Time, with all their Power; and that they assist the Ordinaries and their Commissaries, and them favour and maintain, as often as they or any of them [to that'] shall be required by the same Ordinaries or their Commissaries; So that when the said Officers and Ministers travel or ride to arrest any Lollard, or to make Assistance at the Instance and Request of the Ordinaries or their Commissaries by virtue of this Statute, that the same Ordinaries and Commissaries shall pay for their [Cost'] reasonably; and that the King's Services, to the which the same Officers be first sworn, be preferred [before'] all other Statutes for the Liberty of Holy Church and the Ministers of the same, and in especial for the Correction and Punishment of the Hereticks and Lollards before this Time made and not repealed being in their force. And also that all Persons convict of Heresy, of what Estate, Condition, or Degree that they be, by the said Ordinaries or [other'] Commissaries left to the Secular Power according to the Laws of Holy Church, shall lose and forfeit all their Lands and Tenements, which they have in Fee Simple in the Manner as followeth; that is to say, That the King have all the Lands and Tenements, which the said Convicts have in Fee Simple, and (1) holden of him immediately, as forfeit; and that the other Lords, of whom the Lands and Tenements of such Convicts be holden, immediately after that the King is [so'] seised and answered of the Year, the Day, and the Waste, have Livery out of the King's Hands of the Lands and Tenements aforesaid of them so holden, as it hath been used in the Case of Attainder of Felony; except the Lands and Tenements which be holden of the Ordinaries or their Commissaries, before whom any such Persons impeached of Heresy be convict, which Lands and Tenements intirely shall remain to the King as forfeit; And moreover that all the Goods and Chattels of these Persons so convicted, be forfeit to our Sovereign Lord the King; so that no Person convict of Heresy, and left to the Secular Power after the Laws of Holy Church, shall forfeit his Lands before that he be dead; And if any such Person so convict be infeoffed, be it by Fine, by Deed, or without Deed, in Lands or Tenements, Rents or Services in Fee or otherwise (2) or hath any other Possessions or Chattels by Gift or Grant of any Person or Persons to [another's Use,'] than to the Use of such Convicts, That the same Lands nor Tenements, Rents nor Services, nor such other Possessions, nor Chattels shall be forfeit to our Sovereign Lord the King in no wise. And moreover that the Justices of the King's Bench, and Justices of Peace, and Justices of Assise, have full Power to enquire of all them which hold any Errors or Heresies, as Lollards, and [which'] be their Maintainers, Receivers, Favorers and Sustainers, common Writers of such Books, as well of [the'] Sermons as of their Schools, Conventicles, Congregations, and Confederacies; and that this Clause be put in Commissions of the Justices of the Peace; and if any Persons be indicted of any (3) Points aforesaid, the said Justices shall have Power to award against them a Capias, and the Sheriff shall be bound to arrest the Person or Persons so indicted as soon as he may them find by him or by his Officers. And Forasmuch as the Conscience of Heresy, Errors, and Lollardries belongeth to the Judges of Holy Church, and not to secular Judges, such Persons indicted shall be delivered to the Ordinaries of the Places, or to their Commissaries, by Indentures betwixt them to be made within x. convict by the Laws of Holy Church, in case that these Persons be not indicted of any other Thing, whereof the Conuissance belongeth to the secular Judges and Officers;

in which Case, after that they be acquit or delivered before the secular Judges of such [Things,'] to the secular Judges belonging, they shall be sent in Safeguard to the said Ordinaries, or to their Commissaries, and to them delivered by Indentures as before, (') to be acquit or convict of such Lollardries, Errors, or Heresies, as is aforesaid, after the Laws of Holy Church, and that within the Term aforesaid: Provided always, That the said Indictments be not taken in Evidence, but for Information before the Spiritual Judges against such Persons so indicted, but that the Ordinaries commence their Process against such Persons indicted in the same Manner as though no Indictment were, having no Regard to such Indictments. And if any be indicted of Heresy, Error, or Lollardry, and taken by the Sheriff or other Officer ('), he shall be let to Mainprise within the said x.
Days by good Surety, for whom the said Sheriffs or other Officers will answer; so that the said Person [or Persons which were] so indicted, be ready to be delivered to the said Ordinaries, or to their Commissaries before the End of the said Ten Days, if he may by any Means for Sickness: And every Ordinary shall have sufficient Commissaries or Commissary dwelling in every County in a Place notable, so that if any such Person so indicted be taken, that the said Commissaries or Commissary may be warned in the notable Place where he dwelleth, by the Sheriff or some of his Officers, to come to the King's Gaol in the same County, there to receive the same Person so indicted by Indentures as before. And that in the [Inquest'] in this Case to be taken, the Sheriffs and other Officers to whom it belongeth, shall do to be impaneled good and sufficient Persons, not suspected nor procured; that is to say, That every of them which shall be so impaneled in such Inquest, have within the Realm [of England'] an Hundred Shillings of Lands,

Recital of
the Statute
13 H. IV. c. 7. against Riots,
&c.

ITEM, Whereas it is contained in the Statute made the Thirteenth Year of the Noble King Henry, Father to our Lord the King that now is, amongst other Things, That if any Riot, Assembly, or Rout of People against the Law be made in any Part of the Realm, then the Justices of the Peace, Three or Two of them at the least, and the Sheriff or Under Sheriff of the County where such Riot, Assembly, or Rout shall be made hereafter, should come with the Power of the said County, if Need were, to arrest them, and them should arrest; and the same Justices, Sheriff, or Under Sheriff, should have Power to record that which they found so done in their Presence against the Law; and that by Record of the same Justices, Sheriff, or Under Sheriff, such Trespassers or Offenders should be convicted in Manner and Form as is contained in the Statute of Forcible Entries; and if it happen that such Trespassers or Offenders were departed before the coming of the (') Justices, Sheriff, or Under Sheriff, that the same Justices, Three or Two of them, should diligently inquire within a Month after such Riot, Assembly, or Rout of People so made, and the same hear and determine according to the Law of the Land; and if the Truth could not be found in Manner as afore is said, (') within a Month then next ensuing, the said Justices, Three or Two of them, and the Sheriff or Under Sheriff (') should certify before the King and his Council all the Deed and Circumstance of the same; which Certificate shall be of like Force as the Presentment of Twelve Men; upon which Certificate the said Trespassers and Offenders shall be put to answer, and they which be found guilty, shall be punished according to the Discretion of the King and his Council; And moreover, that the Justices of Peace dwelling nearest in every County where such Rout, Assembly, [and'] Riot of People should be made hereafter, together with the Sheriff or Under Sheriff of the same Counties, and also the Justices of Assises for the Time that they shall be in their Sessions, in case that any such Riot, Assembly, or Rout be made in their Presence, shall make Execution of this Statute, every One of them upon Pain of an C li. to be paid to the King, as often as they shall be found in Default of Execution of the same Statute: And Forasmuch as many Riots, Routs, and Assemblies have been made in divers Parts of the Realm, since the making and Proclamation of the same Statute, because that the same Statute hath not been put in due Execution, as our Sovereign Lord the King hath perceived by divers and grievous Complaints to him made in this present Parliament; The same our Lord the King, willing hereof to provide a better Remedy, by the Advice and Assent aforesaid, and at the Suit of the said Commons, hath ordained and stablished, That if Default be found in the said Two Justices of the Peace, or Justices of Assises, and the Sheriff or Under Sheriff of the County where such Riot, Assembly, or Rout shall be made, touching the Execution that they ought to make by virtue of the said Statute, and whereof the said Statute maketh Mention, that then at the Instance of the Party grieved, the King's Commission shall go out under his Great Seal, to inquire as well of the Truth of the Case, and of the original Matter for the Party Complainant, as of the Default or Defaults of the said Justices, Sheriff, or Under-Sheriff, in this Behalf supposed, to be directed to sufficient and indifferent Persons, at the Nomination and by the Direction of the Chancellor [of the Realm] of England; and that the said Commissioners presently shall return into the Chancery the Inquests and Matters before them in this Behalf taken and found: And moreover, that the Coroners of the same County for the Time being, [in which County'] such Riot, Assembly, or Rout shall be made, shall make the Panel, upon the said Commission returnable, for the Time that the Sheriff so supposed in Default shall continue in his Office; which Coroners shall return no Persons, but only such which have Lands, Tenements, or Rents to the Value of x l. by the Year at least; And also that the same Coroners shall return upon every of the said Persons empanelled at the first Day when Issues be to be lost, xx s. at the least, and at the Second Day xl s. at the least, and at the Third Day C s. at the least, and at every Day after the Double at the least; which Issues so returned by Cause of Non-appearance of such Persons empanelled, shall be adjudged as forfeit to the King, and leviable to his Use;

and if Default be found in the said Coroners, touching the Return of such Persons to be empanelled, or touching the Return of such Issues, as afore is said,

Pounds: And if it happen that the said Sheriff so reputed in Default, be discharged of his Office at the Time that such Commission shall be awarded out of the Chancery, that then the new Sheriff of the same County, his Successor mediate or immediate for the Time being,
and not the Coroners of the same County, shall make the Panel upon this Commission returnable in Manner and Form, as the said Coroners should do in Time when the Sheriff so reputed in Default continued in his Office;
and that the same new Sheriff shall incur like Pain of Forty Pounds to the King, if any Default in him be found touching the Return of other Persons by him empanelled, which have not Lands, Tenements, or Rents to the Value of Ten Pounds by Year, or [of'] returning such Issues [which'] the said Coroners be above charged to return, as the said Coroners are to lose to the King in this Behalf. And that the Chancellor of England for the Time being, as soon as he may have Knowledge of such Riot, Assembly, or Rout, shall cause to be sent the King's Writ to the Justices of the Peace, and to the Sheriff or Under-Sheriff of the County where they be so [made,'] that they shall put the Statute <sup>(1)</sup> in Execution upon the Pain contained in the same; and though that such Writ come not to the said Justices <sup>(2)</sup>

STATUTE THE SECOND.

OUR Lord the King, at his Parliament holden at Westminster, the Monday next after the Utas of St. Martin, the Second Year of his Reign, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the special Instance and Request of the Commons of his Realm then there assembled, hath ordained, made, and established divers Ordinances and Statutes in the Manner and Form as followeth.

FIRST, That the Justices of the Peace from henceforth to be made within the Counties of England, shall be made of the most sufficient Persons dwelling in the same Counties, by the Advice of the Chancellor and of the King's Council, without taking other Persons dwelling in Foreign Counties to execute such Office, except the Lords and the Justices of Assises now named and to be named by the King and his Council; and except all the King's chief Stewards of the Lands and Seigniories of the Duchy of Lancaster, in the North Parts, and in the South, for the Time being.

1. Justices of the Peace shall be appointed from the Residents: Exceptions.

II.
The Statute
36 Edw. III.

the Welch.

ITEM, Whereas it is contained in the Statute made the xxxvj. Year of King Edward the Third after the Conquest, That no Parish Priest nor yearly Priest should take but v. Marks, or vj. at the most for their Wages by Year; [And where] the Parish Priests which now be, will not serve but for x. li. xij. Marks or x. Marks by Year at the least, against the Form of the said Statute, (¹) to the great Damage of the King's liege People, as he hath perceived by the Complaint of the Commons of his Land: The King willing for the same to provide Remedy in Ease of the said Commons, hath ordained and established, That no yearly Chaplain within the Realm shall take from henceforth more for his whole Wages by Year, that is to say, for his Board, Apparel, and other Necessaries, but vij Marks; nor the Parish Priests, which be or shall be retained to serve Cures, shall take from henceforth for their whole Wages by Year, that is to say, for the Things aforesaid but viij Marks; unless it be by Licence of the Ordinary, so that the whole Sum (¹) pass not Nine Marks.

ITEM, The King considering the great Mischiefs and Dishonours which daily happen through all the Realm [of England,] as well in case of Death of [a Man,²] as in case of Freehold, and in other Cases, by them which pass in Inquests in the said Cases, which be common Jurors, and other that have but little to live upon but by such Inquest, and which have nothing to lose because of their false Oaths, whereby they offend their Consciences the more [largely³]; and willing thereof to have Correction and Amendment, hath ordained and established, by Assent of the Lords and Commons aforesaid, That no Person shall be admitted to pass in any Inquest upon Trial of the Death of [a Man,²] nor in any Inquest betwixt Party and Party in Plea real, nor in Plea Personal, whereof the Debt or the [Damage⁴] declared amount to Forty Marks, if the same Person have not Lands or Tenements of the yearly Value of Forty Shillings above all Charges of the same: So that it be challenged by the Party, that any such Person so impanelled in the same Cases hath not Lands or Tenements of the yearly Value of Forty Shillings above the Charges, as afore is said.

ITEM, For that the Goldsmiths of England, of their (¹) Covin and [Ordinances,²] will not sell the Wares of their Mystery gilt, but at the Double Price of the Weight of the Silver of the same, which seemeth to the King very outrageous and too excessive a Price; the King for the Ease of his People, willing to remedy the same, hath ordained and established, That all the Goldsmiths of England shall gild no Silver worse than of the Allay of the English Sterling, and that they take for a Pound of Troy gilt but Forty-six Shillings Eight-pence at the most, and of greater Weight, and less, according to the Quantity and Rate of the same Sum; and that which shall be by them gilt from henceforth shall be of reasonable [Price,³] and not excessive; and if any Goldsmith do contrary to this Statute, he shall forfeit to the King the Value of the Thing so sold.

ITEM, Forasmuch as since the Rebellion of the Welchmen now late reformed, many of the Rebels of Wales, with other their Adherents, with Force and Arms in the Manner of War, sometimes by Day, and sometimes by Night, have come into the Counties of Salop, Hereford, and Gloucester, and [in⁴] other Places bordering upon the same Countries, and in divers Woods and other Places there hid and lodged, have traitorously

OUR Lord the King, at his Parliament holden at Westminster the Monday the [Sixth<sup>1</sup>] Day of March, the Third Year of his Reign, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the Request of the Commons assembled in the same Parliament, hath ordained and established divers Statutes and Ordinances in the Form following.

FIRST, That Holy Church have all her Liberties and Franchises; and that (²) the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and other the King's liege People, having Liberties and Franchises, and all the Cities and Boroughs of the Realm, have and enjoy all their Liberties and Franchises, which they have had of the Grants of the King's Progenitors, and of the Confirmation of the same our Lord the King, or his (¹) Grant; except always those Franchises and Liberties which be repealed in this present Parliament, and those that be repealable by the Common Law.

ITEM, Forasmuch as there be divers Abbots, Priors, and other religious Persons, whereof some be of the King's Foundation, and some of the Foundation of other Lords of the Realm [of England,] dwelling as well within the County of Lancaster as in the County of York, whereof some have Possessions within the Wapentakes of Stancliffe Wapentake, and Frendeles Wapentake, in Craven in the (³) County of York, and some not, against whom divers Persons daily by Abettment and Procurement of the Bailiffs, Approvers of the Courts of the said Wapentakes, and (⁴) the Stewards that hold Pleas in the said Courts, and of Fermours of the Profits and Revenues of the said Courts, feign and procure by them and other of their Covin and Assent, divers Plaints (⁵) Pleas of Debt, and Trespass, and other Pleas against them in the Courts of the said Wapentakes; and there whereas the same Abbots and Priors come to the said Courts, [for the Defence of] such wrongful Plaints and Pleas, and pray and profer to the Stewards and Bailiffs of the said Courts to make their Attornies in such Pleas; the said Stewards and Bailiffs the same refuse, and will not receive such Attornies of such Abbots and Priors in any Plea of Debt or Trespass, nor in any other Plea; and that moreover the same Stewards and Bailiffs of their own Authority do amerce the said Abbots and Priors for every Plaint, at the first Time xij d. and at every other Time for every of the said Plaints x s. and xx s. and more at their own Will;

Stat. 1. c. 18.

The Name of Bailiffs of Lincoln changed to Sheriffs, by Charter, in 11 Hen. IV.

Upon false Verdict in the County of the City of Lincoln, Attaint may be brought in the County of Lincoln.

The King willing to remove such Mischief, hath ordained and established, That all the Incumbents of every Benefice of Holy Church, of the Patronage, Collation, or Presentation of Spiritual Patrons, may peaceably and quietly enjoy, and shall enjoy their said Benefices, without being inquieted, molested, or any wise grieved by any (') Colour of such Provisions, (') Licences, and Acceptations whatsoever; and that all the Licences and Pardons upon and [by'] such Provisions made in any Manner, shall be void and of no Value. And if any feel himself grieved, molested, or inquieted in any wise from henceforth by any, by Colour of such Provisions, Licences, Pardons, or Acceptations, that the same Molesters, Grievors, [and'] Inquieters, and every of them, shall suffer and incur the [Pain'] and Punishments contained in the Statutes (') of Provisors before this Time made, and that by Process of Premunire facias formed upon the Case; and that the Party which shall sue by the same Writ, shall recover his Treble Damages, if the Defendants named in the same Writ, or any of them, be convicted in that Behalf.

ITEM, Whereas by the Statute made in the Parliament holden at Westminster the Thirteenth Year of (') King Richard the Second, (') It was ordained and stablished, That in Assises, Juries, and all other Inquests, which thenceforth should be taken betwixt Party and Party, before the Mayor and Bailiffs of the City of Lincoln, which for the Time should be, if any of the Parties then did [complain him'] of a false Oath made by such Assises, Juries, or Inquests, that the Attaint should be granted to him, and the Record should be sent by Writ into the King's Bench, or into the Common Bench; and that the Sheriff should array the Panel of the Jury of such Attaint, of Foreigners, without sending to the Franchise of the said City; and (') the Justices should take the same Jury of the same Foreigners, notwithstanding any Franchise granted to the said City, or any other Usage to the contrary; Nevertheless, Forasmuch as the Lord Henry, late King of England, Father to our Sovereign Lord the King aforesaid, the Twenty-first Day of November, the [Thirteenth'] Year of his Reign, by his Letters Patents, amongst others, granted to the Mayor and Commonalty of the said City, that the Name of Bailiffs of the same City should be translated into the Name of Sheriffs; and that the same City, the Suburbs, and Precinct of the same, except the Castle (") of Lincoln, and the Walls and Ditches of the same, should for ever be called The County of the City of Lincoln; divers People be and have been in Doubt, whether a Man that will complain of a false Oath made in the County of the said City [after, by Force of the said Statute, should"] have a Writ of Attaint directed to the Sheriff of the County of Lincoln, to be arrayed by the People of the same County, or not, and also of other Articles and Points of the said Statute: The King willing to remove all Manner of Ambiguities and Doubts in this Behalf, hath ordained, granted, and established, That in Assises, Juries, and all other Inquests which be and shall be taken betwixt Party and Party, before the Mayor and Bailiffs, [and before the"] Sheriff of the County of the City of Lincoln, which for the Time is, and shall be, or any of them, if any of the said Parties do complain of a false Oath made by such Assises, Juries, [and"] Inquests, a Writ of Attaint shall be granted to him, (") directed to the Sheriff of the said County of Lincoln for the Time being, and the [same'] Record shall be sent by a Writ into the King's Bench, or into the Common Bench; and that the Sheriff of the County of Lincoln, which for the Time shall be, shall array the Panel of the Jury of such Attaint of People of the County of Lincoln; and that the Justices of the King and of his Heirs shall take the same Jury of People of the County of Lincoln, according to the Intent and Effect of the said Statute; notwithstanding the said Letters Patents, or any Thing therein contained, or any Possession or other Thing by Force of the same Letters had or made, or any Franchise granted or to be granted to the Citizens of the said City, or to their Successors, or other Usage to the contrary, or that the said City of Lincoln is so made [incorporate.']

ITEM, Because that before this Time great Doubt and Ambiguity hath been, whether that Clipping, Washing, and Filing of the Money of the Land, ought to be judged Treason, or not, Forasmuch as no mention thereof is made in the Declaration of the Articles of Treason made in the Parliament holden the Twenty-fifth Year of (') King Edward [the Third;'] the same our Lord the King, willing to [decide'] such Doubt, and to put the same in a Certainty, hath declared in this present Parliament, that such Clipping, Washing, and Filing shall be adjudged for Treason; and (") they which so do clip, wash, and file the Money of the Land, shall be judged Traitors to the King and to the Realm, and shall incur the Pain of Treason.

ITEM, Because counterfeiting, clipping, (') washing, and other [Falsity of Money"] of the Land, is much more used, and daily doth more abound than it was wont, for that the Punishment of the same pertaineth not to any [Judges"] of the Realm, but to the King's Justices before himself, or (") by special Commissions thereto assigned, [and it is very likely there will be Destruction"] of the (") Money, unless [hasty"] Execution and Remedy be provided, as the King by the grievous Complaint of the Commons hath perceived; Our said Lord the King willing to remedy the same, hath ordained and established, That the King's Justices assigned (") to take Assises in all the Counties of England shall have Power by the King's Commission to hear and determine in their Sessions, as well of the counterfeiting, and of the bringing of such false Money into the Realm, as of clipping, washing, and every other [Falsity"] of the said Money: And that the Justices of Peace through the Realm shall have power by the King's commission to inquire of all such Matters, and thereupon to make Process by Capias only against those which before them shall be thereof indicted.

ITEM, Whereas the Commons of the Realm have oftentimes in divers Parliaments complained of that, that [divers"] Ordinaries do take for the Probate of a Testament, and other Things pertaining to the Offices in this Behalf, sometime Forty Shillings, or [Fifty"] Shillings, and sometime more, against Right and Law, and otherwise than was wont to be paid for them, in the Time of King Edward [the Third,'] that is to say, Two Shillings Sixpence, or Five Shillings at the most, whereby the Testament of the Testator may not be executed, according to the last Will of the same Testator, to the great Damage and Hinderance of the [Commonwealth:"]

AT the Parliament holden at Westminster the Nineteenth Day of October, the Fourth Year of the Reign of King Henry the Fifth after the Conquest; the same our Lord the King, with the Assent of the Prelates, Dukes, Earls, (') Barons, and at the special Instance and Request of the Commons assembled in [the same<sup>1</sup>] Parliament, hath [caused to be<sup>2</sup>] ordained and stablished certain Statutes and Ordinances, in the Form as followeth.

FIRST, That the Great Charter, and the Charter of the Forest, and all other Statutes and Ordinances made in his Time, and in the Times of his noble Progenitors Kings of England, and not repealed, shall be firmly holden and kept in all Points.

ITEM, That all the Sheriffs of England shall have Allowance upon their Accompts, by their Oaths, of Things casual, as of Estreats that [be not<sup>3</sup>] in Ferm nor in (') Demand; but of all such Things that [be<sup>4</sup>] or run in (') yearly Fermes or yearly Demands, they shall be charged to the King, as the Sheriffs have been charged in that Case in Times past.

ITEM, That the Patenmakers in the Realm of England, from henceforth shall make no Patens nor Clogs of Timber called Aspe, upon Pain to pay to the King a Hundred Shillings, at every Time that the said Patenmakers make any Patens or Clogs of the said Timber. And that every Man that will sue for the King, shall have the One Half of the [Pain<sup>5</sup>] so forfeit; so that the Fletchers through the Realm shall sell their Arrows at a more easy and reasonable Price from henceforth than they were wont.

ITEM, Whereas in a Statute made at [Canterbury,<sup>6</sup>] in the Time of King Richard the Second, (") the Twelfth Year of his Reign, certain Wages was ordained by the Year for Bailiffs and other Servants of Husbandry, and also for other Servants and Labourers, as well within Cities and Boroughs as elsewhere through the Realm;

And that if any give or take by Covenant by the Year more than is specified in the said Statute, That at the first Time that they be thereof attained, as well the Givers as the Takers shall pay the Excess so given, and at the Second Time the Double of the Excess so given: And Forasmuch as the Givers, when they have been sworn before the Justices of Peace, will in no wise present such Excesses, to eschew their own Punishments, to the great Loss of the King as of his Fines and Amerciaments for the concealing, and grievous Damage to the Lords and other People of the Realm, because of the non due Punishment of the Defaults of Servants and Labourers aforesaid, as the King hath perceived by the Complaint of his Commons; the same our Sovereign Lord the King hath (') ordained, That the Pain of the Giver shall be out in this Party, and that the Pain contained in the said Statute shall run only upon the Taker: And that this Ordinance hold Place and Force till the Feast of Saint Michael next coming, and [then'] till the End of Two Years then next ensuing.

ITEM, Whereas in a Statute made in the Time of King Henry the Fourth after the Conquest, the Fifth Year of his Reign, It was ordained and stablished, That all the Merchants Aliens, of what Estate or Condition they be, coming, [abiding, or resident,'] within the Realm of England, should be entreated and demeaned within the same Realm in the same Form, Manner, and Condition, as the Merchants Denizens be or shall be entreated or demeaned in the Parties beyond the Sea, and in no other Manner, upon Pain to forfeit to the King all the Goods and Chattels of the said Merchants Aliens, (') And also it was ordained and stablished in the Time of the said late King Henry, amongst other Things, by Statute, That in every City, Town, and Port of the Sea of England, where the said Merchants Aliens or Strangers be, or shall be repairing, sufficient Hosts shall be assigned to the same Merchants by the Mayors, Sheriffs, or Bailiffs of the said Cities, Towns, and Ports of the Sea; and that the Merchants Aliens and Strangers shall [not remain in other Places,'] but with the said Hosts so to be assigned; and that the same Hosts so to be assigned shall take for their [Labour'] in the same Manner as was accustomed of old Time: And for that our Lord the King hath perceived that the same Statutes have not been put in [due] Execution, [he'] willet and granteth, That the same Statutes shall be firmly holden and kept in all Points, and put in due Execution from henceforth according to the [Purport'] of the same.

ITEM, Whereas it was ordained in the Time of the King's Noble Progenitors, by a Statute made [of'] the Land of Ireland, That none of the Irish Nation should be chosen by Election to be an Archbishop, Bishop, Abbot or Prior, nor in none other Manner received nor accepted to any Dignity or Benefice within the said Land; And [now of late'] many such Irish People, by force of certain Letters of Licence to them made by the King's Lieutenants there, to accept and receive such Dignities and Benefices, be promoted and advanced to [Archbishops and Bishops'] within the said Land, which also make their Collations to Irish Clerks of the Dignities and Benefices there, against the Form and Effect of the said Statute: And Whereas they be [said'] Peers of the Parliament in the same Land, they bring with them to the Parliaments and Councils holden there, Irish Servants, whereby the [Privities<sup>a</sup>] of the Englishmen within the same Land have been and be daily discovered to the Irish People, Rebels to the King, to the great Peril and Mischief of the King's lawful liege People in the same Land: Our Sovereign Lord the King that now is, desiring for the same to provide Remedy, for the Surety of his faithful Subjects, by the Assent of the Lords aforesaid, and at the Request of the said Commons, will and granteth, That the said Statute shall stand in his whole Force, and well and duly be kept and fully executed, upon his grievous Indignation. And moreover he hath ordained and established, by the Assent and Request aforesaid, That if any such Archbishops, Bishops, Abbots, or Priors of the Irish Nation, Rebels to the King, have in Times past made, or from henceforth shall make any Collations or Presentments to Benefices of Holy Church in the said Land of Ireland, against the Form of the same Statute, or bring with them any Irish, Rebels<sup>b</sup> amongst the Englishmen<sup>c</sup> to the Parliaments, Councils, or other Assemblies, within the same Land, to know the [Privities<sup>d</sup>] and States of the said Englishmen, and the same to discover to the said Rebels, that then [maintenant<sup>e</sup>] from Time to Time, all their Temporalities shall be seised into the King's Hands, there to remain till they have made<sup>f</sup> Fines to the King in [this Part.<sup>g</sup>] And also that all the Lieutenants of the King and of his Heirs in the said Land of Ireland, be utterly defended and restrained from henceforth, to have any Manner of Power to give or to grant any such [Benefices<sup>h</sup>] or Pardons in the Case [of<sup>i</sup>] Irish Persons, not English. And that all such Licences not executed, made and granted by the King's Lieutenants in the same Land before this Time, and also to be granted by them hereafter, shall be void and of no Force nor Value.

ITEM, Because our Sovereign Lord the King hath heard and conceived, at the grievous Complaint of the Commons of his Realm in this Parliament, for that, [in respect of<sup>j</sup>] a Statute made at his Parliament holden at Leicester the last Day of April, the Second Year of his Reign, in which Statute is contained, That the breaking of Truce and of Safe-conducts, and willing Receipt, Abetment, Procurement, Counsel, Hiring, Sustaining, and Maintaining of Breakers of Truce, and of the Safe-conducts of the King our Lord, to be made by his liege People from [henceforth<sup>k</sup>] within the [Realm<sup>l</sup>] of England and Ireland, and the Country of Wales, upon the main Sea, shall be judged and determined for High Treason done against [the Crown and the King's Dignity;<sup>m</sup>] By reason of which Statute, though the King's Subjects be [so much grieved against the Truce, that<sup>n</sup>] they dare not provide Remedy by way of Act, [for that<sup>o</sup>] the King's Enemies, as well in the Parts beyond the Sea, as in the Realm of Scotland, have [hereof<sup>p</sup>] taken great Courage to grieve the King's faithful liege People, in slaying some of them, and in taking some of them Prisoners, and also taking their Goods and Chattels, against the Tenor of the Truce, as well upon the [Main<sup>q</sup>] Sea as upon the Marches of Scotland, whereof the said Commons have humbly beseeched our said Sovereign Lord the King to provide Remedy: The King willing, as well in this Case as in other, to take Order for the Indemnity of his liege People and faithful Subjects, hath declared in this present Parliament,

AN ORDINANCE IN THE FIFTH YEAR.

Ex Lib. Scac. Westm. IX.

[HENRY, King, &c.] to the Sheriff of Yorkshire, Greeting: Know Thou that in our Parliament last holden at Westminster, It was ordained and granted, That all our liege People as well Religious as Secular, and every of them, might till the next Parliament make their Attornies, where Attornies do lie, in their proper Persons, in any Plea of Debt, Trespass, or other Contract moved or to be moved in any Wapentakes, Hundreds, and Court Barons through the Realm, before the Stewards there or their Deputies, to win or to lose in the same Pleas; and if any such Stewards refuse to admit such Attornies, then they and every of them at every Time of such Refusal shall forfeit to Us Forty Shillings.

And therefore We command Thee that thou do the said Ordinance in all Places of thy County, where shall be most expedient and necessary, openly to be proclaimed and observed according to the Form and Effect of the same. Witness John Duke of Bedford Protector of England at Westminster the xvi. Day of January, the Fifth Year of our Reign.

AT the Parliament holden at Westminster, the Second Day of December, the Eighth Year of the Reign of King Henry the Fifth, (') the same our Lord the King, by the Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the special Instance and Request of the Commons assembled in the same Parliament, hath caused to be ordained and established certain Statutes and Ordinances, in the Form following.

FIRST, Forasmuch as by the Grace of God a final Peace was late taken betwixt the King our Sovereign Lord and the King of France his Father; in such Form, That our said Sovereign Lord the King shall be named Heir and Regent of the Realm of France, during the Life of his said Father, and shall have the Governance of the same; and after the Death of his (') Father, the said Realm and Crown of France shall remain to our Sovereign Lord the King, and to his Heirs for ever: It is very likely, That for the good Governance as well of the (') Realm of France as of this Realm of England, our said Sovereign Lord the King sometime shall be on this Side the Sea, and sometime beyond the Sea, according as best shall seem to his sage Discretion for the better Governance of the one Realm and the other; Therefore it is ordained and established, that if in Time to come our said Sovereign Lord the King, being beyond the Sea, cause to summon his Parliament in this Realm by his Writs under the Teste of his Lieutenant, which now is or which for the Time shall be, and after the Summons of such Parliaments gone out of the Chancery, our Sovereign Lord the King arrive in this Realm, that [for'] such Arrival of the same our Sovereign Lord, such Parliament shall not be dissolved, but in the same afterward our Sovereign Lord the King [shall'] proceed without new Summons of the same.

ITEM, It is ordained and established, That every Merchant Stranger buying Wools in England to carry them to the West Parts or elsewhere, not coming to the Staple there to be sold, shall bring to the Master of the Mint of the Tower of London of every Sack, One Ounce of Bullion of Gold, and in the same Manner of Three Pieces of Tin, One Ounce of Bullion of Gold, or the Value in Bullion of Silver, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the same Wools and Tin, or the Value of the same to the King.

ITEM, That none from henceforth shall gild any (') Sheaths, nor Metal, but Silver, and the Ornaments of Holy Church; nor shall silver no Metal but Knights Spurs, and all the Apparel that pertaineth to a Baron, and above that Estate; upon Pain [of Forfeiture'] to the King Ten Times as much as the Thing so gilt is of Value, and shall have also One Year's Imprisonment. And the Justices of Peace shall have Power to inquire thereof, and that to determine. And he that will sue for the King in this Behalf, shall have the Third Part of the said pecuniary Pain. AT the Parliament holden at Westminster, the Second Day of May, the Ninth Year of the Reign of King Henry the Fifth after the Conquest, the same our Lord the King, by the Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the special Instance and Request of the Commons, assembled in the same Parliament, hath caused to be ordained and stablished certain Statutes and Ordinances in the Form following.

I.
Indictments
and Appeals made in a Place not existing declared void,
and the Indictors guilty
of conspiracy,
and to be punished by Fine and Imprisonment.

FIRST, For that many People by Malice, Envy, and Revenge, cause often the King's liege People to be appealed or indicted in divers Counties, of Treasons or of Felonies, supposing by the said Appeals or Indictments that the said Treasons or Felonies were done in a certain Place, where no such Place is in that County where the Indictment is made, nor any such Place as is or shall be declared by the said Appeals; It is ordained, That the said Appeals or Indictments, and the Process of the same, shall be void and holden for nought; and that the said Appellees or Indicted may have Writs of Conspiracy against their Indictors, Procurors, and Conspirators, and shall recover their Damages; and that the said Indictors, Procurors, and Conspirators shall be also punished by Imprisonment and Fine and Ransom for the King's Advantage by the Discretion of the Justices: And that this Ordinance and Remedy do extend as well to Appeals and Indictments taken heretofore, in the Time of our Lord the King that now is, not determined, as to Appeals or Indictments to be taken in Time to come; And that this Ordinance shall stand in his force until the next Parliament to be holden after the coming again of our said Lord the King into England from beyond the Sea.

II.
On Outlawries in Lancia-shire, Goods and Lands in other Counties shall not be forfeited.

1 Hen. IV.
c. 18. as to Cheshire,
confirmed.

ITEM, It is ordained, That none of the King's liege People, against whom an Exigend shall be awarded, or outlawed at the King's Suit from henceforth, or at the Suit of the Party in the County of Lancaster, shall forfeit any of his Goods or Chattels, Lands or Tenements in other Counties, but only [such<sup>1</sup>] Goods and Chattels, Lands and Tenements, which the said Outlaws have in the same County of Lancaster: Provided always, That the Statute made the First Year of King Henry the Fourth, (<sup>2</sup>) against the People of the County of Chester which do many Manslaughters, Murders, Robberies, Batteries, Trespasses, and other Riots and Offences to divers the King's liege People (<sup>3</sup>) shall stand in his force, notwithstanding this present Ordinance; And that this Ordinance stand in his force till the Parliament which shall be first holden after the King's Return into England from beyond the Sea.

ITEM, Whereas the taking of Assises (¹) hath long ceased throughout the Realm, because of an Ordinance made by the King at his Second Passage towards the Parts of Normandy, and by his Council; the King considering the [Diseases and Damage,²] which many of his liege People have had and sustained by the same ceasing, hath commanded, That his Justices shall hold the Assises through his Realm by the Manner accustomed. And (¹) for to eschew the Disherisons of such Persons, as [now³] shall pass in this present Voyage of the King our Sovereign Lord, whom God speed, and also of such Persons as [abide⁴] in the King's Service in the Parts of Normandy and France, It is ordained and provided, That in every Protection with the Clause Volum⁹, to be made for any of the same Persons, in the Clause of the Exception contained in the same, Omission shall be made of these Words [Assise⁵] novel disseisin. And that all such Protections be allowable and allowed for them and every of them, in all the King's Courts and elsewhere, where such Protection is set forth for any such Person, in all Pleas of Assise, as well of Novel disseisin as of fresh Force, without (⁷) Difficulty. Provided always, That the Judgements to be given from henceforth in such Assises, arraigned or to be arraigned, shall not be prejudicial to any of the said Persons so abiding in the King's Service beyond the Sea, as afore is said, which have any Thing in Reversion or in Remainder in the Lands or Tenements, whereof such Assises be or shall be arraigned, if they that have in Reversion or Remainder in such Lands and Tenements, be not named in the same Assises, but that they be against them all void; and this Ordinance shall endure till the Parliament that shall be first holden after the King's next Return into England: And if this Ordinance touching the said Persons so abiding in the King's Service beyond the Sea, and also touching the said Persons which have passed and shall pass in the said Voyage, be not sufficient for the Ease and Surety of them; It is also accorded and assented, That the Lords of the King's Council for the Time being shall have full Power by Authority of this Parliament, to set, ordain, and provide sufficient Remedy for the Ease and Surety of all the same Persons, as for them and every of them shall seem to the said Lords most available and expedient in the Case, according to their good Advice and Discretions.

ITEM, Whereas it was ordained and established in the Statute made the Fourteenth Year of King Edward the Third after the Conquest, that for Misprision of the Clerk in any Place wheresoever it be, the Process of the Plea should not be avoided nor discontinued, by mistaking in Writing one Letter or Syllable too much or too little, but as soon as the Thing is perceived, by Challenge of the Party, or in other Manner, it should hastily be amended in [a due⁶] Form, without giving Advantage to the Party that challengeth the same because of such Misprision; the King our Sovereign Lord considering the Diversity of Opinions which have been upon the said Statute, and to put the Thing in more open Knowledge, hath declared and ordained at this Time, by Authority of this present Parliament, That the Justices before whom such Plea or Record is [made,⁷] or shall be depending, as well by Adjournment as by Way of Error or otherwise, shall have Power and Authority to amend such Record and Process, as afore is said, according to the Form of the same Statute, as well after

And that this Ordinance endure till the next Parliament to be holden, after the King's Return from beyond the Sea into England.

ITEM, Forasmuch as the Abbots and Priors of the Realm of England, have had and sustained great [Damage,<sup>2</sup>] Losses, Costs, and [Diseases<sup>3</sup>] before this Time, by that that they have been assigned by the Archbishops and Bishops of the same Realm [of England,] to gather the Dismes granted to the Kings of England by the Clergy, very far from their Houses, and also in divers Dioceses and Counties, as they have shewed to our said Sovereign Lord the King by their Petition delivered in this present Parliament; the King [our Sovereign Lord,] having thereto Consideration, hath ordained and established, That no Abbot nor Prior within [the Realm of England,<sup>4</sup>] shall be by any Archbishop or Bishop from henceforth ordained to be Collector of any Dismes or Subsidies out of the same County where he is dwelling or conversant. And this Ordinance shall stand in his force till the Parliament which shall be first holden after the King's Return from beyond the Sea into England.

ITEM, Whereas of every Chaldron of Sea Coals which be or shall be sold to People not franchised in the Port of the Town of Newcastle-upon-Tyne, Twopence be due to the King of Custom, and in the same Port be certain Vessels called Keels, by which such Coals be carried from the Land to the Ships in the said Port; and every of the said Keels ought to be of the Portage of Twenty Chaldrons, and according to the same Portage, the (<sup>1</sup>) Custom is thereof taken to the King's Use; there be now certain People that of late have made such Keels of the Portage of Twenty-two or Twenty-three Chaldrons, whereof the Custom hath been taken according to the Portage of Twenty Chaldrons only, in Deceit of our Lord the King, as he hath perceived by Complaint in this Parliament; [It is therefore<sup>6</sup>] ordained and established against such Deceit, that all the Keels which now be, and hereafter shall be in the said Port, shall be measured by certain Commissioners thereto (<sup>7</sup>) assigned by the King, and marked of what Portage they be, before that any Carriage be made by the same, upon Pain of [Forfeiture<sup>8</sup>] to the King all the Vessels called Keels, by which any such Coals shall be carried, before that they be marked in the Manner aforesaid.

ITEM, To avoid the Perils and Deceits which long have continued within the Realm by Washers, Clippers, and Counterfeiters of the Money [of the Realm] of England, to the great [Loss<sup>9</sup>] and Damage of all the People of the same Realm; the King, by the Advice and Assent of all the Lords and Commons assembled in this Parliament, hath ordained and established, That from Christmas Even next coming, none of the King's liege People shall receive any Money of English Gold in Payment, but by the King's Weight thereupon ordained. And because a great Part of the Gold now current in Payment is not of rightful Weight nor of good Alloy the same [shall<sup>10</sup>] be sent to the [Coine,<sup>11</sup>] to the Intent it shall be newly coined of just Weight and of good Alloy, and [because that shall be<sup>12</sup>] to the great Loss and Costs of the King's Subjects, unless it please him to relieve them in this Case,

STATUTE THE SECOND.

AT the Parliament holden at Westminster the First Day of December, in the Ninth Year of the Reign of King Henry the Fifth, [It is ordained'] by the Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the Request of the Commons [there assembled,'] That all the Statutes and Ordinances, which have been made in the Time of the King's noble Progenitors, touching the good and lawful Governance of his [Money'] of Gold and Silver, not repealed, be well and firmly kept and holden in all Points.

ITEM, The King, in as much as he conveniently may, shall do to be ordained his Exchanges of the Money of Gold and Silver in the City of London, and elsewhere in the Realm, for the Ease of his People, which shall be holden in open Places in high Streets:
And that all they that will come to the Tower of London,
there to have Money of new coined, they shall (*) have Money coined, and thereof shall be delivered within Eight Days, according to the very Value of that that they shall bring thither, paying the Seignorage and Coinage of Gold, after the Rate of Five Shillings for the Pound of the Tower, and for the Seignorage and Coinage of Silver Fifteen Pence for the Pound (') and no more; and that they that will not approach the Tower to do the same, but will be thereof delivered at the Exchanges, shall pay for the Exchange after the Rate of a Penny for the Noble, and for the Half Noble a Half-penny, and for the Fourth Part of the Noble a Farthing, with the Seignorage and Coinage, as afore is said.

ITEM, That the Masters and Workers of the Money, and also the [Strangers*] in all Places where Money shall be [coined,] made, or changed, shall be holden to deliver and pay (') all that that ought to pertain to them for such Exchange of good and lawful Money of England, by and of just Weight, or by the Number at the Election of him which shall receive the same without any Delay or Difficulty.

* after the Conquest, the same our Lord the King assembled in this same Parliament, hath made certain Ordinances for the common Profit and Weal of the Realm, in Form following: First,

Monies M.S. Tr. 2.

there M.S. Tr. 2.

II.
The King's Exchanges
for Money.

Seignorage upon Coinage of Money.

What shall be paid for Exchanges.

III.
The Money-
ers and Exchangers shall deliver good Money, or it may be refused.

And if percase it happen that any notable Default in the Weight [of the Money,] or in the Allay be found, which God defend, upon the Delivery or Payment to be made at the said Tower, or at the Exchanges aforesaid, that then it shall be well lawful to every Person that shall find such Default, to refuse that that is defective before that he depart the Place where he the same shall receive; and that the Master or the [Changers'] be holden to deliver to him sufficient Money for the same, without Delay, and to melt that that shall so be found defective.

Exchanges
shall bring to the Tower
Gold and
received.

ITEM, That they which shall be Wardens and [Surveyors'] and Ministers of the Exchanges out of the Tower, shall be holden and bounden to bring <sup>(1)</sup> all the Gold and Silver that they shall receive by way of Exchange, or shall buy by Colour of their Office, to the Tower of London, there to be molten and made in Money, in Augmentation and Increase of the Money, for the Profit of the Realm and Ease of the People, without being sold, aliened, or put to any other Use.

V.

The Second Year.

HENRY by the Grace of God, King of England and France and Lord of Ireland, to the Sheriff of Middlesex, Greeting. Certain Statutes and Ordinances in our last Parliament made, We send to thee in Form Patent, commanding that those Statutes and Ordinances, in the Places within thy Bailiwick where it may be most expedient, thou do cause to be publicly proclaimed on our Behalf, and as far as in thee lieth to be firmly observed, according to the Tenor of the same. Witness myself at Westminster the First Day of July in the Second Year of our Reign.

AT the Parliament holden at Westminster the Twentieth Day of October, in the Second Year of the Reign of King Henry the Sixth after the Conquest, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the special Instance and Request of the Commons of England being in the same Parliament, certain Ordinances, Declarations and Statutes were made and established to the Honour of God, and for the Wealth of the King and of his Realm, in the Form following.

I. Liberties confirmed.

FIRST, That Holy Church, and all the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and all other the King's People, having Liberties and Franchises, and also all the Cities and Boroughs shall have and enjoy all their Liberties and Franchises well used, and not repealed, nor by the Common Law repealable.

ITEM, Whereas the Hospital of Saint Leonard of York, which is of the Foundation of the (') Progenitors of our said Lord the King, late Kings of England, and of his Patronage, in the first Foundation of the same was endowed, by the said Progenitors of the King, of a Thraue of Corn to be taken yearly of every Plough caring within the Counties of York, Cumberland, Westmerland, and Lancaster, within the [County'] of York, of which Thraves the Master and Brethren of the said Hospital, and their Predecessors have been seised, (') the Time whereof runneth no Memory, as Parcel of the first Foundation of the said Hospital, and the same they have levied and gathered at the Feast of Saint Martin in Winter every Year, till now late that divers People of the said Counties, within the Province aforesaid, have withholden the same Thraves, whereof the said Master and Brethren have no sufficient nor covenable Remedy at the Common Law, to the great Damage of the said Hospital, and open Subtraction of the Sustenance of the said Master and Brethren, if Remedy be not for them provided, as Complaint was thereof made in the said Parliament: The King considering the Premises, of the Assent and Request aforesaid, hath ordained and stablished, That the said Master and Brethren, and their Successors for the Time being, may levy, gather, and take the said Thraves within the Province aforesaid, in the Places where they ought of Right, and were wont, after the Custom and Usage had in the same Places heretofore. And also that the same [Masters'] and (') Successors for the Time being shall from Time to Time have Actions by Writs or Plaints of Debt or Detinue at their Pleasure, against all them and every of them that detain the same Thraves so of Right due to the said Hospital, or any Part of them, to recover the said Thraves against them, and every of them, with their Damages in this Behalf: Provided always, That the Parties with whom the said Master and Brethren, or their Predecessors, be accorded for such Thraves by Compositions made and sealed betwixt them, shall of no more be charged than is comprised within the same Compositions, for the Possessions that the said Parties had at the Time of the making of the aforesaid Compositions.

ITEM, It is ordained and assented, That John Duke of Bedford, Uncle to our Sovereign Lord the King, which is beyond the Sea in the Parts of France in the King's Service, in all Manner of Pleas moved and to be moved against any Person or Persons of Lands and Tenements, the Reversion or Remainder whereof is to the said Duke joint or several to his own Use, he shall be by his Attorney or Attorneys received to defend his Right; and in the same Manner shall have and enjoy all manner Benefits and Advantages, as if he were present in his proper Person. And that this Ordinance extend as well to Receipts of Reversions and Remainders, to be purchased and gotten to the said Duke jointly or severally to his own Use, as to Receipts of Reversions and Remainders, which he now hath, as long as he shall be in the King's Service beyond the Sea.

ITEM, Whereas the Noble King Edward the Third (') did ordain his Staple to be [at'] Calais, and that the whole Repair of Wools, Woolfels, Leather, Lead, Tin, Butter, Cheese, and other Merchandise, except Woolen Cloths and Red Herring, passing out of the Realm of England, and his Lands of Wales and Ireland, and his Town of Berwick-upon-Tweed, should be at the said Town of Calais;

All Merchandises of the Staple shall be carried to Calais.

Licences.

And after at a Parliament holden in the First Year of King Henry the Fourth, it was ordained, That the Staple of Wools, Woolfels, Leather, Lead, and Tin, should be wholly at Calais; saving that Merchants of Genoa, Venice, Catalonia, Arragon, and other Realms, Lands, [and'] Countries towards the West, being of the King's Amity, may ship at Hampton in Carracks, Ships, Galleys, and other Vessels, Wools, Woolfels, Leather, Lead, Tin, and other Merchandises of the Staple, and [bring'] them into their Country towards the West, after the Form of the Statute thereof made in the Second Year of King Richard the Second after the Conquest; and also saving to the Burgesses and Merchants of Berwick-upon-Tweed certain Benefits to bring the Wools of the growing between the Waters of Tweed and Cocket, to the said Place of Berwick, and to ship them towards what Parts it shall please them beyond the Sea. And also whereas the said Statutes, in the Parliament holden at Westminster in the Second Year of the Reign of King Henry the Fifth, Father to our Sovereign Lord the King that now is, were confirmed; and moreover it was ordained in the same Parliament, That no Wools, Woolfels, Leather, Lead, Tin, whole or [founded'] called shotten Tin, nor none other Merchandise of the Staple whatsoever it were, should from [henceforth'] be sent or [brought'] to any Parts beyond the Sea, except they were first carried to the said Staple, after the Form of the said Ordinance made the said First Year, upon Pain of Forfeiture of all the Merchandises in such Manner sent or [brought'] out of the said Realm, unless it be by the King's Licence; and except all Persons, Goods, and Things which be excepted in the same Ordinance made the First Year, as in the said Statutes is more fully contained: Nevertheless, the Leather, and [founded'] Tin, called shotten Tin, bought and provided here in England, have not been [brought'] to the said Staple of Calais, after the Form of the said Statutes, but doth pass into Flanders, Holland, and Zealand, to the great Damage, and diminishing of the Customs and Subsidies due to the King, if they were [brought'] to the Town of Calais; The King willing to eschew [the'] Damage and Diminution, by the Advice and Request aforesaid, hath ordained and established, That all the Statutes thereof made and not repealed, be holden and kept, and put in due Execution; And that the whole Repair of Wools, Woolfels, Leather, Lead, [whole Tin, and'] shotten Tin, and all other Merchandises pertaining to the Staple, passing out of the Realm of England, and of the Countries of Wales and Ireland, be at the said Place of Calais, and at none other Place beyond the Sea, as long as the said Staple shall be at (*) Calais, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the very Value of the Merchandises, which shall pass elsewhere but to the Parts towards the West, named in the said Statutes thereof made; And that no Licence from henceforth be granted to the contrary, except for Wools, Fells, and Leather of Northumberland, Westmerland, Cumberland, and the Bishoprick of Durham; saving the King's Prerogative. Provided always, That if any Merchants under Colour of any Licence ship any Wools of the growing of any Part of Yorkshire, or of any other Country of the Realm, except of the growing of the same Parts of Northumberland, Westmerland, Cumberland, and the Bishoprick of Durham, they shall forfeit to the King the Value of all the Wools so shipped, and also they shall lose the Benefit of the same

Licence; and he that the same espieth, and thereof giveth Knowledge to the Treasurer of England for the time being, shall have the Fourth Part of the Forfeiture so by him notified.

Also, It is ordained, That no Licence be made to any one to carry the slight Wools of the Counties of Southampton, Kent, Sussex, and York, to any Parts beyond Sea, except to Calais, until the next Parliament: Saving also the King's Prerogative.

ITEM, Because that a new Shipping is found in the Pille of Foddray in the County of Lancaster, out of which Pille and other Creeks within the Realm much Wools be [brought'] to Ernemouth in Zealand, and to many other Places beyond the Sea, without Custom or Subsidy thereof duly paying to the King, and the Merchants come to Dublin in Ireland, and there take their Cockets, and pay for every Stone of Wool [to their proper Use'] ij. d. as the King hath been thereof credibly informed in the said Parliament, to the King's great Deceit and Fraud: It is ordained and established, That if any Person [bring'] or cause to be [brought'] any Wools or Woolfels not customed out of the Realm, to other Places than to the said Staple (*) he shall forfeit to the King the Value of the Merchandises so shipped, and his Body to Prison, till he hath made and paid a Fine and Ransom;
And that he that thereof giveth Knowledge to the Treasurer of England for the time being, and the Trespasser for the same duly convict, shall have the Fourth Part of the Forfeiture due to the King in this Behalf.

ITEM, Whereas by King Henry the Fifth, Father to our Lord the King that now is, It was ordained, That a Mint of Gold and Silver should be holden within [the'] Town of Calais, whereby great Substance of Money of Gold and Silver hath been brought within the Realm, which Money by divers Persons hath been, and is daily carried out of the same to Burdeaux, Flanders, and other Places, against the Statute in old Times made and provided in this Behalf, as hath been grievously complained in this Parliament: It is ordained and assented, That the same Statute be holden and kept, and put in due Execution; And moreover, It is ordained and established, That no Gold nor Silver shall be carried out of the Realm contrary to the said Statute, unless it be for Payment of [Wars, and the King's Soldiers'] beyond the Sea, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the Value of the Sum of Money so carried out of the Realm, to be levied of him that shall bring, carry, or send it out of the same Realm; and that he which espieth it, and thereof giveth Knowledge to the Council, or to the Treasurer of England, shall have the Fourth Part of the Forfeiture so due to the King; Except the Ransoms for Fines of English Prisoners taken and to be taken beyond the Sea, and the Money that the Soldiers shall carry with them for their reasonable Costs, and also for Horses, Oxen, Sheep, and other Things bought in Scotland, to be sent and carried to the Parties adjoining;
so that the Money to be sent for the Fines of the said Prisoners, or to be carried by the said Soldiers to the Parties beyond the Sea, be not done without the King's special Licence. And because it is supposed that the Money [of'] Gold of the Realm is carried out of the same by Merchants Aliens, it is ordained and established, That the Merchants Aliens shall find Surety in the Chancery, every Company for them of their Company, than xxxij. s. abated for the Coinage Twelve-pence; It is ordained and established, for the Increase of (¹) White Money, That no Man, of what Estate or Condition that he be within [the '] Realm, shall buy or sell no Silver in Plate [Piece'] nor in Masse, being as good of Allay as the Sterling, above Thirty Shillings the Pound of Troy, over the Fashion, upon the Pain of Forfeiture of the Double Value of as much as he buyeth or selleth contrary to this Ordinance; and that the one Half be forfeit to the King's Use, and the other Half to the Use of him that will sue and prove the same Forfeiture. Provided always, That they which go to the Coin, may have and take of the Master of the same Coin, according as is lawfully contained in the Indentures thereof made betwixt the King and him; And also the Master of the said Mint for the Time being, may take and deliver as is contained in the said Indentures, without taking more, for the Ease and Profit of the common People.

ITEM, That no Goldsmith, nor Worker of Silver within the City of London, sell any Workmanship of Silver, unless it be as fine as the Sterling, except the same need Souder in the making, which shall be allowed according as the Souder is necessary to be wrought in the same. And that no Goldsmith nor Jeweller, nor any other that worketh Harness of Silver, shall set any of the same to sell within [the '] City, before that it be touched with the Touch of the Leopard's Head, if it may reasonably bear the same Touch, and also with the Mark or Sign of the Workman of the same, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the Double, as afore is said; and that the Mark and Sign of every Goldsmith be known to the Wardens of the same Craft. And if it may be found, that the said Keeper of the Touch touch any such Harness with the Leopard's Head, except it be as fine in Allay as the Sterling, that then the Keeper of the Touch, for every Thing so proved not as good in Allay as the said Sterling, shall forfeit the Double Value to the King and to the Party, as is above recited. And also it is likewise ordained in the City of York, Newcastle upon Tyne, Lincoln, Norwich, Bristow, Salisbury, and Coventry, that every one shall have divers Touches, according to the Ordinance of the Mayors, Bailiffs, or Governors of the same Towns; and that no Goldsmith, nor other [Workers'] of Silver, nor Keeper of the said Touches within the same Towns, shall set to Sale, or touch any Silver in other Manner than is ordained before within the City of London, upon Pain of the said Forfeiture. And moreover that no Goldsmith, or other Worker of Silver within the Realm of England, where no Touch is ordained as afore is said, shall work any Silver, except it be as fine in Allay as the Sterling, and that the Goldsmith or Worker of the same Silver set upon the same his Mark or Sign before he set it to Sale; and if it be found that it is not as fine as the Sterling, that then the Worker of the same shall forfeit the Double Value, in Manner and Form as before is recited within the City of London. And (²) the Justices of Peace, Mayors and Bailiffs, and all other having Power as Justices of Peace, shall hear, inquire, and determine, by Bill, Complaint, or in other Manner, of all that do contrary to the said Ordinances, and thereof [to '] make due Execution by their Discretions:

St. 25 E. III.
st. 5. ch. 2.

Escape of Prisoners, committed for High Treason, declared to be Treason.

ITEM, Whereas It was ordained by a Statute made at Westminster, in the Thirteenth Year of the Reign of King Edward, Son of King Henry, that if a Writ be brought against the Husband and his Wife, or against Tenant for Term of Life, for Term of another's Life, or by the Curtesy, or Tenant in Tail after Possibility of Issue extinct, and the Husband or such Tenants make Default after Default, or are willing to render to the Demandant his Demand, that if the Wife or those to whom the Reversion belongs come before Judgment given, they shall be received to defend their Right; And because that the King's Justices are now in great Doubt, if the Husband or any of the said Tenants make Default after Default, or render the Action to the Demandant, the which Defaults or Renders be recorded at one Term, and for certain Causes moving the Judges, the Judgment be respited and Day given over to the next Term, if they in Reversion shall be received at that last Term to defend their Right: And to remove such Doubt and Uncertainty, It is ordained and declared by the Advice and Assent aforesaid, That they in Reversion may be received to defend their Right, if they come at any Time before Judgment given in such Cases before declared, according to the Form and Words in the said Statute contained. And that this Ordinance do extend to Writs now pending, and the Judgment not yet given, as in Actions hereafter to be moved. And this Ordinance shall endure until the Parliament next to come.

ITEM, Forasmuch as in the Time of the noble King Edward, the Third after the Conquest, at his Parliament holden at Westminster, it was declared by Statute what Things ought to be called Treason, among which, if a Man was indicted, appealed, or taken for Suspicion of High Treason, and for that cause committed and detained in the King's Prison, and afterwards such Prisoner escaped out of the King's Prison, Declaration hath not been made before this Time, whether such Escape should be adjudged Treason or not; It is ordained and declared by the Authority of this present Parliament by Statute, That if any Person be indicted, appealed, or taken for Suspicion of High Treason, as afore

OUR Lord the King, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the special Request of the Commons, assembled in this Parliament, holden at Westminster the last Day of April, the Third Year of his Reign, hath ordained and established certain Ordinances and Statutes, to the Honour of God, and for the Weal of his Realm, in the Form following :

FIRST, Whereas by the yearly Congregacions and Confederacies made by the Masons in their general Chapters [and Assemblies,'] the good Course and Effect of the Statutes of Labourers be openly violated and broken, in Subversion of the Law, and to the great Damage of all the Commons: Our said Lord the King willing in this Case to provide Remedy, by the Advice and Assent aforesaid, and at the special Request of the said Commons, hath ordained and established, That such Chapters and Congregacions shall not be hereafter holden ; and if any such be made, they that cause such Chapters and Congregacions to be assembled and holden, if they thereof be convict, shall be judged for Felons ; and that all the other Masons that come to such Chapters and Congregacions, be punished by Imprisonment of their Bodies, and make Fine and Ransom at the King's Will.

ITEM, Because that divers Persons do from Time to Time carry out of the Realm great Number of Sheep [with Fleeces,'] into Flanders, and other Countries beyond the Sea, and there they shear them, and sell as well the same Sheep, as the Wools of the same, to Men of the same Country, so that by such Persons the Sheep within the said Country of Flanders, and other Parts, in short Time be likely to be much increased (¹) to the great Deceit, Loss, and Damage of our (²) Lord the King, of his Customs and Subsidies of the said Wools, and also to the great Hindrance of all the Realm, and Diminution and Abatement of the Price of Wools, as well at the Staple at Calais, as here in England, unless Remedy be provided in this Behalf ; Our said Lord the King, considering the Premises, by the Advice and Assent, and at the Request aforesaid, hath ordained and granted by the Authority of the said Parliament, That no manner of Person, of what Estate or Condition that he be,

The Third Year.

I. Confederacies of Masons forbidden.

Punishment of Procurers, and of the confederators.

II. Mischiefs arising from the Exportation of Sheep with Fleeces.

No Sheep shall be exported without the King's Licence ;

hereafter be suffered to ship (¹) within the Realm [of England] any Sheep, fleeced or shorn, into the said Country of Flanders, or to any other Parts beyond the Sea, except it be to victual the Town of Calais and the Marches thereof; and that every Man that may be espied, which under the Colour of victualling of the same Town and Marches of Calais, passeth into any other Places than to the same Town and Marches with any Sheep fleeced or shorn, except he have the King's Licence, shall forfeit to the King the same Sheep, or the Value thereof, as oftentimes as he shall be found in Default.

III.
Penalty on Customers
&c. concealing the King's Custom.

ITEM, It is ordained and established, That if any Customer, Collector, or Controller of the King's Customs of Cokettes of Cloths, of Subsidies of Tonnage or Poundage, in any Port or Place of England, be duly (²) attainted or convict at the King's Suit (³), of false concealing of the King's Custom or Subsidy duly entered and paid by any Merchant, that then the said Customer, Collector, or Controller so duly attainted or convict by the Law, shall lose and forfeit to the King the treble Value of the Merchandises so duly customed, and make Fine and Ransom: And he that will sue, shall have the Third Part for his Labour.

IV.
Chancellor
may grant Licence to export Butter and Cheese to other Places than to the Staple.

ITEM, Whereas by a Statute made in the Time of the Noble King Edward the Third, (⁴) it was ordained, That the Staple, and the Merchandises of the Staple should be carried to Calais, amongst which Merchandises it was ordained by the same Statute, That Butter and Cheese should be Merchandises of the Staple; by which [Ordinances (⁵)] divers Persons of the Realm of England have had great (⁶) Damage, because that the said Butter and Cheese be so tender Merchandises that they cannot [tarry their Merchants, (⁷)] as our Lord the King hath perceived by the grievous Complaint of his said Commons; The same our Lord the King, willing to provide Remedy in this Behalf, by the Advice and Assent aforesaid, hath ordained and established, That he that will carry Butter and Cheese to any other Parts than to the said Staple, shall sue to the Chancellor of England for the Time being to have Licence in this Behalf; and that the same Chancellor have Power to make to him such Licences under the King's Great Seal, if it like him so to do by his Discretion.

V.
Chancellor
may award Commissions
to reform the River Lee.

ITEM, Whereas in the last Parliament it was granted, That a Commission for the Water called the Ley, one of the great Rivers which extendeth from the Town of Ware till the Water of Thames, in the Counties of Hertford, Essex, and Middlesex, to survey, redress, and amend all the Defaults in the said Water, for the Passage of Ships and Boats, as in the Ordinances and Statutes (⁸) of the King's Noble Progenitors is contained: And Forasmuch as the same Commission was directed to divers great Men, Lords and other Persons, which thereto might not attend; It is ordained and established, That the Chancellor of England (⁹) shall have Power to grant such Commissions at all Times needful to such indifferent Persons dwelling thereabout, which thereto best can and may attend, to inquire, redress, and amend all the Defaults being in the said Water, as well by divers Trenches made out of the said Water, as of all other manner Stanks, (¹⁰) Kideis, Weirs or Mills, being or made to the Annoyance of the Passage of Boats in the said Water, according to the Purport and Tenor of the Statutes in this Case provided and ordained.

 our Sovereign Lord the King, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the special Request of the Commons of his Realm, in his Parliament, holden at Leicester, the Eighteenth Day of February, the Fourth Year of his Reign, being, to the Honour of God, and for the Weal, Profit, and Ease of his Realm.

FIRST, Whereas grievous Complaint hath been made to the King by [his Commons'] in this Parliament, That where divers Writs at the Suit [of the Parties'] be severally directed to Sheriffs of the Realm, to take divers Persons by their Bodies, the same Sheriffs, after the Writs to them so directed, take great Sums of Money of the Parties which be so pursued, for their Mainprise; and moreover the said Sheriffs do take great Sums of Money, to embeszie the King's Writs in divers Cases, to the great Impediment and Hinderance of the Parties pursuing, (¹) to the great Oppression and Impoverishing of the common People of the Realm: And [whereas'] Writs be directed to the said Sheriffs to impanel divers Persons to pass in Inquests betwixt Parties, and to return and certify their Names in the King's Courts, the same Sheriffs do return and certify by virtue of the said Writs, the Names of divers Men impaneled, without any Warning thereof made to them, to their great Loss and Damage: It is ordained and [established,'] That every Sheriff for the Time being, shall return the Writs to him directed [in'] the King's Courts, at such Days as they be returnable; and that the same Sheriffs in reasonable Time warn all the Persons impanelled to pass in Inquests in the King's Courts, that they may appear at such Days as they have by the King's Writs: And if any Sheriff do the contrary of any of the said Articles, then the Party that seeleth himself grieved, may sue by Bill or Writ (²) upon his Case against the Sheriff, as well in the Exchequer as in any other of the Kings Courts; in which Suits if the
 (³) Sheriff be convict, the Party that sueth shall recover in the same Suit his Double Damages: And that the Justices of Peace, Stewards of Leets and Hundreds, have Power to enquire of such Misprisions and Defaults of the said Sheriffs, and to certify their said Inquiries before the Justices of Deliverance so that they may put the said Parties to answer; upon which Answer if they be found guilty, they shall make Fine and Ransom to the King: And this Ordinance shall endure till the next Parliament: And as to the letting to Mainprise, the Sta-

Recital of the Statute 9 Hen V. st. 1. ch. 4. reciting Stat. 14 Edw. III. st. 1. c. 6 for Amendment of Errors in Process, by Misprision of Clerks, as well after Judgment as before :

ITEM, Whereas at the Parliament holden at Westminster, the Second Day of May, the Ninth Year of the Reign of King Henry Father of our Lord the King that now is, it was rehearsed, how that at the Parliament holden at Westminster the xiv. Year of King Edward the Third, it was ordained by the Authority of the said Parliament, That for Misprision of a Clerk, in whatsoever Place it be, no Process or Plea should be undone nor discontinued, by Oversight in Writing a Letter or Syllable too much or too little, but as soon as the Thing were perceived by Challenge of the Parties, or in other Manner, it should be hastily amended in due Form, without giving Advantage to the Party that challengeth the same because of such Misprision ; the said late King Henry, considering the Diversities of Opinions which Men had upon the said Statute, and to put the Thing in more open Knowledge, did declare and ordain by Authority of the said Parliament holden the said Ninth Year, That the Justices before whom such Plea or Record is [made<sup>1</sup>] or shall be depending, as well by Adjournment as by Way of Error or otherwise, shall have Power and Authority to amend such Record and Process, [as well after Judgment given as before,<sup>2</sup>] by Force of the said Statute made in the Time of the said King Edward (<sup>1</sup>) ; which Ordinance should endure till the next Parliament, which should be first holden after the Return of the said King Henry the Father into England from beyond the Sea, and which now is determined by the Death of the said late King Henry the Father : Our Sovereign Lord, by the Advice and Assent aforesaid, hath ordained and established, That the said Statute, and the Effect of the same, made the said Ninth Year, shall hold Strength, Force, and Effect, in every Record, and Process [of the same,] as well after Judgment given upon a Verdict passed, as upon [a Matter<sup>3</sup>] in Law pleaded, as a Statute available and effectual in Law to endure for ever. Provided always, That this Statute do not extend to Records and Processes in the Parts of Wales, nor to Records and Processes whereby any Person is or shall be outlawed at any Man's Suit.

The said Statutes confirmed, as well after Judgment on Verdict as on Demurrer.

Exception as to Wales, and Records of Outlawry.

IV.

Certain Writs not abateable by Knight-hood of the Parties.

ITEM, Our said Sovereign Lord the King, by the Advice and Assent aforesaid hath ordained and established, That all the Writs, Suits, and Processes, which all the Knights that were made Knights by the King in the Time of this Parliament holden, have depending, and which every of them hath depending, not determined, be good and effectual, not abateable by the Law because that they be made Knights, or because that any of them is made Knight.

ROLL OF THE STATUTES OF THE SIXTH YEAR OF THE REIGN OF K. HENRY, VI.

OUR Lord the King at his Parliament holden at Westminster the Fifteenth of Saint Michael, the Sixth Year of his Reign, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the special [Instance and] Request of the Commons of his Realm in the said Parliament assembled, hath caused to be made certain Statutes and Ordinances, to the Honour of God, and for the Weal and Ease of his People in the [Manner and] Form following :

I.
Indictments
found in the King's Bench
by Jurors suspected,
or unduely
procured ;

FIRST, For that divers of the King's faithful Subjects by false Practice, Covin, and Conspiracy of certain evil Persons be indicted before our Lord the King in his Bench, of divers Felonies and Treasons, by suspect Jurors, hired and procured to the same by Confederacy and Covin of the said Conspirators, by Force of which Indictments a Capias is awarded to the [Sheriffs'] of the County where the said Bench is, returnable within Two or Four Days, at which Day, if the Party so indicted come not, an Exigent is awarded, whereby the Goods and Chattels of such Persons indicted be forfeit to our Lord the King, to the utter undoing of divers of the King's faithful Subjects, as the same our Lord the King hath conceived by the grievous Complaint of the said Commons, made to him in the said Parliament ;

Our said Lord the King willing in this Case to provide Remedy, hath ordained, by the Advice and Assent [of the Lords,'] That before any Exigent be awarded against such Persons indicted before the King in his said Bench, Writs of Capias shall be directed, as well to the Sheriff or Sheriffs of the County wherein they be (') indicted, as to the Sheriff or Sheriffs of the County whereof they be named in the Indictments; the same Capias having the Space of Six Weeks at the least, or longer Time, by the Discretion of the said Justices, if the Case require it, before the Return of the same; which Writs so returned, the Justices shall proceed in the Manner as they have done before this Time; and if any Exigent be awarded, or any Outlawry pronounced hereafter against such Persons indicted, before the Return of the said Writs, the same Exigent so awarded, with the Outlawry thereof pronounced, shall be void and holden for none: And this Ordinance shall endure as long as shall please the King.

ITEM, Because that divers of the King's liege People in Times past have been disherited, for that in special Assises the Tenants and Defendants could not have Knowledge nor Copy of the Panel of them that be impanelled to pass in the said Assises, to inform them of their Right and Titles before the Day of the Session that the Assises should be demanded; Our (') Lord the King, willing thereof to provide Remedy, hath ordained and established, That the Panels of the (') Assises shall be arrayed, and a Copy indented of the same by the Sheriff delivered to the Plaintiffs Tenants and Defendants, (') Six Days at the least before the Session of the Justices, if they the same demand; And as to the Return or Answer of the Bailiffs of Franchises, they shall make their Returns or Answers to the Sheriffs, [of'] such special Assises, [Six'] Days before the Sessions in the Manner aforesaid: And that upon Pain of Forty Pounds to be paid by the said Sheriffs or Bailiffs to our Lord the King, as often as they or any of them do or cause to be done contrary to this Ordinance [or Statute.]

ITEM, Whereas it was ordained in the Parliament holden at [Canterbury,'] the Twelfth Year of King Richard the Second (') how much every Servant of Husbandry shall take by the Year for his Service; and if any do contrary to the same Ordinance, and thereof be attainted, that he shall pay, that is to say, as well the Giver as the Taker (') the Excess so given or taken; and at the Second Default of their Attaindre, the Double Value of such Excess; and at the Third Default, the Treble Value; and if the said Taker have not whereof he may pay the said Excess, that then he shall have Imprisonment of Forty Days: And also by another Statute made at the Parliament holden at Westminster, the Thirteenth Year of the said late King, It was ordained and established, That the Justices of Peace in every County [of England,] in their Sessions holden betwixt [the Feast of] Easter and Saint Michael, make Proclamation by their Discretion, according to the Dearth of Victuals, [how (') every Mason, Carpenter, Tiler, [or any Artificer working (') by the Day, as well in August as in other Times of the Year, after their Degree, shall take (') the Day with Meat and Drink, (') between the said Sessions, as a Thing [by the Statute: (') which Statutes

Before any Exigent for Outlawry, or any such Indictments, Writs of Capias shall be awarded into the Counties where the Party is indicted, and of which he is named.

be not kept nor put in Execution, that is to say, the first Statute, because that the Punishment in the same is too hard upon the Masters of such Servants, forasmuch as they shall be destitute of Servants, if they should not pass the Ordinance of the Statute, and the Second Statute, because that no Pain is limited against him that doeth contrary to the same Statute : Our Sovereign Lord the King, willing in this Case to provide Remedy, hath ordained by Authority of this Parliament, that the Justices of Peace in every County for the Time being, and the Mayor of the City of London for the Time being, and the Mayors and Bailiffs in every City, Borough, or Town, (¹) shall (²) have [such] Power and Authority to make Proclamation in their full Sessions once by Year, and so in every Borough and Market Town within their Jurisdiction, how much every Servant of Husbandry shall take for his Service by the Year then next following ; and that they make Two Times Proclamation in Two Sessions, by them to be holden betwixt the [Feast³] of Easter and Saint Michael, and in every Borough and Market Town, how much every Artificer and Workman shall take by the Day, and by the Week with Meat and Drink, or without Meat [or⁴] Drink, as well in August as in other Times of the Year : Provided always, That if any Man be retained by the Week for Husbandry or other Labour, that he shall take nothing for the Festival Days in such Week nor for the Half Days [of⁵] the Evens of such Feasts : And that every Proclamation so to be made be holden as a Thing ordained by Statute. And if any Servant, Artificer, or Workman do the contrary of such Proclamation so to be made, and be thereof attainted at the King's Suit, he shall forfeit to the King every Time the Value of his Wages ; and if he have not whereof to make Gree to the King, he shall have Imprisonment of Forty Days, without being let to Bail or Mainprise in any Manner. And that the Justices of Peace, Mayors, and Bailiffs aforesaid, [then] for the Time being, shall have Power and Authority to hear and determine such Offences, as well at the King's Suit by Suggestion [surmised,⁶] as at the Suit of the Party in such Case grieved ; and thereupon to make and award Writs of Capias, as oftentimes as to them shall seem well to be done against such Servants, Artificers, and Workmen, at every Person's Suit that feeleth him in such Case grieved [or molested,] returnable before themselves, or before any other Justices of Peace, or Mayors and Bailiffs for the Time being, at a certain Day in their Sessions ; at which Day if any such Servant, Artificer, or Workman come before the said Justices [of Peace, or before] Mayors or Bailiffs, by force of any such Writs or in any other Manner, that then the same Justices of Peace, Mayors, or Bailiffs [for the Time being] shall have full Power and Authority to examine by their Discretion [and Knowledge,] as well such Servants, Artificers, and Workmen, as their Masters, how much such Servants, Artificers, and Workmen do take by the Year, by the Day, and by the Week ; and if they find by such [Examination,⁷] or by Plea betwixt the same Servants, Artificers, Workmen, and their Masters, the contrary to be done of such Proclamations so to be made, that the said Servants, Artificers, [and] Workmen, and Labourers shall be punished in the Form aforesaid ; and they shall yield to the Party grieved his Double Damages : And if any of them depart or [void⁸] into another County, that then it be lawful to the said

Justices [of Peace,] Mayors, and Bailiffs for the Time being, to make and grant Writs of Capias, as many and such as be requisite, directed to the Sheriffs of the Counties where such Servants, Artificers, (¹) and Workmen be fled, to take their Bodies, returnable before them at what Time shall please them, so that if they come by such Process they shall be put in Prison, till they find sufficient Surety well to serve their said Masters. And that this Statute begin to hold Place, as to the Punishment of such Servants retained by the Year, or by the Half Year, after the Feast of Saint Michael next coming, for the Offences in this Behalf done by them after the said Feast. And that all the Mayors and Bailiffs which be [Wardens] of the Peace in any Cities, Towns, or Boroughs of the Realm for the Time being, shall have like Power, Correction, and Execution of the said Ordinance so to be made, and of all Statutes of Labourers within the said Towns, Cities, and Boroughs, as the Justices of Peace have in their Counties: And moreover, That the (¹) Justices of Peace in every County, and the (¹) Mayors and Bailiffs in every such City, Borough, or Town, shall have Power and Authority to make Proclamation and Execution of and in the Premises as afore is said. And this Ordinance shall endure till the End of the next Parliament.

ITEM, Where it was ordained and established in the Seventh Year of King Henry the Fourth, Grandfather of our Lord the King that now is, that Knights of Shires for the Parliament should be chosen in the Manner and Form following; that is to say, (¹) at the next County to be holden after the Delivery of the Writ of the Parliament, Proclamation shall be made in full County of the Day and Place of the Parliament, and that all they which be present there, as well Suitors duly summoned for this Cause, as other, shall attend to the Election of their Knights for the Parliament; and then in full County they shall proceed to the Election freely and indifferently, notwithstanding any Request or Commandment to the contrary; and that after they be chosen, whether such Persons chosen be present or absent, their Names shall be written in Indentures under the Seals of all the Choosers, and annexed to the said Writ of Parliament, which Indenture so sealed and tacked shall be holden for the Return of the said Writ, as to the Knights of the [said] Shires: And also in the Writs of the Parliament hereafter to be made, this Clause shall be put [in the Manner as followeth:] "Et electionem nam in pleno comitatu tuo factam, distincte & aperte sub sigillo tuo & sigillis eorum qui electioni illi interfuerint, nobis in Cancellaria nostra ad diem & locum in brevi contentos certifies indilate." And for that in the same Statute no Pain was ordained, nor specially set upon the Sheriffs of [the County,] if they make their Return contrary to the said Statute, It was ordained and established the Eleventh Year of the said King Henry the Fourth, That the Justices of Assises should have Power to inquire in their Sessions of Assises of such Returns made; and if it be found by Inquest and due Examination before the same Justices, that any such Sheriff hath made, or hereafter shall make, any Return contrary to the Tenor of the said Statute, that the same Sheriff should incur the Pain of an Hundred Pounds, to be paid to our said Lord the King; and moreover, that the Knights (¹) so unduly returned shall lose their Wages of the Parliament in old Times accustomed; to the great Mischief of Sheriffs and Knights of [the Shire,'] which be forebarred and put out of their Answer against such Inquests of Office taken before the said Judges, because of the Statute and Ordinance aforesaid: Our Lord the King willing in this Case to provide Remedy, hath ordained and established, That all the Knights of the Shires chosen for this present Parliament, and the Sheriffs of the same Counties against whom any Inquests or Offices of undue Election be found before the Justices of Assizes, shall have their Answer and Traverse to such Inquests of Office taken; and also all the Knights from henceforth so to be chosen, and the Sheriffs that shall make such Elections shall have their Answer and Traverse to such Inquests and Offices before any Justices of Assizes hereafter to be taken; and the said Knights and Sheriffs shall not be endamaged unto our said Lord the King, or his Successors, for any such Inquest taken or to be taken, until they be duly convict according to the Form of the Law.

ITEM, Our Sovereign Lord the King, by the Advice and Assent aforesaid, considering the great Damage and Losses which now late be happened by the great Inundation of Waters in divers Parts of the Realm, and that much greater Damage is very like to ensue, if Remedy be not speedily provided, hath ordained and granted, That during Ten Years next ensuing several Commissions of Sewers shall be made to divers Persons by the Chancellor of England for the Time being, to be [sent into'] all Parts of the Realm where shall be needful, according to the Form that followeth:

[HENRY, by the Grace of God, King of England, &c.<sup>1</sup>] To his well beloved and faithful A. B. C. and D. greeting. Know ye, That whereas the Walls, Ditches, Gutters, Sewers, Bridges, Causeys, and Wears by the Coasts of the Sea, and Marsh, within the [Coasts<sup>2</sup>] and Limits of Lindsey in the County of Lincoln, by the rage of the Sea flowing and reflowing, and (<sup>3</sup>) Trenches of fresh Waters by divers Places descending to the Sea, be so decayed and broken, that many inestimable Damages for Default of Reparation of the same Walls, Ditches, Gutters, (<sup>4</sup>) Bridges, Causeys, and Wears, in Times past have happened there, and yet it is to be feared that much more Hurt within short Time will happen, unless that some speedy Remedy be provided therefore: We, Forasmuch as by reason of our regal Dignity We be bounden to have Regard to the Safety of our Realm of England in all Places, willing in this Behalf to provide convenient and speedy Remedy; Have assigned you, &c. of which, &c. We will to be one, our Justices to survey the said Walls, Ditches, Gutters, Sewers, Bridges, Causeys, Wears, and Trenches; and to enquire by the Oath as well of Knights as other good and lawful Men of the said Cotntry, as well within Liberties as without, by whom the Truth of the Matter may be best known, by whose Default such Damages have there happened, and who doth hold Lands and Tenements or hath any Common of Pasture or Fishing in those Parts, or else in any wise have, or may have the Defence, Profit, and Safeguard, as well [in Peril nigh,<sup>5</sup>] as from the same far off, by the said Walls, Ditches, Gutters, Sewers, Bridges, Causeys, and Wears, and also Hurt or Commodity by the same Trenches, and there to distraint all them for the Quantity of their Lands and Tenements, either by the Number of Acres, or by their Plow-Lands,

Anno 8° HENRICI, VI. A.D.1429.

STATUTES OF THE EIGHTH YEAR OF K. HENRY, VI.

TO the Laud and Honour of Almighty God, and of the Holy Mother the Church, our most noble Christian Lord Henry by the Grace of God, King of England and France, and Lord of Ireland, in his Parliament holden at Westminster the Morrow after Saint Matthew the Apostle, the Eighth Year of his Reign, by the Advice and Assent of the Prelates (') and Great Men of his Realm of England, and at the special Request and (') Assent of the Commons of the same Realm, being in the said Parliament, hath made certain Statutes and Ordinances for the common Profit of the said Realm, and especially for the good and wholesome Government and due Execution of the Law to be had in the same, in the Form following.

The Clergy
of the Convocation of the Parliament, and their Servants, shall have all such Liberties as the Lords and Commons of Parliament.

FIRST, Because the Prelates and Clergy of the Realm of England called to the Convocation, and their Servants and Familiars that come with them to such Convocation, oftentimes and commonly be arrested, molested, and inquieted; Our said Lord the King willing graciously in this Behalf to provide for the Security and Quietness of the said Prelates and Clergy, at the Supplication of the same Prelates and Clergy, and by the Assent of the (') Great Men and Commons aforesaid, hath ordained and established, That [all'] the Clergy hereafter to be called to the Convocation by the King's Writ, and their Servants and Familiars, shall for ever hereafter fully use and enjoy such Liberty or [Defence] in coming, tarrying, and returning, as the (') Great Men and Commonalty of the Realm of England, called or to be called to the King's Parliament, do enjoy, and were wont to enjoy, or in Time to come ought to enjoy.

ITEM, Because that the King's most dear Uncle the King of Denmark, Norway, and Sweveland, as the same our Sovereign Lord the King of his Intimation hath understood, considering the manifold and great Losses, Perils, Hurts, and Damage, which of late happened, as well to him and his, as to other Foreigners and Strangers, and also (*) Friends and [special'] Subjects of our said Sovereign Lord the King of his Realm of England, by the going in, entering, and passage of such Foreign and strange Persons into his Realm of Norway and other Dominions, Streights, Territories, Juradictions, and Places, subdued and subject to him, especially into his Isles of Finmark and elsewhere, as well in their Persons as in their Things and Goods, for eschewing of such Losses, Perils, Hurts, and Damages, and that such like, which God prohibit, should not hereafter happen, [the said Uncle of our said Sovereign Lord the King'] hath ordained and statuted, That all and singular Strangers, as well Englishmen [and'] other, willing to apply by Ship and come into his Realm of Norway and other Dominions, Streights, Territories, Juradictions, Isles, and Places aforesaid, [with their Ships,'] to the Intent to get or have Fish, or any other Merchandises or Goods, shall apply or come to his Town of [Northbarum,'] where the said King of Denmark hath specially ordained and established his Staple for the Concourse of Strangers, and especially of Englishmen, to the Exercise of such Merchandises, granting to the said Englishmen, that they shall there enjoy in and by all Things the same Favour, Privileges, and Prerogatives, which they of the Hanse did enjoy: Therefore our said Sovereign Lord the King, willing the Love, Affinity, and Amities to be firmly observed, which betwixt his said Uncle and his noble Progenitors of good Memory, their Realma, Landa, Dominions, Streights, Territories, Juradictions, and [their said Places,'] and the same our Sovereign Lord the King, and his noble Progenitors of famous Memory, his [great Men,'] Subjects, Realma, Landa, and Dominions, hath been of old Times hitherto continued, nor nothing by our said Sovereign Lord the King (*) or his People to be attempted or done, whereby [such Amities, by reason of any Dissentions, Enmities, or Discords might be broken,'] by the Advice of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and of the Commons of his said Realm of England assembled in this present Parliament, hath ordained, prohibiting that none of his liege People nor Subjects of his Realm of England, by Audacity of their Folly, presume to enter the Realma, Landa, Dominions, Streights, Territories, Juradictions, and Places of the said King of Denmark, against the Ordinance, Prohibition, and Interdiction of the same his Uncle above remembered, and in Contempt of the same, upon Pain of Forfeiture of all their moveable Goods, and Imprisonment of their Person at the King's Will.

ITEM, Our Lord the King considering how at the last Parliament holden at Westminster, the Sixth Year of his Reign, he did ordain and grant by Authority of the said Parliament, that several Commissions of Sewers should be made to divers Persons, by the Chancellor of England for the Time being to be named in all Parts of the Realm where shall be needful, under a certain Form in the said Ordinance and Grant contained; by which Ordinance and Grant the said Commissioners had no Power nor Authority to do, perform, nor execute the Things comprised within the said Commissions;

and especially for to destroy the Falshood of the Regrators of Yarn, called Yerne Choppers, It is ordained by our said Lord the King, (¹) by Authority aforesaid, That in every City, Borough, and Town of the Realm [of England,] a common Balance shall be, with common Weights sealed, and according to the Standard of the Exchequer, upon the common Costs of the said City, Borough, or Town, in the Keeping of the Mayor or Constable of the same; at which Balance and common Weight, all the Inhabitants of the same City, Borough, or Town, that have not such Weights, and other that have, if they will, may freely weigh without any Thing paying; taking nevertheless of Foreigns for every Draught within the Weight of xl li. a Farthing, and for every Draught betwixt Forty Pound and an Hundred Pound, an Half-penny, and for every Draught betwixt an Hundred Pound and a Thousand Pound, a Penny at the most; whereof the Weights shall be maintained, and the Officer lawfully weighing rewarded, by the Discretion of the chief Men of the City, Borough, or Town, according to his Attendance to his said Business, be it more or less: And that no Man buy Yarn of Wool, called Woollen Yarn, unless he will make Cloth thereof, nor use Weight nor Measure, nor other Thing in the Place of Weight or Measure, that is not sealed (¹) according to the said Standard, nor set any Thing to the same by the Way of [Tacking or Hiding,²] or in any other Manner that may increase the Measure or Weight, or let the Balance to have his natural Course, upon the Forfeiture and Penalty aforesaid. And that the Justices of Peace, Mayors, Bailiffs, and Stewards of Franchises, have Power by Authority aforesaid to examine the Trespassers in this Case, and to inquire in especial of (¹) Offenders against this Ordinance, and to do Execution of them that be found faulty by Inquests, or by Examination to be made by the said Judges or Officers in this Case, in the Manner as afore is said. And that this Ordinance be holden and observed from the Feast of Easter next ensuing, for ever. And that every City, upon Pain of Ten Pounds, every Borough upon Pain of an Hundred Shillings, and every Town where a Constable is, upon Pain of Forty Shillings, have a common Balance with Weights according to the said Standard, within Two Months after Proclamation made of this Ordinance; which [Penalty³] shall be levied to the Use of [our Lord] the King, as often as they shall be [faulty⁴] after the said Proclamation.

ITEM, Forasmuch as our Sovereign Lord the King, at the grievous Complaint to him made by the Commons of [this⁵] Realm of England in [the full⁶] Parliament, hath conceived, that divers great Mischiefs and subtle Felonies and Robberies now late have been done in the Town of [Cantebridge,⁷] and in other Places in the [County of Kent⁸] and Essex, and in other Places [in the Realm] of England, by People Offenders unknown, which make divers Bills, directed to divers People of the same [Towns,⁹] Counties, and other Places [of the Realm] of England, commanding them to put divers great Sums of Money in certain Places, where the said Offenders might [lightly¹⁰] carry the same away, without being taken or perceived, certifying in the said Bills, that if they put not the same Money in the Places by the said Bills assigned at a certain Day, that the said Offenders would do the greatest and most outrageous Vengeance that they might to all them that would not [set¹¹] such Sums there:

no wise be Chooser of the Knights for the Parliament; and that in every Writ that shall hereafter go forth to the Sheriffs to choose Knights for the Parliament, Mention be made of the said Ordinances.

ITEM, Whereas in the last Parliament a good and notable Statute (¹) was ordained of Labourers, Servants, Artificers, and Workmen, how much they and every of them should take by the Year, Half Year, Day, or Week, and of other Things comprised in the same Statute and Ordinance, which now be expired, because that they were not ordained to endure but to the next Parliament then after to be holden; Our Sovereign Lord the King, considering that the said Statute and Ordinance was [in other Time²] made for the Weal and common Profit of the Realm of England, and that they should be much profitable to the same Realm, if they might endure and be observed, hath ordained by Authority of this Parliament, that the said Statute and Ordinance be holden and kept, and put in due Execution till the King hath otherwise declared his Will in the full Parliament.

ITEM, Whereas by the [noble] King Richard late King of England, after the Conquest, the Second, at his Parliament holden at Westminster the Morrow after All Souls, the Fifteenth Year of his Reign, amongst other things, It was ordained and established, That the Statutes and Ordinances made, and not repealed, of them that make Entries with strong Hand into Lands or Tenements, or other Possessions whatsoever, and them hold with Force, and (³) of them that make Insurrections, Riots, Routs, Ridings, [and⁴] Assemblies, in Disturbance of the Peace, or of the common Law, or in Affray of the People, should be holden and fully executed; And moreover it is ordained by the same Statute, That at all Times that such forcible Entries be made, and Complaint thereof come to the Justices of Peace, or any of them, that the same Justices or Justice shall take the Power of the County, and shall go, or one of them shall go, to the Place where such Force is made; and if they find, or he findeth, any holding such Place forcibly, after such Entry made, they should be taken and put in the next Gaol, there to remain convict by the Record of the same Justices or Justice, until they have made Fine and Ransom to the King; and that all the People of the County, as well Sheriffs as other, shall be attending to the said Justices, and to assist them to arrest such Malefactors, upon Pain of Imprisonment, and to make Fine and Ransom to the King; And that in the same Manner be done of them that make forcible Entries into Benefices or Offices of Holy Church; as in the same Statute is contained more at large: And for that the said Statute doth not extend to Entries [in¹] Tenements in peaceable Manner, and after holden with Force, nor if the Persons which enter with Force into Lands [and²] Tenements, be removed and voided before the coming of the said Justices or Justice, as before, nor any Pain ordained if the Sheriff do not obey the Commandments and Precepts of the said Justices for to execute the said Ordinance, many wrongful and forcible Entries be daily made [in¹] Lands and Tenements by such as have no Right; and also divers Gifts, Feoffments, and Discontinuances sometimes made to Lords, and other puissant Persons, and Extortioners within the [said] Counties where they be conversant, to have Maintenance, and sometimes to such Persons as be unknown to them so put out, to the Intent to delay and defraud such rightful Possessors

ITEM, Our Lord the King considering how divers Persons for their private Revenge, and not of Right, maliciously by subtle Imagination have caused and procured many of his faithful liege People falsely to be indicted and appealed of several Treasons, Felonies, and Trespases, before Justices of the Peace, and other Commissioners and Justices, and others having Power to take Indictments or Appeals in divers foreign Counties, Liberties, and Franchises of England, in which the said Lieges be not, nor at any Time were, conversant nor dwelling; by Force of which Indictments and Appeals, and the Processes upon them made in the said Counties, Franchises, and Liberties, the said Persons so indicted have been, and daily be put in Exigent, and after outlawed, and thereupon their Goods and Chattels Lands and Tenements forfeit, and they in great Jeopardy of their Lives, whereas the said Persons so indicted, appealed, or put in Exigent or outlawed, had never Knowledge of such Indictments, Appeals, Exigents, or Outlawries; which Falsehood and Malice daily doth abound and increase in divers Counties, Liberties, and Franchises of England, in great Hinderance, Loss, and perpetual Destruction of many of his said faithful and innocent liege People, and very likely to increase hereafter, if convenient Remedy be not ordained and provided in this Behalf:

ITEM, It is shewed to our Lord the King by the said Commons for the Mayor and Aldermen and Commons of the City of London, That Whereas among other Franchises Liberties and Customs to them by the same our Lord the King and his noble Progenitors granted and confirmed, it is contained, that the Manner and Form of taking Apprentices within the said City of old Time used and continued, be kept and observed ; And [where it is also there used ' ] by the Customs of the same City of Time out of Mind continued and approved in the same, that every Person which was not of Villain Estate or Condition, but of free Estate and Condition, might put himself his Son or Daughter to be Apprentice to any Freeman of the same City, to learn his Craft or Mystery ; and that likewise every Freeman of the said City may take every such Person, Son or Daughter, to be his Apprentice, without Impeachment ; until now of late the said Mayor, Aldermen and Commons, be and have been grievously vexed and inquieted by Colour of an Article of the Statute made at Westminster the Seventh Year of the Reign of King Henry the Fourth, rehearsing by general Words, that no Man or Woman put their Son nor Daughter to be Apprentice within any City or Town of the Realm [of England,] except that he have Land or Rent to the Value of Twenty Shillings by Year, and that by Testimony under the Seals of the Justices of Peace, nor that any shall receive an Apprentice to the contrary, upon a grievous Penalty limited in the said Statute : Our Lord the King, considering the great Hindrance which by the said Statute might redound to the Inhabitants of the said City, if they should be thereby restrained of their said Liberties and Customs, and how in the beginning of the same Statute it is contained, that the said City of London have and enjoy all her Liberties, Franchises, and Customs, [that be not ' ] contrary to the said Article ; and also respecting the entire Affections, and great Kindness done and shewed to our said Lord the King in all his Affairs by the Citizens of the said City of London, and to encourage them the more to such Affections and Kindness hereafter ; by the Advice and Assent aforesaid, hath ordained by the Authority of this Parliament, That the said ancient Manner, Form, and Custom of putting and taking of Apprentices, used and continued in the said City of London, be from henceforth kept and observed, as long as it shall please our said Lord the King without being for that impeached, or [to incur ' ] the Pain contained in the said Statute.

ITEM, Our Lord the King hath ordained and established by the Authority of this present Parliament, That for Error assigned or to be assigned in any Record, Process, [ or ] Warrant of Attorney, Original Writ or Judicial, Panel or Return, in any Places of the same rased or interlined, or in any Addition, Substraction, or Diminution of Words, Letters, [ Titles, ' ] or Parcel of Letters, found in any such Record, Process, Warrant of Attorney, Writ, Panel,

And he which can spy any Person from henceforth, which [offending or doing <sup>2</sup>] in any wise contrary to this Ordinance, and the same Offence do present to the Treasurer of England for the Time being, [and the Trespasser thereof duly convicted,<sup>3</sup>] or if such Trespasser confess before the Treasurer and the Barons of the Exchequer such Trespasses by him done, that then he shall be convicted by his own Confession; and the Presenter shall have for his Labour the Third Part of the Forfeiture of the Merchandises carried or conveyed against this Ordinance. Saving always that the Merchants of Genoa, Venice, Tuscany, Lombardy, Florence, and Catalonia, may ship Wools, Woolfels, Leather, Lead, and Tin in their Ships, Gallies, Carraks, and other Vessels, and [to bring <sup>4</sup>] the same into their [Country <sup>5</sup>] towards the West, in Manner accustomed before this Time: Saving also to the Burghesses of the Town of Berwick-upon-Tweed, the Privileges and Benefits to them before this Time granted, as in divers Statutes thereof made is fully contained, notwithstanding this Ordinance.

ITEM, Our Sovereign Lord the King, considering certain Articles ensuing, to be conceived and desired, as well for the Profit and Wealth of him and his Realm universal, as for the good Politick Governance and Supportation of [the Staple of <sup>6</sup>] Calais, by Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and also of the Commons being in this present Parliament, by Authority of the same, hath granted the same Articles to be kept and observed, to begin at the Feast of the Purification of our Lady, next after the beginning of the said Parliament, until the Feast of the Annunciation of our Lady then next following, and from the same Feast of the Annunciation to endure till the End of Three Years then next following after the Form following; that is to say:

First, That the Ordinance and Appointment of late made [to <sup>7</sup>] the said Staple of Calais, upon Wools, Woolfels, and Tin, be surely kept and observed in all these Five Points following; that is to say, That the Price of the said Wools, Woolfels, and Tin, be not abated, but augmented and put to greater Increase and Advantage.

Item, That the whole Payment be made in Hand for the said Wools, Woolfels, and Tin, in Gold and Silver without Subtilty or Collusion.

Item, That the Bullion be brought to the Mint [to <sup>8</sup>] Calais; that is to say, for every Sarpler of Wools, whereof

OF THE NINTH YEAR.

AT the Parliament holden at Westminster the Friday next before the Feast of Saint Hillary, the Ninth Year of the Reign of our Lord the King that now is, divers Statutes and Ordinances were made and [established] by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the special Request of the Commons of the Realm assembled in the said Parliament, in the Form following.

FIRST, Considering how that in all the Counties of England the Days of the Assises of Novell disseisin and of Nisi prius then were prefixed very likely to be holden during the High Court of the said Parliament, in which Court of Parliament many of the King's liege People were by his Commandment, of which many were Plaintiffs and many Defendants in the same Assises and Nisi prius, and in the said Assises and Nisi prius, the same Plaintiffs and Defendants were likely to be disinherited, if Remedy were not provided in this Behalf; And for so much by the Advice and Assent of the said Lords, and at the special Request of the said Commons, It is ordained by Authority of the said Parliament, to prorogue all Manner of Assises and Nisi prius before prefixed, till certain Days by the Chancellor of England for the time being after the Third Day of March, the said ix. Year, to be limited; and [the] Days so by the said Chancellor to be limited, have Relation in Law to the Days of Assises and Nisi prius then so prefixed, in such wise, that by this Prorogation the same Assises and Nisi prius, shall not be holden nor reputed non-sued, nor discontinued: And that in every of the said Counties Proclamations be made by the Sheriffs, Fifteen Days before the said Days so by the Chancellor to be limited, to the Intent that the Plaintiffs and Defendants, and all other, which have to do in the said Assises and Nisi prius, may keep their Days to be limited in the same Proclamations so to be made; which Proclamations shall have the Effect and Force of Attachments, without that that it behoveth to make any new Attachments for the same.

ITEM, Whereas in the Parliament holden at Westminster the Eighth Year of our (1) Sovereign Lord the King, amongst other Articles it is contained, to eschew the great Loss [and Damage,] which divers Persons of this Realm have had, and were likely to have for [the]

* Of the Statutes of this Year, and of the subsequent Years 10, 11, 14, 15, 18, and 20 Henry VI, no Statute Roll is preserved in the Tower: But there are several Transcripts copied on Skins of Parchment apparently prepared for the purpose of being annexed to Writs of Proclamation; see Introduction to Vol. I. Chapter III. Section II. 1, 3. Where more than one such Copy of the Statute of any Year is preserved, the Various Readings of the Copies used for supplying Defects or correcting Errors are marked Transcr. 2, &c. Of this Year there are three Copies; all partially injured.

Loans made of their Merchandise to Merchants Aliens, which [have<sup>1</sup>] fled away with the same, and daily [take<sup>2</sup>] Sanctuaries, It was ordained, that no Englishman should sell nor cause to be sold from [henceforth<sup>3</sup>] to any Merchant Alien, any Manner of Merchandise but only for ready Payment [of<sup>4</sup>] Money or otherwise in Merchandise for Merchandise, to be paid and contented in Hand, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the same; because of which Ordinance the English Merchants have not sold nor cannot sell nor utter their Cloths to Merchants Aliens, whereby (<sup>5</sup>) the King hath lost his [Subsidies and] Customs, which he ought to have had, if the said Cloths had been sold as they were and were wont heretofore, and English Merchants, Cloth-workers, and other the King's liege People in divers Parts of his Realm (<sup>6</sup>) annoyed and endamaged: Whereupon at the Supplication of the said Commons, and by the Advice and Assent aforesaid, It is ordained, that the English Merchants may sell their Cloths to Merchants Aliens for ready Payment in Money, or otherwise in Merchandise for Merchandise, to be paid and contented in Hand, or upon Loan of Payment, to be made in Money or Merchandise, from Six Months to Six Months next ensuing after such Buyings and Bargains made, without giving thereof further Days of Payment, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the same, notwithstanding the said Ordinance; and this Ordinance shall endure as long as shall please the King: Provided always, that all other Articles contained in the said Ordinance made in the said Eighth Year, shall stand in their Force.

English Merchants may sell their Cloths to Aliens, at Six Months Credit.

III. Proceedings against Owen Glendour, attainted of High Treason, declared valid; but without Prejudice to his Heirs in Lands entailed.

See Statute 4 H. IV. c. 34.

ITEM, Considering the great Insurrections Rebellions and horrible Treasons imagined and committed by Owen [Glendour<sup>7</sup>] of Wales, against the Royal Majesty of King Henry, Grandfather of our Sovereign Lord the King that now is, whereof he was indicted, as it appeareth in an Indictment made (<sup>8</sup>) before Thomas late Earl of Arundel, John [Durley,<sup>9</sup>] and Thomas Lee, (<sup>10</sup>) by the Commission of the said [Grandfather<sup>11</sup>] to inquire, with other, of all manner of Treasons, Insurrections, and Enemies of the same King the Grandfather, as in the said Commission is more fully contained: And thereupon the said Indictment of (<sup>12</sup>) high and heinous Treasons brought into the King's Bench at Westminster, and Process thereof [made,<sup>13</sup>] till the same Owen after Proclamation made in Five Counties, was outlawed, and after in the full Parliament holden at Westminster, the Fourth Year of the same King the Grandfather, was called and named of Record Traitor to the said King the Grandfather, as well by Statute as by the Letters Patents of the said King the Grandfather; and for the horribility of his so many Treasons, it was ordained by Statute in the same Parliament that no English Man married to any Welsh Woman of the Amity [and<sup>14</sup>] Alliance of the said Owen, Traitor to the King, should be put in Office in Wales, nor in the Marches; and also considering how the said Owen and his Adherents were excepted in many general Graces and Pardons granted by the said King the Grandfather to his liege People at divers Times, because of the Insurrections Rebellions and horrible Treasons aforesaid; For the Weal of all the Realm, and for the Repression of all such horrible Treasons from henceforth to be compassed of the Assent of the Lords and Commons aforesaid,

It is ordained and stablished, by the Authority of this present Parliament, That all manner of Indictments, Inquisitions, Processes, Records, Judgements, Ordinances, and Statutes made [and] expressed, taken, had, pursued, or declared against the said Owen, be affirmed, authorised, and stablished for Law by Authority of this present Parliament ('), and by the same Authority shall be effectual and sufficient in the Law for to bind and conclude for ever, all that be Heirs or of the Blood of the said Owen, notwithstanding any Default or Misp̄sion had in this Party; or any Error in Writing or in leaving out of [the Name'] or Place, or [the Indorsement'] of the said Commission, or of Negligence adding or leaving out more or less than behoveth, or any other (') Default in the said Indictments, Inquisitions, Records, or Judgements notwithstanding: so that this present Ordinance be not prejudicial to any of the Heirs or of the Blood of the said Owen, as to any Lands in Tail.

ITEM, For that before this Time many Outlawries have been pronounced against divers of the King's liege People, as well before the Statute of Additions, made at Westminster the First Year of King Henry the Fifth Father to our Lord the King that now is' as sithence, in respect of which Outlawries, the Bodies of other Persons having such and like Names as they had which were outlawed indeed, have been taken and imprisoned, and their Goods and Chattels for this Cause seized by the Escheators of the King and of his noble Progenitors; and although that by the Common Law of the Realm a Writ of Idemp̄tate nominis hath been maintainable for the same Person, which in the Form aforesaid was molested and grieved, Nevertheless if any Person of the said Lieges, having like Name as any other Person of the same liege People which was outlawed in deed had, made his Executors and died, often it happened, that by Malice and subtil Imaginations the Goods and Chattels of such Testator, which had the same Name as he had which was outlawed in deed, were seized and escheated to the Hands of our Lord the King and of his (') Progenitors, in Retardation of the Execution of the Testament of every such Testator, for the Doubt which hath been, whether any Executors may by the Common Law have a Writ of Idemp̄tate nominis, or not: Wherefore to take away and remove all such Ambiguities and Doubts in this Case hereafter, of the Assent and Advice aforesaid, and at the special Request of the said Commons, It is ordained and established by Authority of this Parliament, That a Writ of Idemp̄tate nominis (') be granted and [made'] good and maintainable for the Executors of every Testator, [to'] the same Effect that the same Action of Idemp̄tate nominis was maintainable before this Parliament for any Person himself which was or might have been molested or grieved because or by colour of any such Outlawry: And that this Ordinance shall have Relation and Force, by Authority aforesaid, for the Executors of every Testator, as well of every Outlawry pronounced against any Person at any Time before this Parliament, as of all manner of Outlawries to be pronounced against any Person in Time to come.

ITEM, Because the River of Severn is common to all the King's liege People, to carry and re-carry within the Stream of the said River, to Bristol, Gloucester, and Worcester, and other Places joining to the said River, all manner of Merchandises and other Goods and Chattels as well in Trowes and Boats nor that he by Colour of his said Office take any Inquiry, Inquest of Office, or Indictment in any other Place, after the said Turn holden and ended; nor that he take of any of the King's liege People any Fines or Amerciaments, for any Thing or Cause that pertaineth not to his Turn or Office, nor no such heinous nor grievous Amerciament of any of the said Lieges, against Reason, for not coming to the said Turn or to another Place, or for other Cause by Colour of his said Office, upon Pain of xl. li. by him to be paid to our Sovereign Lord the King, His Heirs and Successors, as oftentimes as such Sheriff or Under-Sheriff thereof or of any Article of the same be duly conuict at the Suit of the King or of the Party grieved, which shall sue as well for the King as for himself; and that the [Plaintiff] in such Case have the Half of the said Sum, together with his Double Damages to his own Use; and that the Party in this Case grieved have Power by the same Authority to sue in this Party against such Sheriffs and Under Sheriffs, as well for the King as for himself as before is said; and that the Justices of Peace of the same County for the Time being, have Power and Authority to inquire, hear, and determine such Misprisions and Offences, as well at the King's Suit as at the Party's, which will sue for the King and for himself. And this Ordinance shall endure by Three Years next coming.

ITEM, Whereas it hath been of old Times accustomed in all the Counties of England, that all the Cheeses which ought to be sold by the Wey should be weighed by the Auncel, and because that at the last Parliament holden at Westminster, it was ordained, that the said Auncels, in respect of the great Deceit of the same, should be destroyed, and other Weights couching should be in this Behalf ordained; and it is so, that the poor People of the Realm be greatly deceived by the said Weights couching, for that they know not how many Pounds the Wey of Cheese doth contain by the said Weights couching; And therefore to the Intent that the said poor People shall not be in this Behalf deceived, as they have been sithence the said last Parliament, It is ordained by the Authority of this Parliament, That the Weight of a Wey of Cheese may contain xxxii. Cloves, that is to say, every Clove vij li. by the said Weights couching.

ITEM, Whereas it was ordained by a Statute made in the Time of King Edward the Third (¹) the Twenty-fifth Year of his Reign, that all the Wears, Mills, Stanks, Stakes, Piles, and Kydels, which were set in the great Rivers of England, in the Time of the Lord Edward sometime King of England, Son of King Henry, and after, whereby Ships and Boats be disturbed, that they cannot pass as they were wont to pass, should be removed and pulled down; and (²) afterward in the Parliament of King Henry, [Father'] of our Sovereign Lord the King that now is, holden the First Year of his Reign, It was ordained, that as well the said Statute made the said xxv. Year, as another Statute made in the Time of the said noble King Edward the Third, the xlv. Year of his Reign, in all their Articles shall be firmly holden and observed, joining to the same, (³) Commissions shall be made to sufficient Persons to be Justices in every County of England, where it shall be needful, to survey and keep all the Waters and great Rivers within the (⁴) Realm, and to correct and amend the Defaults, and to make due Execution of the said Statutes according to their Effect, as well by their Surveying, Advisement, and Discretion, as by Inquisitions within Liberties and without, thereof to be taken when it shall be needful, and all the Premises to hear and determine; And notwithstanding all the said Statutes, and many other Statutes made for the Conservation of the said great Rivers, there is so great Number of Shelves within the River of Ley, which is in the Counties of Essex, Hertford, and Middlesex, which runneth from the Bridge of the Town of Ware, to the River of Thames, which Shelves be made and come by Force and Course of the said Water of Ley, that Ships and Boats may not pass by the said Water of Ley, as they ought, because that no Power nor Authority is given by any Statute heretofore made, how nor in what manner the said Shelves may be removed, as by a Petition delivered in this Parliament by the Commons of the same it was fully declared: Whereupon by Advice and Assent of the (') Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and also at the Request of the said Commons, It is granted and ordained, That the Chancellor of England for the time being, may assign certain sufficient Commissioners, which shall have Power by Authority of this Parliament, to remove and cast all the said Shelves out of the said River of Ley, upon the Banks of the same River, so that any may be found, that will take upon him to do the same, without excluding of any Man's Right; and in case any Credit or Shift of any Sums of Money be or might be made, to put out and remove the said Shelves, that then the Commissioners of the said River for the Time being, by them and by their Deputies, may by Authority of the same Parliament, take and gather of every Ship and Boat freighted, passing or coming in the said River, Four-pence, for the Re-payment of the said Credits made or to be made, and for the Conservation of the said River without such Shelves, till the End of Three Years next following.

ITEM, Whereas in the Parliament holden at Westminster the [xv.] Day of March, the Third Year of the Reign of King Henry [the Fifth,'] a Statute was ordained in the Form as followeth: "Item, Forasmuch as there be divers Abbots, Priors, (') whereof some be of the King's Foundation, and some of the Foundation of other Lords, dwelling as well within the County of York as in the County of Lancaster, whereof some have Possessions within the Wapentakes of Staincliffe Wapentake, and Friendles Wapentake in Craven in the County of York, and some not, against whom divers Persons daily by Abetment and Procurement of the Bailiffs Approvers of the Courts of the said Wapentakes, and of the Stewards that hold Pleas in the said Courts, and of Fermours of the Profits and Revenues of the said Courts, do feign and procure, by them and other of their Covin and Assent, divers Plaints and Pleas of Debt and Trespass, and other divers Pleas in the Courts of the said Wapentakes; and where the same Abbots and Priors come to the said Courts to defend [them of'] such wrongful Plaints and Pleas, and pray and profer to the Stewards and Bailiffs of the said Courts to make their Attornies in such Pleas, the said Stewards and Bailiffs the same refuse, and will not receive such Attornies of such Abbots and Priors, in any Plea of Debt or Trespass, nor in any other Plea; And moreover the same Stewards and Bailiffs of their own Authority do amerce the said Abbots and Priors,

Edmund Earl
of Kent.

[Constance'] late Wife of Thomas Lord Despenser, where by the said Supplication it is supposed, that the said Alianour, Wife to the said James, is Bastard, and never was any Marriage made, had, nor solemnized (') betwixt the said Edmond and [Constance,'] but the said Edmond, by the Ordinance, Will, and Agreement of King Henry the Fourth, Grandfather to our Lord the King that now is, after great, notable, and long Ambassage had and sent to the Duke of Millain, for a Marriage to be had betwixt the said Edmond and Luce, Sister to the said Duke of Millain, did take to Wife, and openly and solemnly married the said Luce at London, the said [Constance'] then living, and being there present, not claiming the said Edmond to her Husband, nor any Dower of his Lands after his Decease; which Marriage betwixt the said Edmond and Luce so had and solemnized, continued without any Interruption of the said [Constance,'] or of any other, during the Life of the said Edmond, as divers Lords and other credible and notable Persons of the said Realm do well remember; and how after the Decease of the said Edmond, the said Luce was endowed of his Lands as his lawful Wife, continuing thereof her Estate peaceably all her Life: Nevertheless the said Alianour, the Wife of James, upon great Subtilty, Process imagined, privy Labour, and [other Means and coloured Ways,'] to the intent that she [ought to be'] certified Mulier by some Ordinary, in case that Bastardy should be alledged in her Person, hath brought, as it is said, in Examination before certain Judges in the Spiritual Courts, not informed nor having Knowledge of the said Subtilty imagined Process privy Labour, and coloured (') Ways, certain suborned Proofs and Persons of her Assent and Covin, deposing for her, [that the said Alianour, the Wife of James, was begotten within Marriage, had and solemnized betwixt the said Edmond and Constance<sup>1</sup>]; the said Dutchesses, the Duke of York, and Earl of Salisbury, and Alice, Earl of Westmorland, John the Lord of Typtoft, Joyce, and Henry, nor [any'] of them thereof warned nor knowing, until long Time after the [Deposition so'] made: [whereof<sup>2</sup>] the said Suppliants do fear them to be grieved and impeached of their Inheritance had by the said Edmond, by [another<sup>3</sup>] Subtilty and Labour in the Temporal Law, to be practised and wrought by the said Lord of Audley and Alianour his Wife, as if they [will commence any Action<sup>4</sup>] against [any<sup>5</sup>] Persons of their own Assent and Covin, or otherwise will cause [such<sup>6</sup>] Persons of such Assent and Covin to pursue an Action against them, as it is supposed that they intend to do; in which Action, by the Covin and Assent aforesaid, Bastardy [ought to be<sup>7</sup>] alledged in the Person of the said Alianour Wife of James, and thereupon by [the<sup>8</sup>] Assent and Covin an Issue [is<sup>9</sup>] to be taken, and a Writ to be sent to some Ordinary, where it please them, not advertised of the said Subtilty Assent and Covin, to certify [if<sup>10</sup>] the said Alianour, the Wife of James, be Mulier or not; before which Ordinary the same Alianour, Wife of James, will alledge [and<sup>11</sup>] prove herself Mulier by the said Deposition of the said suborned Witnesses; and then the Party reputed as Adversary against the (") Lord of Audley and

*A Transcripts in Turr. Lond.**

OUR Lord the King, at his Parliament holden at Westminster the Twelfth Day of May, the Tenth Year of his Reign, to the Honour of God, and for the wealth of him and his Realm, and for the Tranquillity and Ease of his People, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the special Request of the Commons in the same Parliament assembled, hath caused to be [enacted<sup>1</sup>] and established divers Statutes and Ordinances in the Form following.

I. All Recognisances taken before the Mayor, &c. of the Staple of Calais shall be effectual in England.

FIRST, Whereas it is granted to the Mayor and Constables of the Staple of Calais, by the Charters of the King's noble Progenitors, and by him confirmed, that they shall have Power to take and record all Recognisances of Debts before them made by any Person, and [therefore<sup>2</sup>] great Doubts were, [if<sup>3</sup>] the Recognisances before the said Mayor and Constables made beyond the Sea, should be effectual and executory in all Points within the Realm of England, as the Recognisances made before the Mayor and Constables of the Staple of Westminster be: Our Lord the King willing in this Case to take away all such Doubts, by the Advice and Assent of the (⁴) Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the special Request of the said Commons, hath ordained by Authority of the same Parliament, That all the Recognisances of Debts before the said Mayor and Constables of Calais, made or to be made by any Persons beyond the Sea, shall be as effectual and executory, and of such force in all Points within the (⁴) Realm, and in the same Form executory, as the said Recognisances made before the said Mayor and Constables of the Staple of Westminster, or before any other Mayors or Constables of the Staple within the said Realm be.

Item come au plement tenuz a Westm l'endemain de Saint Mathieu l'apostle lan du regne n're s'r le Roi oep'time, ordint estoit & estable p' autorite de mesme le plement q' les Chivalers des touts Countees deins le roialme Dengleterre a esiers pur venir as plements en ap's a tenirs soient eslux en chun Countee p' gentz dem'antz & receantz en icelles, dount chun ait frank teit a la value de xl s. p' an au mains outre les reprises sur ches peines contenues en mesme lestatut; nient faisant exp'se mencion en icell q' chun q' broit eslisour dascuns tiels Chivalers avoit frank teit a la value de xl s. au mains outre les reprises deins mesme le Countee ou aucun tiel eslisour ovesq' aut's semblables ferroit tiel election ou ailours: Et pur taunt n're s'r le Roi voillant faire du dit estatut pleine declaracion, del advis & assent suisditz & a la request des d'ces Cōes ad ordint q' les Chivalers de touts les Countees deins le dit roialme, a esiers pur venir a les plements en ap's a tenirs, soient eslux en chescun Countee p' gentz dem'antz & receantz en icelles dount chun ait frank teit a la value de xl s. p' an au mains outre les reprises, deins mesme le Countee ou aucun tiel eslisour soi voet meller dascun tiel election.

Item pur ceo q' n're s'r le Roi, a la grevousse complaint a luy fait en icest plement p' les Cōes de son roialme esteantz en icell, est enfourme q' plusieurs de ses foialx lieges sount g'undement empovez anientez & en point destre destruits p' le Roi de Denmark & ses lieges, q' sount del amistee du Roi n're s'r, a cause q'ils pignent de jour en aut' de ses ditz foialx lieges leur biens, p'seint q'ils ont pris des Marchaunts De'wyk & Kyngeston sur Hull biens & marchandises a la value de Vm' li. dedeins un an, & daut's lieges & Marchaunts du roialme biens & chateux a la value de XXm' li. dount ils nount remede du dit Roi de Denmark ne de null aut', a cause q' null de eux veigne deins le roialme Dengleterre ne riens ount en icell, & q' les biens sount priez hors de mesme le roialme; Mesme n're s'r le Roi voillant a ses ditz lieges p'voir de remede del advis & assent suisditz ordint, q' si les biens dascuns de ses ditz lieges soient ou bront priez p' le dit Roi de Denmark ou ascuns de ses ditz lieges, ait le Gardein du prive seal pur le temps esteant poair de faire au p'tie greve tres de request desoubz le prive seal, saunz autre poursuite affaire a ascuny, pur restitution avoir des biens issint priez & ap'ndrez: Et si restitution ne soit fait p' tiels tres, le Roi n're s'r p' advis de son counceill purveiera al p'tie greve convenable remede solonc ceo q' le cas requiert.

Item pur ceo q' divers des lieges du Roi av'nt ces hocures ount estez utlages & g'undement vexez & desceuez en divers seutes, n'nt dev'nt le Roi en son Bank come en le cōe Bank, en les recordes des queux seutes les entres ount estez faits q' les plaintifs en mesmes les seutes optulerunt se in p'pria p'ona sua, lou mesmes les plaintifs unq's n'apparerount as tiels seutes, ne conissance avoient dicelles, en g'unde mischief

ITEM, Whereas at the Parliament holden at Westminster, the Morrow of Saint Matthew the Apostle, the Eighth Year of the King that now is, It was ordained by the Authority of the same Parliament, That the Knights of all Counties within the Realm of England, to be chosen to come to the Parliaments [hereafter<sup>1</sup>] to be holden, should be chosen in every County by People dwelling and resiant in the same, whereof every one shall have Freehold to the Value of Forty Shillings by Year at the least, above all Charges, upon a certain Pain contained in the same Statute; not making express Mention in the same, that every Man that shall be Chooser of any such Knights, shall have Freehold to the Value of Forty Shillings at the least, above all Charges, within the same County where such Chooser with other like shall make such Election, or elsewhere: And therefore our Lord the King, willing to make plain Declaration of the said Statute, by the Advice and Assent aforesaid, and at the [special<sup>2</sup>] Request of the said Commons, hath ordained, That the Knights of all Counties within the said Realm, to be chosen to come to Parliaments hereafter to be holden, shall be chosen in every County by People dwelling and resiant in the same, whereof every Man shall have Freehold, to the Value of xl s. by the Year at the least above all Charges, within the same County where any such Chooser will meddle of any such Election.

ITEM, Because that our Sovereign Lord the King, at the grievous Complaint to him made in this Parliament by the Commons of his Realm [of England] being in this Parliament, is informed, That many of his faithful liege People be greatly impoverished, undone, and in point to be destroyed, by the King of Denmark and his Lieges, which be of the Amity of the King our Sovereign Lord, because that they do daily take of his said faithful Subjects their Goods, so that they have taken of Merchants of York and Kingston upon Hull Goods and Merchandises to the Value of Five thousand Pounds within a Year, and of other Lieges and Merchants of the Realm [of England] Goods and Chattels to the Value of Twenty thousand Pounds; whereof they have no Remedy of the said King of Denmark, nor of none other, Forasmuch as none of them cometh within the Realm of England, nor nothing have in the same [Realm of England,] and that the Goods be taken out of the same Realm: (<sup>3</sup>) The King willing to provide Remedy for his said liege People, [hath ordained and established,] That if the Goods of any of the said his Lieges be or shall be taken by the said King of Denmark, or any of his said Lieges, the Keeper of the Privy Seal for the Time being shall have Power to make to the Party grieved Letters of Request under the Privy Seal, without any other Pursuit to be made to any, for Restitution to be had of the Goods so taken and to be taken: And if Restitution be not made by such Letters, the King our Sovereign Lord, by the Advice of his Council, shall provide to the Party grieved, his convenable Remedy, according as the Case requireth.

ITEM, For that divers of the King's liege People before this Time have been outlawed, and greatly vexed and disquieted in divers Suits, as well before the King in his Bench, as in the Common Bench, in the Records of which Suits the Entries have been made, that the Plaintiffs in the same Suits "Obtulerunt se in propria persona sua," where the same Plaintiffs never appeared to such Suits, nor had Knowledge of the same, in great

And this Ordinance shall endure till the next Parliament.

ITEM, Whereas by a Statute made the xxi. Year of King Richard the Second, for Two great Works very necessary always to be sustained and supported about the Town of Calais, and the Marches there, that is to say, the Beacons before the Port there, and the Place called Paradise, which is nigh to the Ditches of the same Town, It was ordained and stablished, that all manner of Ships accustomed to come to the said Port out of England, the Fisher Boats only excepted, shall bring with them all their Lastage of good Stones, covenable for the Stuffing of the said Beacons, thereof making reasonable Deliverance from Time to Time at their coming there, to the Treasurer, which for the Time shall be, or to other Ministers thereto by him ordained, upon Pain of ii d. for the Weight of every Tun, [and as much'] as the said Ships shall be of Portage; and that all manner of Ships entering to rest at the said Place of Paradise, shall pay at every their Entry there [iiiij d.'] Sterling, and thereupon it shall be lawful to them, if they will, to tarry there by [Four'] Days, with as many Nights then next following, without paying any more for their said Entry; and in case that they abide longer than [Four'] Days and Nights aforesaid, then they shall pay for every Day and Night one Penny, and for the [only Day'] an Halfpenny, and for the [only Night'] an Halfpenny; and moreover, that no Manner of Person presume to fasten any manner Ship or Boat by Cable, Cord, or otherwise, to the Timber nor to the Stones of the said Beacons nor Paradise, nor to the new Key, otherwise called the Wharf at the Side of the said Port of Calais, upon Pain of xl. d. to be levied of the Ship which so shall be found fastened; and that the said Treasurer, which for the Time shall be, shall have full Power by him and his Deputies to levy and receive the Money of the said Pains incurred and rising, and thereof to make Payment according as shall need in his (?) Office by the View and Controlment of the King's Controller there: which Statute amongst other Things made in the same Parliament was revoked and adnulled in the Parliament holden at Westminster the First Year of King Henry [the Fourth,'] to the great Damage and Hindrance of the said Works, and to the grievous and importable Costs of (") the King, if Remedy be not hastily provided: And for so much our (") Sovereign Lord the King, by the Advice and Assent of the said Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and also of the said Commons being in this Parliament, hath ordained and established, That the said Statute made the said xxi. Year, be from henceforth a Statute effectual, (") holden and kept, and put in due Execution for ever, according to the Tenor of the same.

ITEM, Whereas in the Parliament holden at Westminster the Eighth Year of (1) the King that now is, It was ordained, That upon every Indictment or Appeal, [by the which (1)] any of the King's liege People, dwelling in other [foreign and divers] Counties than where such Indictment or Appeal is or shall be taken, of Treason, Feloury, or Trespass, to be taken [hereafter (1)] before Justices of the Peace, or before any other [Justice whatsoever,] having Power to take such Indictments or Appeals, or other Commissioners or Justices in any County Franchise or Liberty of England, before any Exigent awarded upon any Indictment or Appeal in the Form aforesaid to be taken, that presently after the first Writ of Capias upon every such Indictment or Appeal awarded and returned, that another Writ of Capias shall be awarded, directed to the Sheriff of the County, whereof he that is so indicted or appealed is or was supposed to be conversant by the same Indictment or Appeal, returnable before the same Justices or Commissioners, before whom he is indicted or appealed, at a certain Day, containing the Space [of Three Months (1)] from the Date of the same Writ to the Return of the same, as by the same Statute plainly appeareth : By which Clause of the same Statute, that is to say, "returnable before the same Justices or Commissioners before whom he is indicted or appealed," some do think that the Writ of Capias ordained by the said Statute, which shall be directed to the Sheriff (1) whereof he that is so indicted or appealed is or was supposed to be conversant by the same Indictment or Appeal, shall be returned before the same Justices or Commissioners, or other, before whom the Indictment or Appeal was taken, and not elsewhere ; And imagining to defraud and make frustrate the said Statute, do sue to remove such Indictments and Appeals out of the Hands of the Justices or Commissioners aforesaid into the King's Bench and elsewhere by Certiorari and otherwise, [unknown to the Party so indicted (1)] and thereupon sue the Process used at the Common Law, before the making of the said Statute, in the King's Bench and elsewhere, after [the (1)] removing, to the great Impoverishing and Vexation of the King's faithful Subjects : Wherefore [the same] our Lord the King, by the Advice and Assent aforesaid, and at the special Request of the said Commons, by Authority aforesaid hath ordained, That the said Statute be holden and kept, and put in due Execution in all Points ; joined to the same, that if any such Indictments, taken or to be taken before any Justices of Peace, or before any other having Power to take such Indictments or Appeals, or other Justices or Commissioners in any County Franchise or Liberty of England, shall be removed before the King in his Bench or elsewhere, by Certiorari or otherwise, then after such removing, before any Exigent awarded upon any such Indictment or Appeal, in the Form aforesaid taken or to be taken, that presently after the first Writ of Capias upon every such Indictment or Appeal awarded and returned, that another Writ of Capias be awarded, directed to the Sheriff of the County, whereof he that is so indicted or appealed is or was supposed to be conversant by the same Indictment or Appeal, returnable before the King in his Bench at a certain Day, containing the Space of Three Months or Four from the Date of the said last Writ of Capias, according to the

ITEM, Whereas by a Statute it was ordained, That all the Wools, Woolfels, Hides, Lead, and Tin, and divers other Merchandise passing out of the Realm of England, the Lands of Ireland, Wales, and Berwick-upon-Tweed, ought to repair to the Staple of Calais, and to none other Place beyond the Sea, (¹) to be sold under the Governance of the Mayor and Constables of the said Staple, upon certain Pains contained in the said Statute; which Pains be so easy and not doubted, that many take in Custom to carry, and do daily to be carried out of the Realm and Lands aforesaid, by divers Means and Ways, a great Substance of the Wools, Woolfels, Hides, Lead, and Tin, and other Merchandise, which ought to repair to the said Staple, into Scotland, and into Flanders, Holland, Zealand, and Brabant, without Custom or other Charge thereof paying, as is paid for Wools repairing to Calais; and also by the said Wools and Merchandise so carried to the said Parts, there cometh (¹) no Money into this Realm [of England,] nor the same Realm is (¹) increased, nor the Mint at Calais sustained; and moreover, the same Wools and Merchandise be sold in the same Parts at so little a Price or Value, that the Merchants Aliens be so greatly enstored of the same, that they come not to Calais to buy Wools and Woolfels (¹) as they were accustomed to do, to the great Loss [and Damage] of our Sovereign Lord the King, and the universal Damage of his Realm, and great Hindrance of the utterance of the Commodities of the said Realm, repairing and being at the said Town of Calais, as the same our Sovereign Lord the King hath conceived at the grievous Complaint (¹) of the Merchants and Commons of the Realm in this present Parliament assembled: Our Sovereign Lord the King, considering the grievous Losses and Damages aforesaid, (¹) hath ordained, That the Value of all such Goods so found carried or to be carried to the said Parts, except those Wools and Woolfels which by our Sovereign Lord the King be or shall be licensed, if there be any, shall be forfeit; whereof the same our Sovereign Lord the King shall have the one Half, and the Person (¹) that espieth (¹) and proveth the same, by the Discretion of the Treasurer and Barons of the Exchequer, shall have the other Half; and that every Man have Power by Authority of the same Parliament, to make such Search in every Place where it shall be needful.

STATUTE THE SECOND.*

PRAY the Commons at this present Parliament assembled, That it may please Our Sovereign Lord the King, by the Advice of the most Reverend and most gracious Lords at this present Parliament assembled, to consider, how the Justices of the King's Bench, and of the Common Bench, the Justices assigned for taking Assises, the King's Serjeants and Attorney for the Time being, before this Time were always paid in Hand for their Fees and Rewards of the King by the Treasurers of England for the Time being, annually in the Terms of Easter and Saint Michael by equal Portions; until the Time of William Kynwolmershe, late Treasurer of England, and since, that they were sent to take for their Payment Assignments of the King's Debtors, who by such Assignments sometimes nothing will pay without Allowances; by which Debtors the said Justices Serjeants and Attorney have been and are very badly or too slowly and with great Delay, or never, paid; and moreover often are put to look after and discover Debtors of the King of whom they will have their Assignments, whereas they have not, nor without great Danger and Diligence can they have Knowledge of such Debtors, nor to discover and look after them and for their Payments to treat, can they give Attention, without neglecting their Duty and Service to the King and the discharging of the People: And that it is by no Means expedient to the King and to his People, or honest or convenient to the Offices of the said Justices Serjeants and Attorney, to look after and discover the said Debtors, and them by dangerous Means to entreat to have Payment of them, who sometimes for so doing do desire and demand to be rewarded, or unreasonably favoured against the Oath of the said Justices Serjeants and Attorney; and to consider also the great and continual Costs and Expences, which the said Justices do undergo in their Attendance in doing their said Offices and Services to the King, and the great Loss and Damage which they have of their Fees and Gain, in that that they are assigned Justices, which would amount in great Part to more than their said Fees and Rewards of the King; and thereupon by Authority of this present Parliament to ordain that the said Justices Serjeants and Attorney of the King for the Time being and every of them, be paid in Hand for their said Fees and Rewards of the King, in the said Terms by the Hands of the Treasurers of England for the Time being; and that the same Treasurers be bounden to do this, so that there be no need that the said Justices Serjeants and Attorney, for the Pursuit of their said Payments shall have to neglect doing their said Duty and Service to the King, and discharging the People who have to do in their Offices aforesaid.

IN THE ELEVENTH YEAR.

OUR Sovereign Lord the King, at his Parliament holden at Westminster the Eighth Day of July, the Eleventh Year of his Reign, to the Reverence of God, and for the Weal of the People of his Realm, by the Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal (¹) and at the special Request of the Commons of his (²) Realm in his said Parliament assembled, by Authority of the same Parliament, hath (³) ordained and stablished divers Statutes, Declarations, and Ordinances, in the Form following.

No Person dwelling at the Stews in Southwark shall serve on Juries in Surrey, &c.

FIRST, Forasmuch as our said Sovereign Lord the King, at the grievous Complaint to him made by his said Commons in the same Parliament, hath conceived, that divers Persons of great Poverty, without Conscience and of an evil Governance, now and late dwelling in a Place suspected, called the Stews, in the Borough of Southwark, in the County of Surrey, as well by the Receipt of common Women, Thieves, Mankillers, and Adulterers, as by Murders and privy Robberies, as well by themselves as by many other there harboured without Pity Loyalty and good Conscience there done, have suddenly come to great Riches, by which they have purchased great Livings of Lands and Tenements, to great yearly Values; and because of their sufficiency of Freehold so purchased, they have been returned, by the Sheriff of the said County and other Bailiffs, in Inquests as well for Felony and Trespass between the King and the Party, and Party and Party, as in Assises and other Pleas of Land before the King's Justices in his Courts, and before the [Stewards⁴] and Marshal of his House, whereby divers Disheritances and wrongful Condemnations of many lawful Lieges of our Sovereign Lord the King have been had, and many Murderers and notorious Thieves have been saved, (⁵) great Murders and Robberies concealed and not punished; and how the (⁶) Persons suspected inhabit them in common Hosteries and Taverns in the Highway of the same Borough, there receiving Thieves, common Women, and other Misdoers, in like Manner as they did in the said suspected Place of the Stews: Our Sovereign Lord the King considering the Premises, and that such People without Conscience [be defamed, and may not of reason be intending to bear Witness of Truth there where Truth shall be inquired,] hath ordained and established, That if any such Person be returned by any Sheriff, Bailiff, or other Minister of [our said Sovereign Lord] the King, in the said County of Surrey, or by any Officer before the Steward and Marshall of our Sovereign Lord the King's House, (⁷) as well for the King as for the Party, at all Times from henceforth he may be challenged, and the Challenge in that Part allowed for the cause before said:

And also for to avoid Murders, Robberies, and Adulteries that might by likelihood happen, It is ordained, That no such Person, which hath (') dwelled at the said Stews, be suffered to hold any common Hostery or Tavern in (') other Place within the said Borough of Southwark, but only at the said Stews; And that the Justices of Peace in the same County shall have Power to inquire of all them that hold Hosteries and Taverns, and them to punish by Fine and Ransom, and by Imprisonment of their Bodies, after the Discretion of the said Justices.

ITEM, Whereas several Persons do often sue Assises of Novel disseisin, before Justices assigned, against divers Persons, and by Craft and Collusion to have their Writs of their said Assises directed to the Coroners of the Counties where the Tenements be, to make Execution of the said Writs, do name in their said Assises the Sheriff of the same County one of the Disseisors, where he is not, neither ever was Disseisor or Tenant of the Tenements in Demand; whereby oftentimes the said Assises be awarded by the Default of the Tenants which have no Knowledge of those Assises, for that they found not any Assise against them in the File of the Sheriff, nor have any Suspicion of any such Assise taken against the Sheriff and them; Our Lord the King, willing in this Case to provide Remedy, of the Assent and Authority aforesaid, hath ordained, That in all such Assises purchased, and at this Time depending, or hereafter to be purchased, between any Persons whatsoever they be, before any such Justices, in which Assises any such Sheriff is named Disseisor, if the Tenants in the said Assises or any of them will aver, that the said Sheriff is not, nor ever was, Disseisor, nor Tenant of the Tenements in Demand, but was named Disseisor by Collusion, the Averment shall be received; and if it be found by the said Assise, that the said Sheriff is not, nor ever was Disseisor nor Tenant of the Tenements in demand, but was named Disseisor by Collusion, then the said Justices shall cause to be abated and quashed the said Writ purchased or to be purchased in the Form abovesaid; and that the Plaintiffs or Plaintiff be in the grievous Mercy of the King.

ITEM, Whereas by a Statute made the Fourth Year of the Reign of King Henry, [Grandfather'] of our Lord the King that now is, amongst other Things it was ordained, That the Disseisees shall have their Actions against the Disseisors during the Lives of the (') Disseisors, so that such Disseisors thereof take the Profits at the Time of the Suit commenced; as in the same Statute is contained more at large; The which Statute, according to the Opinion of many, hath been intended in Writs of Assise of Novel disseisin only, and as great Mischief it is to the Parties Demandants in other Writs sued and grounded upon Novel Disseisin, as in Assise: Wherefore our Lord the King, willing all Manner of Opinions and Doubts in that Behalf to cease, hath ordained by the Assent and Authority aforesaid, That in all manner of Writs grounded upon Novel disseisin, the Disseisees shall have their Recoveries, if they will, by such Writs, against the Disseisors or their Feoffers, as well as they shall have in Assise of Novel disseisin, so that the same Disseisors, or their Feoffers, against whom the Writ shall be brought, thereof take the Profits at the Time of the Writ purchased; notwithstanding any Gifts or Feoffments made to other Persons for to delay the Demandants.

* so } Rat. Parl. * The printed Translations read thus, and rightly. * same

No Person dwelling in such Stews shall keep any Tavern elsewhere.

II
In Assises of Novel Disseisin, Sheriffs are sometimes named as Disseisors, in order to have Writs of Execution directed to the Coroners.

In such Cases Averment shall be received to the contrary, and the Writ be quashed.

III.
Recital of the Statute 4 H. IV. c. 7.

Disseisees may recover in all Writs founded on Novel disseisin, as in Assises under recited Act.

IV.
Perjury of Jurors; and Pleas and Delays at the Common Law, in Attaints
against them;

ITEM, Our Lord the King, by the grievous Complaint of his Commons, considering the (¹) Mischiefs had within the Realm, and yet not remedied, and also the great Damage and Disherison that cometh by the usual Perjury of Jurors impanelled upon Inquests, as well in the Courts of our Lord the King, as of other, the which Perjury doth abound and increase daily more than it was wont, for the great Gifts that such Jurors take of the Parties in Pleas sued in the said Courts; wherefore the greater Part of People that have to sue in the said Courts, leave their Suits for the Mischiefs aforesaid, and namely [in respect ²] of the Delays that be in the Writs of Attaints; for that in Times past in Writs of Attaints, when the Grand Jury had appeared in Court, and were ready to pass, one of the Tenants or Defendants or of the petty Jurors named in such Writs sometime have pleaded false and faint Pleas, which were not triable by the Grand Jury of the Attaint, and by that Means delayed the taking of such Grand Juries until such Pleas were tried; and after such Pleas tried and found for the Plaintiff, another of the Jurors Tenants or Defendants might plead another such false and faint Plea after the last Continuance in the same Attaints; and so every of the Defendants Jurors or Tenants, after other, might plead such false and faint Plea, and delay the Grand Jury when it was ready to pass; and though that all such false and faint Pleas were found against them which pleaded, no Pain was given (³) them by the Common Law; [in regard ⁴] of which Delays, the Grand Juries in Attaints have been often grievously vexed and travelled, and the Plaintiffs in such Attaints put to so great Costs, and thereby impoverished, that they could not prosecute their said Suits, wherefore the Jurors be the more encouraged to be perjured, and to make their false Oaths in such Cases: Our said Lord the King, willing thereof to provide Remedy, at the Request of the said Commons, and by the Assent of the Lords abovesaid, hath ordained and established, That the Parties Plaintiffs in all such Attaints shall recover their Damages, and Costs against all such Tenants, Jurors, and Defendants, which they have sustained in that Behalf; and that this Statute extend as well to Writs of Attaints now hanging, as to Writs of Attaints to be purchased hereafter.

Plaintiffs in such Attaints
shall recover Damages and Costs.

V.
After any Assignment
by Tenant for Life or Years, the Reversioner
may have Action of Waste against him, as before any such Assignment,
if he continue to take the Profits.

ITEM, Because that (⁵) divers People in Times past have let their Lands and Tenements to divers Persons, that is to say, some for Term of Life or of another Man's Life, and some for Term of Years; the said Tenants have oftentimes let and granted their Estate which they had in the same Lands and Tenements, to many Persons, to the Intent that they in the Reversion, that is to say, their Lessors, their Heirs, or their Assigns, might not have Knowledge of their Names, and after the said first Tenants continually occupy the said Lands and Tenements, and thereof take the Profits to their proper Use, and in the said Lands and Tenements commit Waste and Destruction, to the Disherison of them in the Reversion: It is ordained and established, That they in the Reversion in such Case may have and maintain a Writ of Waste against the said Tenants for Term of Life, of another's Life, or for Years, and so recover against them the Place wasted, and their Treble Damages, for the Waste (⁶) by them done, as they ought to have done for the Waste committed by them before the said Grant and Lease of their Estate:
